ROBERTS ANNOUNCES PRETORIA'S SURRENDER

He Would Not Discuss Any Terms With Botha But an Unconditional Surrender.

BATTALION OF IMPERIAL YEOMANRY CAPTURED.

Lord Roberts Reports That 13th Battalion of Imperial Yeomanry Was Overwhelmed at Lindley and Captured—Methuen's Great March Was Fruitless.

London, June 5.

The war office has received the following from Lord Roberts;

Pretoria, June 5, 12.52 p.m.—Just before dark yesterday the enemy were beaten back from nearly all the positions they had been holding and Ian Hamilton's mounted infantry followed them to within 2,000 yards of Pretoria, through which they retreated hastily. He then sent an officer with a flag of truce into the town demanding its surrender in my name. Shortly before midnight I was wakened by two officers of the South African Republic, Bandberg Military Secy to Commandant Gen. Botha and a General officer of the Boer army, who brought me a letter from Botha, proposing an armistic for the purpose of settling the terms of surrender, I replied that I would gladly meet the commandant General the next morning, but that I was not prepared to discuss any terms, as the surrender of the town must be unconditional. I asked a reply by daybreak as I had enduced the troops to march on the town as soon as it was light.

In his reply Botha told me that he had decided not to defend Pretoria and that he trusted the women, children and property would be protected.

At 1 a.m. to-day, while on the line of march I was met by three of the principal officials with a flag of truce, stating a wish to surrender the town. It was arranged that Pretoria should be taken possession of by Her Majesty's troops at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Botha and Mrs. Kruger are both in Pretoria. Some few of the British prisoners have been taken away, but the majority are still at Waterval. Over a hundred of the officers are in Pretoria. The few I have seen are looking well.

London, June 5, 12 p.m.

Lord Roberts reports to the War Office that the 13th Battalion of the Imperial Yeomanry was over-whelmed by the Boers at Lindley. Lord Methuen made a magnificent march to the rescue, but was too late.

London, June 5th, 12 p.m.

The following is the last of the despatch from Lord Roberts announcing the disaster to the 13th Battalion of the Imperial Yeomanry; Pretoria station June, 55, 12.55 p.m.—I regret to report that the 13th Imperial Yeomanry had too surrender to a very superior force of the enemy on May 31 near Lindley.

On receiving information of the battalion being attacked, I ordered Methuen to proceed with all speed to its assistance. Methuen was there on the march on the Heilbron side of Kroonstad and half an hour after the receipt of my telegram on June 1. he started off by 10 a.m the following day he had march 44 miles in hours, but he was too late to rescue Col Sprigge's Yeomanry.

Methuen attacked the Boers who were between two and three thousand strong, and after a running fight of five hours, completely routed the enemy.

It is a very regretable circumstance, but I trust it will not be very long before that Irish Yeomanry are released from captivity.

London, June 5, 11 a.m.—It is officially announced that Lord Roberts occupied Six Miles' Spruit on June 4.

London, June 5, 12.47 p.m.—The War Office has issued the following despatch from Lord Roberts—

"Pretoria, June 5, 11.40 a.m.—We are now in possession of Pretoria. The official entry will be made this afternoon at 2 o'clock."

London, June 5.—The War Office has issued the following despatch from Lord Roberts—

"Six Miles Spruit, 8.30 p.m., June 4.—We started this morning at daybreak and marched about ten miles to Six Miles Spruit, both banks of which were occupied by the enemy. Henry's and Ross' Mounted Infantry, with the West Somerset, Dorset, Bedford and Sussex companies of Yeomanry quickly dislodged them from the south bank and pursued them nearly a mile, when they found themselves under a heavy fire from guns which the Boers had placed in a well-concealed commanding position.

"Our heavy guns of the Naval and Royal Artillery, which had purposely been placed in the front part of the column, were hurried to the assistance of the Mounted Infantry as fast as oxen and mules could travel over the great rolling hills surrounding Pretoria. The guns were supported by Stevenson's Brigade of Pole-Carew's and after a few rounds drove the enemy from their positions.

"The Boers then attempted to turn our left flank, in which they were again foiled by the Mounted Infantry and Yeomanry, supported by Maxwell's Brigade of Tucker's Division. As, however, they still kept pressing our left rear, I sent word to Ian Hamilton, who was advancing three miles to our left, to incline towards us and fill up the gap between the two columns. This finally checked the enemy, who were driven back toward Pretoria. I hoped we would have been able to follow them up, but the days are now very short in this part of the world, and, after nearly two hours' marching and fighting, we had to bivouac on the ground gained during the day.

"The Guards Brigade is quite near the southernmost fort by which Pretoria is defended, and less than four miles from the town.

"French, with the Third and Fourth Cavalry Brigades and Hutton's New South Wales Mounted Rifles is north of Pretoria. Broadwood's Brigade is between French's and Hamilton's columns, and Gordon is watching the right flank of the main force, not far from the railway bridge at Irene Station, which was destroyed by the enemy. "Our casualties, I hope, are very few."

FOR THE IRISH GUARDS.

Their Uniforms Will be Emblematic of Erin's Isle.

An English exchange says.—Though not definitely settled, the uniform of the Irish Guards will be pretty much the same pattern as the other Household regiments. A green feather, white at the base, will adorn the bearskin. The forage cap will have a green band, and the field cap green piping along the top, both having the Star of the Order of St. Patrick as a badge. Shamrock badges will also be worn upon the collar and straps. On the buttons will be stamped the Irish harp and crown.

FORCE COMPELS RESPECT.

But That is All, According to This Afrikander Organ.

Cape Town, June 2.—The Ons Land, an Afrikander organ, dealing with the matter of the annexation by Great Britain of the Orange Free State, says it cannot congratulate the Free Staters on their new citizenship. They are now citizens of an Empire which requires 250,000 men to crush two small republics. The annexation proclamation issued by Gen. Roberts wins subjects, but not hearts. It will only be respected while force compels respect. Experience has proved that Great Britail treats hher Dutch subjets unequally with the English. Notwithstanding the proclamation, Afrikander nationality will continue to grow.

The paper proceeds to attack Prime Minister Schreiner's co-operation with Governor Sir Alfred Milner, and quotes the saying of Cecil Rhodes, that "The Schreiner Ministry serves our purpose better than a progressive one."

The circulation of the Ons Land has been forbidden in the Britston and Prieska districts, which are under martial law.

NO HOLIDAY FOR THE PRESENT.

Decision of the Cabinet Arrived at This Morning.

Ottawa, June 5.—The Government is not at all likely to declare a general public holiday in honor of the taking of Pretoria. The matter was informally discussed by the Ministers this morning, but no definite action taken. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said after the Council meeting this morning that no holiday would be declared for the present at any rate. The Governor-General has taken no action in the matter and is not likely to do so without the recommendation of the Government. It has been suggested that no holiday be given until arrangements can be made for a general holiday all over the empire.

WARFARE REVOLTUIONIZED.

French is the only General Who Has Devised New Tactics.

London, June 5.—Military experts agree that French is the only general on the British side who has devised new tactics during the campaign. He has taught his troopers to ride fully ten yards apart, and to advance by a series of rushes over the zone of fire, horse and rider, when in motion, forming a less exposed target than an infantryman Mounted infantry are trained by him to approach at intervals, in three, one trooper holding three horses, while the other two fire their rifles, and all galloping on for a fresh rush. Gen. French's cavalry tactics, in the judgment of the experts, are likely to revolutionize modern warfare.

CARRYING OFF THE SPOIL.

Mrs. Reitz Leaves with $750,000 on a German Ship.

London, June 5.—A despatch to The Central News from Lorenzo Marques, dated Saturday, says that Mrs. Reitz wife of the Transvaal Secretary of State sailed for Europe on the German mail steamship Bundesrath, which was held ten hours for the arrival of a special train. There was a special saloon car for the Reitz's family. In the guards' van there were two huge safes, which were screwed to the floor and guarded by armed Hollanders. Thirty-six boxes of bar gold, valued at £150,000 were sent out in a launch and hoisted on board the Bundesrath.

Michael Davitt, who went to Pretoria ostensibly as a newspaper correspondent is reported to have said to a shipping official before leaving Lorenzo Marques; "I came too late this time to the Transvaal, but in the next war, which will not be long off, I hope to be in good time to render some service."

SPECIAL SESSION OF COUNCIL.

The Trouble Between Fire Brigade Teamsters Fully Investigated Last Night

The Town Council met in special session last night. There were present Mayor Kendry and Aldermen Sawers, Weir, Oke, Corkery, Rogers, Denne, and Dawson.

On motion of Ald. Rogers Council decided to give notice to build an eight foot instead instead of a six foot granolithic sidewalk on Charlotte street, from Rubidge to Reid, in front of the Methodist church.

The action of driver Montgomery, of the Fire Brigade, in refusing to drive any team but his own was fully discussed.

Engineer English here explained that in compliance with decision of Fire, Water and Light Committee he had instructed Montgomery to take out the grey team, when he positively refused to do so. He then reported to the Chief of Fire Brigade who suspended Montgomery and put another man in his place.

Mr. Montgomery was here brought before the Council to defend his action. He though each should drive his own team only, as he is personally responsible for that team.

To Ald. Weir, Driver Montgomery replied that he did the outside work, looked after his own team, and remained in the hall night about and every Sunday, with Driver Macfarlane.

The Mayor thought Montgomery had rather long hours.

Driver Montgomery here expressed his willingness to drive both teams turn about, providing he and Macfarlane changed work regularly.

Driver Macfarlane was here called before Council, and said he was willing to change work with his colleague, if requested to do so by his chief.

Assistant Chief of Fire Brigade, J. D. Craig, explained that the department had never been kept in a satisfactory condition until Mr. Macfarlane had been engaged, and in order to insure the inside work being properly done, the Chief had determined to keep Macfarlane inside, and Montgomery outside. The brigacde would feel very much dissatisfied if a change were made. He did not think the latter was killed with work, for while his duties were a little heavier during the summer months, he had very little to do all summer.

Ald. Dawson expressed himself very strongly in favor of Mr. Macfarlane's work and objected to a change in the men's duties from a sanitary standpoint.

The matter was finally left in the hands of the Fire Water and Light Committee, Montgomery having agreed to drive both teams turn about pending a settlement of the question.

On motion of Ald. Sawers, Ald. Oke was authorized to act as Chairman of Fire, Water and Light Committee, during Ald. Dawson's absence.

On motion of Ald. Dawson, the firemen's room was ordered to be renovated without delay.

Council then adjourned.

ENVOYS SAY WAR IS NOT YET ENDED.

Thay Say Boers Would Not Have Carried Off Their Arms if They Intended to Capitulate at the Present Time.

Boston, June 5.

Messrs. Fischer, Wolmarans and Wessels, the Boer envoys, were received at the City Hall here to-day by Hart. The Mayor alluded to the day's news from South Africa, and hoped that the adversity sustained by the Boers might be for the best. Mr. Fisher responded, affirming that all he and his compatriots asked was for justice.

The envoys were given a warm reception at the State House this afternoon, They called on Governor Crane and after paying their respects to him were escorted to the House. A recess was taken and the members crowded around the visitors. The guests addressed the House briefly and afterwards spent some time in watching the routine proceedings. They did not go to the Senate chamber.

The envoys did not seem greatly depressed by the news from Johannesburg and Pretoria. Chairman Fischer, whenever opportunity was given, did not fail to reiterate the statement that he war is by no means ended.

"Have you noticed?" he asked a reporter, "that the English forces have not captured a single piece of artillery or any considerable munitions of war from us since our men have been executing their masterly retreat? This material has not ascended into the air, nor has it gone up in Lord Roberts' balloons, and the English will find it out to their sorrow, I am afraid. Our guns, supplies, etc., have been taken along with our troops, and they will yet be used effectually, if I am not greatly mistaken.

"The fact that President Kruger has retreated to Watervalboven and that this is declared the capital of our government, shows that our people are still determined to win their independence. Our capital is where our President chooses to make it.

"The fact that Lord Roberts annexed the Orange Free State the other day means nothing. The United States could annex Canada by proclamation, but something more effective would have to follow to make it a fact."

Mr. Fisher added the statement that President Kruger would not surrender while there was a bullock cart and sixteen oxen in the Transvaal to transport him from place to place.

Mr. Wessels expressed much the same opinion as Mr. Fisher, but he said he looked upon the late news from South Africa with some suspicion. He said that if President Kruger had been going to surrender he would have remained in the city, while the Boers would not have carried away their guns and ammunition if they had intended to capitulate. Roberts, he said, may yet run into a nice trap.

CHINA WILL DEFY ALL THE EUROPEAN POWERS

Dowager Empress Will Not Interfere With Boxers Nor Allow Foreigners to Suppress Them.

SHE OPPOSES LANDING OF THE FOREIGN TROOPS

And Sends Forces to Prevent Further Reinforcements Reaching the Capital of China—The Yellow Menace in the Far East Grows Acute.

Shangghai, Monday, June 4. — The China Gazette says it has the highest authority for stating that the Dowager Empress has ordered the Foreign Office tto face all Europe rather than to interfere with the Boxer movement.

TROOPS FEDR BOXERS.

Tien Tsin, June5.—A representative of the Associates Press visited Huang Tsun on the Pekin-Tien Tsin railroad, to-day, and found that the station had been burned and two bridges damaged. The officer commanding the Chinest troops on duty there said that two hundred of his men had bolted and only fifty remained. These fought well, killing a number of Boxers. The bolting troops were badly cut up in the adjacent broken country. It is stated that sixty were killed or wounded. Some of their bodies were recovered, frightfully mutilated.

Bands of Boxers are patrolling the neighborhood, but have not interferred with the party of the Associated Press representative.

All the Chinese railway employes are deserting their posts, and the troops sent to guard the stations appear to be worse than useless. A guard of 250 sent to Fong Tai bolted at Lu Kou Chiao yesterday morning, when they heard of the trouble at Haung Tsun.

EUROPEANS IN DANGER.

Tien Sin, June 3.—Two more of the party of foreigners who fled from Pao Tuni Fu have arrived here. One of them was badly inujred. The relief expedition has returned.

It is reported from Pao Ting Fu that eight Americans and three members of the China Inland Mission are missing. The missionaries are in great danger. No further news has been received regarding the mising refugees.

Huang Tsun the next station to Feng Tai, was burned this morning and a bridge was damaged. Traffic between Tin Tsin and Pekin has been suspended.

tI is reported that Pao Ting Fu was attacked last night, rM. Robinson of the North China Mission, not Mr. Stevenson as cabled to the Associated Press last night, is missing, and five native Christians have been murdered at Zang Chin.

Mr. Norman of the same mission has been captured at Wu Chia Ying, two miles from Yang Ching, and is in great danger.

The British cruiser Endymoin and the torpedo boat Hart have arrived at Taku.

Official Apathy.

Pekin, Sunday, June 3.—The most alarming reports are constantly arriving from the country, especially from Pao Ting Fu. The telegraph wires from, Pekin to Pao Ting Fu are cut and all news comes via Tien Tsin.

It is reported that a serious crisis exists at the palace. The ultra-conservative party advocates not taking repressive measures, urging the Dowager Empress to allow the Boxers to finish the work of driving the foreigners out of the country; the moderate party led by Prince Ching, representing the serious danger of provoking a conflict with the powers. It is impossible to confirm or deny the report, but significant indications of the feeling of the Government towards foreigners, are contained in the attempt to arrest Lin, Chinese Manager of the Pekin Syndicate; Ka, chief of the Shan Si commercial bureau, and Fan, a leading banker of Shan Si on the ground that they were "dangerous characters," but in reality because they are connected with new British enterprises, All of them were absent and they have not yet been arrested. The British Minister, Sir Claude Macdonald, has addressed to note to the Tsung Li Yamen, demanding why the arrests were ordered.

Disturbances Increasing.

Washington, June 4.—The following cablegram has been received at the State Department from United States Minister Conger at Pekin;—

"Pekin, June 4.—Outside of Pekin the murders and prosecutions of the Boxers seem to be on the increase. The Pao Ting Fu Railway is temporarily Pabondoned. Work on the Pekin and Hang Kow line is stopped. All foreigners have fled. The Chinese Government seems either unwilling or unable to suppress the trouble. The troops show no energy in attacking the Boxers. Signed Conger."

For the time being at least the small marine contingents at Pekin and Tien Tsin must represent the defensive power of the United States, for it is distinctly stated these marines are employed simply in the protection of the United States Legation and Consulates and for the assistance of such American citizens as may be in jeopardy. It is possible that the State Department in assuming this attitude is influenced by a desire to set an example to some of the other powers whose actions are not believed to be entirely disinterested.

Pirates at Work.

Shanghai, June 4.—A number of desperadoes, disguised as passengers, have pirated the British Yangtsi steamer Kut wo. They committed wholesale robberies and terrorized the passengers, who were quite unable to offer resistance. The thieves escaped with their booty.

PRUSSIA'S PRINCE A SOLDIER.

Following the Custom of His Ancestors He Joins Army on Attaining Majority

Potsdam, June 6.—The Crown Prince, Frederick William, joined the First Regiment of foot guards at noon today. The event was made the occasion of considerable ceremony. Emperor William addressed the Crown Prince and the commander oft he regiments in the presence of the members of the royal family, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count Von Buelow; several Ambassadors and the military attaches.

Emperor William in his remarks to the Crown Prince said the latter had to learn his duties in all their phases in the historical and classic atmosphere of the regiment. He hoped the Crown Prince would feel in the ranks of his Majesty's "own dear company" the same pleasure in his intercourse with the grenadiers and in his comradeship with the officers that he himself had had, and that above all he would gain the confidence of his men as he himself had formerly succeeded in doing, and would feel in touch with the sons of the fatherland.

Afterwards the Crown Prince, drawing his sword, formally joined the Second company of the regiment. The Empress witnessed the ceremony from the windows of the castle.

STEAM UP NEXT WEEK.

The Eddy Mills at Hull Are Being Rushed to Completion

Ottawa, Ont., June 6.— Work on the E. B. Eddy Company's new sawmills, pulpmills and match factory has started and it is expected these buildings will be ready for occupation about September 1st. The new machine shop, smithy, wagonmakers and repair shops erected on the former side of the drying-houses are rapidly nearing completion. The boiler- houses and engine rooms are being got into shape to have steam up next week.

As soon as the damaged machines are taken out of No. 2 mill it will be got ready, to receive two of the three paper machines that have already been bought. Machinery for the machine shop, the paper-bag factory and the match factory has been ordered and will be ready as soon as the buildings are completed. It is expected that at least two and perhaps three paper machines will be running before the snow flies. George Miller of the E. B. Eddy Company is at present in the United States looking after the pulp and paper machinery which has been brought and Mr. Eddy is attending a timber sale in Quebec.

The staff of the Eddy company is now in possession of the new office building, well adapted for the purpose.

A Bold Robbery.

About three o'clock on Monday afternoon a horse belonging to Hugh Fife, Otonabee, was stolen from its pasture field in a daring manner. A neighbor saw a man driving an old horse attached to a heavy phaeton lead Mr. Fifes horse from the field, hitch it to his vehicle and drive off, leaving his own beast tied at the road side. The man is described as old, stout build with Sandy moustache, mixed with grey. The animal stolen is a brown horse 7 years old, about 15½ hands high, heavy mane and tail, scar on right leg, shoulder galled and white hairs grown in. Had been clipped in the spring.

Three-Year Limit Doomed

London, June 5—In the Primative Methodist churches there is a strong tendency to relax the three years' limit for the appointment of the ministers, and which is one of the strong features of Methodism. In the forthcoming changes of circuits there is this this year a much larger list of churches having renewed the call to their ministers for a longer period, no fewer than ninety-three churches applying to the conference for a fourth year, whilst others are asking the sanction for still longer periods.

INDIANS ARE EXCITED.

St. Regis Red Men Will Oppose the Building of a Jail on Their Premises.

Cornwall, June 4.—A pow-wow of the Iroquois Indians on the St. Regis Reserve was held this afternoon to discuss the proposal to erect a Government jail on the reservation. About 200 braves were gathered, and the chiefs and ex-chiefs spoke strongly against the project, going so far as to say it would be resisted by every means in their power. It is stated by those who are in a position to know, that the American Indians, just across the line, are at the bottom of the trouble, and are inciting their Canadian brethren. With the exception of perhaps a dozen braves the whole tribe is a unit in opposition to the project. Your correspondent was allowed to attend the pow-wow, and several chiefs, speaking to him afterwards, predicted serious trouble unless the project was dropped.

THE ART OF WAR

It is always a pleasure to watch the operations of any one who is a complete master of his craft, whatever it may be, the accomplished artist, the skilled mechanic, the ma wnho thoroughly knows his trade and does his work with absolute sureness and without waste of effort. It was in this sense of perfect technical accomplishment that gave so much interest to General Kitchener's campaign in the Soudan, and one requires no special British sympathies to be roused to admiration by Lord Robert's irresistible march from Kroonstad to Johannesburg.

The whole campaign, from the time that Roberts began his general movement beyond the Orange River, has been as fine an example of the art of war as modern military affords. It will be said, of course, that with such preponderance of numbers, he could not fail; but numbers are not everything. The Boers vastly outnumbered the British at Ladysmith and at Kimberley, yet accomplished nothing, and it was not paucity of numbers that caused the many early blunders in Methuen's command. All the military critics had agreed that the Boers, defending their mountain passes with modern arms could hold at bay an infinitely superior force, or could be dislodged only at fearful cost, and that the difficulties of transportation in such a country were simply insurmountable. Yet Roberts has dislodged the enemy from every position with a comparatively trivial loss, and his transportation has been so complete that in the far interior of a remote continent he had marched one hundred and twenty-seven miles in eight days and kept his trains close up to his advance.

We have heard nothing recently of Kitchener, but the really marvelous mobility which the British army has developed is probably his achievement. That is what he was sent to do, and it is fair to assume he has done it. The organizing skill that he showed in Egypt is precisely what has made the army in South Africa the tremendously effective force it has proved, and when we get the reports of the campaign we shall no doubt read the acknowledgments of the commander-in-chief to his chief of staff.

But it is not enough to move an army unless it is moved in the right way, and the strategy of this campaign has been as minutely considered, as skillful in direction and precise in execution as it has been effective in results. It overwhelmed the best single command in the Boer armies and the others it has manoeuvred out of one apparently impregnable position after another till the advance that was expected to be so bloody became a victorious march.

This is the test of good generalship, to accomplish the desired results at a minimum cost and a maximum speed. Kitchener took a long time to prepare for his Soudan campaign and advanced with the utmost deliberation till he was within striking distance, when he struck so swiftly and with such force that the war was ended then and there. These last operations of Roberts have had something of the same quality on a larger scale. They show that while a part of the simpler tactics of offensive warfare has been affected by modern arms, the principles of strategy much as they have always been, and if there is less chance for individual daring there is as wide a field as ever for good generalship for the intellectual mastery of the art of war.

MODERN ANOMALIES.

Men are not sent to jail for stealing, but for not stealing enough. You will get a year in prison if you steal a bicycle, but if you steal a railroad or a railroad franchise you may get knighted. If you don't move on when an officious constable takes it into his head that you are endangering your health and the public peace by standing on the street corner, you will probably have to pay a fine of a dollar and costs, or languish for thirty days in jail, but if you are an alderman or a member of parliament you can call people out of their names, and still be thought a gentleman and a scholar. If you tire of the wife of your bosom and take another to yourself you may get a term in the penitentiary; but if you are a man of means and can put a divorce case through the senate, you may make your choice as soon as your martial love wanes. These are a few of the anomalies of modern society and jurisprudence that must puzzle the very devil. There is no doubt that the law winks at sin in high places and makes good the delinquency by making it hot for plebeian offenders. The church is little better in this respect.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Just to show that there's not much in a name it may be mentioned that the Rainy River district is burning up for want of a few showers.

•• • ••

The Boers must have dropped pretty low in the fighting scale when even Portugal thinks she can take a fall out of them.

•• • ••

The release of the British prisoners is one of the interesting events of the capture of Pretoria. They number 177 officers and 4,182 privates, and are located at Waterval, 10 miles north of Pretoria. Mr. Hay, son of United States Secretary of State, is American Consul at Pretoria. In that capacity he took charge of the interests of the prisoners. Mr. Hay, assisted by Leigh Wood, arranged with the Boer authorities to have 20 officers liberated on parole to go to the men and preserve the discipline of the army during the excitement of the coming of the British forces of occupation. The scent of liberation will be an exciting one.

•• • ••

Oom Paul threatened to stagger humanity and he did it with his surprisingly lame finish.

•• • ••

Brabants losses indicate that the Boers haven't got over the trap habit yet. But the traps they're springing are little ones.

•• • ••

Those Boer envoys seem to be out their travelling expenses.

•• • ••

If Bob Birmingham is going to explode anything he must have a pretty slow fuse hitched to it.

•• • ••

The London Times is not the only newspaper that has noticed that "a curious feature of this struggle for the emancipation, as we are told, of the Afrikander nation, is that the burden and the heat of the war have been thrown exclusively upon that one of the two late republics with which we had no quarrel. Directly the Transvaalers saw our troops within striking distance of their own farms and cities they threw down their arms. Neither the fact nor the moral of it will be lightly forgotten by the allies whom they lured to ruin.

•• • ••

Japan and Russia can go to their dressing rooms and strip as soon as they're ready. The ring will be empty very shortly.

•• • ••

When you come to think of it, things have been coming the Empire's way in South Africa ever since Sam Hughes went out there.

•• • ••

John D. Rockefeller has given $5,000 to the Indian famine fund. It has not been noticed whether he has yet ordered the price of oil up another eighth or quarter of a cent, but it would be in keeping with his action after previous gifts of munificent sums to universities, etc.

•• • ••

Now that the war in Africa is practically over, the matter of reviving the old street railway should exercise public attention and interest.

•• • ••

The British prisoners who have been putting in a rather tedious time in Pretoria and at Waterval will now get some trustworthy news of how the fighting has gone on. They will probably also get a change of diet.

•• • ••

The Boer threat to blow up the mines seems to have been all blow.

A Petrified Corpse

Orillia Times—A most remarkable discovery was made the other day in the North River, just below Oakley's Falls. Two young lads named Oakley and Spence were in bathing at the bottom of the rapids, and were amusing themselves gathering shells and colored stones from the river bed. While thus engaged, young Spence noticed what appeared to be a human form, embedded in the sand about two feet below the surface of the water. Their curiosity now being aroused to a point calling for an investigation, they set to work, and with some difficulty succeeded in landing what turned out to be a petrified human corpse. The arms and legs were missing, having evidently been broken off. The nose also was lacking. It is the most wonderful petrified specimen ever found in these parts. The owner has already refused some handsome offers for his curiosity, but positively refuses to sell.

The fact that Chicago women have to carry arms to protect themselves from thugs ought to act as a check to the vanity of the inhabitants.—New York Sun.

A Persian priest is trying to introduce sun worship in Chicago. As the sun is an unfamiliar object to most Chicagoans, it is doubtless regarded with reverence, and the gentleman from Persia may find a fruitful field in the dark city if he works it right.—Minneapolis Times.

The young couple always together before marriage rarely keep up this happy intimacy as man and wife. They are not tired of each other, but the young wife finds herself weak and languid, with no inclination for exercise. And thus begins a division of pursuits and interests which often ends in divided lives. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong. It stops the drains which undermine the strength, cures "female weakness," nourishes the nerves and gives vigor to the whole body. There is neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic in "Favorite Prescription."

"I suffered from female weakness about eight years—tried several doctors, but derived no benefit until I began using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. John Green, of Danville, Boyle Co., Ky. "This medicine was recommended to me by other patients. I have taken six bottles, and I feel like another person."

Free. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, is sent free, on receipt of stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Short Story of the Day

Six Years Lost.

"What would we live on, Max?" laughed Sydney Vernon, glancing down at her elegant morning dress, with the pretty slipper just peeping from beneath its hem. "It's all very well to eschew the practicalities of life, but they are somewhat necessary for all that, and I have never seen any great evidences of economy on your part, and I am quite sure you have not on mine."

Max Bayard looked impatiently at the girl, whom a moment before he had asked to be his wife, and who thus answered him.

"I have never had an incentive to economy," Max said in answer. "I have enough to live on and feed my horses, though my tailor's bill troubles me now and then, I confess; but, Sydney I will change all that. [illegible] don't, perhaps, give you all the luxuries to which you are accustomed, but you shan't lack for comforts, that I promise you."

"We should be miserable—Max—miserable, both you and I!" the girl answered, bitterly. "We have not either of us been reared in a school of poverty. I would cry for cake while you could only give me bread, and you for ale which I could give you only kisses. Come, be sensible, and let us be good friends."

"Friends? Never!" he exclaimed. "I am starving, and you throw me a stone. Look into my eyes, Sydney, straight and true, and say you do not love me, and I will go away, and trouble you no more."

The long lashes dropped low on her cheek.

"I cannot quite say that," she answered, "but I will say more. I promised last night to become Mr. Clayton's wife within six months."

Max Bayard's handsome face grew white to the very lips—a look of deadly anger, mingled with something like loathing, crept into it. Sydney shrank from it, as from a blow.

"Don't, Max—don't!" she cried. "I could not help it—I am sorry."

"You could not help it—you are very sorry!" he repeated very slowly. "Could not help what? Toying with me for your amusement—playing fast and loose with your victim, or selling yourself to the highest bidder? Which? You are very sorry—for whom? For the man you let step by step to the brink of the flower-strewn precipice, only to smile as he plunged to the chasm below, or for him who wins the prize in the lottery—the prize for which he has paid the price of all his fortune? Pardon me, Miss Vernon, but he, I think, is more deserving of your sorrow than the man whom you hurl to the lowest depths of the abyss."

With these words, he turned and left her.

Six years had passed—six years, fraught indeed with change.

"If she has been true to herself and me!" Max Bayard had thought, when, but a few months after the event which had driven him from his native land to find forgetfulness in travel, a letter had been put into his hand, which had followed him from port to port, announcing that he had fallen heir to a fortune which might have challenged Mr. Clayton's in its magnitude.

A year afterward he married. His wife was very young and very lovely; but there were depths in his nature that her hand never stirred, and even as she lay with her head pillowed on his breast another haunted face would come between, and, 'mid the caressing murmur of her words, would sound the echo of the "might have been."

But he loved her very dearly, and mourned her very truely, when, one short year after their marriage, he laid her away in her grave and took up the burden of his life again, with the added responsibility of the tiny infant daughter she had left him.

"Wanted—A lady to superintend the education of a little girl. Apply between the hours of 4 and 6 at—"

It was in answer to this advertisement that, six years after that memorable afternoon upon the beach, a lady stood waiting in the elegant drawing room of the house to which she had been directed.

Her veil was down and the room was half in shadow from the heavy curtains which draped the window, but for all that she started perceptibly when a step crossed the hall and a gentleman, his hair slightly tinged with grey, entered.

She had sunk back on the sofa, and her frame quivered with emotion.

"You have come, madam, in answer to my advertisement?" he asked, cautiously.

"No, no!" she answered. "There are reasons why it will now be impossible for me to accept the situation offered."

That voice! Had it not too long haunted him to be thus easily forgotten? Would he not know it even though it sounded above his very grave?

"Sydney! you here?" he exclaimed. "Ah, Mrs. Clayton—pardon me, for the moment I forgot."

Then she drew back her veil. Six years had made little change. It was the same beautiful face, but grown very the same beautiful face, but grown very pale, and the lovely mouth quivered as she spoke.

"Belive me, I would not have intruded myself upon you had I dreamed it was you who had inserted the advertisement. I had not even heard of your marriage.

"My wife is dead," he answered." "But stay," as she rose to go. "Tell me how it happens that you are in necessity. Is Mr Clayton dead?"

She shuddered.

"You mistake," she added. "I did not marry Mr. Clayton. I am Sydney Vernon still."

"You did not marry him?"

"No. It is a woman's privilege, you know, to change her mind. But my aunt was very angry, and at her death she left me nothing. Your advertisement attracted me; I thought I might learn to love a little girl."

"Sydney, why did you not marry Mr. Clayton?"

Had he really spoken, or was it her own thought which formed the question? No, he was awake now, his eyes resting upon her.

"You have no right to ask me," she said imperiously. "Let the dead past bury its dead."

"No right, perhaps—that I admit, but 'No right, perhaps—that I admit, but answer me all the same. For the sake of all these striving years, let me know the truth."

"Because I did not love him," she answered, then—"because I found myself weaker than I knew".

"O, Sydney! if we had known—if we had known! My darling, was there another reason? Was it because you loved me?"

"Because I shall love you while life lasts."

A month later there was a quiet wedding.

New Sewers and Walks.

Lindsay Post.—The contract price for the Lindsay and Melbourne-sts. sewer, awarded to John Hartnett, Toronto, is $2,073. The other figures were—Jas. Bogue, $2,250; E. A. Cowsey and J. L. Young, $2,090; J. H. McKnight, $2,188; Jas. Bryson, $2,800; and David Traill, $2,170. The contract price of the granolithic walk on the north side of Kent-st., awarded to Jas. Bogue, is 14 1-2c. per square foot, 50c. per foot for 2-ft. kerb, and 45c. per foot for 2-ft. 6-inch kerb; window areas, $4.80. J. E. Hayes offered to do the work for the same price as was paid for the walk built last year. P. L. Madden & Co.'s figure was 14 1-2c. per square foot, 49c. for 2-ft. kerb, 69c. for 2-ft. 6-inch kerb, and $5.75 for areas.

BITS FROM SHELDON.

Gifts that involve no sacrifice return neither happiness nor pleasure.

Where the body is wrung with pain, where it is filled with disease, one cannot be happy.

Doctors head the list of suicides, because they see the ill side of life—its physical side.

We here in America seem to have evolved in the course of our fast living a disease that once was not known—nervous prostration.

It is always very hard to tell which of these two is the more miserable man on earth — the discontented rich or the friendless beggar.

The little child who buys tin toys for a cent in the stores gets more pleasure out of giving them to some other little child than the rich men who ostentatiously give presents worth thousands of dollars.—

IS MARS PEOPLED?

Such a Claim Advanced by a German Scientist.

"Is Mars inhabited?" has been asked very often during recent years and has engaged the serious attention of many astronomers and especially of M. Camille Flammarion, a noted French scientist and author.

Some new light is now thrown on this subject by Professor Ernst Haeckel, an eminent German philosopher, in a book entitled "World Problems. After pointing out that men have been studying the heavens for more than 4,500 years and have only been studying themselves for the last half century he says we may safely assume that the many fixed stars whose light requires thousands of years to reach us are suns and are surrounded by planets and worlds similar to those we know. We may also assume, he holds, that thousands of these planets have arrived at the same stage of development as our world, and it naturally follows that on them the same conditions of life prevail as on this earth, and there is no valid reason why human beings should not live there as they do here.

Professor Haeckel takes care to explain that there are doubtless many planets the temperature of which is such that life, as we understand the term, cannot be sustained on them. He thinks it very probable that there are types of animals and plants on some planets which are not to be found on the earth. According to him it is very likely that the biogenetic process exists on Mars, Venus and possibly some other planets of our system, as well as on planets of other solar systems, but plants on these planets have reached a higher stage of development than has been reached by animals and plants of this earth.

If we assume that Mars is inhabited—and Professor Haeckel seems pretty well satisfied that it is—we must assume, he holds, that the men and women whose home is on the planet are not such as we, but of a far higher type. They may resemble us exteriorly, but they are free from our physical defects and excel us in strength and gracefulness. It is in the intellectual sphere, however, that their superiority is most clearly shown. If there are human beings on these planets, says Prof. Haeckel, it is extremely probable that they far surpass ordinary men and women in intelligence.

THE DRESSY WOMAN.

There has been an unprecedented demand this season for novel and fashionable black dress fabrics.

Khaki fabrics are among the popular materials for spring wear, and it will be found necessary in every instance to relieve this ugly sand color with white or colored silk or satin.

Many of the modish spring Etons and other jackets have narrow, medium length stole ends in front, with short, double revers on each side, reaching in length a little below the bust.

Some of the smartest street gowns for spring wear are formed of handsome, smooth finished costume cloth of light weight, with the still fashionable decoration of stitched straps of the same material.

In keeping with the revived fashion of plaiting dress materials, the Norfolk jacket will reappear en suite, with kilted costumes of tweed, cheviot, frieze, zibeline, camel's hair, serge and other utility fabrics.

One of the great French authorities has said that, while many other effects will vie with it, the overskirt will take its place as a factor among other spring styles particularly suited to tall, slender women.

Among new French costumes are those of black satin faced cloth, with a finish of rows of white silk stitching on skirt edge and bolero or jacket, the costume finished either with a boa of black and white ostrich tips or one of black and white chiffon and fringe.

On models for summer gowns appear skirts alternately tucked and frilled in horizontal rows, with perpendicular side plaitings in clusters of five alternating with one rather wide box plait, with a mixture of fancy kilt and fan plaitings, the fabric first scalloped at the lower edge or bordered with braid or ribbon.—New York Post.

GLEANINGS.

A common sight in Cape Colony is a herd of ostriches accompanying a railway train as it speeds on its way.

A New Yorker who was in Kimberley recently was cured of homesickness by a familiar sight, nothing else than an old Broadway horse car, still bearing the legend, "Battery to Central Park."

A young man who was struck by lightning in Berlin a few weeks ago remained unconscious a long time, but shouted in his delirium that he was in hell and begged to have the devil taken away.

Thomas H. Gilbert, Jr., of Orono, Me., lately cut in Onawa a pine tree that contained 3,200 feet and is claimed to be the largest pine or tree of any kind ever cut for lumber on record in the New England states.

A new method of preserving telegraph poles is to surround the portion in the ground with an earthenware pipe like a drainpipe. Into the space between the pole and the pipe is poured a mixture of sand and resin.

There are two well known families in Devonshire, England, the Carews and the Careys, and it is said that the members of the Carew family pronounce the name "Carey," while the Careys call themselves "Carew."

For Williams and Didn't Know It.

"John," said the wife, "who air you fer in the race fer sheriff?"

"I'm fer Tompkins fust an last."

"No, John, you ain't fer Tompkins; you're fer Williams."

"I said Tompkins," replied John.

"I know you did, John. But, all the same, you're fer Williams!"

Then he made a grab for his hat and was about to make for the door when she locked it and, standing against it, said:

"Don't let us fuss over this matter, John. Be reasonable now an own up that you're fer Williams."

He fumbled with his hat and kicked the fire.

"Molly," he said, "ef you ain't as good as a mind reader I'll give it up! Course I'm fer Williams fust an last! Durn him!"

Bread in Havana.

Havana's bread carts are usually two legged—that is, bread is carried about the streets in large, shallow baskets borne on top of men's heads. It is served in sticks as long as a baseball bat or in loaves or pones, one of which is supposed to serve for the morning meal of an ordinary citizen.

WE CAN SHIP ORE

We have received our Superintendent's Report and find we can ship ore if we want to—but we won't yet. It won't be good mining. Why, we will tell you if you like!

He has been up to the Nettie L. and Siver Cup studying indications and finds that

We have better indications all round, and more ore showing up on surface and more ore underground than either had with same amount of work, and that we gain depth twice as fast as they do, and that when ore shows at or near the surface it continues down, and that it took 900 feet of tunnel on Cup to give 300 feet of depth, and that we can get same depth with 300 feet of tunnel, and that we can take out ore when we like!

Knowledge of our strike is spreading and orders for the Special Issue at .15 per share are coming in from all over, both from States and Canada. We have averaged over $1,000.00 a week in sales lately, so if you want any before we ship you had better get it now. You can't get it after!

Where Your Money is Safe

It may not be generally known that money deposited in the post-office savings bank cannot be garnisheed for debt, or in fact any money which is in the hands of or under the control of the government. The government of every country connected with the British empire is conducted in the name of the Queen or of the sovereign for the time being. Personally the Queen has nothing to do with it. But in speaking of a department of the government we say "Her Majesty's Militia," "Her Majesty's Post office," etc. This is the form and style under which the government is carried on. Her Majesty's post-office savings bank is not liable to be garnisheed.

Bad Workmanship.

The sewer connections which have been made by the corporation are, in many cases, no credit to those in charge of the street work. The Times was invited over to look at the damage done to the cellar under the old Croft House. The sewer connection was put in under the supervision of the Town Engineer, and did not work. The result was that there was a flooded cellar and much damage, which the town is called on to pay.

Not a Cracker

Imagine a town full of enthusiasm over the reported taking of Pretoria, but unable to make any kind of noise in the world, simply because no firecrackers or fireworks could be had in the place.

This is said to have been the hard luck of the people of Penetanguishene on Thursday night. Not a firecracker or a rocket could be had in the place, the local dealers having failed to replenish their stocks after the Queen's birthday. Telegrams were sent to Barrie, Toronto, and Hamilton, but in none of these places could the immediate needs of Penetanguishene be met. The town, therefore, had to do what it could to celebrate, without firecrackers or hypotechnics.

I. O. G. T. Resolution of Sympathy

Peterborough, June 1, 1900

To Mr. and Mrs. N. Lamb.

We, the members of the joint lodges of the Independent Order of Good Templars, on behalf of Auburn Lodge and City Lodge wish to express our sincere sympathy and heartfelt sorrow to you and yours at the loss of your son in whom your hopes and expectations were so deeply centred, and for whom that parental love and affection was at all times so warmly extended.

But we must all submit to the will of the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, who in His infinite wisdom saw fit to call away one so young to a land from which no traveler returns. We bow our heads in humble submission to His will, and say that though we cannot see through the cloud of sorrow, yet we know that God is too wise to err, and too loving to be unkind.

We pray and trust that you may learn to cast your every care upon Him, remembering that this earth is not our abiding place, and we, too, ere long, will be crossing the dark river, and if we love and keep His commandments we may enter the Grand Lodge on High, where God lives and reigns forever.

Signed on behalf of the two Lodges,

M. BUNTIN,
W. DREDGE,
Committee.

Oil the Streets

Kingston News—Ald. Donnelly recently in Westmount, a suburb of Montreal, found the streets particularly clean, due to a new innovation —believed to be used for the first time in Canada —viz., laying the dust of the streets by using oil instead of water. He says that the oil was very lightly sprinkled on the road bed at a place where the dust was ordinarily excessive. The effect was most noticeable. On the windiest day there was no sign of dust, and if "oiled" once, would last for weeks. The road-bed was saved, by not being continually worn away and cut to pieces by a deluge of water and conveyances passing over the spot. The cost was not excessive. He suggested the experiment of trying the scheme on Kingston streets to the members of the board of works at yesterday's meeting. The members authorized the purchase of a barrel of crude petroleum oil, costing about $4. The system will be tried on one of Kingston's streets under the personal supervision of the City Engineer, and if found successful may come into general use.

No Holiday Yet.

Mob Government

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Whither are we drifting? Politically, we have very much reason for a feeling of uneasiness. Individuals are elective to the Government, though they may be utterly devoid of qualifications, personally or otherwise, and they may be elected by citizens who have no real interest in public affairs, citizens too glad of an opportunity to sell their votes for a dollar. We have aliens to whom we give full rights of citizenship, and there are many such that have come to this country poor, amassed wealth under the protection of our Government, and who are openly disloyal to the British flag. It is not to be wondered at that "there is no honesty in politicians," and that the country is disgraced by "election frauds." Such will be the condition of affairs so long as we have a mob Government, for such it is. Time has proven that "representation by population" as existing is operating disastrously for the true interests of Canada. The remedy for such evils is to raise the voters' qualification to $1,000, and membership of Parliament to $5,000. As to aliens, they should not have the rights of franchise without taking upon themselves an oath of allegiance. A "British subject by naturalization" is farcical.

Yours, etc.,
W. H. CLUXTON.

To Get Rid of Ants.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—What does the expression 16 to 1 mean as applied to the coinage of silver in the United States? Does it mean that there must be 16 ounces of silver coined to each and every ounce of gold coined, or that the weight of a silver dollar must be 16 times greater than the weight of a gold dollar?

W. A.

Ans.—It means that the silver dollar shall weigh 16 times as much as the gold dollar and at this proportion the Government of the United States shall coin free all the silver that is brought to the mints. As silver is worth only about half this proportion of value it is easy to see how the surplus silver would be coined to an unlimited extent, which is opposed because cheap money awalys takes the place of a more valuable coinage and unsettles all values.

Truancy.

UNNATURAL FLESH.

Reduced by Leaving off Coffee anc Using Postum Food Coffee

"I have used coffee many years; in fact, ever since I was a child, until a few months ago I became satisfied that it hurt me,—caused the miserable drowsy feeling and the bloated condition of my body. I was very fleshy all the time, unnaturally fleshy.

"Since I left off drinking coffee and use Postum Food Coffee, the effect has been wonderful. I feel like a different person. The bloating has all gone. I am very much thinner and more natural in shape, have a better appetite and do not feel sleepy and drowsy as before. I shall never use any more regular coffee.

"When I first tried Postum, I was not satisfied with it, but decided that the fault must be my own, for so many people used Postum and liked it that I know there was some trouble in my preparation of it, so I examined the directions carefully and found that I should boil it long enough to bring out the flavor and the food value. When I prepared it right, it was elegant and I am more than pleased with the delicious beverage I have for breakfast every morning." Mrs. M. M. Pope, [illegible] Third St., Detroit, Mich.

An Important Decision.

The attention of tne Times has been called to a decision in division court brings out once more the point so often overlooked that the indoser of a note is not liable unless he signs after the payee. The payee, to whose order the note is made, must indorse the note, to make it negotiaple, and if he does it after the other man he assumes the responsidifity—other words he goes security for the note instead of the man who was intenbed to stand secuity.

PA'S IDEA OF PREACHING ON RAILRORD TRAINS.

"That's one of the Best plans I ever herd of," paw sed last nite, after maw Got thru putting a Poletuss on his Sore thum, which he got settin' off fire crackers in front of billy Salisbury's on Thursday nite, with bob Davidson and Bob fair.

"What is it?" maw told Him.

"They are Going to have preachen on Ralerode trains that Run on Sundies," paw anserd. "It's a grate thing. I tell you what it's a pitty Sum of Our ansestors that thot They New a Few things can't cum back Here and see what a naige of progress is with Steam up."

"It Duzzent seam to me they Are any sents having preaching on Trains," Maw says. "I think it Would bee rong to Do sutch a thing too. It would seam almost Like a sin.

"Oh shaw," paw told her, "they wouldn't be Ennything rong about it. People that wouldn't want to hear the Preachen wouldn't Haft to. They could Go in the smoken Car and make The Limmut five sents a corner or sumthing Like that. But there are a Hole lot of Good things about the plan. One of the Best is that it Would make more Jobs for peeple that have to Good an educashun to Tramp ties and Are to proud too Beg. Just think what a Godsend it Would be to sum Deserving yung man That never Had A goddsend Before If Every ralerode had its regular preachers the saime as it Has conducters And Breakmen and Candy butchers. Then they Could have the Ralerode preachers' union too and mebby Get dubble time for Worken on Sundy."

After maw thot about it Awhile She sed—

"they won't Never hav enny sistum like that Because the ralerode cumpneys wouldn't Want too Pay out So Mutch munny. How could thay Afford to hav a preacher on every Train and Mebby not even half Of the lower Berths taken?

"They wouldn't need one For every Trane," paw told her. "Sposen The preacher got on the 10 o'clock trane Going East. He could Save all the soles that needed it By the time the Enjunneer whisseld for Otteway, and then Catch the 'Leven Twenty Back, makin' thurty or forty sinners on the Return trip wisht they were nobuller and better men, an have time enuff to Tackle Billy bamford, billy Buntin and some more of the Ralerode peeple here. If he Got thru with The Surmon before it Was Time to start Out on the Next run he could Pass around Dodgers amung the saved saying it was the shortest and most direct line to the East, west, north, and South, landing You in the Very hart of the Sittie, and if the cumpny had enny trubble Getting bizness from the Other lines he could say sumthing in his Surmon about the dainger of going To purdishen or Kansas sitie by any other root. The ralerode man That thot Of this skeem new His bizness all Rite, and Just think how it Can be carried On from one point to anuther. After the Sistum gets To working good Thay can Run Sundy trains with preachen Going and coming, and in that Way make it soast They needn't Hardly ever be a Sollut terry foozle approachen the Hevenly gates. I spose it would help Travell too, becoz lots Of peeple That don't Plat golf and sech Like games as Thay do in the Stalls and in sum Parts of Canady to Encurridge the Ralerode cumpny in its Noble Effert and go to the linx and Play frum Nine in the morning till Four in The Afternoon to sho their Good faith. So the preacher Would more than Ern his sallery rite there. I ben looken in the Bible since I herd About the plan And They are Lots of Texts would Cum in Handy to use. Here's one I Got from the Same—"My soul Followeth Hard after thee," and anuther could be made out Of this verse—"Thay go up By the mountuns, Thay go down by the Valleys unto the Place which Thou Hast Founded for them."

They were a Lot more, But paw wouldnt rite them off for Me. After maw thot About it a While she Says—

"Well, it's a Nobul plan Ennyway. I spose they Are sum peeple can't Hardly help Travvullen on Sundies, and if Thay can Be saved by the Ralerode preachers It's So mutch the Better."

"Yes," paw told Her, "But they Are one thing mite work Against it Sum. If the Trane run over a Cow or struck A Sharp curve about the Time the preacher got to Thurdly or Forthly and Threw him in a man's lap that wade 260 pound from Lindsay or Sum other way Back place, they would be More Harm Dun in about a Minit than All the good The Preachen Amounted to in six years. Peeple that ain't Got time to Stay hoam and git Safted won't never catch up with mutch salvation Going sixty miles a nour and a Flask in Thare pockut.

MILITARY OPERATIONS ARE AT A STANDSTILL

The Tired Troops Resting Preparatory to a Long Chase After Retreating Boers.

BRITISH CAVALRY TRYING TO INTERCEPT BOTHA.

Generals Rundle and Brabant Have Withdrawn a Little to the Southward—British and Boer Patrols Exchange Shots a Few Miles From Mafeking.

London, June 7, 1.50 a.m.

Military operations in South Africa are apparently at a standstill for a day or two. The tired troops of Lord Roberts are resting, and he is filling his warehouses at his new base, Pretoria, preparatory to a long chase after the retreating Boers in the direction of Lindinburg. His cavalry are probably trying to intercept General Botha.

Some despatches are to hand which left Pretoria Monday, while the fighting was going on outside the city. They come by way of Lorenzo Marquez. One of them says—"Toward the end of the day, when the British naval guns were shelling the south forts, a number of projectiles burst, damaging the suburbs. All day armed burghers have been leaving Pretoria, going west. The greater part of railway rolling-stock has been removed. General Botha was fighting an essentially rear-guard action. His object being not to defend Pretoria, but to delay Lord Roberts until the railway switch had been cleared and the main part of the Boer army had started northward. The British advance appears to have left open to the Boers, the best line of retreat along the railway. Possibly Lord Roberts may have been able to cut the railway before a full retirement was effected. That Pretoria would be defended was apparently given out after the Council of War, with a view to misleading the British."

London, June 7.

Lydenburg, the district into which the provisions originally intended for Pretoria have been diverted, and where a cartridge factory has been erected, a reserve supply of all sorts are stored, is a volcano region of fertile valleys, enclosed by great ramparts of precipitous rock, penetrated by narrow winding passes. There are herds of cattle in the valleys, and there is much native labour available for fortifying. The Boers used both heavy and light artillery at Pretoria. What is supposed to have been the last train out of Pretoria, arrived at Lorenzo Marquez on Sunday evening. The passangers included a number of foreign volunteers who were leaving the Boers, and also the wives and children of Hollanders.

They described Pretoria deserted of food and clothing. What the Boer officials could not take, the natives and townspeople did.

Probably the most important Boer army is at Laing's Nek, where both sides are passive. Generals Rundle and Brabant have withdrawn a little southward Gen. Baden-Powell has extended martial law to the Marico and North Lichtenburg districts Shots were exchanged between Boer and British patrols eight miles east of Mafeking on May 28.

Part of the forces lately at Pretoria are reported to have gone westward to meet Gen. Baden-Powell, and to make a show of holding the country through which he and Gen. Hunter are moving.

London, June 6.—With the fall of Pretoria a period of inactivity will no doubt follow in, so far as the main British army in the Transvaal is concerned. As an interval was required for recuperation and reorganization after the fall of Bloemfontein, so will one be necessary in the present circumstances of the war. The wear and tear in Lord Roberts' force during the memorable and historic three-hundred mile march from Bloemfontein to Pretoria have been so great that that his halt at the recent Boer capital will probably be a somewhat long one. Moreover there are matters in his rear to be attended to. The Boers who still carry arms in the Free State must be driven into a corner and compelled to surrender while those who still hold Laing Nek's against General Buller must be attacked in the rear and finally disposed of. A small force may be spared from Pretoria to accomplish the latter purpose, and the advance of Rundle, Brabant and Methuen will perform the former task. It came as a surprise to many when they heard that Lord Methuen had marched across the Orange River Colony via Kroonstad and had reached Lindley, too late, however, to rescue the battalion of Irish yeomanry from the Boers. Methuen's march will nevertheless go down as a remarkable one, covering as he did forty-four miles in twenty-four hours, as good a specimen of quick work as the campaign has afforded. It is likely that Rundle, Methuen and Brabant will combine their forces dispose of the Boers who hold the Lindley district, and afterwards proceed north to effect a junction with Colville at Heilbron, which is close at hand. The Boers in this part of the erstwhile Free State cannot hold out much longer, for with the number of British troops now in the the field they may at any moment be surrounded. Meanwhile Botha and the disorganized remnants of his army have retreated after President Kruger toward the Portuguese border, carrying off, according to report, the formidable artillery armament with which the Boers were expected to do so much at Pretoria. Upon their future dispositions those of Lord Roberts will depend, and it will be necessary for the British commander-in-chief to await further developments before taking action in this direction. At any rate, no position the Boers can occupy, whether at Lydenburg or elsewhere, can compensate for the abdonment of Pretoria, the vital point of the war.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION.

London, June 6.—10.55 a.m Lord Roberts telegraphs to the War Office as follows—

"Pretoria, June 5, 5.35 p.m.—The occupation of the town passed off most satisfactorily, and the British flag is now hoisted on top of the Government offices. The troops met with a much more enthusiastic reception than I anticipated The third battalion of the Grenadier Guards lined the square when the march past took place."

"Owing to their having been on duty at some distance around the town very few cavalry and infantry were able to take part in the ceremony.

"Several of our officers who had been prisoners were among the onlookers."

LONDON CELEBRATED ALL NIGHT.

Remarkable Scenes of Enthusiasm at the British Capital.

London, June 6.—England has been celebrating to-night the fall of Pretoria very much as she did the relief of Mafeking. Drunkenness has been a trifle less conspicuous than when Baden-Powell was the hero of the moment, but in London and in the other large towns the scenes last night were practically a repetition of those which marked the other victories, and long after midnight uproarious yelling, the toots of horns and discordant chants ascended from the city streets, usually at such an hour is as silent as the grave.

All during the evening processions marched along the Strand, Piccadilly and the other leading thoroughfares. In fact, so great was the crush that the eathiest method of travel was to join one of the processions for whose strident choruses and waving flags all traffic was stopped. Cowches and cabs were freely chartered in honor of the joyful occasion, and these were seen so packed with invited and uninvited guests that they assumed the aspect of living pyramids of bacchanalians. Babies in arms, white-haired women, girls of the street, club men in evening dress and White-chapel costermongers gaily intermingled along the flaring thoroughfares, bent upon celebrating the event. Into the faces of all were continually thrust peacocks feathers described for no known reason as "Kruger's persuaders."

GIRLS WERE KISSED.

Girls were indiscriminately kissed, jostled and tossed around amid the jubillation of the midnight crowd. A species of confetti, which stuck to the clothing of the recipient, which stuck to the clothing of the recipient, proved a popular form of showing one's exultation, until the stores of the peddlars ran out. Then the night grew older and rowdyism of the worst form prevailed. From almost every barroom came sounds of inebriate attempts to sing "God Save the Queen" and "Rule Britannia."

At the music halls and theaters last evening the mention of Lord Roberts at Pretoria brought every audience to its feet in a second, and it was almost impossible for the performers to hold the interest of those in front of them. Every building possessing an illuminating device used it for all it was worth until the metropolis was ablaze with light. The clubs in Pall Mall were lit up with huge torches, and the old staid street of murky buildings were scarcely recognizable. Around Marlborough House and the War Office the crowds continued thick.

PRINCE IN TOWN.

The Prince of Wales came to town yesterday afternoon and went to the opera in the evening. His drive to and from the performance was marked by a tremendous welcome. The news was wired to the Queen at Balmoral immediately on its receipt, and the Union Jack was hoisted over the royal residence.

Throughout the country illuminations occurred on a large scale. Effigies of President Kruger were burned, and innumerable telegrams of congratulations were sent to the little Field Marshal who had made England so happy. Lord Wolseley received the news while visiting Mr. Henry James at Rye. He improved the occasion by attending the local municipal meeting, and joining in the cablegram to Lord Roberts.

The Rev. Dr. Talmage, who was shut up in Mansion House by the density of the crowd, after luncheon with the Lord Mayor, said to a reporter of the Associated Press—"It is the most inspiring, the most wonderful exhibition of enthusiasm I have ever seen. In some respects it reminds me of the peace jubilee in Boston at theclose of the American civil war. The Boer cause is lost. They talk of guerilla warfare, but, judging from what I have learned here, it scarcely seems that this will amount to anything."

As a coincidence, Eton, one of the great English public schools, has postponed its annual June 4th celebration until to-day, and as Lord Roberts is one of the most distinguished old Etonians he is coming in for great ovations from the school which has 844 alumni in South Africa, among them being General Buller, Methuen, Barton, Lyttleton, Hutton and Dundonald, and so many other distinguished soldiers that it is already being said that Pretoria was "won on the playing field of Eton."

BOER ENVOYS AT ST. PAUL.

St. Paul, Minn., June 7.—The Boer envoys arrived in this city to-day. This evening they will attend a mass meeting arranged by a citizens committee. Dr. Fischer exhibited specimen dum-dum and explosive bullets, which, he says, had been taken from the British after the battle of Spion Kop.

BULLER TO STRIKE THE NEXT BLOW.

Sir Redvers Has Now Had Time to Complete the Turning Movement at Laing's Nek.

London, June 6.—The officials here, as well as others, find difficulty in prognosticating Lord Roberts' immediate programme. It appears that the Boer commander-in-chief, Gen. Botha, with all his guns, withdrew in good order, probably along the Delagoa Bay Railway, with the view of joining President Kruger. So the Transvaal forces remain practically intact with President Kruger and Steyn, and Gen. Botha and Secretary of State Reiz all safe and in a position to continue the direction of affairs. The more optimistic see in the fact that President Kruger's wife and Gen. Botha's wife were left at Pretoria an indication that the President does not count on a long resistance. In any case, it will probably take Lord Roberts at least a week to organize a campaign of pursuit.

The military authorities anticipate that the next important news will come from Gen. Buller's direction, where plenty of time has elapsed to complete the turning movement at Laing's Nek.

A belated despatch from Mafeking dated May 31 announces the British occupation of Malmani, where 200 Boers surrendered.

Robert Barr's Criticisms.

The Canadian public has not yet recovered from the severe criticisms made by Robert Barr, the novelist, who recently declared that Canadians prefer whiskey to books, A thoughtful and energetic reply to Mr. Barr is made in the June Canadian Magazine by Walter James Brown. Among the other contributors to this issue are Mr. Barr himself, Bieadsdell Cameron, P. Y. Black, Frederic Villiers and Walter C. Nichol Hopeful of a Railway.

Mr. Simon Windsor, merchant of Apsley, and Mr. John Lane, of the same place, are in town on business and gave the Times a call. They speak hopefully of securing railway connection by way of Norwood, at an early date. Peterborough should make a move to have the line start from here before it is too late.

Board of Appraisers.

Ottawa, June 6.- Hon. Wm. Paterson, Minister of Customs, in addition to introducing a new system, has decided to permanently locate a board of appraisers at Ottawa. The board will consist of five members, being the two officials already located here, two others yet to be appointed, and the Minister of Customs himself. At present whenever the board meets appraisers from other parts are called to assist in the deliberations. This will no longer be necessary with a permanent board at Ottawa. It is also intended to require a copy of the invoice to be sent with the entries from each port Under the present system only the entries are sent.

It is likewise possible that another officer may be appointed to travel in the United States and keep posted on values, in addition to the officer already engaged in this duty.

GOVERNOR MAY DEPOSE THE MAYOR.

The Mayor of New York Has Stock in a Company Supplying Ice to the City

New York, June 5.—Mayor Van Wyck holds stock in the American Ice Co., which supplies the city with ice under contract. The result is an agitation to have him removed from office by Governor Roosevelt, who has gone to Albany to consult the Attorney-General on the subject. Then will be decided the question as to whether the Governor shall at once suspend the Mayor for a period of 30 days, and institute proceedings for his permanent removal on charges, the enquiry to be conducted by a commissioner.

The Governor has in his possession affidavits made by David Ferguson and Louis R. Southworth, taxpayers, who charges the Mayor with malfeasance in office in that he is the owner of stock in the American Ice Co., and therefore is a city official interested in contracts to furnish the city with supplies, in as much as the ice company supplies the city with ice under contract.

The Mayor is also charged with negligence in permitting Dock Commissioners to lease exclusively to the American Ice Co. certain docks at a lower rental than might have been secured from other bidders.

Governor Roosevelt is convinced that Mayor Van Wyck is largely interested in the American Ice Co. Its stock list contains not only the name of the Mayor, but those of his brother, and a large number of Supreme Court and Appelate Division Judges.

If Van Wyck were removed, Randolph Guggenheimer would naturally succeed him as President of the Council. But, it is said that Guggenheimer, too, is a stockholder in the ice company. The Governor has been told that next in order of precedence comes the Council's vice-president, John T. Oakley. There is no telling what a scrutiny of the bulky list of stockholders may reveal in this case.

Only One big Blast.

Winnipeg, June 6.—A cyclone struck the city last night, doing considerable damage. A boathouse at the foot of George street was carried away some distance, and Ed Atwell, a 15 year-old boy, sheltering behind it, was killed. A tin roof, weighing hundreds of pounds, was blown off the Karner block a considerable distance, breaking the telegraph and electric railway wires. Many other roofs pieces of buildings, flagstaffs, chimneys, etc., were blown down. There was only one big blast and it did not last long.

I RAISE FOR COL. HUGHES.

London Times Correspondent Pays Tribute to His Work with the Irregulars.

The London Times of May 25th contains the following from its correspondent at Douglas, Cape Colony, under date of May 22nd—

General Sir Charles Warren left Roolpan for Douglas on the night of the 20th with a force consisting of the Munster Fusiliers, Mounted Infantry, Imperial Yeomanry, Cape Police, the Duke of Edinburgh's Own Volunteer Rifles, Warren's Scouts, and two guns of the Canadian Artillery. This force marched in two columns, one being under the command of Colonel Hughes and the other under Col. Spence.

Colonel Hughes' column took the direct route through the veldt and waited about four miles from here for the other column. Nothing was seen of the enemy until the force was about two miles from here, when the Boers were observed galloping toward a low kopje on the banks of the Vaal River, about 2,500 yards from the road. The Canadian Artillery at once came into action, and after a few well-directed shots had been placed among the Boers they were seen to be in full retreat toward Douglas.

The Cape Police and Warren's Scouts, under Colonel Hughes, then advanced in skirmishing order toward Douglas. After coming to within about 1,000 yards they rushed through the town to the houses close to the banks of the river and exchanged shots with the enemy for some time. The enemy then finally fled, leaving their laager with three wagons and a great quantity of ammunition, food, etc. The Duke of Edinburgh's Own Volunteer Rifles marched the eighteen miles from [illegible] to Douglas in splendid style, and arrived here very fit, regretting only that the enemy had not resisted until they came up. Russia Tries to Force Chinese to Call in Russian Aid to Suppress the Boxers.

JAPAN HURRIEDLY PREPARES ITS NAVY FOR WAR

Emprevs of the Mongolian Race Continues to Support the Marauding Society, and Foreign Protests Fall Upon Deaf Ears. British Minister at Pekin is Ill.

Shanghai, June 6.—The soldiers despatched to attack the Boxers have fought an engagement quite close to Pekin. Many were killed on both sides.

Shanghai, June 6.—Alarming reports are current here of the hurried completion of the mobilization of the Japanese fleet.

Shanghai, June 6.—In consequence of the representation of Japan the landing of a large Russian force at Taku is alleged to have been stopped. It is believed that should Russian persist in sending a preponderant military force to the front a collision with Japan would inevitably result.

RUSSIA'S INTRIGUE.

Urging China to Call Upon the Czar for Aid—The British Minister Ill.

Shanghai, June 6.—The Russian minister at Pekin, M. De Giers, has made another attempt to induce the Chinese Foreign Office to formally request Russian assistance to restore order, but the offer has not been accepted.

Violent dissensions are reported to exist between the Chinese commander-in-chief of the forces, Jung lu, and Prince Chang Tuan, who in accordance with the wishes of the Dowager Empress, is strongly supporting the case of the Boxers.

The mobs who murdered the English missionaries Robinson and Norman have since mutilated and disemboweled the bodies.

The station at Yan Ting, three miles from Pekin, has been burned.

The British Minister, Sir Claude M. Macdonald, is reported to be quite ill.

WORSE AT PEKIN.

Further Alarming Official News Reaches the United States Capital To-day.

Washington, June 6.—Bad news continues to come from Minister Conger, and the American naval force in the Pei-Ho River has been ordered strengthened.

The Minister cabled to-day that the situation was worse at Pekin, and this statement, taken in connection with Admiral Kempff's alarming cablegram of yesterday, announcing that an engagement had begun, decided the State Department to increase the naval forces nearest the scene of trouble. According a cablegram was sent to Admiral Remey at Manila, directing him to despatch at once to Admiral Kempff's command the gunboat Helena, or, if that craft was not at Manila, and ready for immediate service, then some craft of correspondingly light draught and power.

The purpose is to place at Admiral Kempff's command an efficient warship capable of ascending the Pei-Ho River.

LONDON NEWS.

The Situation in China Alarming — The Empress Plays a Sinister Farce.

London, June 6.—Morning papers have nothing from China regarding an attack upon Tien Tsin, but the Times, in an editorial discussing the situation, says that everything was ready for such an emergency, the foreign settlements being protected by gunboats along the wharves of the Pei Ho River. The Times goes on to say—

The Chinese troops, who are supposed to be putting down the rebellion, have been placed under the orders of a general whose soldiers have been for months past a standing menace to the safety of foreigners in the Province of Pe Chi Li. This merely adds another touch of impudence to the sinister farce which is being played under the eyes of western diplomac, in the Chinese capital. Pekin itself is believed to be safe, and although, no doubt, in the foreign detachment which have been sent up to guard the legations may be trusted to give a good account of themselves, the safety of the city may presumably be attributed in an equal measure to the regard of the Empress Tszu Hszi for her own personal convenience.

The Daily Chronicle suggests deposing the Empress Dowager, and the re-elevating of Emperor Tsait Kuang Su, if still alive, under European advisers.

The Morning Post considers the situation alarming, and the problem is an urgent one for Great Britain.

The Daily Telegraph regards affairs in China as serious in the extreme.

THIS OSTRICH DINED ON VALUABLE GEMS.

Supposed to Have Swallowed Over $45,000 Worth of Diamonds and Pearls.

Chicago, June 5.—A local newspaper is authority for a remarkable tale of an ostrich, $45,000 worth of missing jewels, and some expert Chicago thieves, which is said to have come to Chicago detectives from Paris this week.

According to the story, one of the chief attractions of the California exhibit at the Paris Exhibition was to have been an educated ostrich. An ostrich purporting to be the educated bird was shipped from San Joaquin, Cal., to New York city several weeks ago. With it were two male attendants, an old gentleman, and a dashing young woman. They took passage with the ostrich on a French line steamer bound for Cherbourg. The bird was kept in the hold and was visited and fed daily with great care.

Passangers reported to the captain on the morning of the third day that they had been robbed of jewelry and diamonds. Other complaints followed each day, for during the voyage more than thirty state-rooms were entered, trunks opened, jewel caskets emptied and strong boxes looted.

One Chicago woman lost more than $3,000 worth of diamonds and pearls. A young married couple from New York were losers to the extent of more than $4,000 in gems. A clothing dealer from Kansas City lost a jeweled watch and diamond ornaments valued at approximaely $2,000. Mrs. James R. Davis, of Texas, missed about $8,000 worth of property, Mrs. George F. Washburn, of Boston, reported the loss of a diamond crescent and pearl necklace valued at $3,300. Miss May Egers, of New York, said a tira valued at $1,200 was gone. Altogether the jewels stolen were valued at $45,000.

As soon as the steamer arrived the police of Cherbourg were notified, and Paris detectives made an investigation but found no jewels. Attention was called to the fact that Commissioner Peck was still waiting for an educated Californian ostrich. The police turned to this clue and the body of the bird was found finally in a lonely suburb of Cherbourg. Near by were a few broken bits of what had been expensive jewelry.

Detectives have continued the investigation and are convinced that the four passengers in charge of the ostrich are experty diamond thieves. They are believed to have obtained possession of the educated ostrich, or to have anticipated the plans of the California committee, also started with an ostrich of their own choosing.

At any rate, when the attendants went down to the hold every day to feed the ostrich they are supposed to have dined him on choice gems.

MILITIA MAY RULE ST. LOUIS STRIKERS,

Governor to Adopt Means to Stop Assaults on Women Who Ride on Cars.

St. Louis, June 5.—St. Louis women will present a petition to Governor Stephens of Missouri beseeching him to put an end to the attacks made upon women by street railway strike sympathizers. The petition was placed to-day in all of the down-town stores in hopes of getting 50,000 signatures.

The police yesterday arrested Mrs. Emma Thompson in connection with the assault upon Christine Thieri on Sunday, whose real name is Susie Hensell. She told the police she gave a wrong name because of the shame of connection with such an affair. She is seriously ill as the result of the treatment.

In an order to the police, Chief of Police Campbell says—

"Too many defenseless women have been beaten and stripped of their clothing, and if arrests and court prosecutions do no good, guns will be freely used. Nothing is too severe for a brute who deliberately beats and tears the clothing from a woman for riding in a transit car or any other kind of vehicle, strike or no strike."

Late last night Theo McConner of Milwaukee, employed by the Transit Company as line repairer, was shot while repairing wires.

WHO THE "BOXERS" ARE.

Such confusion as exists as to precisely who and what the Chinese Boxers are is probably due to the rapidity and frequency with which the native secret societies of Chinese change their names when they desire to continue their organization adn purposes free from the surveillance of the government. When at last an edict of suppression is issued the society simply takes a new title and goes on asif nothing had happened.

The society of Boxers is supposed to number eleven millions of men. It was originally a sort of law and order league, organised for protection against the bandits with which the province of Shan-Tung was infested. Its name was then Ta Tao Hwei, which means "The Society of the Great Sword."

It is a law and order league gone wrong. As this society became more powerful many dishonest and designing persons entered it, and in numerous cases directed its efforts against personal enemies whom they represented to be bandits and lawless persons. Some of these victims, looking for help from the persecutions of the Great Sword Society, turned to the Christian missionaries, especially, it is said, the German Catholics. They professed conversion and the missionaries sought to protect them.

A series of outrages on Christians followed until, in last October, the Christian nations forced the government to send a force against the Great Swords. There was a battle, followed by the report of the Governor of Shan-Tung that the so-called rebles were honest country folk.

Then the Great Sword Society disappeared, by edict, and in its place sprang ready-made the "Universal Society of Boxers," with the old organisation and purposes and with the added idea of fighting all foreign influence—missionary or otherwise—and of having the government help it. The operations of the society and the outrages committed by it have since continued, and have constantly become bolder.

The Chinese name for the society is I-Ho-Tuan, the I meaning righteousness, the Ho standing for peace and Tuan meaning fist.

As to the increased influence of Russia at Pekin the professor explains it by pointing out that Russia declined to join the other powers in making representations to the Pekin Government with respect to the Boxer movement, basing her refusal upon the fact that she is an Asiatic.

Pretty Hot Stuff.

Colonel Bob Simmons manages to keep his eyes open by consuming a plentiful supply of birdseye peppers, which a superintendent of one of his numerous Louisiana plantations sends him weekly. Did you ever eat birdseye? It is a quarter inch in diameter, shaped like a double convex lens, with a black pupil and dark brown iris. The hottest sauce known to man is made of it.

The colonel delights in offering one to an acquaintance and watching furtively to see the tears come. He tried three on me. I bolted them and smiled, for there was no present heat. In an hour, after they had scorched the walls of my stomach and their fierce fire had crept up my esophagus to the roof of my mouth, I was crying as a baby. Quantities of milk but increased the torrification. The throat was a crematory. Water cold as ice scalded. My sufferings lasted a night, and I prayed that the colonel might never go to as hot a place as I was.—New York Press.

Art Treasures in Japan.

The Japanese idea in regard to art treasures is quite different from the American idea, as seen in the home. The American method is to keep all the good pictures or beautiful bronzes or unique vases in evidence all the time. The Japanese way is to store the artistic belongings, bringing different ones to light for a time, and thereby avoiding the too abundant appearance that is often the rule

FOR STEAMBOAT MEN ONLY.

Regulation Which Owners of Steam Crafts Must Observe.

Now that navigation on our inland lakes is again open, and in view of the fact that the number of steam and other craft seems likely to be largely increased this season, it would be well for local navigators and others to commit to memory and put into practice the following rules as laid down for the guidance of steamboat men—

It is very necessary that all steamboat and steam yacht owners should be posted as regard to signals, lights, etc., for their own protection as well as the safety of lives of others. In fact the public should be more familiar with nautical rules, so that in case of accident they could give an intelligent account of what happened. An occurrence happened here last summer which might have resulted in an accident and which goes to show that some of the yacht owners are not familiar with signals. One launch was just leaving the wharf and a yacht was just coming in, both bow on. The launch gave one short blast of her whistle, indicating she was going to starboard; the yacht answered three whistles, which evidently went to show that they did not understand the signal given by the launch, and took it as a salute. Below is given a code of signals required by law. Nothing in these rules shall exonerate any vessel owner, master, or crew from the consequence of any neglect to carry lights or signals—Lights to be used from sunset to sunrise.—Steamers when under way shall carry, at the foremast, a bright white light; on the starboard side, a green light; on the port side, a red light. A white light shall be carried on the stern. The green and red lights must be so constructed as to show, respectively, from directly ahead to two points abaft the beam; and shall be fitted with inboard screens, projecting at least three feet forward from the light, so as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow. These lights are only necessary when vessels are under way. Steamers, when towing other vessels or rafts, shall carry two white masthead lights one three feet below the other. Steam or sailing vessels, when at anchor, in roadsters or fairways, shall show white light not exceeding twenty feet above the hull. In fog, whistle shall be sounded at least every two minutes. Steamers meeting end-on or nearly end-on, so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other. If two steamers are crossing, the ship which has the other on her own starboard shall keep out of the way of the other. Sailing vessels always have the right of way over steam whistles. Every vessel overtaking another shall keep out of the way of the one ahead.

Signals by Whistle.

One short blast, I am going to starboard; two short blasts, I am going to port; three short blasts, I am going full speed astern; three medium blasts are used as a salute in passing; four whistles signal distress.

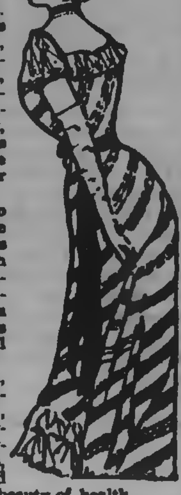
Bells, or Signal Whistle, to Engineer.

One bell, go ahead; one bell, stop; two bells, back; three bells, go slow; four bells, (or jingler) strong; four bells, (or jingler) all right (when stopped); When vessel is either going ahead or backing, two bells mean to reverse.

It is a singular coincidence that the short words, as left, port and red are all on the left side, and the long words, right, starboard and green, are all on the right side. This fact makes it a good guide to remember which is which.

A Society Woman

Undergoes a greater strain than is generally realized, and every woman is a society woman in her own circle. The debts of society are many and must be paid or there will come social bankruptcy, and it is in the punctual payment of social debts, regardless of health or feelings, that women often lay the foundation for serious illness. The late hours and rich foods, common to society gatherings, soon or late derange the stomach; the liver, perhaps, becomes involved, and the heart flutters or palpitates.



There is no medicine for the cure of diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition which can equal Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It heals the stomach, purifies and enriches the blood, cleanses the clogged liver, nourishes the nerves, and gives face and form the radiant beauty of health.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, and is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

Mrs. L. Hedgecoke, of Dozier, Collingsworth Co., Texas, writes: "I was troubled for seven or eight years with indigestion and liver complaint, and received more benefit from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' than any medicines I have ever tried."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation.

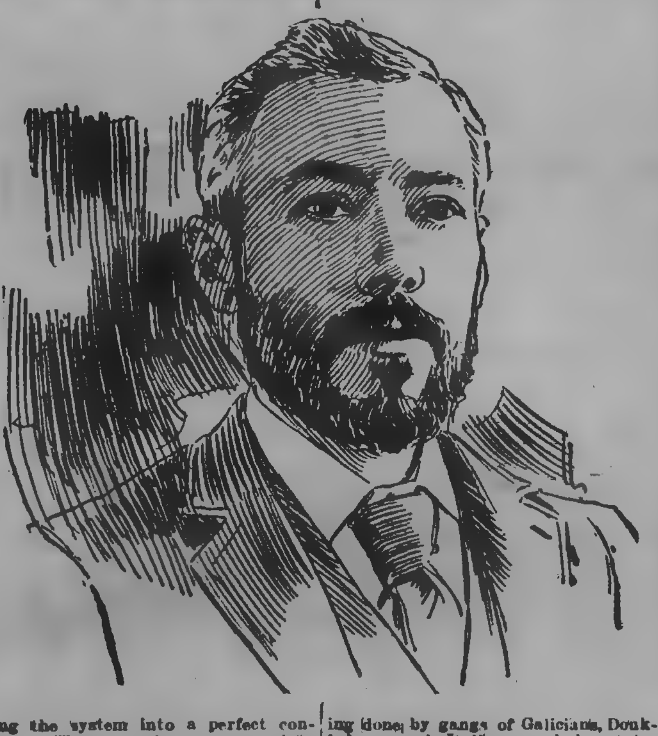
RETURNED FROM THE GREAT PRAIRIE PROVINCE.

General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway Speaks of His Recent Trip to the West.



Montreal, June 4.

Mr. D. McNicholl, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is home after nearly a month's visit to Manitoba, the Territories and British Columbia. He is looking exceedingly well, and talks in more enthusiastic terms than ever of the greatness of the country's resources and the wonderful rapidity of its development.

In speaking to a Star reporter this morning, Mr. McNicoll said that during his trip he had paid particular attention to the main line from Montreal to Vancouver, and also the Crow's Nest Pass Road, from McLeod to Kootenay Landing, as well as the extension from Robson to Midway. In speaking of the section around the North Shore of Lake Superior, he says it is practically completed. From Port Arthur to Winnipeg the road is being almost daily improved, and thousands of men are at work straightening curves, cutting down grades and getting the system into a perfect condition. The general manager points out that all kinds of material used in the building of railways and rolling stock had very materially increased the creation of a perfect roadbed and good rails, permitting the running of heavier trains, was the only way in which the company could meet the changed condition of affairs. A few years ago the standard rail on the Canadian Pacific Railway was 56 pounds, but this has been increased to 80 pounds, and all the others improvments are of a like character. He confirmed the statement that the Imperial Limited would be put on on June 11, both from Montreal and Vancouver, the time occupied between the two cities being one hundred hours. This change will, of course, necessitate the running of an increased number of locals, or an extension of the present runs.

PASSENGER BUSINESS.

Mr McNicoll was asked as to the increase in business and he replied that the passenger business, as well as freight, is much ahead of last year. The preparations now going on for an increase of business all along the line, and especially in the Pacific province, are something one has to see with his own eyes in order to properly appreciate the amount of business going on in every direction. People are pouring into the country, and every one is particularly hopeful of the future, not only in British Columbia, but in Manitoba and the North-West. He also noticed the gradual leaving that was taking place amongst the foreign element that recently settled in Northwest Canada. A great deal of the new road making and changes generally are being done by gangs of Galicians, Doukhobors, and Italians, and he states that the rapid assimilation that has taken place during the past year or two is nothing less than remarkable. The old customs of the newcomers a couple of years ago have to a great extent disappeared, and they are not only good servants, but valuable settlers.

BRANCH ROADS COMPLETED.

The branch railways which the Canadian Pacific began last year in Manitoba are being pushed to completion this season, and will be completed in time, no doubt, to move the fall crop from the respective districts, which these branches will, for the first time, bring in touch with the main line, and through this the markets of the world. An important piece of railway is also being hurried on to completion in British Columbia, and which may be properly called a section of the Crow's Nest and Boundary extension.

This bit of road, says the general manager, runs from Nelson to Balfour, and is over twenty miles long, and when completed, five or six weeks hence, will shorten the water stretch between Kootenay Landing and the western section of the Crow's Nest road about thirty miles. As a matter of fact, no bulk is broken from Montreal to Midway, as fine steamers and barges now run from the Landing to Nelson, each carrying loaded cars, and a little later on Balfour will be the landing point, thus obviating the slight difficulty which has at times been created by ice forming in the comparatively narrow river between Balfour and Nelson.

SCENERY SPLENDID.

It is interesting to hear Mr. McNicoll describe the scenery between Robson and Greenwood, as even better than on the main line of the Canadian Pacific. Preparations are being rapidly completed, he says, for a tremendous amount of business in this particular section during the coming season, and here also the company have a great many men at work building sidings, spurs, etc., to accommodate the mines, which will soon be going full blast. He visited Greenwood, Phoenix and Grand Forks, the last-named being the location of the Granby smelter, which is about ready to start work, and he says that no one can form any idea of the mighty possibilities attached to the tremendous ore bodies which are being opened up on every side.

Next came the question of the midway, the present western terminus, in speaking of the intentions of the Canadian Pacific Railway at the point, he said that the future operations of the company will, no doubt, depend entirely upon the development, the discoveries and requirements of the country generally. To the west of Midway are Penticton Camp, McKinney, Okanagan and a number of other mining centers, all of which are passing through the development stage and which in the near future will be very important camps.

Mr. McNichol says that Rossland has got beyond the mining stage and its future as a city is established. In speaking of Vancouver he says that the company is making improvements to their docks and other terminal facilities. There is, he states, a steady increase in the volume of Oriental trade, to and from the port of Vancouver, and there is no go back to this trade. Coming through the mountains, the reports indicated a fine outlook for the ranches. There has been a good amount of rain along the foothills, and with the fact of having had a favourable winter, the export of the cattle this year, will, no doubt be a good deal heavier than last year, when the trade was hampered by a lack of shipping. As the Transvaal war is probably nearing the end, there will be a great number of transports released, many of which will return to the St. Lawrence trade, thus procuring a desired impetus to the export of live stock from the Canadian North-West.

WESTERN COAL TRADE.

He was also pleased to note that the prospect of a heavy output of western coal were very bright, and this applies to Fernie, Canmore, Lethbridge, Anthracite, as well as other points.

At Fernie, in the Crow's Nest there are no fewer than 150 coke ovens already built, while fifty more are under way, and new shafts are being sunk and other preparations made for a larger output east and west, while the excellence of the coal creates also a very large demand south of the boundary line. The Michel in also another big coal mine, some thirty miles east of Fernie, and a very extensive plant is being installed here, while a good many houses have already been erected.

Mr. McNichol says that the prospects for good crop in the west are excellent.

The general manager has had a busy time to-day attending to the many callers who were awaiting his arrival home.

"Carry Sunshine with You."

A bright, fresh, sunny face is always inspiring, and it always denotes good health as well as a happy heart. Many faces that were once overcast with gloom have been made bright and sunny by Hood's Sarsaparilla which cures all dyspeptic symptoms, strengthens the nerves and tones up and invigorates the whole system.

Constipation is cured by Hood's Pills, the non-irritating cathartic. Sold by all druggists.

History Repeats Itself

The Kansas City Journal points out that a little more than 107 years ago there arrived in the United States an emissary of a foreign country who sought to enlist the Washington Government in a war against England, just as the Boer envoys have been doing. He came with an appeal from the newly-formed French Republic to the American Republic to make common cause against the monarchy of England. The sentiment of the people of the United States at that time was bitterly hostile to England and there was general feeling of gratitude to France for her assistance in the War of Independence. Moreover, the American people felt that the French had followed their example in establishing a republic. The French envoy, who called himself Citizen Genet, was received with popular applause wherever he went, and the whole nation seemed to be in sympathy with him, but, greatly to his surprise, when he presented his credentials at the capitol and was received by President Washington, he was told that it was not the policy of the United States to interfere in the quarrels of Europe. He flew into a rage and said he would appeal to the people of the United States, whereupon the United States Government demanded his recall. But even before the demand reached France he had been recalled by the French Government, which disapproved of the way in which he was acting.

The Kansas City Journal points out that history is simply repeating itself. President McKinley in the year 1900 is acting, it says, as Washington did in 1793 in defiance of popular sentiment, but in the best interests of the American people.

We do not think that popular sentiment in the United States was in favor of American intervention in the South African war, although sympathy for the Boers was undoubtedly widespread. It was generally recognized that American intervention would mean a war with Britain, and there are very few people in the United States who would really like to involve their country in such a war.

As regards popular sympathy with the Boers, a minority can sometimes make so much noise as to appear to be the majority, and even some of the noisemakers might change their minds if placed in a position of responsibility and obliged to consider the consequences. Bryan has endeavored to make political capital out of the popular sympathy for the Boers, but it is not likely that he would have acted differently from McKinley if he had held the same responsible position when the Boer envoys arrived.

CZAR AND SHAH.

A Russo-British clash in Persia should at least give us some musical Lalla Rookh war map names with which to offset the Boer tongue twisters.—St. Louis Republic.

It is quite possible that we are to have an interesting sequel to the peace rescript of the emperor of Russia and that the coming conflict between Russia and England is not far distant.—Chicago Record.

Both Russia and England have always frankly admitted that an Anglo-Russian war of supremacy in India is bound to come at some time. It is reasonable to suppose that it shall be precipitated by the government which sees a sudden advantage too great to be ignored.—St. Louis Republic.

The ardent solicitude for the amity of the shah is due to the mobilization of a Russian army on the Afghan frontier and the confessed intention to occupy Herat at an early day. Having explored all the routes to British India, the czar has decided to mark his baggage "via Persia."—Philadelphia Times.

RECENT INVENTIONS.

Breathing in rough water is made easy by a new life preserver, which has a vertical tube secured to the front of the air chamber, with a mouthpiece through which air is drawn from the top of the tube, which extends above the head.

To prevent the reins from catching under the horse's tail a new harness attachment is formed of a metal yoke secured to the back strap, with fingers extending on either side to carry the lines, a brace being set at right angles with the yoke to hold it vertical.

By the use of a Tennessee man's device horses can be checked and unchecked without leaving the carriage, a short strap being used to connect the reins over the back pad, with a second strap joining the first strap to the check rein, in order that a pull on the reins can guide the check over the hook.

India Rubber Industry.

The bulletin of the Royal gardens, Kew, states that the falling off in the production of India rubber at Lagos is due to the reckless way in which the trees are being exhausted. There is a want of control over the collectors, who tap young trees and destroy whole rubber forests by overworking, so that this industry, which is an important source of wealth to the colony, is in danger of extinction. A similar disaster occurred in Madagascar, and now active steps are being taken to preserve the industry by the establishment of plantations of rubber producing plants.

TRENT CANAL.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS endorsed "Tenders for 'Glance Booms,'" will be received at this office up to sixteen o'clock on Friday, 15th June, 1900, for the construction of Glance Booms and Piers above the five dams on the river below Lakefield, on the Peterboro and Lakefield Division of the Trent Canal.

Plans and specifications of the work can be seen at the Superintending Engineer's Office, Peterboro', where forms of tender can be obtained on and after Saturday, 19th May, 1900.

In the case of firms there must be attached the actual signatures of the full name, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same, and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $100, must accompany the tender; this accepted cheque must be endorsed over to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and will be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

WE CAN SHIP ORE

We have received our Superintendent's Report and find we can ship ore if we want to—but we won't yet. It won't be good mining. Why, we will tell you if you like!

He has been up to the Nettie L. and Siver Cup studying indications and finds that

We have better indications all round, and more ore showing up on surface and more ore underground than either had with same amount of work, and that we gain depth twice as fast as they do, and that when ore shows at or near the surface it continues down, and that it took 900 feet of tunnel on Cup to give 300 feet of depth, and that we can get same depth with 300 feet of tunnel, and that we can take out ore when we like!

Knowledge of our strike is spreading and orders for the Special Issue at .15 per share are coming in from all over, both from States and Canada. We have averaged over $1,000.00 a week in sales lately, so if you want any before we ship you had better get it now, You can't get it after!

The original letter is on file at our office and can be seen by interested persons.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the Rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed, and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our company owns, clear of incumbrances, the following claims: The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida, at Cleora Station, on the main trunk line of the great Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, and also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

His Time Coming.

Yesterday Mr. Wilson, M.P., for Lennox, said that his old friend Mr. James Stevenson, should have had a senatorship long since. He felt that there were few who had a better right to a position in the Upper Chamber than Mr. Stevenson. It would assuredly come, however, when the Conservatives get back to power.

Fast Wheeling.

Scorching is becoming altogether too prevalent. Yesterday a prominent merchant was knocked down by a scorcher, and the evening before two small children were badly shaken up when crossing the street. Action should be taken at once by the council and a by-law passed which will give the police power to act in the matter.

Death of Father Cicolari

The Rev. Fr. Cicolari, aged 46, died at Kingston on Tuesday morning at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Des Rochers. The deceased was born in Kingston and educated at St. Michael's College, Toronto, graduating at Laval University, Quebec. He had charge of parishes in the vicinity of Alexandria, and for the past fifteen years, at Erinsville. He was for some years stationed in Peterborough, where he had many friends. The funeral will occur this morning, when a solemn [illegible] will be conducted by the Arch-[illegible]. All the priests of the diocese are [illegible] to attend. Mrs. Des. Rochers and [illegible] Frank Conway, Kingston, are [illegible] of the deceased.

WILL SWEEP THE COUNTRY.

The Member for Lennox Says the Conservatives Will Win.

Mr. Uriah Wilson, of Napanee, who has represented Lennox in the Dominion Parliament for several terms, spent yesterday in town the guest of Mr. James Stevenson.

During his stay Mr. Wilson visited the Electric Works, the Central School and other points of interest.

To the Times Mr. Wilson said that the Electric Works were a big thing, and were an industry that the town should be proud of.

Turning to politics, Mr. Wilson said that the Conservatives would assuredly sweep the country at the next general elections. He said that nobody appears to take any interest in the proceedings of the House, and instanced the fact that the budget speech was delivered to half empty benches.

Being asked what he thought of the Manitoba School matter becoming again a live political question, Mr. Wilson said that the Conservatives were through with it and would not again touch it. Birmingham's threat, Mr. Wilson characterized as a good thing for the Conservative party, as is shown how splendidly Sir Charles Tupper deals with political crooks. Everybody, he says, speaks in praise of Sir Charles' action in this matter.

Mr. Wilson left for Port Hope last night to attend the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist church, now in session there.

A FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

George Babcock Has the Top of His Head Nearly Sawn Off.

Trenton, June 6.—At about 5 o'clock yesterday a terrible accident occurred at the Gilmour factory at Trenton, in consequence of which a young life will be sacrificed. George Babcock, a lad 14 years of age, was working at a saw, when he had occasion to get down beneath it to make some repairs. The saw was rapidly revolving at the time and Babcock raised up his head too far and it came in contact with the saw. The top of the lad's head was almost severed, yet, strange to say, he was at an early hour this morning still alive, but there are no hopes for his recovery.

HOT MORNING BREAKFAST

Comfort Depends on Food

It is not so easy to arrange a tempting breakfast for a hot morning, but everyone appreciates such a breakfast and enjoys the relief from the heated blood caused by a meat and coffee breakfast.

In fact by skillful selection of food, even the hottest day can be made quite comfortable.

Start with fruit of some kind, then a dish of Grape-Nuts food with cold cream, one or two soft boiled eggs, a slice of bread and butter and a cup of cocoa or Postum Food Coffee. On that sort of meal one will be fully nourished until the mid-day.

Grape-Nuts food is concentrated and powerful, imparting to the user a sense of reserve force and strength. The strong man thinks the weather moderate and comfortable when the nervous, weak man thinks it unbearably hot. Grape-Nuts food is perfectly cooked at the factory and ready for instant use, cool and delicious, requiring no hot stove and cross cook on a hot morning. "Health is a matter of wise selection of food and a [illegible] mind."

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see you answer all sorts of questions in your letter box department of the Times. Please state what will drive ants away from a house. They are into everything, especially sweets.

HOUSEKEEPER.

Ans.—Powdered borax sprinkled around the infested places will drive away both black and red ants. A few leaves of green wormwood will drive away black ants. A small quantity of turpentine run into the cracks of the floor or walls is also effective. A simple remedy is to place lard on a dish. Ants like lard better than any other substance. When the dish is covered with ants turn it upside down over the fire and the ants will fall into the flames with the lard.

A Novel Idea.

(Montreal Witness, May 30, 1900)

Mrs. Egerton, an English lady, who did nursing work in Dawson City, carried out an original idea in London, which greatly gratified the C.P.R. people. Mrs. Egerton had been much struck by the scenery along the line of the C.P.R., as well as with the service which the company rendered across the continent, and she determined to let the folk in England know something about both. For this purpose she availed herself of a fancy ball at Covent Garden, to appear in a costume which took the first prize for originality, and which illustrated Canadian scenery and the C.P.R. in a highly striking manner. The lady's hat was trimmed in a manner to show the C.P.R. trains in motion; her cape set forth Lake Ontario, Lake Superior and the Rocky Mountains, while the front of her dress showed a train rushing at full speed through the wonderful ravines in the far Northwest. In the lady's hand was a banner which contained the coats of arms of the several Provinces constituting the Dominion. The tout ensemble, as the London press remarked at the time, was wonderfully striking and impressive, and gave at a glance an idea of a country of which Londoners, previous to the jubilee, knew very little. Mrs. Egerton, as Mr. Baker, the C.P.R. agent in London, pointed out, did all this "off her own bat," and solely with the patriotic view of making Canada known. The lady is coming out again, probably this summer, when she will make an extended tour of the country. Photographs of Mrs. Egerton in her unique costume are at the general offices of the C.P.R.

BULLER GIVES BOTHA THREE DAYS TO SURRENDER

Despatch Says Boers Are Concentrating Twelve Miles From Pretoria Strained Relations Between Wolseley and the Secretary of War.

London, June 7.—That General Botha would commit so palpably ridiculous a thing as to concentrate an army at Hatherly, twelve miles east of Pretoria, cannot be believed. Such a step would be worse than that of the mouse in the fable who built his nest in a cat's ear. It would afford excellent opportunities for the surrounding and bagging of the whole Boer force, which Lord Roberts would undoubtedly take advantage of. The probability is that the Boer general has left a small force in the neighborhood of Hatherly to watch the movements of the British while he makes an attempt to rally his scattered commandos at Middelburg, about a hundred miles to the east. This position also affords a place to which the Boers who still hold Laing's Nek and adjacent positions may retreat when Lord Roberts advances upon their rear. That such a move will be one of the first to be made by the British commander-in-chief is certain, for once the Boers are driven from the range of mountains which border Natal, the British would have a new line of communication from Durban to Pretoria, 511 miles in length, as against the present line from Cape Town of 1040 miles. This new line would possess the double advantage of running through territory now cleared of the enemy, and would consequently not require to be strongly guarded nor be liable to sudden interruption at the hands of the raiding bands which are still in arms south of the Vaal.

If the most recent despatch from Lorenzo Marques is to be relied upon, a large number of the British prisoners—if not all—were removed from Waterval before Gen. French could effect their release. This despatch states that about a thousand of them have been taken to a malaria-haunted spot in the Eland's Valley, about fifty or sixty miles east of Pretoria, where they are likely to be kept until the the approach of their fellow-soldiers renders another move necessary. As Lord Roberts has not yet informed the public of the result of General French's attempt to rescue the prisoners, there is good ground for suspicion that even more of them than are referred to in the latest advices were carried off by the enemy, and that those who are mentioned as having bee present at the occupation of Pretoria were mostly officers who had been confined in that town.

According to Mr. Chamberlain's organ President Kruger is preparing for flight, and his attempt to obtain a passage on board a Dutch warship, conveniently stationed at Delagoa Bay, has formed the subject of debate would end favorably to the deposed President, for there is little doubt that the vessel has been hovering off the coast of Portuguese East Africa with the intention of taking off Oom Paul at the last extremity. The close blood relationship of the Dutch and the Boers furnishes an sufficient motive for this supposition, and if Kruger does not board the Friesland at Lorenzo Marques he will doubtless do so at some point on the adjoining coast, afterwards seeking a refuge in Holland.

The reported strife between Lord Lansdowne and Lord Wolseley illustrates once more the absurdity of placing a non-practical man at the head of an important department and making him the superior of a trained and tried veteran. It is a subject for congratulation that the Commander-in-Chief placed the public interest before his own personal dignity and ignored the irresponsible conduct of a titled nonentity.

KRUGER PREPARING TO ESCAPE.

London, June 7.—The Birmingham Post, organ of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, says it hears from an official source at the Hague that a serious question concerning President Kruger is now before the Netherlands ministry. The paper adds that the President up to last Friday had decided to seek refuge on board the Dutch cruiser Friesland, now off Lorenzo Marques, and asserts:—"There is beyond doubt good reason to believe that instructions thereanent have been cabled to the commander of the warship."

REPORTED BOER ASSEMBLY.

Despatch Says They are Concentrating Twelve Miles from Pretoria.

London, June 7.—According to a despatch from Lorenzo Marques, under today's date, the Boers under Gen. Botha are reconcentrating in the neighborhood of Hatherley, 12 miles eastward of Pretoria.

From the same source it is reported that the British prisoners are being removed to Nooitgedacht, an unhealthy spot in the Elands Valley. About 300 men arrived there June 5 and 700 reached the place June 6.

These probably constitute the portion of the prisoners which Lord Roberts reported had been shifted from Waterval.

THREE DAYS TO SURRENDER.

Revised Version of the Armistic Reported to be given by Buller.

London, June 7.—In the absence of anything from British sources regarding the Boers statement regarding Gen. Buller requesting a three days' armistice, the military experts here are inclined to believe a revised version of the story will show that Gen. Buller summoned the Federals to surrender or evacuate their positions within three days, failing which he would attack them.

WOLSELEY NEARLY RESIGNED.

Lord Lansdowne attempted to Usurp His Authority.

London, June 7.—The strained relations between the Secretary of State for war, the Marquis of Lansdowne, and the British Commander-in-Chief, Lord Wolseley, appear to have reached such a pitch that but for the exigencies fo the situation Lord Wolseley would have resigned. It seems that Lord Lansdowne attempted to usurp authority always heretofore wielded by hte commander-in-chief, and the latter is now said to have laid the whole matter before Lord Salisbury.

AN IMPOSSIBLE TASK.

Boers Cannot keep General Buller out of the Transvaal.

New York, June 7.—Great numbers of the enemy still occupy Majuba Hill, Laing's Nek and the Pogwani range as far east as Englebrecht's Pass, says a Newcastle despatch to the Herald, dated Monday. On the Ballerberg the positions they hold are particularly strong, Generals Christian Botha, Fourie and Pretorius are in command."

Should they obstinately refuse to yield and still continue fighting they will in all probability fall back on Lydenberg by way of Ermelo, with prospects of a safe retreat into the inaccessable mountains of the Murchison range. Their task to prevent Gen Buller's entry into the Transvaal by way of Volhurst can only result in failure, and unnecessary loss of life on both sides.

UNDER COVER OF NIGHT.

How Lord Roberts Cleared the Way into Pretoria.

London, June 7.—Accounts of the engagement at Six Miles Spruit and the march of the troops into Pretoria are coming in. The bulk of the fighting was gun practice on General Botha's side was poor. The British artillery cleared one position after another, until the Boers were forced to retreat under cover of night.

BORES IN STRONG FORCE.

They Occupy Strong Positions Facing General Buller.

London, June 7.—A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Newcastle, dated June 4, says that great numbers of Boers still occupy Majuba Hill, Laing's Nek, and the Pogwani range as far east as Anglebrecht Pass. Their positions are particularly strong, but the Boers are said to be greatly depressed by the capture of Johannesburg and Pretoria. Generals Christian Botha, Fouree and Pretorius are in command. Their provisions are scanty and they are without flour, meat and sugar. The correspondent says it is only a question of time when this disorganized rabble will surrender unconditionally.

BRITISH WARSHIPS AT DELAGOA.

Trouble May Take Place on the Portuguese Border.

London, June 7.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Lorenzo Marquez says that much significance is attached to the presence of many British warships in the harbor there. It is generally admitted that if there is trouble on the Transvaal border between the Boers and Portuguese, and serious developments follow, the British will assist the Portuguese. The latter are uneasy over the prospect of difficulties growing out of the landing of British troops at Beira.

STAFF-SERGEANT CLUME ILL.

He is Suffering from Erysipelas in the Cape Town Hospital.

Ottawa, June 7.—Sir Alfred Milner has sent the following cable to Lord Minto under date of June 6—"Regret to report dangerous illness of 7464, Staff-Sergeant S. Clume, of erysipelas, at Cape Town.

HOW ROSS WAS WOUNDED.

He Tells His Adventures at Thaba N'Chu in a Letter.

Woodstock, June 7.—Capt. John M. Ross who was wounded in the fighting near Thaba N'Chu on May 1, has written to his parents from the hospital at Bloemfontein, under date of May 4. His company and one of the Shropshires were getting across a level slope when they were met by a heavy Boer fire. A bullet struck him in the ribs, and he had to roll behind a stone. For an hour he lay there bleeding. He knew that if he crawled out another bullet would likely catch him, but if he remained where he was he would bleed to death. Gaining strength, he crawled to where help was available. He had to ride forty miles to the hospital at Bloemfontein. This did not do his wound any good, but at the time of his writing he was doing favorably.

TO OCCUPY POTCHEFSTROOM.

General Hunter will seize the Railway West of Johannesberg.

London, June 7.—General Hunter has been assigned the duties of occupying Potchefstroom and seizing the railway between Klerksdorp and Johannesburg. His division has passed Lichtenburg, and will be a strong reinforcement for Lord Roberts' army. The British line from Heilbron, through Lindley and Senekal, to Ficksburg, is now held so strongly that the advance towards Frankfort and Bethlehem seems imminent.

WHY THEY ERE CAPTREDU.

Irish Yoemanry Regiment Included Too Many Aristocrats.

London, June 7.—The 13th Imperial Yoemanry Battalion, captured by the Boers on Friday near Lindley, Orange River Coloy, consisted of two Irish units and two companies of the Duke of Cambridge's Own, which was regarded as the crack company of the corps, a number of men in the ranks being closely allied to noble families. Among the officers are the Earl of Leitrim, the Earl of Longford and the Earl of Enniskillen... Ennismore.

HAVOC BY DISEASE AND FAMINE.

Awful Scenes of Human Sufferings in India That Would Simply Defy Description.

Bombay, June 7.—Louis Klopsch, of New York, publisher of the Christian Herald, who arrived here May 14 and started at once on a tour of the famine stricken district, has returned after traveling through the most sorely smitten portions of the Bombay presidency, including Gujerat and Baroida. He makes the following statement of his observations—

"Everywhere I met the most shocking and revolting scenes. The famine camps have been swept by cholera and small-pox. Fugitives, scattering in all directions and stricken in flight, were found dying in the fields and roadside ditches. The numbers at one relief station were increasing at the rate of 10,000 per day. At Godrha there were 3,000 deaths from cholera within four days, and at Dohad 2,500 in the same period. The hospital death rate at Godrha Dohad was 90 per cent.

"The condition of the stricken simply beggars description. Air and water were impregnated with an intolerable stench of corpses. At Ahmedabad the death rate in the poorhouse was 10 per cent. Every day I saw new patients placed face to face with corpses. In every fourth cot there was a corpse. The thermometer read 115 degrees in the shade. Millions of flies hovered around the uncleaned dysentery patients.

"I visited the small-pox and cholera wards at Viragam. All the patients were lying on the ground, there being no cots. Otherwise their condition was fair. I can fully verify the reports that vultures, dogs and jackals are devouring the dead. Dogs have been seen running about with children's limbs in their jaws.

"The government is doing its best, but the native officials are hopelessly and heartlessly inefficient. Between the famine, the plague and the cholera, the condition of Bombay presidency is now worse than it has been at any previous period in this nineteenth century. Whole families have been blotted out. The spirit of the people is broken, and there may be something still worse to come when the monsoon breaks."

WOMEN SCRAP ON COLOR QUESTION.

Delegate From a Boston Club Will Not be Recognized at Their Convention

Milwaukee, Wis., June. 7.—The craft of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which is meeting here this week, has struck the snag which has caused trouble to all sections of society in its day, namely the color line question.

Mrs. Josephine Ruffin, the delegate from the New Era Club of Boston, is responsible for the trouble. The credentials committee politely requested her to return her badge, but she still wears it, and attends the various sessions quite unconcernedly, to the consternation and wrath of a large section of the feminines.

Mrs. Ruffin is a highly educated woman, very light in color and most lady like in demeanor. Few when in her presence realize that she is the colored woman who is causing all the disturbance.

The credentials committee is now frightened, and with a remarkable display of diplomacy, it is holding the question in abeyance for the present, to see if the warmth of the dispute will not pass away.

Numerous indignation meetings of different state delegations have been held and written protests are pouring in on the committee. One of the candidates for the presidency expresses herself thus;

"My sympathy is all with Mrs. Ruffin. Our constitution says nothing about barring out of colored clubs. I think it all wrong that this question came up at all. Mrs. Ruffin a properly accredited delegate from the New Era Club of Boston. The objection should have been made long ago, not now."

The Central Fair.

The directors of the Peterborough Central Fair, met Wednesday and put through a lot of details incidental to the coming fair. The meeting was held in the council chamber. Several committees were appointed to deal with details of the several departments and to arrange for preparation of the prize list.

Did Noble Work.

NEW LAWS FOR DOMINION ELECTIONS.

Mr. Casgrain Proposes Some Amendments Making Measures More Stringent

Ottawa, June 7.—Mr. Casgrain has given notice of amendments to the election act. Among other things he would provide that—

Ballots shall be numbered and bear the name of the printer.

Polls are to be open at 7 a.m., and between that hour and 9 a. m. artizans shall have preference in voting.

Employees are to afford workingmen time to vote under a penalty of $100 fine.

More stringent rules regarding the sale or giving away of liquor on election day.

It would be accounted as bribery to give any money or other inducements to a man either to refrain from, or to become a candidate.

All election placards and notices shall bear the name of the printer.

Contractors who promise election contributions in order to get contracts would be liable to $1,000 fine and from two to twelve months' imprisonment. He who solicits such subscriptions would be liable to the same fine.

Failure by a candidate to make full and correct returns would invalidate the election.

The accounts must be preserved for a year.

The bill provides a schedule of persons to be employed by the candidate, but there may be an additional outlay of not more than $1,000 in cities, and $600 in counties, for "unforseen expenses."

RUSSIAN TROOPS MAY OCCUPY THE CAPITAL.

Considered Likely in Paris That Pekin Will be Occupied by the Czar's Soldiers.

A CHINESE GENERAL REFUSED TO FACE BOXERS.

Members of the Legations Send Their Families Away From Chinese Capital—Chinese Troops Are Forbidden to Fire the Marauding Murderers.

London, June 7.—Telegraphing from Tien-Tsin, under date of June 6, a correspondent says—

"I left Tien-Tsin this morning en route for Pekin, accompanied by Gen. Nieh, supposed to be one of the best of the Chinese generals, with sixty troops. We proceeded to Iofa, a distance of 31 miles. We found the plate-layers' cabins in flames, and telegraph poles cut, and men engaged in destroying others in villages near the railway, where flags were seen bearing the inscription—'Kill all foreigners.'"

"I saw smoke, evidently from burning houses in the distance, but Gen. Nieh refused to proceed further, being in mortal fear of the Boxers, though the foreigners endeavored to persuade him to detain his troops, who are firmly convinced that it is useless to fight the Boxers, as other Chinese say they have seen Boxers hit with bullets rise and run away.

"There seems to be little prospect of a resumption of traffic to Pekin unless the foreign powers assume control of the railway until the Chinese Government proves itself capable of making communications with its capital."

ALARM AT PEKIN.

Members of Legations Send Their Families Away.

London, June 6, 9.15 p.m. — A special despatch from Shanghai, dated June 6, says the members of the majority of the Legations at Pekin, including the members of the British Legation, are sending their families away. It is also said that several prominent Chinese residents are leaving the city.

There is an unconfirmed report that two Russian engineers have been murdered at Yu Chow Fu, northwest of Port Arthur, after their wives had been outraged.

The total damage done to the Chinese railroads by the Boxers is now estimated at $5,000,000.

RUSSIA'S ACTIVITY.

Considered Likely in Paris that Pekin Will be Occupied by the Czar's Troops.

Paris, June 7.—China is absorbing diplomatic attention at present. Nine telegrams from Pekin were received at the Foreign Office to-day. Fears are now entertained that the Boxers will besiege that city. It is reported that the Boxers a month ago numbered 100,000.

The Russian initiative is viewed with mixed feelings by French diplomatists. Russia represents the conservative Chinese ideas as opposed to the open-door policy, and consequently though France is Russia's close ally, difficulty is experienced in backing her up thoroughly in the leading roll she is assuming. France will therefore probably strengthen her garrisons in China considerably, while awaiting developments. The French agent in China has given the impression that the United States, engrossed in the Philippines, are not interested in events in China.

A French diplomatist to-day informed the correspondent that the original outbreak of the Boxers occurred in a province within the German sphere of influence. The trouble was probably owing to the brutal treatment of the coolies employed in railway construction.

Serious fears are entertained for the lives of the missionaries and converts and the two Vicarists in Shan-Tung Province.

It is considered likely that Russian troops from Port Arthur will proceed by way of Tien-Tsin and occupy Pekin.

The Foreign Office has notified the press that though apparent calm has been restored in China through the landing of foreign troops at Tien-Tsin, and the sending of them to Pekin, the situation was really changed seriously for the worse in the last few days. The Foreign Office fears that the telegraph line will be cut and that the railway between Tien-Tsin and Pekin will be destroyed.

MR. C. M. DEPEW'S VIEWS.

Chauncey Says European Powers Will do the Work for the United States.

New York, June 7.—Senator Depew, in an interview concerning the position of the United States towards China, in the World to-day says—

"The European nations may encounter acute diplomatic conditions in China, growing out of Russia's furnishing an army to put down the present revolution, if it can be called such in China, because the Russian army never leaves any place where it once secures a foothold.

"The United States is not interested, except in so far as the protection of its missionaries and merchants is concerned. It is immaterial to us whether Russia or Great Britain or Germany, or all three, with ourselves, put down this effort to drive out foreigners, and thus isolate China.

"The understanding which we have all European nations secures us what we desire, which is not territory, but the open door."

COREA IS IN A HUFF.

The King Declines to Grant the Japanese Minister an Audience.

Yokohama, June 7. — Reports from Seoul state that the action of the Japanese Minister to Corea with reference to the alleged case of torture of prisoners has awakened the resentment of the government, which declines to grant an audience with the King and has also addressed a telegram on the subject direct to the Japanese Government.

SHIELDING THE BOXERS.

Chinese Soldiers Forbidden to Fire Upon the Marauding Murderers.

London, June 7.—The Pekin correspondent of the Times says—Mr. Norman, a missionary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, was cruelly murdered at Yung Ching on May 26. The Viceroy of Pe-Chi-Li has officially notified the fact to the British Minister. The murder was undoubtedly due to the complicity of the Government to the disturbances caused by Boxers. A secret edict, issued two days ago, forbade the soldiers to fire upon the Boxers. The soldiers who were killed at Huan Tsun offered no resistance, and were there simply for guarding the railway. It is indisputable that the chief supporters of the Boxers include Prince Tuan, the father, and Hsu Tung, the guardian of the heir apparent, as well as Tuby Fun Siang, the General commanding the hordes of Kan Su soldiers who have long menaced the safety of foreigners in Pe-Chi-Li.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

TENNIS

The Park Tennis Club begins to-day its annual June Handicap Tournament. The method of handicapping is a slight departure from that followed last year, in that the younger players, including all those just starting this year, are placed at scratch, while the older players are at the beginning of each game placed in debt to the "Scotch" man by various amounts ranging from one-half 15 to 50, 4 points. It is believed that this arrangement will be more satisfactory to all players than last year plan of giving various odds to the younger players, with the older ones at scratch.

The result of the first draw with relative handicaps is as follows;—

F. W. Jackson vs C. Lang, owe 15.
Dr. Young vs H. Cluxton, owe 1-2 15.
D. Baird vs. P. Wilgar, even.
J. R. Jeffery vs V. McWilliams, owe 15 1-2.
C. B. McAllister vs. A. W. McPherson, even.
W. H. Collier vs. S. Hall, owe 15.
H. Brown vs. R. McWilliams, owe 30
G. Burnham vs. E. G. Paterson, owe 30.
E. E. Lord vs. H. Burnham, owe 40.
E. W. Holst vs. H. D. Burnett, owe 50
H. H. Edmison vs. Dr. Wightman, owe 15.

Each event will be decided by the best 2 out of 3 sets, unless any two players agree before starting to play to make it the best 3 out of 5. All matches must be played off on or before Thursday, 14th inst., and the results handed to the Secretary. Any player failing to play on or before that date will default to his opponent if the latter stands ready on 14th.

GOLF.

Draw for "The Stratton Trophy."—

The rules of "Special Stroke Competition" to govern. These rules posted up in the Club House. The draw for this competition will be made during the first week of each month, for the five months ending with October. After each match, the cards of the players duly initialed by opponents shall be placed in the box at the Club House. The aggregate of strokes for each player will, at the end of October, determine his place in the competition. The lowest net total for any three games wins the prize, which is the right to have the winner's name inscribed upon the trophy.

In case of default, two weeks being allowed for each match after the placing of the draw upon the board at the Club House, the player remaining will notify the Secretary, without delay, when the committee will appoint an opponent for him.

Handicaps are liable to revision each month. The ladies' club will make similar draws, under the same regulations, with a like object.

It is not necessary to play 6 matches to win as the aggregate score of 3 will be accepted by the committee.

A MAD RIDE FOR LIFE

THE STORY OF AN INTREPID HOOSIER HERO OF 1812.

This Brave Young Teamster Saved a Company of Soldiers by a Forlorn Hope Journey That None of the Regulars Would Attempt.

It was early in the autumn of 1812 that the main body of the army engaged against the British and Indians in the northwest was encamped on the Maumee river not far from the present city of Fort Wayne. The whole country was infested with hostile tribes of the Delaware, Pottawatomies and Miami Indians. They would lie in wait and massacre small detachments of soldiers or a company of emigrants passing through the country.

It was at this time that a small detachment of the army was encamped 25 or 30 miles north of Greenville, O. There were less than 100 officers and men here surrounded by a large force of these hostile tribes acting under orders of the British officers. This detachment of United States soldiers found itself cut off from the main army—in fact, surrounded by Indians. The men knew their capture would result in torture and massacre and that they must suffer this or break up into small bodies and so far as possible escape through the lines of the enemy or get a dispatch to the main army, fully 30 miles away.

The officer in command drew up the little force in line and explained the dangerous situation. He then called for a volunteer to attempt the hazardous task of carrying a dispatch to the headquarters of the army. "If I have a man in my command that is willing to take the risk," he said, "let him step forward." As he stood waiting the silence of death seemed to pervade the camp, but not a soldier responded. The officer saw standing within a few steps of him a young teamster not more than 20 years old, small and delicate. He was clad in the usual homespun and had his wagon whip under his arm. The young man removed his hat, bowed respectfully and said, "Captain, give me a good hoss, and I will make the attempt."

It was William Crist who spoke. There was the glitter of steel in his cold, gray eyes as he stood facing the little band of soldiers. The captain extended his hand to the boy and said, "God bless you, my brave fellow." He at once took young Crist to his tent and carefully talked over the dangerous task he was about to undertake. The young man did not falter. He was the embodiment of courage, bravery, heroism, and on the following morning, "at the peep o' day," as he said, he was ready for the journey.

The captain had a spirited young horse, active and accustomed to traveling through brush and swamps, over logs and creeks, and he placed this horse in charge of the boy. The teamster declined the use of a saddle, but asked for a belt, a brace of pistols, a knife and musket. When he mounted the horse and took leave of the officer, the soldiers stood watching him. They considered that the intrepid young hero was simply riding into the "jaws of death."

There was no passable road, no mark of civilization on the line that he must travel. The country was a strange one to him. With a cloudless sky above him and unbroken forest in front, he fearlessly took the risk. The Indian trails were guarded and the forests beyond these trails impenetrable. There was, possibly, one chance in a dozen for him to reach the main body of troops, and he took that chance.

He moved off in the gray dawn of early morning, hoping to pass the lines of his dangerous foe unnoticed. This he succeeded in doing and took the trail for the Maumee country. The day's journey was uneventful until he came within five miles of the outposts of the army.

It was about 2 o'clock in the afternoon when, riding rapidly along the trail, his eye caught sight of a small band of braves immediately in front of him and effectually blocking his way. Their faces were painted red and yellow, indicating that they were on the warpath. They were all mounted and armed with muskets and, as the young messenger well knew, had in their belts the scalping knife and in their hearts relentless, cruel murder. He knew that to continue along the beaten trail was to court capture, torture and death. Accordingly he guided his horse into the thick woods and as rapidly as possible made his way out from the trail.

The savages soon reached the point where he had turned aside and there discovered the fresh tracks of the young man's horse. An unearthly warwhoop greeted the boy's ears, and he knew what would be the course pursued by the Indians. They would track his horse and follow him. He urged the faithful animal on, but it was not long before he heard his savage foes behind him. He then turned to make his way back, if possible, to the trail, believing that his horse could by its better speed and better power of endurance enable him to escape, but his keen sighted foes had anticipated this movement and had guarded the trail against it. Shots began to sing about him, and he now determined to make his way through the forest. He knew that his horse would jump logs and streams that the ponies would not attempt. He lay first on the horse's back and urged him to his greatest speed. He made him jump great logs that lay in his way, but the foe still kept in sight and from time to time fired on him. In the meantime the savage yell was kept up, and the race became one of life or death.

It was late in the afternoon that the pickets on the outposts of the army saw approaching the utterly exhausted horse and rider. The Indians here abandoned the chase, and young Crist, when he found himself safely within the lines of the United States forces, fell fainting from his horse. Overcome by the loss of blood and exhausted by his long ride, he lay unconscious for hours. This was followed by weeks of suffering from three dreadful wounds he had received in the last half hour of the chase. But he had accomplished his task. In two hours after his arrival 300 brave men started on the trail the young hero had followed and rescued the detachment that so anxiously awaited succor. William Crist, the brave and intrepid teamster, had nerves of steel, the heart of a lion and a godlike soul. For many years he was a familiar figure on the streets of Indianapolis, and many of the older citizens remember him. If the middle west would honor a real hero let it erect a white shaft and inscribe thereon the name of William Crist.

India Rubber Industry.

The bulletin of the Royal gardens, Kew, states that the falling off in the production of India rubber at Lagos is due to the reckless way in which the trees are being exhausted. There is a want of control over the collectors, who tap young trees and destroy whole rubber forests by overworking, so that this industry, which is an important source of wealth to the colony, is in danger of extinction. A similar disaster occurred in Madagascar, and now active steps are being taken to preserve the industry by the establishment of plan-

In the year most women have to suffer for a week. At the best this suffering interferes with household activities and social enjoyments. At the worst it shuts the woman in a darkened room or confines her to bed. Most women can be completely cured of irregularity by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, stops enfeebling drains and cures female weakness.

"All praise is due to you for your wonderful 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mr. John W. Coffman, Hillsburg, Casey Co., Ky. "My wife suffered with female irregularity; was confined to bed every three weeks. After using two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was cured, and has not suffered any derangement since. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is a boon for delicate women."

THE PARIS SHOW.

The Paris exposition catalogue will contain 100,000 names.

The parks of Milwaukee will be part of the exhibit of that city at the Paris exposition. A series of photographic views of the public parks of that city will be shown.

It took a bid of 275,000 francs to secure the privilege of letting out seats for the Paris exposition of 1900. For the 1889 exhibition the successful bid for the monopoly was 39,000 francs.

Governor Mount of Indiana is personally supervising an elaborate exhibit for his state at the Paris exposition. One of the features of this will be a series of large photographs to show the progress of the "good roads" movement in Indiana, where there are now 50,000 miles of graded and graveled highway.

Shoes In Olden Days.

Early Britons wore shoes of raw cowhide, with the hairy surface outward. The Anglo-Saxons showed an advance, for they were black and laced by a leather thong. Then came what might almost be termed the bag shoe of the Merovingian period, tied round the ankle, a similar easy sort of covering obtaining in Germany, and so by gradual stages from the mediaeval shoes to the poulaine shoes, a queer early German specimen, the band round the ankle being of engraved brass. The Irish shoe of early date is worthy of note, as for many years the Irish went not only barefooted, but barelegged while their bodies were most gorgeously arrayed.

Short Story of the Day

Won by Check.

It was whispered to Horace Chinnery that Fryer had been the recipient of a splendid microscope from his uncle. When Horace heard this he simply flew to seek out Fryer; and no sooner had he set eyes upon the beautiful instrument than he gasped, "You lucky beggar; don't I just wish it was mine!"

Now it was notorious that Fryer could hardly disern the difference between a jumping spider and a beetle; while on the the other hand Chinnery was insect mad, but he had merely a small magnifying glass through which to behold the antics of his specimens. I, Bob Ferris, knew this, because I was his chum, and I am telling the story of how—but you shall see.

From that day peace fled from poor Fryer's existence. Horace haunted him as a shadow. It was always, "Lend us the milk, old chap," or, 'I suppose you haven't the what's a name handy?" and so on, and so on, until at length Fryer burst out in desperation.

"Look here, Chinnery; I don't want the thing and you do. As usual, you're much too hard up to buy it. Now suppose you give us all an extertainment; do something plucky, funny, exciting? Wouldn't that be a fair way of earning it?"

You should have seen Horace's eyes glisten at this proposition. He gripped Fryer's hand in an ecstacy of joy. "My boy," he said, 'I'll spend five minutes with father John's bull!"

"Good, but not enough."

"Let me see. Er—er—also I'll make old Hicks the miser give me a sovereign!"

"Impossible! You can't skin a stone!"

I'll manage it somehow if you'll take me on, Fryer?"

"Right you are. But we must have just one thing more."

There was a pause. We all looked admiringly at Chinnery. He was a clever fellow and could imagine and do things that no other boy could imagine or do. Suddenly he said, quite solemnly.

"I'll call the Head an ass to his face."

We all burst out laughing. "You rude beggar!" said Fryer, "he will flay you alive."

"No, no. He won't lay a finger on me. I'll do all these things, Fryer, and the microscope shall be mine. Is it a bargain?"

"Done!" said Fryer, and they shook hands again, while we all capered with glee.

Fryer held his open watch in his right hand. "Keep back, you fellows," he said. "Are you ready, Chinnery? I'll sing out when the time is up. Go! The next instant Chinnery was over the gate, in the field and alone with a ferocious bull.

"Wo ho! my beauty!" exclaimed Horace, advancing leisurely eating an orange. The bull bellowed and glared with red eyes. Horace flung his orange at him, and continued to coolly advance.

"One minute!" called out Fryer.

Round and round went the amazed bull, pawing at the ground, tail swishing, eyes full of mischief; and round went Horace, speaking in calm and soothing tones. My heart was in my mouth, and I told Fryer that he ought to be ashamed of himself. Suddenly the bull uttered such a fierce, hollow bellow that we thought it was all up with Chinnery, and we yelled to him to run.

"How much longer?" he called back.

"Two minutes more," cried Fryer.

It was clear now that the bull had recovered from his astonishment and meant business. Chinnery removed his cap and slashed it at the brute upwards downwards, and sideways. The brute retreated a few yards, then charged forward with a snort of rage. Chinnery gave way instantly, his face toward the foe. A spring to the right saved him from one rush, a jump to the left from another. Then he turned and ran, for well he knew that all parleying was at an end, and that he must save his life even if he lost the game.

My word! that was something like a race. Chinnery came over the ground like a hare, and after him thundered that savage bellowing brute.

"Jump!" we screamed; and Horace rose and cleared the gate just as Fryer called out, "Five minutes!" and closed his watch with a snap.

We acknowledged that Chinnery had well and fairly carried out the first part of the contract, but though we gave the matter much thought we failed to see how he could possibly fulfil the second. To wring a sovereign from such a notorious miser as old Hicks was a task which might have appalled the boldest.

Two days after his interview with the bull Chinnery ran up to half a dozen of us—Fryer being one of the group—and said. "Hicks is taking his usual constitutional on the cliff. Come along, and be quick."

We followed Horace up the ascent. which led to the top of the steep chalk cliffs that overlooked the sea. Arrived at the crest, we climbed over onto a wide ledge which projected at about two feet from the grassy summit. On this we crouched, our backs to the cliff, and sheltered from the strong land wind that was blowing. In front of us the gray, tumbling sea thundered and roared 400 feet below.

"Stay there," said Horace, 'and keep your ears open. I can see Hicks in the distance. He is coming this way."

"I say," observer Fryer, 'you mustn't threaten to pitch him over."

Chinnery laughed and left us. Ten minutes passed and then a strange sound broke upon our ears. Chinnery was sobbing as if his heart was breaking!

"What is the matter? Come away, you foolish young man! You will fall over the cliff!" exclaimed a high-pitched, querulous voice.

"I w—want to," sobbed Chinnery passionately. "And I am g—going to —now!"

"Stop!"

The words came to us in such a tone of alarm that we could not resist the impulse to peep. What we saw made us turn pale.

Chinnery was standing upon the very edge of the dizzy height, and in the full blast of the north wind. It made me shudder to look at him. Hicks, the miser, standing at a safe distance, was imploring the foolhardy boy to come away. Chinnery, apparently weeping bitterly, replied that he was deeply in debt to Mr. Stiggins of the village, and that he had threatened to expose him to the doctor (which was true enough, for I know that his bill was a very long one). "And oh!" sobbed Chinnery, "if I had only a soverign, just one little soverign! But I cannot get it. There is nothing between me and disgrace, Mr. Hicks! I don't care if I blow ov—"

I saw his left foot actually dip a little way over the edge, and I thought that he must surely go. It was terrifying. "Go back, you idiot!" I screamed.

If old Hicks hadn't been so very deaf he must have heard me, but as it was, he snatched out his purse with feverish haste and flung a soverign to Chinnery almost before he realized the magnitude of the deed. Horace ran forward and picked up the coin; and then old Hicks gave him a wigging that he will never forget, such a wigging as he undoubtedly deserved.

When the miser had hobbled away down the hill, we issued from our hiding-place. Chinnery tossed up the soverign with a laugh, and we laughed too, but rather constrainedly.

"Of course I shall return it," said Chinnery, "and I'm downright sorry to have given the old boy such a fright. But I can't help it, Fryer. That microscope I must and will have!"

"Even if you have to call the Doctor an ass," said Fryer, rubbing his hands in delight.

"Bah! that's a mere nothing," said Chinnery, but I noticed that he looked rather worried.

Three whole days elapsed, and Chinnery's third and last vow was still unfulfilled. Fryer and one or two others said that they did not, and never would, believe Chinnery would perform it; but I, who saw more of him than they did, knew that he would not rest until the precious microscope was in his possession.

On the night following that third day, we retired to rest as usual. At a late hour, when all the school was bathed in slumber—I believe that is the correct expression—I felt a tug at my shoulder, and woke to see Fryer bending over me. (I had better mention here that Fryer, Chinnery and myself slept in a small room in the topmost story of the building.)

"Hush!" said Fryer. There's a funny noise—I can't make it out. Listen!"

A strange, dolorous sound came to our startled ears. "Some one is outside the door," I said. "Wake Chinnery."

Fryer groped his way to Chinnery's bed, and said in a startled whisper. "He is not here!"

We both felt rather alarmed, but be advanced boldly and opened the door. A figure in white flitted across the landing and began to descend the stairs. As it moved, so, I the dreariest of monotones, it conjugated a Latin verb!

"It's Chinnery," said Fryer. He is walking in his sleep. Shall wo go after him ?"

"Of course," I answered, and we followed the sleepwalker cautiously down the stairs. Suddenly Fryer pushed me back. "Look," he said, "he has stopped outside the Doctor"s door ; we had better not be seen."

Chinnery's voice took on a still more mournful tone. We leaned over the banister, hesitating whether to advance or retreat, and as we waited, suddenly the Doctor's door opened and our respected principal emerged in night attire, and with a lighted candle in his hand. He started when he saw Chinnery, and so did we as a swift glimpse of the sleeper's face showed us that his eyes were wide open.

"What is the matter, Chinnery ?' said the Doctor in hushed tones ; and then he added softly to himself—"Poor boy ! his Latin exercises have got into his dreams." He laid his hand upon the sleepers shoulder to wake him.

Chinnery hastily retreated a step, and with his eyes fixed in a stony stare upon the Doctor's face he said in a low, distinct voice—

"You are an ass!"

"Hush, hush ! Wake up, Chinnery ! Awake, I say !" said the Doctor.

How Fryer and I reascended the stairs I do not know. I believe that I caught Fryer by the throat, that he drove his knuckles into my mouth, and that by these means we were prevented from exploding upon the spot. When we reached our room Fryer was almost strangled and I was well-nigh choked. We got under the bedclothes and there we fairly howled and roared with laughter.

In the midst of it all in came Chinnery, perfectly grave. "Oh, you funny dog!" gasped Fryer. "It's on the shelf, take it!" and he went off into renewed spasms.

Chinnery answered not a word. I heard him groping for his well-earned prize, and having found it he went straight back to bed. The microscope accompanied him.

The Health Problem

Is much simpler than is sometimes supposed. Health depends chiefly upon perfect digestion and pure blood, and the problem is solved very readily by Hood's Sarsaparilla. You may keep well by taking it promptly for any stomach or blood disorder. It cures scrofula, salt rheum, catarrh, dyspepsia, rheumatism and other diseases are numbered by the thousands.

The favorite family cathartic is Hood's Pills.

CHIMNEY FIRES.

Why Salt Is Commonly Used to Put Them Out.

In accounts of chimney fires it is common to read that the fire was extinguished by throwing salt down the chimney. Salt is used because there is liberated from it when it comes into contact with the fire a gas that within an inclosed space like a chimney is very effective in extinguishing fire. The primary purpose in throwing salt or anything else down a burning chimney is to dislodge the burning soot, chimney fires being caused by the ignition of the soot clinging to the inside of the chimney. Salt is used for this purpose not alone because of its peculiar effectiveness, but also because it is something available for the purpose that can commonly be found at hand in a house. It is thrown down the chimney in such a manner that it will rattle down the sides and by its weight knock down the soot and sparks clinging to the chimney's insides.

A bucket of sand has been put to the same use with good effect, and sometimes a scuttle of coal has been poured down the chimney, the coal bounding about from side to side as it dropped and so doing its work effectively. Sometimes a brick is taken from the chimney itself and, tied to a clothesline, is hauled up and down the chimney, with the same result. At the hearth below or at the bottom of the chimney wherever the sparks may fall there is stationed a man with a pail of water to put out whatever fire may drop. Water is not played on a chimney fire from a hose because it is not necessary, and the water would do more damage than the fire.

The damage caused by a fire in a chimney when it is confined there is nothing or next to nothing. Left alone, however, a chimney fire might work its way into a building and so prove destructive, and therefore, slight as they may be in themselves or as they might be in their consequences chimney fires are always put out and commonly in the manner described.—Exchange.

WE CAN SHIP ORE

We have received our Superintendent's Report and find we can ship ore if we want to—but we won't yet. It won't be good mining. Why, we will tell you if you like!

He has been up to the Nettie L. and Siver Cup studying indications and finds that

We have better indications all round, and more ore showing up on surface and more ore underground than either had with same amount of work, and that we gain depth twice as fast as they do, and that when ore shows at or near the surface it continues down, and that it took 900 feet of tunnel on Cup to give 300 feet of depth, and that we can get same depth with 300 feet of tunnel, and that we can take out ore when we like!

Knowledge of our strike is spreading and orders for the Special Issue at .15 per share are coming in from all over, both from States and Canada. We have averaged over $1,000.00 a week in sales lately, so if you want any before we ship you had better get it now. You can't get it after!

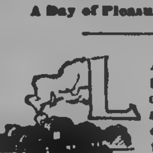
An Interesting Case

A very interesting case came before the Supreme Court at Ottawa on Monday, being the Ontario bank v Routhier, an action on a promissory note. When the Rev. Father Champagne, parish priest at Gatineau Point, died the estate was unable to pay all obligations in full and liquidation followed. A promissory note had been accepted by the bank and the manager wanted to offset it with a deposit which the bank held to Father Campagne's credit. The ecclesiastical authorities disputed the bank's right to do this claiming that it should rank as an ordinary creditor and accept with the rest the dividend of 44 cents which was declared. The bank refused and entered action against the ecclesiastical authorities to recover on the note. Judgement reserved.

THE OLYMPIC'S DAY OFF

THE CLUB'S FAMOUS ANNUAL EXCURSION YESTERDAY.

Burleigh Falls the Scene of the Festivities
A Day of Pleasure and Recreation



LATE years the Olympic Club's annual excursions have attracted much attention on account of the fact that they were properly conducted, and because the party is made up of Peterborough's liveliest old-time sports. There are periods when nothing but abrupt severance of one's self from dull care and business worry, and an absolute abandonment of business responsibility will recuperate the fagged energies and enthuse one with renewed life and vigor, clearing the cobwebs from the brain and sharpening one's capabilities, wits and faculties. Thus it is, when old Sol dries the air, singes vegetation and turns office and home into veritable bake-ovens, that the over-wrought business man, armed with a palm leaf fan, a bottle of seltzer and a copy of the Times, hies himself away to some sylvan abode and on the banks of some translucent stream lolls drowsily in the shade.

To escape too close application to business during the summer months, and to afford its members one day of delightful pleasure and seclusion from all worry and care, the Olympic Club, of which Mr. William Leck is the great generalissimo, has one day of thorough enjoyment each year. For several years the trip has been to Burleigh Falls—that romantic spot so well known to our readers.

Thursday, June 7th arrived. Although it was the day of the Olympic excursion, that faithful maid of all work, mistress Sun, positively declined to rise and perform her customary duties, but, following the excursionists' commendable example, took a day off herself, veiling her beaming countenance in strict seclusion. The members of the club rose to the spirited music of pattering raindrops, and not in the least dispirited hastily swallowed an early meal, and seizing rain proof coats and umbrellas, hastened to the G. T.R. station. It was a procession of buoyant spirits that marched to the depot that morning—so was the numerous express wagons that trundled in the same direction, and whose drivers deposited mysterious looking bundles and boxes on the platform.

At eight o'clock the fine band of the 57th, 40 in number, arrived, and greatly enlivened the proceedings.

Time was up, and President J. J. Lundy called the roll to see if all were present. They were. Then a council of war was held to see if all was complete for a start. Gravedigger John Maloney reported that he had buried the dull care and worry of the entire party for the whole day. Keeper of the ice-box Billy Bunton said he had inspected the ice and found it free from microbes; Auditor Bob Fair said he had found all the provisions there; Cook Dixon reported a good supply of dishes and corkscrews; Steward Gus Hay said he had a sure cure for sunstroke; George Morrow and Ed. Cox said they had the party ensured against thirst and starvation; Special War Commodore Macdonald, of Montreal, reported that there were no Boers in sight, so the party embarked and in a few minutes arrived at Lakefield and were soon afloat on the beautiful and picturesque Lake Katchewanoonk. The Steamer Majestic, with barge attached, looked her prettiest, and it is safe to say, she never had a jollier party on board. The trip up to Burleigh was an eventful one. The feast of reason was there and as to the flow of soul—well, it was there, too, liberally diluted. There is no more beautiful trip in the country than that afforded between Lakefield and Burleigh. During the trip the band played some fine selections, while some of the boys played pat hands. It was a terror. Bob Fair lost a valuable mouth organ, which had been in the family many years, and Billy Lech lost on aces up. Joe Yelland exercised his voice in calling off bids that he bid once too often and got the entire steamer.

A very unfortunate and deplorable accident occurred just after the boat left Young's. It was caused by Billy Bunton upsetting the water cooler into the lake. In consequence for the remainder of the trip the members were obliged to quench their thirst on dandelion sarsaparilla, a fact which speaks well for the temperance proclivities of the party.

Arriving at Burleigh dinner was enjoyed. Appetites, whetted by the health-giving ozone of the back lakes, require ample food to appease, and so it proved in this case. Supplies had been laid in for days, and still there was little more than enough.

After dinner a pleasant hour was spent when the steamer's whistle was heard and the party again embarked for Buckhorn, where a short stay was made, after which they returned to Burleigh for tea.

After supper had been carefully attended to, the party spent a pleasant hour resting in the cool shade of the trees surrounding the hotel, lounging in hammock and chair, smoking fragrant cigars and telling stories of good old days, when dressed in shirt waists and knickerbockers, they had been taken to picnics by fond parents. It was an hour of happy reminiscences, when the stern man of business, under the softening influence of nature, relaxed until humanity shone in his face, and he became a child once more, with a child's tenderness and all its impressionableness.

When all had become rested the sports began. Starter Sam Ray announced that all was in readiness, and the many valuable prizes having been removed from the steamer's combination safe, they were spread out on the rocks. Under the guard of Billy Lech, Carese LeBrun and Catcher of Phizzes, R.M. Roy, who were all armed with ice picks, the contestants were allowed to have a glance at them as a sort of incentive to greater efforts in the race. The following is the list of events—

Starter, Sam Ray.

Marquis of Queensbury rules to govern all but the cake walk.

The starter announced a slight change in the program to the effect that it had been found advisable to have the race for baldheads governed by the Home Rule, as no doubt the contestants were more used to that than the Marquis of Queensbury rules. This met with unanimous approval.

Just before the smoking race was to be started, a most deplorable incident occurred. It appears that Billy Bradburn, who was first on the entry list, had been seen to approach the judges and leading them aside had offered them great inducement if they would give him the race. Mr. Bradburn denied the charge, and on being cornered the informant, who was also a contestant, admitted that he had made up the whole story out of whole cloth in order to have Mr. Bradburn ruled out.

It would take too much space to describe the intense excitement that prevailed while the various races were being run. Hat pools were numerous and in most cases the favorites won. The winners, radiant and happy, were presented with the prizes by Orator Fair, who used language so transcendent and poetical that many of the members involuntarily shed tears and had to seek the privacy of the hotel to quench their—emotion.

But all things, good, bad and indifferent, must come to an end, and the roseate rays of the sun as they kissed farewell to the clouds, the tree tops and iridescent waters of the river, reminded the party that the time for returning home was near at hand. It had been a pleasant day, full of happy incidents, and frought with nothing but merriment, good spirits and wholesome friendly intercourse. In the cool of the evening the steamer's deck was again invaded by the party, and as the moon mounted the heavens to reign in the firmament until Old Sol once more appeared, the homeward journey was begun. It was a pleasant trip, this journey back on the silent waters full of reflected stars, and many adjudged it by no means the least pleasant feature of the day. At a seasonable hour Peterborough was sighted and one of the most enjoyable day's

THE HORSE DIED.

The Horse-thief Was Captured at Lorneville but Escaped.

A few days ago a horse was stolen from the field of Mr. Hugh Fife, of Otonabee. Mr. Fife came in and notified the local police, with the result that a description of the horse was sent out to the neighboring towns and villages.

Wednesday afternoon the Chief received the following message from the Chief Constable of Lorneville,

"Have man under arrest. Horse here sick. Send further instructions. Made full confession."

The chief immediately wired back; "Hold man and horse send man's name."

The chief received a telegram from Lorneville stating that the man gave his name as Josiah Hill.

County Constable Cochrane immediately left to bring the thief and the horse back to Peterborough, but yesterday Mr. Cochrnae wired Chief Rossel as follows;

"Fife's horse dead. Prisoner escaped before I arrived. Am in pursuit."

The theft of Mr. Fife's horse was a most daring one, the animal having been taken from the field in broad daylight. His loss will be heavy as the animal was a valuable one .

COUNTY POLICE COURT.

A Douro Farmer Fined Twenty Dollars for Carrying a Revolver.

In the County Police Court a farmer from Douro township, was fined $20 and costs, with the alternative of a month in goal, for carrying a revolver. He was also charged with assaulting his wife. In this case Magistrate Edmison reserved judgment for a week.

A session of the county police court will be held on Wednesday to investigate a charge of theft;

An information was laid against a Dummer farmer charging him with the theft of two cook stoves and other old iron. Two old iron men allege that he gave them instructions to carry off the goods, to which he had no claim.

The Water street side of Victoria Park is in an extremely ragged condition. Neither sodding or seeding has been utilized to make it look well.

The first float of logs on the Trent River was let loose from Crow Bay last week, and they are now moving sothward. There are about 130,000 in the drive.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock sharp in the Council chamber. Interesting addresses will be given. A full attendance islooked for.

The Stanley Piano Co, is rushed to its utmost these days with orders. On Monday half a car load of pianos went to British Columbia and they this week received orders for two car loads of pianos to be shipped to Halifax early in August.

A couple of citizens suggested that now George street has been put in good condition one of the town's ancient retainers, of whom there are a few, might be put to work with a barrow gathering up the paper and other rubbish which gathers near the pavement curbs. The suggestion is to the point.

INDUCTION AT NORWOOD.

The New Anglican Clergyman Formally Installed in Charge.

The Rev. J. McKee McLennan, who has been appointed by the Bishop of Toronto to the charge of Norwood and Westwood, in succession to Rev. J. Bushell, was formally induced Wednesday night by Ven. Archdeacon Allen, assisted by Rev. Rural Dean Webb and Rev. H. Symonds. After the special service for the occasion had been read by Mr. Webb, the Archdeacon addressed the new incumbent and the congregation. He spoke of the importance of the pastoral office, and the deep responsibility that rested upon the minister of the World and Sacraments to the people. He earnestly appealed to the people to support the clergyman by their prayers, co-operation and sympathy.

Rural Dean Webb referred to the excellent work Mr. McLennan has accomplished in previous charges, and predicted a bright future for the parish.

Rev. H. Symonds also spoke briefly. Both Mr. and Mrs. McLennan have already created a favorable impression at Norwood, and the prospects before the Anglican congregations at Norwood and Westwood are encouraging.

BULLER DRIVES BOERS FROM STRONG POSITION

He Reports Several Days Hard Fighting in Hills Has Made Laing's Nek Untenable.

GEN. BOTHA HAS SWORN TO CARRY ON THE WAR

Roberts Has Communicated Nothing for Three Days Nor Permitted Correspondents to Wire What is Going on—He is Possibly Disposing His Army

London, June 8, 11.25 p.m.

The War Office has received the following from General Buller—"Yellow Boon Farm, June 8.—On June 6, Gen. Talbot Cope, with the 100th Brigade, and the South African Light Horse, seized Vanwyke Hill. The enemy made some resistance, and a good deal of sniping occurred. Our casualties were about four killed and thirteen wounded. During that day and the following we got two 4.7 and two 10-pounder naval guns on to Vanwyke Hill and two five-inch guns on to the southwestern spur of Inkevels, under cover of their fire. General Hillyard to-day assaulted also the spurs of the Berg between Botha's Pass and Inkevels. The attack which was assisted by Hillyard, and carried out with immense dash by the troops, for whom no mountains were too steep, outflanked the enemy, who were forced to retire from their very strong position. I think we did not have any casualties, and I hope I have obtained a position from which I can render Laing's Nek untenable."

London, June 9.

Lord Roberts has communicated nothing for three days nor permitted the correspondents to wire what is going on. London's inference is that he is resting, although he is possibly disposing his army for a reach after commandant General Botha.

The Daily express has the following from Pretoria dated Wednesday;—

"The one thousand prisoners who were deported from Waterval were told that they were about to be given up to Lord Roberts. They entrained cheerfully and were conveyed to Nooitgedache instead of Pretoria."

Gen. Louis Botha, with a rear guard of 2000 left Pretoria during the night. The British advance guard entiring o n the very heels of the retiring Boers.

Botha has sworn to carry on the war in the mountains. Mr. G. W. Fiddes Imperial Secy. of the High Commissioners with a part of Sir Alfred Milners staff, left Cape Town Tuesday evening for Pretoria possibly as the Cape Correspondent of the Daily News thinks to arrange the annexation details.

The Daily Chronicle, referring to the protests of Mr. Harold G. Parsons against the treatment given the wounded Canadians says that Lord Strathcona has invested the complaints of the men, and that the matter has been settled satisfactorily, furlong being granted.

London, June 8.—While Lord Roberts is halting at Pretoria, attention is naturally being turned to the minor campaigns which are being waged to the right and left of the main British advance. Not the least important of these is the march of Sir Charles Warren through Griqualand west, accompanied by a battery of Canadian artillery. Sir Charles was first heard of at Douglas, known to those who have followed the doings of the first contingent, which town he occupied after a somewhat severe fight. Latest information shows that he has crossed the Vaal River and is now at Campbell twenty miles due north of Douglas and about fifty miles due west of Kimberley. His object is evidently to occupy Griquatown, the chief town in the district and the stronghold of the colonial rebels, whom the affair at Sunnyside did not prevent from keeping the field. From this town he is about 40 miles distant and when its capture is announced, as it assuredly will be in the nex few days, one may feel certain that the rebellion of the Dutch sympathisers in the district west of the Cape-Buluwayo line is suppressed, for British columns will then have penetrated into almost every part of the territory and occupied all towns of importance.

Colonel Plumer, who tried hard to relieve Mafeking, and failed, but undoubtedly made the pressure of the enemy upon the devoted garrison much lighter than it otherwise would have been, has invaded the Transvaal. He i now at Zeerust, about forty miles north-east of Mafeking, in the midst of a district which, like that around Lydenburg, offers exceptional facilities for defence by a handful of desperate men bent upon waging guerilla warfare. In all likelihood the march of Plumer has been made with the object of forestalling any attempt of the enemy to make use of the mountain fastnesses and bush-covered land of the neighborhood in order to defer the pacification of the Transvaal.

Gen. Rundle, operating in the neighborhood of Senekal. to the east of the line from Bloemfontein to the Vaal and about midway between the two, has discovered the position of the enemy and will doubtless soon attack him, in which case a somewhat severe engagement will take place, as the Boers in this part of the Orange River Colony are reported to be 6,000 strong.

There is no news from Gen. Buller, who is undoubtedly waiting for Lord Roberts to clear a way for him into the Transvaal by attacking the Boer's at Laing's Nek in the rear.

TO GOVERN THE TRANSVAAL.

London June 8.—A despatch from Cape Town announces that the work of organizing the Government of the Transvaal is proceeding. A portion of Sir Alfred Milner's staff has gone to Pretoria to start the machinery, so the proclamation of the annexation of the Transvaal may be speedily executed.

ZEERUST OCCUPIED.

Mafeking, May 29—Colonel Plumer occupied Zeerust, forty miles over the border of the Transvaal to the north east of Mafeking, yesterday without opposition. This district is regaining its normal condition. Supplies are arriving daily.

STRUCK THE CONSULATE.

Only Shell which Fell in Pretoria During the Fighting.

London, June 8—The driblets of news filtering from the Transvaal fail to throw much light on the situation in and around Pretoria. Public interest centers largely in the fate of the British prisoners. In some quarters it is said that about 3,500 have been recovered, includiong 128 officers, and that the Boers have removed about a thousand as hostages. In the absence of official news, however, judgment cannot be pronounced.

The Lorenzo Marques despatch to the effect that United States Consul Hollis has been conferring with President Kruger is creating some comment, but there is little disposition to regard Mr. Hollis' alleged mission as in any wise official

A special despatch from Pretoria says that, curiously enough, thek only shell

CANADIANS WITH WARREN.

They are Marching Through Griqualand West Suppressing Revolt.

Cape Town, June 8—General Warren with a strong force, including D Battery, Canadian Artillery, is reaching north through Griqualand West. He encamped at Campbell yesterday, no opposition being offered. Numbers of the rebels are handing in their arms to the British commander.

RUNDLE FORGES AHEAD.

He Locates a Boer Laager Near Hrmonia, and will Attack.

Harmonia, Orange River Colony, June 8—General Rundle made a strong demonstration against the Boer positions, employing 500 of General Brabant's Queenstown Mounted Rifles two guns, and the Cape Mounted Infantry, under Colonel Dalgetty. The Boer outposts were driven back and their laager was located, but the troops returned without a battle.

KRUGER URGED TO TREAT.

Report That the American Consul is Persuading Him to Surrender.

Lorenzo Marques, June 8.— United States Consul Hollis, who returned here yesterday from the Transvaal by special train, had a two hours' interview in close conference with President Kruger at Machadorp. It is stated that Mr. Hillis was the bearer of friendly despatches from the United States Government urging Mr. Kruger to treat for peace.

CHICAGO AMBULANCE MEN LOST.

Western City Anxious to Know Whether They are Alive or Dead.

Chicago, June 8—Efforts are being made by Chicagoans interested in the welfare of the members of the ambulance corps that left Chicago to aid the wounded in South Africa, but changed their occupation to that of members of the Boer firing lines, to locate the corps. Col. John F. Finerty, one of the men who helped form the corps, last night despatched a cablegram to Pretoria asking to the whereabouts of the Chicago Irishmen.

There have been all sorts of disquieting rumors in regard to the corps have been killed or wounded.

THE MARCH TO THE RAND.

Distance Covered and Weight Carried by each Man with Roberts.

The following table shows the route and the distance traversed by Lord Roberts' army since the commencement of the movement for the relief of Kimberley, which began with the departure of the army from Modder River Camp on February 12.

Reached.	Date.
Jacobsdal	Feb. 15
Bloemfontein	Mar. 13
Brandfort	May 6
Smaldeel	May 6
Kroonstad	May 12
Horning Spruit	May 22
Rhenoster River	May 23
Viljoen's Drift	May 27
Klip River	May 28

It is understood that the men are in light marching order, in which case the weight carried by each man is roughly as follows;

Rifle, 8 1-4 lb.; bayonet, 1 1-4 lb.; emergency ration, 1 1-4 lb.; 100 rounds ammunition and pouches, 7 3-4 lb.; halfday's rations in haversack, 1 1-3 lb.; blanket, about 4 lb.; total 24 5-6 lb,

It is doubtful whether many men are carrying an overcoat, weighing 6 1-2 lb. or the valise, 11 1-2 lb.

THEY SAW MRS. KRUGER.

How Kruger's House was Occupied by the British.

London, June 9.—A belated special despatch from Pretoria describes the visit made by officers of Lord Roberts' staff to the Presidency on Tuesday, June 5. It says—

We were received by a Dutch pastor, and shortly were joined by Mrs. Kruger. The latter wore a black dress and a white cap. She composedly exchanged greetings with her visitors, who notified her of their intention to replace the burgher guards by a guard of British troops. The burghers thereupon laid down their arms on the asphalted porch of the building near the lions guarding the entrance.

YEOMANRY FOUGHT FIERCELY.

They Lost 19 Killed and 23 Wounded Before Surrendering.

London, June 8.—The list of casualties now coming through indicates that there was severe fighting before the 13th Yeomanry surrendered. Already the names of 19 men killed and 23 wounded have been issued. The killed include Sir John Elliott Cecil Power, Bart., and among the wounded is the Earl of Longford.

TO EARLY TOO EMIGRATE.

Sir Alfred Milner Warns Miners Against Going to Africa.

London, June 8.—The following despatch has been received at the Colonial Office from the British High Commissioner to South Africa, Sir Alfred Milner—

"Cape Town, June 7.—It is reported by telegram that large numbers of miners and others are about to start for the Transvaal from Southampton on Saturday. Cannot a public notification be issued warning the people against premature return here? They will be detained at Cape ports and will only increase the numbers supported by charity. It must be a couple of months at least before the bulk of these now in the colony and Natal can be allowed to return or work generally can be resumed."

Orders have been issued at Washington directing the Indian and the Massachusetts to be fitted out for service at the Philadelphia yards. The object is to determine how quickly a portion of the fleet can be mobilized.

WOMAN FIGHTS BRAVELY WITH A JAGUAR.

Desperate Battle in a Cage Between a Trainer and a Wild Animal

Newark, June 9.—A woman and a jaguar had a desperate fight here to-day and the woman came out victorious. The woman was Mme. Louise Morelli, animal trainer in the Bostick Show, which has been exhibiting here all week. The jaguar, which is a sleek, powerful animal, has been in captivity only a few months, and she was giving it its first lesson. For several weeks the jaguar has been kept in solitary confinement to tame its spirit. Every day its cage is brought closer to the large steel cage in which other jaguars which have been trained are put through their "stunts" by Mme. Morelli. By this method it was hoped the latter addition to the jaguar contingent would see and comprehend what was expected of him.

To-day, for the first time, his cage was opened, and he was turned loose in the big cage. For a time he skulked around the edge with his head and tail down. Then the trainer tried to coax him to leap over a small hurdle. He refused to and was plied with the whip. Repeated efforts brought no better results and, to cow him, the trainer got him into a corner and gave him a cut across the face. With a savage cry he leaped at her. She ducked, but his claws scratched her back. She cut him again with the whip and again he was upon her, this time bearing her to the floor of the cage, the sharp claws sinking deep into her body and tearing out pieces of flesh. An elephant trainer who stood outside the cage tossed her a revolver. She grabbed it and fired at the jaguar's head. The catridges were blank, but the noise so cowed the animal that it shrank from her and was whipped back into its cage.

FATE OF BRITISH WAR PRISONERS.

Nine Hundred Said to be Penned in a Four-acre Barbed-wire Enclosure on Open Veldt at Noortgdacht

London, June 8.—Interest for the moment centres on the fate of the British prisoners, regarding whom there is no more definite news. The correspondents differ as to the number rescued. One says the Boers removed 1,000 and others 900. The latter number are said to be penned in a four-acre barbed-wire enclosure on the open veldts at Nooitgedacht.

According to a despatch from Lorenzo Marquez dated yesterday, Lord Roberts is said to have intercepted two trainsful, leaving the vicinity of Pretoria.

Mr. Prevost Battersby, in a despatch to the Morning Post, from Pretoria, dated June 5, says—"The Boers pledged them selves to 20 British officers not to take the prisoners away if these officers would control them and prevent an outbreak. Nevertheless, they began their removal. After 900 had been taken, British shells struck a train that was loading, and the Boers desited and retired.

"The British officers at Dashpoort refused to leave their quarters, and made the Boer commandant a prisoner, releasing him at midnight on condition that he would cancel the order for the removal of the prisoners. The Pretoria forts were found without guns. All the artillery had been gotten away."

Another despatch says—"Sixteen hundred British prisoners were removed. After the government had taken away most of the stores the burghers were given a free hand to help themselves. All the British found was a few hundred bags of coffee and sugar."

Telegrams from the British side are exceedingly scanty. Two brief ones received from Pretoria say that Mrs. Kruger is still occupying the Presidency, and that a number of engines and cars have been seized. The British, under Major Delisle, captured a machine gun and caused the Boers heavy loss, the British casualties being slight.

Boer officials removed £300,000 in gold from the National Bank on June 4, but did not touch the cash holdings of the other banks.

Some of the Boers are surrendering voluntarily, and the townspeople of Pretoria are described as showing considerable enthusiasm over the British arrival.

THE VIERKLEUR WAS HAULED DOWN

While the Burghers Wept for the Loss of Their Flag—"Bobs" was Welcomed When He Entered Johannesburg.

Johannesburg, June 9.—The entry of an armed force into this large, modern, populous town afforded such a strange contrast to the previous incidents of the war as to make the occasion peculiarly memorable. Soon after 10 o'clock Lord Roberts and his staff left the camp, followed by the Guards and Stevenson's Brigades and a few newspaper correspondents. Preparations had been made on a large scale to welcome the Field Marshal. The space around the court house was thronged and the balconies were filled with ladies. In front of the court house the "Vierkleur" Free State flag still flew.

At about 2 o'clock cheers in the distance hearlded the approach of Lord Roberts. The din increased and became deafening an the Commander-in-Chief—calm and collected—led the column into the square and reached the front of the court house. The crowd became almost unmanageable, trying to break through the cordon formed by the bodyguard in order to get closer views. Cheers and cries of "Welcome" and "Well done, Bobs," resounded on all sides.

After his introduction to the chief officials Lord Roberts dismounted, entered the court house and made a short speech, accepting the surrender of the place, and requesting the officials to retain their offices for the present. General Roberts afterwards left the building, remounted and the "Vierkleur" was hauled down, midst hurrahs from the nondescript population. But there was visible emotion on the part of many of the rugged burghers. Tears streamed down the faces of these big, beared men at the sight of the loss of the flag they had fought for so well.

After a brief interval the rattle of drums and shrikeing of fifes hearlded the approach of General Pole-Carew's Guards. The troops were drawn up around the flag staff and the Union Jack was hoisted by Lady Roberts, the fifes playing "God Save the Queen." As the music ceased a great roar of cheers broke out, followed by a chorus of "God Save the Queen."

BLOOD WAS SHED IN LOUIS RIOTS.

Passenger on a Car Platforom and Three Policemen Shot by a Brutal Crowd

St. Louis, Mo., June 8.—While standing on the rear platform of a northbound Union Line car last night, John Gostling, a photographer, 20 years old, was shot and fatally wounded.

The nightly riots began at 8 o'clock. When the cars started the shooting began. The mounted police fired in the air and those in the crowd commenced shooting into and stoning the cars.

The mounted officers finally dispersed the crowd, and the cars were run into the sheds.

A car on the Lindell division ran over a stick of dynamite about 11.30 o'clock.

Three police officers were shot in various parts of the city.

Annie Klasek, 16 years old, arrested, charged with being one of the persons who assaulted and help strip Pauline Hesser, a passenger on a car, described the entire affair most graphically, and which illustrates the strong feeling existing over the strike.

"All I did was to take three punches at her," said Annie. "I saw her get off the car. Everybody commenced yelling 'Scab!' 'Scab!' and so did I. Then they made a rush for her.

"In the bunch were 40 or 50 men, women, girls and boys. I got excited, was one of them. Mary Trantine was one of the first to hit the woman and then she jerked her skirt. Just as I got close some other girl pulled off her hat and threw it on the ground and stamped on it. I hit her three times, and was then pushed away by the others behind me.

"Then Mary Trantine pulled at the last skirt the woman wore, tearing a large piece out of it. The poor thing during all this was running down Allen avenue screaming for mercy.

"Once she fell, and someone kicked her in the head. She arose, and ran into Schumcher's grocery and saloon. He put her out in the street.

"Someone yelled—'She's a teacher at Lafayette School!' and this made the crowd worse than ever, because the teachers of that school have been riding on scab cars. Big men did most of the chasing. In all she ran about four blocks in a nearly nude condition.

"I belong to a union at the tobacco factory, and the worst thing on earth to me is a 'scab.' When everyone began calling her 'Scab!' I got excited and for the time did not know what I was doing."

Affairs in China Are Gradually Working up to a Crisis of the First Magnitude—British Marines Are About to Force Passage From Tien Tsin to Pekin

Tien Tsin, June 8.—It is reported from Chinese official sources that 4,000 Boxers surrounded 1,500 Chinese troops between Iofa, and Yong Tsun yesterday, and according to the latest news, fighting is still going on this morning.

Officials say that 500 Boxers were killed, but give no account of the Chinese casualties.

Thirty of General Nieh's troops encountered a body of boxers three miles from here on the Taku road, and killed 21 of them.

No news has been received from Pao Ting Fu for three days, and the situation there is believed to be critical. It is reported that the Chinese troops have been defeated near there.

THE LEGATIONS ARE SAFE.

But the Boxer Rising is Spreading, and the Authorities are Supine.

London, June 8, 3 a.m.—No fear is entertained for the safety of the legations at Pekin. European residents, however, are escaping from the capital to the coast. Pekin is still under control, according to a despatch to the Morning Post, dated yesterday, but in a very excited state. A thousand foreign guards were garrisoning the Legation houses.

Six hundred international troops are at Tien Tsin, with six guns. A despatch to the London Daily Mail from Shanghai, dated June 7, takes a gloomy view of things, which are pictured as going from bad to worse. The correspondent says—"The authorities are displaying palpably guilty supineness in dealing with the Boxers, and the powers are more and more turning matters into their own hands. The Boxer revolt is spreading, and is rapidly changing its character. The Boxers are getting arms, preparing to meet force with force. There has been no communication between Pekin and Tien Tsin since Tuesday, although one miserable half-hearted attempt was made by Chinese soldiers to reach the capital. The troops were fired on, and the train had to come back. Another station has been burned on the line."

A news agency despatch from Tien Tsin, dated yesterday, says—"The Boxers are still raiding and pillaging over a wide area. They have wrecked and burned the stations at Long Fong and Lango. It has been definitely ascertained that Mme. Astier and Messrs. Ossent and Cades have been murdered. Gen. Nieh claims to have defeated the Boxers, killing 500."

POWERS NOT READY.

Not Prepared to Meet the Prospective Collapse of the hCinese Government.

Washington, June 8.—The extreme gravity of the situation at Pekin, even when shorn, as it has been, for the moment at least, of the danger of precipitate Russian aggression, continues to be the source of intense anxiety at the State Department, where frank fears are expressed that the Imperial Government may fall at any time. The responsibilities that would be forced upon the nations interested in China in that event they are not yet prepared to meet, though it is certain that they are now assiduously considering what harmonious action they would take.

A complete change in the ruling influences of the empire would be welcomed were the guarantors of the "open door" fully prepared to deal with the question, or induce the United States to act for them. Under the circumstances, no alternative has seemed to present itself other than to direct every effort, individually and even collectively, to guard the Legations at the capital, and protect foreigners who seek an asylum at Tien Tsin or Pekin.

The latest information received by this Government shows that the Dowagerp-Empress at last thoroughly realizes the consequences of her folly, and is exerting herself to save Pekin, which is itself threatened. The most serious apprehension is that, notwithstanding her last-hour exertions to save herself and her dynasty from a machine of her own creation and encouragement, she may have realized her danger too late. As long as the "Boxers" confined their destruction to the missionaries, railways and foreign interests generally, they had her hearty support, but since Pekin became the objective and the Legations began to make some strenuous representations, she has been deeply in earnest about stemming the tide.

WAR INEVITABLE.

Japan and Russia Sure to Crash—Great Financial Uneasiness in London.

New York, June 8.—The possibility of war between Japan and Russia and the effect of the rumors on the financial world are discussed rather fully in the Herald to-day. Its London correspondent cables—

"The anxiety respecting events in the far East spread yesterday still further. Over and over again the opinion was expressed that nothing could prevent war between Japan and Russia. In diplomatic circles nothing else was talked about. There exists in financial circles all the preliminaries of a panic. Public sentiment is urging the Government to take a more active interest in Chinese developments. All day long communications are going on between the Foreign Office and Tien Tsin."

POWERS GET TOGETHER.

Some Reason to Believe that Vigorous Measures Will Soon be Taken.

London, June 8.—Despatches from the Far East show apparently no cessation in the activity of the Boxers, but the powers are gradually feeling their way to common action for the suppression of the disorders. It is believed that when the Dowager Empress realizes the firm intention to check her connivance in the anti-foreign movement, there will be a speedy end to the rioting, as, if the Chinese acted in good faith, they could easily quell the rabble, which is caused chiefly [illegible] a few swords and some old rifles.

A despatch from Tien-Tsin, dated Thursday, June 7 at 4 p.m., shows the British reinforcements had not then started for Pekin, as expected, owing to the refusal of the authorities to allow them to entrain, although the British offered to repair the line as they went.

Additional Russian and Austrian troops have arrived at Tien-Tsin, and the German cruisers Hansa and Gefion, have started from Kiao Chou for Taku, with marines, intended for the same destination.

The fact that much-needed rain has fallen is expected at Tien-Tsin, to give a good effect in accelerating the suppression of the rising, as the rising, as the farmers in the movement will return to their ordinary pursuits.

BRITISH ARE IN IT.

British Marines About to Force a Passage to Pekin.

London, June 8.—A despatch from Shanghai says the Dowager Empress has ordered Gen. Nieh Si Chong, with 2,000 men, to protect the railway at Pekin. A severe fight, it is added, has occurred with the Boxers, whose ranks include many soldiers from other generals' commands. When the battle ended, 200 dead were left on the field.

The despatch goes onto say—"One hundred and eighty British marines, with a machine gun, are about to force a passage from Tien Tsin to Pekin. Altogether, about 900 British have been landed from the fleet, a greater number than have landed from the combined vessels of the other powers. This evidence of Great Britain's intentions to assert her position strongly, gives great satisfaction here.

The Pekin correspondent of the Times says—"An imperial decree has been issued, but it is of the same evasive character as the preceding one. Throughout it is apologetic in tone, and virtually gives justification to the Boxers for their recent anti-foreign and anti-Christian outbreaks. The edict repeats the accusation against native Christians who 'joined the Church for their own base ends,' and refer to the Boxers as 'a brotherhood,' and not as rebels. Nevertheless, its character on the whole is satisfactory. The Tsung-li-Yamen undertake that railway communication shall be restored by Saturday. They have protested against the arrival of more British guns."

DOWN WITH DIFFERENCES.

Danger of Boxers' Movements Spreading Through Powers' Jealousies.

Berlin, June 8.—The Foreign Office regards the situation in China as no worse than it was last evening. No official reports indicating an unfavourable change have been received.

The papers, however, take a different view of the matter. The Vossische Zeitung says—"Evidence are lacking of harmony among the powers interested in China, and the probability is that if the Boxers' movement is allowed to spread, and the dangers growing out of it become more serious, the result will be owing to the want of harmony."

The National Zeitung, which expresses its views in similar terms, says it hopes that until the present troubles are over, Russia, Great Britain and Japan will bury their differences.

THE BRITISH SQUADRON.

Complaints That It is Inferior to Fleets of Russia and Japan.

London, June 8.—Affairs in China are gradually working up to a crisis of the first magnitude. The morning papers think that the British squadron is recognized as inferior in strength to the Russian as well as the Japanese. The Daily Telegraph says—"We regret that Great Britain is too much occupied in South Africa to settle the Chinese business with a strong hand."

The most ominous feature of the Chinese troubles is the more or less hostile rivairy among the powers which are intervening ostensibly in behalf of peace. There is little doubt that not only the "Boxers" but the Chinese Government itself—if, as reported, it is in sympathy with the "Boxers" and means to sustain them—could be speedily brought to terms if the various outside powers would agree to unite their energies to that end, with no ulterior purposes. But if one or more of the powers shall seize the opportunity for pushing selfish claims, and for seeking to gain selfish advantage over the others there is no telling how long the trouble may last or how widespread and alarming it may become. With so great and feeble a country as China at stake, and with so keen a covetousness as seems to prevail on the part of some of the powers, there is a possibility of a war of almost world-wide dimensions.

We would like to know how Miss H. enjoyed the drive Sunday evening. Robert M. says it was delightful.

The Fraserville correspondent of the London Spectator states that one of our most esteemed young ladies in person of Miss Alice G. was the centre of great attraction at church there Sunday evening, but Harry R., a prominent ladies' man, was the one that shared the blissful drive on her return home.

The city fathers met Monday night in the Council to dispose of the past month's business, which was done satisfactorily, the only question which was the cause of much comment being the new by-law regarding cows running the streets. Two petitions, one for, and the other against, largely signed by the ratepayers, were presented to the Council. Mr. Niddy Hogan requested permission to address them on the subject, which was granted. The Council after considerable discussion passed the by-law prohibiting all milk cows from running the street between the hours of 7 p.m. and 7 a.m., and young cattle entirely.

HARVEY.

The municipal Council at Harvey met at the Town Hall on Monday, May 28th. After routine the members formed a Court of Revision, made the required oaths respectively, and proceeded to hear and determine the appeals against the assessor's valuation for 1900—Arch. Johnston's assessment was confirmed, John Bell and sons, reduced $25; Ontario Bank, reduced $13; Canada companies lands changed from non-resident roll and entered on the resident roll; James Pluard, Charles Allen and James and Archibald Wilson reduced in small amounts; Edward and Samuel Hunts, error in schedule corrected; D. Lavery's assessment confirmed; Wm. Robinson was assessed on resident roll for lot 32, con. 19; William Givens, assessed on resident roll for lot E 1-2 24, con. 11; Wm. Tate's assessment confirmed; a few minor corrections made and the members resumed in Council on general business.

Accounts passed and orders drawn for payment, viz., Matthew Windover, board of health officer, $2; John McGuire, for work on road, $3; Municipal World, blanks and stationery and expressage, $11.45; W. G. Oliver, salary, assessor, school census and postage, $30.

Much time was taken up altering names on road list and discussions at Court of Revision.

On motion the clerk was instructed to notify and request from the trustees of school section No. 2, a final statement of what they will do in regard to the new school section at the depot.

On motion the Council adjourned to meet at the Clerk's office on Monday, June 25th.

OMEMEE.

The Omemee cheese factory has turned out 20 cheese for the first shipment. Mr. Whitten inspected it to-day. Mr. Weir, proprietor, is filling the bill well.

James Graham, proprietor of the Commercial House, is busy making improvements to accommodate the increasing trade of his house.

Messrs. James Fitzsimmons and Frank McPherson, of the Brantford Red Bird agency, Peterborough, were in the village on the 3rd, on their way home from Downeyville. Mr. McPherson, it is said, intends opening an agency in this place, making a specialty of ladies' wheels.

Our Sabbaths are well observed, and little or no police court business in our village. Everyone is busy that wants to be, and the loyalty of the village was shown when the news of Pretoria reached here.

The Presbyterians are noted for furnishing the highest class entertainments in the past, and in securing St. Paul's choir for the 15th inst., they cap the climax and the event is looked forward to as one of their best efforts. Admission to concert, refreshments included 25c.

The Court of Revision of the assessment roll of the village and township has lately been in session. Several important changes have been made towards maintaining an equalized roll.

CHICAGO CUTLETS.

The indications are that things have come to the pass when Chicago will have to go out and get things like conventions.—Omaha World-Herald.

The fact that Chicago women have to carry arms to protect themselves from thugs ought to act as a check to the vanity of the inhabitants.—New York Sun.

Chicago has had no prairie fires in its new wards this winter, but shooting the rapids of the Chicago river is sufficient excitement for the season.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Persian priest is trying to introduce sun worship in Chicago. As the sun is an unfamiliar object to most Chicagoans, it is doubtless regarded with reverence, and the gentleman from Persia may find a fruitful field in the dark city if he works it right.—Minneapolis Times.

Bread In Havana.

Havana's bread carts are usually two legged—that is, bread is carried about the streets in large, shallow baskets borne on top of men's heads. It is served in sticks as long as a baseball bat or in loaves or pones, one of which is supposed to serve for the morning meal of an ordinary citizen.

Art Treasures In Japan.

The Japanese idea in regard to art treasures is quite different from the American idea, as seen in the home. The American method is to keep all the good pictures or beautiful bronzes or unique vases in evidence all the time. The Japanese way is to store the artistic belongings, bringing different ones to light for a time, and thereby avoiding the too abundant appearance that is often the sole

COAL

Does not warm except through combustion. Food does not nourish except through digestion. You may as well hug a coal pile to get warm as expect to get nourishment out of food which you cannot digest. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the body to assimilate food and so put on sound flesh and develop strong muscle.

"The praise I would like to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes James B. Ambrose, Esq., of 1205½ Mifflin Street, Huntingdon, Pa. "I was taken down with what our physicians said was indigestion. I doctored with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote you and you sent me a question blank to fill out and I did so and you then advised me to use Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped—being as I think, cured. I have no symptoms of gastric trouble or indigestion now."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for paper or 50 stamps for cloth binding, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BITS OF SCIENCE.

Dr. Mach of Berlin has made a new alloy of magnesium and aluminium, producing a compound like brass, white as silver and can be turned and bored.

The weight of all the air on the globe would be eleven and two-thirds trillion pounds if no deductions had to be made for space filled by mountains and land above sea level.

Blasting with liquid air at Vienna has led to the conclusion that to be effective the liquid should be used within 15 minutes after preparation. As tried after 72 hours, when half of it had been evaporated, it had no destructive effect.

For Williams and Didn't Know It.

"John," said the wife, "who air you fer in the race fer sheriff?"

"I'm fer Tompkins fust an last."

"No, John, you ain't fer Tompkins; you're fer Williams."

"I said Tompkins," replied John.

"I know you did, John. But, all the same, you're fer Williams!"

Then he made a grab for his hat and was about to make for the door when she locked it and, standing against it, said:

"Don't let us fuss over this matter, John. Be reasonable now an own up that you're fer Williams."

He fumbled with his hat and kicked the fire.

"Molly," he said, "ef you ain't as good as a mind reader I'll give it up! Course I'm fer Williams fust an last! Durn him!"

THE DRESSY WOMAN.

There has been an unprecedented demand this season for novel and fashionable black dress fabrics.

Khaki fabrics are among the popular materials for spring wear, and it will be found necessary in every instance to relieve this ugly sand color with white or colored silk or satin.

Many of the modish spring Etons and other jackets have narrow, medium length stole ends in front, with short, double revers on each side, reaching in length a little below the bust.

Some of the smartest street gowns for spring wear are formed of handsome, smooth finished costume cloth of light weight, with the still fashionable decoration of stitched straps of the same material.

In keeping with the revived fashion of plaiting dress materials, the Norfolk jacket will reappear en suite, with kilted costumes of tweed, cheviot, frieze, zibeline, camel's hair, serge and other utility fabrics.

One of the great French authorities has said that, while many other effects will vie with it, the overskirt will take its place as a factor among other spring styles particularly suited to tall, slender women.

Among new French costumes are those of black satin faced cloth, with a finish of rows of white silk stitching on skirt edge and bolero or jacket, the costume finished either with a boa of black and white ostrich tips or one of black and white chiffon and fringe.

On models for summer gowns appear skirts alternately tucked and frilled in horizontal rows, with perpendicular side plaitings in clusters of five alternating with one rather wide box plait, with a mixture of fancy kilt and fan plaitings, the fabric first scalloped at the lower edge or bordered with braid or ribbon.—New York Post.

GLEANINGS.

A common sight in Cape Colony is a herd of ostriches accompanying a railway train as it speeds on its way.

A New Yorker who was in Kimberley recently was cured of homesickness by a familiar sight, nothing else than an old Broadway horse car, still bearing the legend, "Battery to Central Park."

A young man who was struck by lightning in Berlin a few weeks ago remained unconscious a long time, but shouted in his delirium that he was in hell and begged to have the devil taken away.

Thomas H. Gilbert, Jr., of Orono, Me., lately cut in Onawa a pine tree that contained 3,200 feet and is claimed to be the largest pine or tree of any kind ever cut for lumber on record in the New England states.

A new method of preserving telegraph poles is to surround the portion in the ground with an earthenware pipe like a drainpipe. Into the space between the pole and the pipe is poured a mixture of sand and resin.

There are two well known families in Devonshire, England, the Carews and the Careys, and it is said that the members of the Carew family pronounce the name "Carey," while the Careys call themselves "Carew."

PUZZLED HIS PAP.

Questions That Made the Boy's Father Take a Day Off.

"Going to take the day off, eh?" said the chief of division to the clerk when the latter reported at the office at 9 o'clock and put in a slip for a day's leave. "Nothing the matter, I hope? No sickness at home, is there?"

"No," replied the clerk drearily, leaning heavily on the chief's desk. "No sickness or anything like that. But I've got to put in a day of research. It's this way: That 10-year-old boy of mine sprung a lot of 'em on me when he was going over his lessons after dinner last night that stumped me and put me temporarily out of business. This was one of them:

" 'Three-eighths of a pole stands in the mud, one-fifth in the water, and the remainder of the pole, 21 feet, is above the water. What is the total length of the pole?'

"Sounds dead easy, doesn't it?" went on the clerk. "Well, it just stood me on my head, that's what it did. Y'see, I took my civil service examination over ten years ago, and I've tried earnestly and prayerfully to forget all the digging I had to do to squeeze through that. Then he asked me how old George Washington was when he died, how old the Poleck Kosciusko was when he offered his sword to the Revolutionary commanders, the date of the battle of Bunker Hill, the nature of the Missouri compromise and 10 or 15 little ones like that. I had to extinguish him by telling him that I was reading my paper, but I promised him that I'd give him all the answers tomorrow, Sunday, in time for him to be right on them at school on Monday. Now, that kid thinks I'm 'It.' He thinks I know it all. He brags to all the other kids in the neighborhood that his dad can give their dads cards and spades and big cassine and beat them to death when it comes to Brains with an upper case B.

"Well, I want to have him go right on thinking that. I wouldn't lose that young one's exalted opinion of me for a house and lot. It 'ud be a solar plexus finish for me to have him direct the blighting gaze of suspicion at me. So I'm going up to the library, yank out a bundle o' books of reference, get the answers to that list of questions, and tonight I'll spring 'em on the kid in an offhand sort of way, as if I knew 'em all the time, but just didn't have time to give 'em to him. I couldn't stand it to have that kid get on to me; not just yet anyhow. He'll have time to do that when he grows up."—Washington Post.

His "Dear Old Jim."

"Corbett is my friend and benefactor," says Mr. Jeffries. "I was once his sparring partner, and he treated me as a gentleman. Hence I have gladly agreed to fight him as a return for favors. I am bound by all the ties of friendship and gratitude to give him a chance to fight me." Was there ever such a touching instance of devotion? Mr. Jeffries will reward his old patron and benefactor by beating him into pulp and knocking his head off. One can fancy him saying, as he puts his terrible right into his friend's ribs, "Dear old Jim!"—Kansas City Star.

His Idea of Humor.

A janitress living on Washington square had an adventure one day which she will not soon forget. It seems that the building which she has under her care was at one time used by a trust company, and afterward it was turned into an apartment house. When this was done, the vaults were left intact, and they were very seldom opened. The janitress was showing a party of gentlemen through the building and pointed out the desirability of the vaults as refrigerators. When she opened the vault and stepped in, one of the party, who has a rare idea of humor, shut the door suddenly and imprisoned the janitress. That was all right so far as it went, but the lock was a spring affair, and the janitress had the keys on the inside. The room hunters were throroughly frightened, and one of them ran for a locksmith in haste. Luckily a neighbor, who is an expert locksmith, came into the place and in a few minutes succeeded in releasing the woman, who was in anything but a pleasant frame of mind. The room hunters made themselves very scarce before the enraged janitress came forth.—Philadelphia Record.

In the Same Pen.

"One of the boys at the hotel put me on to a little poker game," said the dry goods drummer, "and I went around to see what it was like. There were about 80 respectable looking people in the room, and one of them was trying to teach me the value of the cards, when the police broke in and made a clean sweep of everybody. Next morning, when arraigned at the police court, I wanted a lawyer, and there was a general laugh in court as his honor replied:

" 'I don't know where you'll get one. There are nine in town, but all are in the pen with you!'

"It was so," continued the drummer, "and things might have gone hard with us had it not been for the fact that the judge was there, too, but had just stepped out as the raid was made. Nothing was said about it, of course, but he let us off with a fine of $2 each and a lot of fatherly advice."

He Was Very Thoughtful.

A north country miller noted for his keenness in financial matters was once in a boat trying his best to get across the stream which drove his mill.

The stream was flooded, and he was taken past the point at which he wanted to land, while farther on misfortune again overtook him to the extent that the boat was upset.

His wife, realizing the danger he was in, ran frantically along the side of the stream, crying for help in a pitiful voice, when, to her sheer amazement, she was suddenly brought to a standstill by her husband yelling out:

"If I'm drowned, Molly, dunnot forget that flour's gone up 2 shillin a sack!"—London Telegraph.

35 CTS. vs. DOCTOR—Some people have spent fortunes trying to repair the inroads of disease which have had origin in the simplest of beginnings—food fermentation and indigestion—a disordered stomach—the money's gone—the physician has failed to cure—but Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets have proved the little "specialists" in a thousand cases—and a box of 60 of them have made a cure—costs just 35 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

BITS FROM SHELDON.

Gifts that involve no sacrifice return neither happiness nor pleasure.

Where the body is wrung with pain, where it is filled with disease, one cannot be happy.

Doctors head the list of suicides, because they see the ill side of life—its physical side.

We here in America seem to have evolved in the course of our fast living a disease that once was not known—nervous prostration.

It is always very hard to tell which of these two is the more miserable man on earth—the discontented rich or the friendless beggar.

The little child who buys tin toys for a cent in the stores gets more pleasure out of giving them to some other little child than the rich men who ostentatiously give presents worth thousands of dollars.

VIGILANT DETECTIVES.

When a crime is committed, no matter in what corner of the earth the criminal tries to hide, he knows that probably somewhere or other on the look-out is a detective waiting to lay his hand on him.

When any disease attacks mankind and hides itself in the human system, no matter how obscure or complicated the disease may be, Nature among her great force of detective remedies has one that will eventually hunt down and arrest that particular disease.

Lung and bronchial diseases are among the most baffling complaints which doctors have to deal with; because it isn't the lungs or bronchial tubes alone which are affected, but every corner of the system furnishes a lurking place for these elusive maladies.

They change and reappear and dodge about the system under numberless disguises. They are almost always complicated with liver or stomach troubles, nervousness, neuralgia, or "general debility."

The best detective remedy which Nature has provided to search out and arrest these perplexing ailments is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It lays an arresting hand directly upon the poisonous, paralyzing elements hiding in the liver and digestive organs.

It gives the blood-making glands power to manufacture an abundant supply of pure, red, highly vitalized blood which reinforces the lungs with healthy tissue; feeds the nerve-centers with power, and builds up solid muscular flesh and active energy.

For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, nasal catarrh, bronchitis, severe coughs, asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. While it promptly cures the severest cough it strengthens the system and purifies the blood.

"I feel very grateful for the home-treatment given me by the World's Dispensary Medical Association," writes Mr. T. J. P. Brown, of Sands, Watauga Co., N. C. "I had catarrh for several years, then took grip, also had hemorrhage from the lungs. I had the best of medical attention but only to bring partial relief. I got up for a few months but had more hemorrhages. I took Dr.————'s Discovery, (twenty-five or thirty bottles) but in a few months I had more spells of bleeding. I wrote to Dr. Pierce and received directions what kind of medicine to use; I commenced taking his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I had only taken one bottle when I could see I was improving. I used three bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and five bottles of the 'Discovery.' I have been able to do any kind of labor for more than twelve months. Well I just simply owe my life to the World's Dispensary Medical Association."

"I was first taken (nearly two years ago) with choking and aching in my throat, and I suffered dreadfully," writes Mrs. D. Z. Moore, of Deming, Grant Co., N. Mex. "I took everything I could think of, and spent a great deal of money. Had three doctors treating me. My throat ulcerated, and I lost my voice. Could scarcely talk so a person could understand me. The doctors called the trouble bronchial affection; said the larynx was badly affected. I was almost dead when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. My neighbors thought I would not live a month. I was almost in consumption, but thought I would try the 'Discovery.' From the first I commenced to improve. I have taken it right along and with a few more bottles think I will have as good health as ever. I owe my life to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I have been the cause of several in this town being cured by it."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is a book of 1,008 pages and over three hundred illustrations, some of them colored, all fully explained. This book is free. It has been selling for $1.50. Now you may have it in all its usefulness, and in strong paper covers, for 31 one-cent stamps, which pays the cost of customs and mailing only, or in cloth binding for 50 stamps. It is a veritable medical library all contained in a single volume.

WE CAN SHIP ORE

We have received our Superintendent's Report and find we can ship ore if we want to—but we won't yet. It won't be good mining. Why, we will tell you if you like!

He has been up to the Nettie L. and Siver Cup studying indications and finds that

We have better indications all round, and more ore showing up on surface and more ore underground than either had with same amount of work, and that we gain depth twice as fast as they do, and that when ore shows at or near the surface it continues down, and that it took 900 feet of tunnel on Cup to give 300 feet of depth, and that we can get same depth with 300 feet of tunnel, and that we can take out ore when we like!

Knowledge of our strike is spreading and orders for the Special Issue at .15 per share are coming in from all over, both from States and Canada. We have averaged over $1,000.00 a week in sales lately, so if you want any before we ship you had better get it now, You can't get it after!

The original letter is on file at our office and can be seen by interested persons.

Beauty is Not Skin Deep

And it requires a healthy skin, a glorious colour, and a bright, clear eye.

Beauty is but the outward sign of inward and spiritual grace—Happiness or inward and spiritual grace is but the resultant of a genuinely healthy condition of the system. To be healthy requires a perfect digestion, that the food eaten may be properly assimilated for the body's nourishment. Hutch tablets, for dyspepsia, assist digestion, promote the secretion of the gastric juices, render assimilation effective, and being slightly cathartic, clean the entire system. The condition of a person's mind affects his, or her, health, and inversely the state of a person's health bears on one's mental condition. This is particularly the case with indigestion. Take Hutch tablets, secure good health, a happy, bright mind, keenly alert to passing events, and if of the female persuasion, a glorious complexion, or of the male, a good clear skin—with rich, ruddy blood.

Ten Hutch ten cents. None such as Hutch. One gives instant relief. Obtained at all first-class drug establishments, or by Mail from the Woodward Medicine Co., Limited, 11 Colborne Street, Toronto.

Make Them Earlier.

A correspondent wants to know if, in the interests of the little folks, the Band concerts this summer could not be started a little earlier in the evening. He says if they were started as near 7 o'clock as possible parents might be enabled to hear them all through, instead of being obliged to go home when the children got sleepy, before the concert was over. The point is worthy of consideration.

Billy Ponton Heard From.

Private W. H. Ponton, of the Canadian Artillery, writes from De Aar to friends at Belleville: "We are still at De Aar and very tired of it. The C. M. R's who left a week ago have been in action and still we are left behind. All want to join the C. M. R's now and leave the 12 pounders behind. We hope to be sent on inside of a week. The sand storms are commencing here now, all we have had no rain for five days—and that of course means sand storms as soon as the breeze gets up—either rain or sand storm. The nights here are very cold now—two blankets and an overcoat being worn—too heavy as a covering. We all sleep in our clothes, putties and boots. Last night, however, was warm and close, not a single drop of dew this morning and generally everything is soaking wet at 5.30 a.m. The heat during the day is about like our 24th of May."

ONTARIO MUTUAL LIFE.

Very Satisfactory Results of the Year's Operations.

We heartily congratulate the management of the Ontario Mutual Life on the result of the year's operations as shown by the statement presented at the thirtieth annual meeting which took place at the head office, Waterloo on 24th instant and which appeared in the columns a few days ago. The company has recently enlarged its head office building to meet the requirements of its growing business, and we are told that in point of completeness and elegance it compares favourably with our modern city offices. The report presented to the meeting, which was very largely attended, shows that the company enjoyed a most prosperous year, having written no less a sum than $4,751,026 of new insurance, or $1,000,000 more than in the previous year. The income was $1,051,402, or about $3,000 per day while the assets now reach close upon $5,000,000 and insurance in force $26,945,441. After setting aside the large sum of $4,360,098 as reserve for the security of its policy-holders, the surplus over all liabilities is $320,855 upon the company's high standard of valuation (Actuaries' 4 per cent.) and $491,394 if the liabilities were computed on the Government basis. Large gains were made in all respects, and the company is in a position that affords great satisfaction to its patrons. It is proposed to change the name of the company to the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada.

The Company is represented in Peterborough by Mr. W. C. Austin.

THE APPOINTMENTS MADE.

Vacancies in the Customs and Inland Revenue Filled.

Although the Times states who the slims would fall to over a week ago, the official statement was not made till yesterday.

Mr. Robert Hall, Deputy Collector of Customs, is promoted to the position of Collector.

Mr. A. R. Kidd, of Dummer, will get the position of Deputy Collector.

Mr. William Rudkins has been appointed Deputy Collector of Inland Revenue in succession to the late Thomas Cahill.

Street Incident.

"My Dear Sir," exclaimed Lawyer Bartholomew Livingston, meeting the Rev. Dr. Archibald Windham on the village street, "What does this mean? I thought you were laid up with all sorts of bad diseases!"

"And so I was," replied the reverend gentleman, "I had an attack of indigestion and from that time on my whole system has been in a disordered condition until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla which has put me on my feet and cured all my stomach troubles."

"I don't doubt it," said the lawyer. "This same medicine cured my wife of rheumatism and my little girl of scrofula. When they say it's the best medicine money can buy, they only tell the truth."

"Yes, yes, so they do," replied the minister, and the two passed on.

HON. GEORGE M'HUGH.

It is Said That the Lindsay Member is to Enter the Cabinet.

In a recent issue of United Canada, the organ of the English speaking Catholics appears the following—

The story is revived that there will be a shuffle in the Ottawa cabinet before prorogation or immediately after the session, and among other changes, that Mr. George McHugh, M.P. for Victoria, Ont., will succeed Senator Scott as the representative in the ministry of the English-speaking Catholics. Any change, we regret to say, would be an improvement, politically, even if it involved the abolition or absorption of the Department of State.

Our people demand a genuine representative, or none. They prefer being unrepresented to being misrepresented. Further delay can only be interpreted as a challenge to certain elements to get out of the Liberal party if they are not satisfied.

As regards Mr. McHugh, he is certainly a gentleman of the highest character, and is, in many respects, a very remarkable man. After the retirement of Hon. C. F. Fraser, Sir Oliver Mowat favored calling Mr. McHugh to the cabinet, it is said, but yielded to Hon. Mr. Fraser's wishes in the nomination of Hon. W. Harty, of Kingston. Mr. McHugh is a good speaker, a man of excellent judgement and wide information and enjoys the respect and confidence of all classes.

BRITISH AND BOER.

A Fight on Pretoria Night Threshed Out in the Police Court Yesterday

At the Police Court yesterday morning the details of a bloody encounter between a Britisher and a Boer were related. The fight took place on Chambers street on Pretoria night.

Mr. R. S. Davidson, J. P., occupied the Judicial throne, and dispensed even-hand justice to the belligerents.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, who represented the Boer, pleaded eloquently and earnestly for his man. He pointed out that the scrap in question was but an allegorical and theatrical representation of the battles in South Africa, performed for the entertainment of the public, and due to the elevation and likewise consumption of spirits. Perhaps the occasion was such as to warrant more obstreperousness than would be otherwise allowed.

Mr. Stone appeared for the Britisher, and said as it was the day of Pretorious happy and glorious, he was willing to bury the hatchet. He said that his man had captured a large number of laagers that day, and one more Boer was neither here or there.

The Magistrate was willing to dismiss the case right there, but that each pugilist maintained that he was in the right and they could not agree to pay the costs, So evidence was taken and they were discharged oncondition of paying the costs.

HORSE THIEF ARRESTED.

An Indian Rustler Who Was Driving With Another Stolen Horse.

A half breed Indian of apparently between fifty and sixty years of age was in the prisoner' sbox at the police court yesterday morning on the charge of being the men who stole a horse belonging to Mr. Hugh Fife, of Otonabee. He was the man who was arrested at Lornville bu tescaped from custody there. He was overtaken by High County Constable Cochrane about 8 miles north of Brechin with another stolen horse in his possession. He seemed to be making a long distance relay race of it.

At the court when asked his name he replied Isaac Rogers. When asked why he gave his name as Josiah Hill he only blinked. He was remanded till Tuesday.

Distinguished Visitors

Amongst those who took in the Olympic excursion on Thursday was Mr. Geo A. Macdonald, Montreal. This is Mr. Macdonald's second visit to Burleigh and he is delighted with the lakes. He thinks that Stoney Lake has a great future before it. Mr. Mills, of London, England, who has been a guest of Mr. Frank Matthews, took in the excursion, and has nothing but praise for the scenery, which he considers picturesque and beautiful. It was Mr. Chas. Stanley's first trip up, and he was also delighted. All three gentlemen gave expression to their sentiments in short speeches on board the scow on the return trip. They did not forget to remember Mr. Lech, who managed the affair, and also the band, whose music was delightful.

BOXES OF GOLD

Sent for Letters About Grape-Nuts.

330 boxes of gold and greenbacks will be sent to persons writing interesting and truthful letters about the good that has been done them by the use of Grape-Nuts food.

10 little boxes, each containing a $10 gold piece, will be sent to the 10 writers of the most interesting letters.

20 boxes each containing a $5 gold piece to the 20 next most interesting writers, and a $1 greenback will go to each of the 300 next best. A committee of 3 to make decision and the prizes sent on July 2, 1900.

Write plain, sensible letters, giving detailed facts of ill health caused from improper food and explain the improvement, the gain in strength, in weight, or in brain power after using Grape-Nuts food.

It is a profound fact that most ails of humanity come from improper and nonnourishing food, such as white bread, hot biscuit, starchy and uncooked cereals, etc.

A change to perfectly cooked, predigested food like Grape-Nuts, scientifically made and containing exactly the elements nature requires for building the delicate and wonderful cells of brain and body, will quickly change a half-sick person to a well person. Food, good food, is Nature's strongest weapon of defense.

Include in the letter the true names and addresses, carefully written, of 20 persons not very well, to whom we can write regarding the food cure by Grape Nuts.

Almost everyone interested in pure food is willing to have his or her name appear in the papers for such help as they may offer the human race. A request, however, to omit name, will be respected. Try for one of the 330 prizes. Everyone has an equal show. Don't write poetry, but just honest and interesting facts about the good you have obtained from the pure food, Grape-Nuts. If a man or woman has found a true way to get well and keep well, it should be a pleasure to stretch a helping hand to humanity, by telling the facts.

Death of an Old Resident.

On Thursday evening there expired an old resident of North Monaghan, in the person of Mrs. Geo. Rivington. Mrs Rivington had the misfortune to break her arm about three moths ago, and the accident at her advanced age, injured her health and she has been failing since. Mrs. Rivington was seventy-seven years of age and was born in County Cavan, Ireland. Her maiden name was Anne Cunningham. She married Mr. Rivington in Cavan, Ontario, and they lived for some years in Ennismore, removing about twenty years ago to Monaghan where, they have since resided. Mrs. Rivington was well known to many of our older people and highly esteemed by all. Besides her husband three children mourn her demise. They are Richard Rivington, on the homestead, Mrs. W. A. Tully, of Dakota, and Mrs. Howden of Fort Wayne, Ind., who was with her mother the last couple of months. Funeral on to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

A GRUESOME FIND.

A WOMAN'S FOOT FOUND IN A PILE OF BONES

That Were Brought to Mr. George Stevens' Junk Shop—The Bones Were Shipped From Lindsay—Has There Been Foul Play, or is it a Case of Surgery?

While Mr. Wm. Campbell was unloading bones at Mr. Geo. Stevens' bone heap in Ashburnham, he made a gruesome find. It was a human foot, with particles of flesh still clinging to it, as well as the nails on the toes.

The foot was taken by one of the men, who, we understand, still has it in his possession. The heap of bones in which the foot was found is said to have come from Lindsay, but this is only a guess. Mr. Stevens does not appear to know, and it will therefore be a difficult mystery to solve.

If it was a case of surgery, why was the amputated foot not decently buried? The bone occurs to have been cut with a saw, as if done by a surgeon. The foot is that of a woman, and was only recently taken off.

When the Times called up the Chief of Police yesterday he had heard nothing of it. Mr. Geo. Cochrane, the County constable, will no doubt at once make an investigation. The mystery should be cleared up, no matter at what cost.

A PECULIAR CASE.

How a Farmer Near Apsley Lost His Cow Bell.

A rather peculiar case was tried before County Police Magistrate Edmison at Apsley on Friday morning. A farmer named Edward Phillips has been in the habit of allowing his cows to run at large. On the neck of one of them, as is usually the case, a bell was attached, but on a certain day last week the cow came home without the bell, so Mr. Phillips attached another bell to it in the same manner as before, but this bell likewise disappeared. He tried once more. This time he placed the bell on the cow more securely, in order that it could not rub off, although at the same time he had his suspicions, so he says, that the cow bells were removed by a certain neighbor. After putting the third bell on the cow he and a young boy prepared to watch for developments.

They swore that they saw a Mrs. Hallwell watch, whilst one of her boys coaxed the cow with a handful of salt whilst the other cut the strap with which the bell was attached to the cow.

The evidence in the case, in the Magistrate's opinion, did not in any way reflect on the mother, she having sworn that the boy had found the bell. The boy, however, was found guilty, but let go with a warning.

Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the defence.

THE ENEMY DESTROYS LORD ROBERTS' LINES

Railway Reported Almost Completely Destroyed Between America and Roodeval

BULLER REPORTS RETIREMENT OF 2000 BOERS.

Sir Alfred Milner Thanks United States Consul Hay for Kind Attention to British Prisoners at Waterval—Dr. Jameson Will Stand for Cape Parliament.

London, June 10.

The war office has received the following despatch from Sir Redvers Buller; Head quarters in Natal June 10, with reference to my telegram June 8, we failed yesterday to get our trains up the pass which is very steep. I find the enemy were about 200 strong in a very carefully prepared position, which they must have been very disheartened not to have held longer than they did. They have all retired about 26 miles to the northwest. I find our casualties were more than I first thought. They were one officer wounded two men killed and 13 wounded.

London, June 10.

Gen. Sir Forrestier-Walker wires to the War Office from Cape Town under to-day's date as follows—"Information received from natives early yesterday afternoon (Saturday) reports the enemy in three columns near Honing Spruit. The railway has been almost completely destroyed between America and oRodeval.

London, June 11, 3.30 a.m.

The Boers have torn up 21 miles of Lord Roberts line of railway between America and Roodeval. It is a bold raid and a vexation but it does not disquiet the military authorities as yet for they expect Gen. Kelly-Kenny to drive off the marauders and to open the line. The rapidity of the advance of Lord Roberts cannot have permitted him to accumulate large reserve of stores, therefore an interruption of the railway even for a week must embarrass him and may bring the forward operations to a standstill.

Cape Town, June 10.

The British High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner has telegraphed nUited States Consul Hay at Pretoria thanking him for his services in connection with the British prisoners at Waterval. A widespread feeling of gratitude for the good work done by Mr. Hay and also by United States Consul General Stowel here.

Kimberley, June 9.

In reply to a petition to stand for Parliament Dr. Jameson said that he would accept. As everything points to the federation of the different states in South Africa within the Empire in a few years, he will work for the establishment of a great Imperial party under the British flag.

London, June 9.—The silence as to doings in Pretoria since the capitulation five days ago has been explained. In pursuance of their guerilla tactics the Boers of the Free State have cut the telegraph line in rear of Lord Roberts and he is consequently for the time being isolated at Pretoria from the outside world. The point upon which the enemy who are officially estimated to number 2,000 with six guns, made their raid is Roodeval station, forty miles north of Kroonstad, about thirty due west of Heilbron and fifty south of the Vaal river. This attempt of the Boers is a repetition upon the line of communication south of Bloemfontein following the occupation of that place, and has apparently been more successful. Considerable daring has characterized the attempt, for the raiders have inserted themselves between Colville's force at Heilbron and the force left at Kroonstad, rendering themselves liable to be intercepted from two different directions. Bethlehem is the headquarters of this band, just as Ladybrand was the rallying place of the bands which ambushed Broadwood's column at Sanna's Post and snapped up five hundred of Gatacre's men at Reddersburg.

The operations of Rundle, Brabant and Methuen against Bethlehem do not appear to be meeting with swife success, and the Boers in this district are making strong opposition to the British advance. Their motive for this is to be found in the fact that from Bethlehem runs a railway via Harrismith into Natal which would be of great value to the British in future operations, furnishing a connection between the Orange River State and the sea at Durban. That the situation is not a simple one may be gathered from the statement of General Walker that not only has it been necessary for Kelly-Kenny to send reinforcements from Bloemfontein to Kroonstad, but that a force has also been sent north from Cape Town. There is, of course, no doubt, that the line will be cleared in short order. A recurrence of such attacks may be expected, however, as it is likely the Boers will now resort to the plan of campaign laid out by the late Colonel de Villebois Mreuil—a war of ambuscades, captured convoys and interrupted communications.

In Natal, however, are indications that the operations now being conducted by General Buller may bring relief to Lord Roberts in the respects above mentioned. If General Buller succeeds in driving the Boers out of Laing's Nek, as he confidently anticipates, he will be able to push forward into the Transvaal, join hands with Roberts, and give the latter a short line of communication from Pretoria to Durban which can be easily guarded against marauders. The latest despatch of General Buller seems to show an intention on his part to outflank the Boer position at Laing's Nek by forcing a way into the Free State through Botha's pass and the Drakensberg mountains forming the western boundary of the nek of Natal. Should he succeed in doing this he will be in a position to march round the formidable citadels still held by the enemy on the Natal border and thus cause the abandonment of such citadels.

TELEGRAPH LINE HAS BEEN CUT.

London, June 9.—General Forrestier-Walker cables to the War Office from Cape Town, under date of June 8, as follows—

"Kelly-Kenny at Bloemfontein reports that the telegraph has been cut at Roodeval, north of Kroonstad, by a body of Boers estimated to be two thousand strong with six field guns. He is sending strong reinforcements to Kroonstad and I am reinforcing from Cape Colony. I hope the interruption will be only temporary."

SAN HOLD OUT EIGHT WEEKS.

Boers Have Supplies to Enable Them to Resist for This Time.

London, June 8.—London is somewhat annoyed at the "disagreeable activity" manifested by the Boers in the Orange River colony, in cutting Lord Roberts' line of communications at Roodeval, north of Kroonstad. As yet there is no indication whence the strong body of 2,000 Boers arrived at Roodeval, unless it be the force mentioned in a recent Boer despatch as having started from Standerton with this object in view. Roodeval is a fairly strong position capable of giving Gen. Kelly-Kenny cannot be overburdened with which to carry on flanking operations. The news indicates that the menace of the Boers to carry on a prolonged guerilla warfare is no empty threat, and that President Steyn is still capable of creating serious, if only temporary trouble.

A parliamentary return issued this morning shows that 36 members of the House of Lords and 28 members of the House of Commons are serving with the British troops in South Africa.

Advices from Cape Town say the opinion prevails there that the Boer supplies of ammunition and food will not suffice to enable them to prolong the struggle in the Lyndenburg district for more than eight weeks. Cape Town also anticipates that the Boers will be seriously harrassed by the kaffirs.

GENERAL BULLER IS MOVING.

He Thinks He Has Rendered Laing's Nek Untenable.

London, June 9.—General Buller has cabled the War Office that he hopes he has obtained a position from which he can render Laing's Nek untenable. The following is the text of his despatch—

"Yellow Broom Farm, June 8.—On June 6th General Talbot Coke, with the 10th Brigade, and the South African Light Horse, seized Van Wyke Hill. The enemy made some resistance, and a good deal of sniping occurred. Our casualties were about 4 killed and 41 wounded.

"During that day and the following we got two 4.7 and two 12-pounder naval guns onto Van Wyke Hill, and two five-inch guns onto the southwestern spur of Inkewelo.

"Under cover of their fire General Hildyard to-day assaulted all the spurs of the berg between Botha's pass and Inkewelo.

"The attack, which was planned by Hildyard and carried out with immense dash by the troops, for whom no mountains were too steep, outflanked the enemy, who were forced to retire from their very strong position.

"I think we did not have any casualties; and I hope I have obtained a position from which I can render Laing's Nek untenable."

PRISONERS WERE LURED AWAY.

They Were Told That They Would be Surrendered to Roberts.

London, June 9.—From the Pretoria correspondent of the London Express comes a characteristic story of Boer slimness, explaining how a thousand British prisoners were lured away from Waterval. They were informed that they were going to be delivered up to Lord oRberts at Pretoria. They cheerfully entrained, but soon found themselves at Novitgedacht.

The last information received by the Central News shows that Steyn is at Bethlehem. He has a small band of desperate men with him, but the great majority of the burghers in the northeast section of the Orange River Colony appear to be heartily sick of the war.

CANADIANS GET A FURLOUGH.

Investigation of Lord Strathcona Succeeds in Bettering Their Condition.

London, June 9.—Mr. Harold G. Parsons, Federation delegate from West Australia, writes to the morning papers to protest against the treatment given wounded Canadians. He says—

"The invalids at Shorncliffe camp returned from the front complain that they are badly fed, unhealthily crowded, and have been refused a furlough. This seems a curious return to make for their conspicuous services voluntarily rendered. I have it on indisputable authority that it is the practice of the War Office to administer the British volunteer force, and, for all I know, the regular army, by means of regulations, drafted and issued in great part on no better authority than that of its promoted second-class clerks—a body of gentlemen no doubt of irreproachable character, but men by no means adapted by their intelligence or education to be entrusted with so great a responsibility. Such a delegation of authority, which is unconstitutional as well as unbusinesslike, is in itself enough to show that the whole War Office from top to bottom must be reformed if not reconstituted after the war."

IN AID OF CANADIANS.

Cafe Chantant Held in London is to Help Our Men.

London, June 9.—A cafe chantant was held at the Carleton Hotel this afternoon, organized by Mrs. Norman, in aid of the Canadian contingent which has suffered in the war. Lady Randolph Churchill, the Earl and Countess of Chesterfield, the Earl and countess of Yarborough, Miss Muriel Wilson, Mme. Albani, Miss Edna May, Mrs. Langtry, Mrs. Leslie Carter and a host of prominent actresses and musicians assisted in various ways to make the event a great success.

CANADIANS MAY COME HOME.

Montreal Star Cable Says the First Contingent may be released.

Montreal, June 8.—The Star publishes a cable from its special correspondent, W. Richmond Smith, dated Pretoria, June 5, in which he says—

"It is understood that the Royal Canadian Regiment will be released from service here."

GRAND HAVEN TO THE RESCUE.

Grand Haven, Mich., June 9.—The citizens of Grand Haven, after hearing Mr. Wolmaarans, one of the Boer peace delegates, passed a resolution regretting the decision of the United States not to intervene, and declaring that ninety per cent. of the American people disapprove of the war.

BULLER STOOD FIRM.

He Refused a Boer Surrender That Was Conditional.

London, June 9.—A special despatch from Durban, Natal, says the Boers at Thursday, June 7, offered to surrender conditionally, but Gen. Buller replied that their [illegible]

AMERICANS WORN OUT CHASING AGUINALDO.

After a Terrible March in the Mountain Passes Near Aparri, Major March's Troops Reach Manila in a Deplorable State.

Manilla, June 10.—A despatch from Candon, dated June 4, says Major P. C. March's men, of the Thirty-third Regiment, returned to Candon that day by steamer from Aparri. A majority of the men are ready for the hospital. They are thin and weak, having traveled 250 miles in the mountains, during which they suffered greatly from hunger. Of the 50 horses which started with the battalion, 13 survived. The remainder died on the march or fell into canyons. The battalion practically collapsed at Piat, thirty miles from Muguegarao, as the result of fevers and exhaustion. Eighty-seven of the men were conveyed from Piat to Muguegarao in bull carts, and those falling out on the way were carried on litters by the Igorottes with the column.

The officers accompanying Major March were Captains Henry L. Jenkinson and Edward Davis, Lieutenants Carroll Power and Frank L. Case and Dr. John O. Greenwalt, assistant surgeon. They say it is all guess-work as to whether Aguinaldo was shot. Before the Americans struck Sagat the insurgent divided his forces into parties of ten, following different trails. The officer shot was perhaps Aguinaldo's secretary or adjutant. The report among the natives of the region is that Aguinaldo was wounded in the shoulder.

The papers secured show that nearly all the presidents installed by the Americans in General Young's territory are treacherous and have been making regular reports to Aguinaldo of the disposition and movements of the American troops and they have been collecting and forwarding taxes. The captured papers also prove the disloyalty of the native telegraph operators, whom the Americans retained on the Cayagan Valley line. When Tirona surrendered the Filipino forces in that section, these operators professed loyalty and took the oath of allegiance, but it is now shown that they had been sending Aguinaldo copies of important telegrams exchanged between the American officials.

Letters were also found relating to large contributions forwarded to Aguinaldo from Spanish and other foreign business men.

AGUINALDO A FALSIFIER.

Statement in His "True Version of the Philippine Revolution" Contradicted by General Greene.

Washington, June 9.—The President today sent to the Senate a reply to the statements made by Aguinaldo in his "True Version of the Filippine Revolution." In that statement Aguinaldo said, among other things, that the Spaniards had captured six guns from the American soldiers in front of Manila before the surrender of that city to the American forces and that they were recaptured by the Filipinos and returned to the Americans. This statement was referred to General F. V. Greene, who was in charge of the American troops, with the request for an explanation.

General Greene says—"The statements made by Aguinaldo are absolutely without foundation; each and every one of them is untrue; the Americans did not fall back; did not abandon a single rifle or a single field gun; did not make a precipitate retreat; the Filipinos did not rush to our assistance; did not recapture the rifles and field guns and did not return them to the Americans. The Filipinos took no part in the engagements between the Spanish and American troops. Every single statement in the extract quoted in your letter is false."

DIPLOMATIC PRESSURE BEARING ON EMPRESS

The Powers Are Acting in Concert at Present and Marauders Will be Restrained

BRITISH TROOPS AT HONG KONG IN READINESS.

Communications Said to be Passing Between Salisbury and Choate With a View to Joint Action—Tien-Tsin Threatened But War Ships Will Protect It.

London, June 10.

Despatches received at midnight do not alter the summary of the far Eastern situation previously telegraphed; Four provinces are reported to be in rebellion, but there are signs that diplomatic pressure has brought to bear upon the Empress Dowager and that the marauders will be subjected to restraint.

Hong Kong, June 10.

Two hundred and fifty men of the Welsh Fusiliers, with Sappers and Miners have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to proceed north on account of the Boxer disturbance. Their places will be filled by troops from India.

Hong Kong, June 10.

Foreign troops of all arms left for Pekin by two troop trains this morning.

New York, June 10.

The excitement in Japan is raising steadily, it is doubtful whether the transfer of Russian troops from Port Arthur, to Pekin will be tolerated by Japan even if arranged with Great Britain.

New York, June 9.—Describing the feeling in London over the Boxer troubles the correspondent of the World cables that the situation is exciting profound alarm, as the Londoners believe the Boxer movement was instigated reap long-desired advantages in China before the subjugation of the Boers relieves Great Britain of her South African troubles.

It is known in diplomatic circles that Lord Salisbury is using every effort to arrive at an understanding with Russia, but while Russia negotiates she also pushes her advantages in China. It is recognized that if Russia gets a foothold in China under a plea of preserving order she will never withdraw. British occupation of Egypt has set a precedent which will just suit Russia's purposes. Communications have been actively passing during the week between Ambassador Choate and Lord Salisbury. It is understood that while the British Prime Minister is seeking an agreement with Russia he is working at the same time for joint action with the United States as the second string to his bow.

TIEN-TSIN IS THREATENED.

But There are Plenty of Warships to Defend the Place.

London, June 9.—A despatch to The Times from Pekin says that news has arrived that General Nieh's troops have been ordered to return to their camp at Lu-Tai. Their action in firing on the Boxers is condemned by the Government. If this is true, the news must be regarded as serious. The Tsung-li-Yamen denies it, but their denials are never convincing. The American missionary conference last Friday cabled to President McKinley appealing for protection, and stating that the missionaries at Pao-Ting-Fu and elsewhere are in extreme danger. The Tun-Chau mission has been abandoned, and chapels everywhere have been burned. Hundreds of native Christians have been massacred.

The Boxer movement now affects some hundreds of square miles. Official despatches over that the sect is more powerful than any political party in China, embracing no less than 11,000,000 and manipulated by zealous and adroit men.

The conditions prevailing in Pekin are spreading to the provinces. The French Consul at Mong-Tazie and the French agent at Yunnen-Fu have been compelled to retire from their posts, the Viceroy announcing that he was unable to guarantee their safety. The Boxers on Thursday burned the Russian chapel at Tung-Fingan, 35 miles north of Pekin.

The directors of railways admits that the destruction of the lines continues, and it is useless to expect an early restoration of communication.

The storm centre has been transferred to Tien Tsin. The chances are that Pekin may not be attacked and that the Boxers will proceed toward the chief aggregation of foreign interests which is found at Tien Tsin. The naval officers are convinced that Tien Tsin is not in particular danger. A force of 900 men, 600 of whom are British, has been landed and there are 25 warships near by to draw from. Captain McCalla is in command of the 100 American sailors who have been landed at Tien Tsin. It looks as if the powers might stand to-gether. Russia would doubtless immediately guarantee the safety of Pekin were it not for fear of Japan. Japan will fight if Russian aggression continues.

The papers have long editorials on the Chinese situation. The Daily Express blames Sir Claude Macdonald, arguing that he is not strong enough man for the post of British representative at Pekin. The Daily Mail reasserts its position of yesterday, that the United States, as the friend of Russia and Great Britain, would be able to impose order without alliances or jealousies. The Spectator advocates a definite agreement between Russia and England to end the difficulty and opposes any partition of China.

Sir Halliday Macartney, English secretary of the Chinese Legation in London, says that the concerted action of the powers will save the situation in China, adding that the end of the disturbance is in sight, and that soon all will be over.

MISSIONARIES IN DANGER.

New York, June 9.—[illegible] Mission in Pekin district is still in danger, according to a cablegram received yesterday from John W. Henry one of the Presbyterian board's oldest missionaries in China. The Presbyterian board has 58 American missionaries in the Shan Tung province. The American board has also received a cablegram stating that all American missionaries are well, but advising that help be requested from the State Department.

FRANCE IN LINE.

Paris, June 9.—M. Delcasse, Minister of Foreign affairs, stated at a Cabinet council yesterday that Admiral Courrejolles had been instructed to co-operate with the other admirals.

KILL WITHOUT QUARTER.

Moscow, June 9.—A despatch from Pekin says the chief commander of the Boxers, Shun Hung Cheng, a notorious ex-bandit, has issued a proclamation commanding his followers to kill foreign soldiers without quarter. The Chinese soldiery and peasantry in large numbers are joining the ranks of the Boxers.

RUSSIANS BEGAN FIGHTING.

The American Admiral says the Situation is most Critical.

Washington, June 9.—The storm center in China has been transferred from Pekin to Tien Tsin, for the time at least.

Minister Conger will continue in harmony with the "other" foreign representatives in efforts to avert existing dangers and to exact measures which shall prevent their recurrence.

Admiral Kempff cables as follows; "Tong Ku, June 8, 1900. June 3.—Landed forces protected American interests; with consent China; fifty-six Pekin; rest Tien Tsin. Nations sent force both cities; no injury so far. British, Russian and Chinese Admirals and twenty warships here; Crops likely to fail, causing probably more trouble in the near future. Our landing force under McCalla. June 5.—Situation most critical. Russian forces began fighting. I landed fifty more men; have requested interests, or vessel like her. [illegible] battalion marines like her. Consider battalion marines necessary. Need gunboat as base inside. June 6.—Tien Tsin-Pekin railway cut. Will act concert naval forces other powers, protect interests if necessary. Meeting of foreign senior naval officers to-day; present English, French, German, Austrian, Italian, Japanese and American, arrange for combined action to protect life and property if required; 900 men ashore; 25 warships here."

The Helena cannot possibly reach Tien Tsin within six days after leaving Manila, and Admiral Remey has not yet reported her departure, or said whether he has had to summon her from the southern islands.

Much significance was at first attached to the Admiral's statement of June 5th, that the Russians began the fighting, but it is remembered that on June 7, it was possible to assert most positively on Russian assurances given at every capital of the powers that the Russians would not again be the aggressors. Whether this assurance grew out of this occurrence at Tien Tsin, or from the Japanese naval mobilization, or both is an open question. It is now admitted on all hands that within the last two months Russia had brought herself to the point of undertaking to guarantee the safety of Pekin alone, if the other nations had not force at hand to assist.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 11, 1900

RECONSTRUCTION OF SOUTH AFRICA.

It is now admitted on all sides, even by Great Britain's bitter rivals in Europe, that the Boer war is practically over, that further resistance to the military forces in South Africa is futile, that the superior civilized power must triumph over the rabble of burghers who have carried on an ineffective though stubborn defence. With Lord Roberts' troops in possession of Johannesburg and practically knocking at the gates of Pretoria demanding surrender, of what further avail will be a sort of guerilla conflict carried on at the kops with which the country is studded? The Boer commanders are not trained soldiers in the military sense; they are capital fighters with their own peculiar methods, but they are useless in the open veldt away from their rocky fastnesses. On the contrary, the British army can boldly take the field, and by turning and flanking tactics circumvent the enemy, leaving it no hope of ultimate success. All the dismal prophecies uttered by notable critics, such as Herr Jean de Bloch, the celebrated Russian author on military tactics, of the prospective failure of the British, have been falsified by recent event. The certain end is in view, and soon the civil administration must step to the front and take up the situation where the army leaves it. As Herr Bloch naively admits—"In South Africa, as everywhere else on the globe, the higher of two competing civilizations must inevitably oust or absorb the lower; the pastoral phase represented by the Boers must necessarily and speedily disappear before the industrial element imported by the British." Truer words in reference to the struggle now nearly terminated were never uttered.

This much being conceded by all thoughtful writers and critics, what will remain for the British to accomplish is to administer the country soon to be taken over in such a manner that permanent peace and prosperity will take the place of continual friction and hostility. Already the annexation of the Free State has been proclaimed, and a similar proclamation concerning the Transvaal will be put in force as soon as Pretoria passes into British possession. The 'pacification" of the conquered country will not be effected by the sword and the rifle, but by wisely-devised methods, leading to a permanently-established constitutional system. Necessarily, all this will take time to develop, though we may premise that the plans are already in process of preparation. Lord Salisbury's declaration "that not a shred of independence must be left to the Boers" will undoubtedly underlie the constitutional principles to be laid down. It may reasonably be assumed that the entire region taken over from the enemy will be recast into provinces, countries and townships somewhat after the model that Canada presents; that British law, influenced by colonial experience, will be established; that courts of justice, embracing the security of life and property, will be formed; that a system of land tenure will ensure to each landowner his lawful title; that a system of registration of titles to real estate on the Australian "Torrens system" will afford an easy method of ascertaining anyone's ownership and of land transfers. Taxation, general and municipal, will be levied with equity to all; that a system of police in cities, towns and rural districts will ensure protection to life and property.

It may reasonably be assumed that these principles will be carried out on a constitutional basis as soon as they can be declared and put in practice. In short, South Africa will be brought under the ban of modern civilized methods. President Kruger will become an impossible personage in civil affairs. Lord Salisbury has already broadly hinted at coming events by a reference to the necessity of disarming the Boers; but as to the future he limits himself by saying "that the British Government will follow the colonial precedents of a hundred years." which "means a policy of conciliation and of local patriotism, combined with loyalty to the Empire." The native races will be cared for and not enslaved as the Boers have treated them; for, says the British Premier, "our first responsibility will be to protect the native races which have been sorely neglected." That "equal rights" will form the foundation of the new British reconstruction of South Africa we may feel assured. However antagonisti the Boers may just now feel toward British occupation they will eventually submit to superior methods o rule, based on British colonial experience. That they will graduall be absorbed into the general commonwealth appears clear, that is, those who desire to retain their landed possessions. But, should a number "trek" into the uninhabited wilderness of the north to commence anew a separate polical existence they may not be hindered, though they would be carefully watched in the future. A brighter day will soon dawn on South Africa under the British flag—the emblem of liberty, justice and protection to all alike.

THE ELECTION COMMISSION.

We fancy the organs of the political parties can have little to say against the personnel of the commission appointed by the Laurier government to investigate the alleged election frauds in West Huron and Brockville, but we do not imagine the Conservative papers will be particularly enamored with the announcement that earlier elections will possibly be investigated, especially if it should so happen that the commission should take a notion to investigate elections in the order in which they were held, a proceeding which would, of course, bring the two by-elections about which the Conservatives have made their chief charges of corruption, up for investigation only after the earlier elections had been probed.

It is a shrewd political stroke of the premier's, this granting of the commission. Had he refused, as he did refuse for a time, the Tories would have kept reiterating their charges, until, whether true or false, the average man would have believed them true on the broad general principle that if you call a man a liar and a thief often enough your hearers will believe you if the accused takes no steps to clear his name.

But Sir Wilfred having once made up his mind to gratify his opponents' thirst for investigation has apparently made up his mind also to give them such a surfeit of the investigation business that they will be chary about asking for another. If the commission goes as far back as the general elections it will quite possibly find enough corruption at the very go-in to keep it from investigating West Huron and Brockville until after the general elections, which is exactly what the Tories don't want. They want West Huron and Brockville investigated in time to provide them with campaign material, and it's barely possible that the government may manage it just so their Tory friends will be disappointed.

So much for the political side of it. As we have intimated, the personnel of the commission is above suspicion, and the chances are, the rest of us who are not partisans will get an investigation fair enough to suit us, and thorough enough to make Canada an unhealthy place for a few election crooks to live in.

Slow Suicide.

A source of great evil among all workers is the widespread habit of eating a hearty meal hurriedly when the body is in a state of exhaustion. Too often, alas, the evil is enhanced by the fact that the food is innutritious, badly cooked and clogging in itself. This is one species of slow suicide, causing a long train of evils which are usually attributed to overwork. Now, it were better to go without food than to take it under these conditions. Your dog knows better than to eat when he is tired, and if you will watch him you will notice that he is always reluctant to be enticed into play after eating. Left to himself he will take a nap, or at least drop care for awhile and rest. Humanity might raise its standard of health by following the example set by the instincts of the brute creatures.—Health Culture.

Bread in Havana.

Havana's bread carts are usually two legged—that is, bread is carried about the streets in large, shallow baskets borne on top of men's heads. It is served in sticks as long as a baseball bat or in loaves or pones, one of which is supposed to serve for the morning meal of an ordinary citi-

The Marriage Problem

"How to be happy though married," has been entirely solved to the satisfaction of hundreds of thousands of women. There can be no happiness without health. The general health of woman is dependent on the local health of the delicate womanly organs. When there are debilitating drains, or inflammation, ulceration or female weakness, happiness in marriage is practically impossible. A host of happy wives testify that the secret of happiness in marriage is found in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It dries the drains, heals ulceration and inflammation and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

Mrs. Anna Willy, (Michigan House), Northville, Spink Co., S. Dak., writes: "I am enjoying good health, thanks to your kind advice and valuable remedies. I suffered very much with female weakness and other ailments for more than two years, when I wrote to you for advice. After carefully following your advice and taking six bottles each of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' I am now a well and happy women."

Women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Don't let us fuss over this matter, John. Be reasonable now an own up that you're fer Williams."

He fumbled with his hat and kicked the fire.

"Molly," he said, "ef you ain't as good as a mind reader I'll give it up! Course I'm fer Williams fust an last! Durn him!"

Shoes In Olden Days.

Early Britons wore shoes of raw cowhide, with the hairy surface outward. The Anglo-Saxons showed an advance, for they were black and laced by a leather thong. Then came what might almost be termed the bag shoe of the Merovingian period, tied round the ankle, a similar easy sort of covering obtaining in Germany, and so by gradual stages from the mediæval shoes to the poulaine shoes, a queer early German specimen, the band round the ankle being of engraved brass. The Irish shoe of early date is worthy of note, as for many years the Irish went not only barefooted, but barelegged. while their bodies were most gorgeously arrayed.

Short Story of the Day

His Father's Son.

The day so long anticipated had arrived at last, and Neol Sherriff stood, a fully entered student, on the steps of St. Paul's Hospital. His father's stories of the life of the old college had fired the boy's youthful ardor, and away in the plains of India, he had vowed to be a doctor, and to win a place in the I.M.S.

And now, it was as dust in his mouth, for he was alone. In his father's station he had been the pride of the European staff, for no one could beat him in any branch of athletics, but at St. Paul's he was an unnoticed unit.

Presently a man, whom he saw at once was a native of India, came and stood close by his side. Moved by this urgent need of companionship, Sherriff made the first advances.

"I wonder if you feel as lonely as I do?" he asked.

The native turned abruptly.

"I am from India," he replied, a dark flush sweeping over his face as he heard a muttered "Nigger" spoken by one student to another.

"So am I!" exclaimed Sherriff. I'm from Amritsar, where my father is stationed. His name is sherriff, and he is a colonel in the Indian medical. And you?"

"I'm a Hindoo, and my European name is—Pamphlett. But, surely, you won't talk to a nigger!" His tone was acrid with bitterness, and Sherriff looked up in surprise.

"Oh, come, Pamphlett," he said eagerly, "that's not fair. Anyway, let you and I be friends."

"Well, Sherriff," hesitatingly answered Pamphlett, "I am a queer-tempered man; but let it be so."

"Then come and live at my diggings! There's a capital front and back room above my floor, and we can read together comfortably."

"Now, look here, young man," said Pamphlett three weeks later, "it's time we began to read at night. Grinding at the hospital all day won't pass our exams for us, unless we work at night, too. We've seen all the plays, we've visited most of the halls, and you and I have got to buckle to!"

Both men were sitting in Sherriff's rooms smoking, and discussing the events of the day.

"Very well," lazily replied the lad, knocking out the ashes from his pipe. "What do you suggest?"

"Well, we ought to grind up our bones regularly at night before working at St. Paul's for the morning. I'm sick of going out, aren't you?"

"I've got a capital skeleton in a box upstairs," said Sherriff, laughing. "I got it." Then he stopped abruptly, as he caught sight of his companion's look of inquiry. I'll go and turn the box out, it'll save you from buying, for we shan't want two sets."

Pamphlett leaned back in his chair in utter content. Never in all his 33 years of life had he been so fully at peace with all the world as he felt at that moment.

By years of ill-paid drudgery as a lawyer's clerk in Bombay he had scraped together enough money to pay for his medical education, and still leave a surplus for amusements, if he cared to indulge in them. And now he saw the five lean years of tuition provided for, and a companion, sympathetic to a degree, at hand to make the dreary hours slip by. In his way he loved the boy, and had determined to drag him up to the honors to which he himself resolved to attain. Then there was a rap at the door and a man came in.

"Doesn't Sherriff live here?" he asked, in surprise, seeing Pamphlett apparently "at home."

"Yes," was the reply. "Come in. He'll be down in a minute or two."

The stranger came in and sat down.

"Comfortable rooms these," he remarked. "Do you share them with Sherriff?"

The momentary content was gone, and the native was on guard again. The emphasis on the you made him quiver in impotent rage. A hot reply was on his tongue when his friend hurried in, carrying a long box in his arms.

"Hallo, Fred!" he cried in delight. "This is good. Don't go, Pamphlett," he urged, as his roommate stood by the door. "At least, if you do, take along this box with you, and see if the bones are all there. If not, we must buy some more. Let me introduce you," he whispered.

"I'll come up later. By-by," was all the reply, as, box in hand, he left the room, and the door closed behind him. Often now, as he drives the patient bullocks in his paddy-fields in India, he sees the lamp-lit room of his fancy, with the boy standing by the door.

Gloomily enough he went to his sitting-room and lit a candle, while he opened the box and turned the bleached bones out with a rattle on the table.

The skull rolled toward the edge and he hastily placed his hand on it, and raising it up, gazed absently at it. Suddenly his face grew green, while his pupils contracted and expanded as he watched with a horrible fascination the shining bone. There, on the vortex, were two deep cuts crossing each other.

"By Sivajee!" he murmured in Hindustanee. "My father was left for dead by two such cuts."

"My father had a badly-set left arm."

Then, unwillingly, as if dragged on by an unseen power, he crept around the table and laid his hand on one of the arm bones. With a low cry of horror he fell half fainting into a chair.

"My father left us," he moaned, still in the language of his thoughts, "to go on a pilgrimage to give thanks for his recovery. He never returned, and now this cursed Feringhi makes a by-word and a reproach of him. May every curse light on his head!"

Salaaming almost to the ground before the table, Pamphlett gathered the ends of the tablecloth together so that they covered the grim relics, and then, lifting up the burden reverently, he placed it in the box. Then, resting his head on his hands, he wept silent, awful sobs.

"O, my father!" he said, his voice growing firmer, "to thee I dedicate this outcast's life, if by any foul play he has become possessed of thy sacred bones! To thee I dedicate my own life, and, thy vengeance satisfied, I will take thee to the banks of sacred Ganges, and there fulfil the last rites of our religion. But, O, most holy one, let me first try the young Feringhi, for I have loved him, and, perchance, he may be innocent of this dread thing."

"Pamphlett! Pamphlett!" cried Sherriff from below, aren't you coming down? I've ordered in the coffee. Come on!"

The man rose, once more salaamed at the box, now resting on a chair, and then slowly went down stairs.

"It was mean of you to run away, Pamphlett. I particularly wanted you to meet Dick Jervoise. He wondered why you wouldn't stop."

"He wondered why I was here," moodily replied his companion. And you know my prejudices. By the way, where did you get your bones. Did you buy them?"

His voice was so free from the least eagerness that Sherriff was thrown off his guard. Besides, he was bursting to tell the story, and only his feeling for Pamphlett's nationality had made him refrain earlier. His face lit up with a sudden smile.

"Well, it's too bad for me to spin a yarn against myself, but here goes. About three years ago, just before my father had decided to make me a doctor when I was old enough, I was walking near the great trunk road near Amritsar. Lying in the long grass, about 20 yards from the track, I found a dead pilgrim, almost dried to a mummy. He might have been there for years, for all I knew, as the undergrowth was thick and tangled, and it was no use making any inquiries about him. Then, thinking that later on I should require a skeleton—"

Had Sherriff looked up at that moment, he would have died then and there, for Pamphlett was crouched in his chair like a tiger about to spring. For a moment the extremity of his rage made the oriental forget his native caution; but he recovered himself and said, in gutteral tones—

"But the man was on a holy errand, and, at least, should have been respected on that account."

"Yes, you're quite right, and I wish I hadn't done it," cried the boy, dimly conscious that his story had fallen wofully flat. Tell you what, we won't use the poor old chap at all. Ugh! You've given me the creeps, Pamphlett! I think I'll turn in now."

"Yes; usual time in the morning, I suppose?" said the native, too busy with his pipe to notice Sherriff's hand; and then, jumping up, he left the room without another word.

A month later Noel Sherriff was tossing restlessly on a bed of sickness. His pinched face and blue lips told eloquently enough of the severity of his symptoms, and his nurse and his doctor shook their heads despondingly over his case.

But it was Pamphlett who sat up at night, and who hovered around the sick bed by day, taking his rest by snatches when he could. It was to Phamphlett that the sick boy turned for amusement and for solace, and so far the native had not failed him.

He would sit at the bed side and watch his companion with a placid smile on his face, as one who is well content, and those in the sick room wondered at the devotion of the man.

One afternoon, whilst in his usual position, he heard strange footsteps ascending the stairs, and he rose softly and went down to the door. A stout, red-faced man was panting for breath on the landing, too breathless to speak.

"I fear you have made a mistake," queried the native.

"No, I think not," was the reply. "I believe your name is Pamphlett, is it not?"

"Yes."

"And you have your homemate ill, have you not?" He spoke as one having authority, and the native nodded.

"My name is Sumpter, surgeon to the hospital for tropical diseases. Dr. Jones asked me to see your Sherriff, as he, was not at all sure of the cause of the illness which is killing the lad."

The black eyes and the gray eyes met in ardent conflict, and the black gave down before the gray.

"I'll join you in the room below," said Sumpter, with a tightening of the lips, "when"—and he emphasized the word—"I have finished my examination."

Pamphlett stood aside to let his master—for such he felt him already to be—pass in; and still more thoughtfully he went to the appointed place, and waited for long minutes with what patience he could muster. Presently the heavy tread warned him that the moment for battle had come, and he braced himself for the fray.

Dr. Sumpter looked in, and, seeing the silent man waiting, he carefully closed and locked the door behind him. Taking out the key, he went to the fireplace and began warming his hands.

"Now, Mr. Pamphlett," he began, dominating the room from the hearth rug, "the case upstairs is exceedingly interesting to an old Anglo-Indian surgeon. The boy is suffering from what we used to call 'semana cholera."

The native paled, and his hands clenched and unclenched, signs not lost by the inquisitor, who towered above him.

"It appears from the history of the case that the lad's symptoms began three weeks ago, and he seems to think that some curry he ate was the origin of his troubles. He says that it didn't agree with him, and I can quite believe that." (But never a word spoke Pamphlett.) A curious thing I found out, and that was, by an error on the cook's part, only enough curry for one was sent up. By a little questioning I found out that you and he tossed for it, and, curiously enough, you lost, Mr. Pamphlett. Now, the only point on which I am in the dark is. Did you give him powdered glass, finely-cut-up camel's hair or bamboo chips, eh?"

The voice was so cold and yet so merciless in its directness that sullenly enough the native surrendered.

"Camel's hair!" he said, between his teeth.

"And so you've taken up with an English lad who in the goodness of his heart makes a friend of you, which not one in a thousand would, and you poison him! You lived together, worked together, and yet you poison him. You act the nurse by night and day and spend your strength lavishly, and yet"—he paused, and his words cut like knives—"you poison him. I know your race thoroughly. Few do, I admit, but I do; and, by my father's soul, there isn't another cur like you from one end of India to the other!"

In silence the native heard this stinging reproof, and insensibly he dropped into the attitude of appeal all natives assume when before the European. His head was bent, and he stood with his hands crossed on his breast.

"O, my father and mother!" he began, in Hindustanee, dropping at once the European metaphor, and assuming the picturesque native idiom, 'the words of wisdom have indeed fallen from thy lips. It is given to the protector of the poor to know the inmost thoughts of his servant, and foolish would thy slave be to hide anything.

"Thy servant had a father, who was far above all other persons in kindness and in his care for his children. Ten years ago he was nearly killed by wicked men, who cut his head with a sword and broke his arm most evilly. When in time he recovered he left us with his blessing and went to a holy shrine to return thanks for his recovery.

"On the way Azrael touched him and, laying himself down in the long grass at the roadside, he went to his gods in silence. After several years the accursed Feringhi, now lying upstairs, passed by and found the poor remains of the holy pilgrim.

"Did he pass by in reverence? No! O powerful one! He picked up the bones of my father and made them a byword and a scoff. He was of a different faith from our people; but he did not even respect our feelings.

"The boy was my friend—was the only one of his accursed race to hold out the hand of fellowship; but he died in truth when I saw my father's bones thrown carelessly out of a box on to my table. But for the mercy of the gods—but for the dreadful marks on the sacred bones—I might have done foul irreverence to my own father.

"Your high honor would have slain the infidel on the spot; not so your servant. He administered the poison to satisfy the spirit, wandering now a homeless phantom until scared rites are fulfilled. It is finished!"

Sumpter had said nothing, but the severity had gone from his face as he listened to the passionate words. He knew the oriental, and even his broad views had been shocked by the desecration.

"Go!" he said, after a pause; take your relics—take your books and your goods and go to holy Ganges. Burn there the unburied bones, and then return to your village. Do not attempt to come back, for the arm of the law is long and strikes certainly, if it be slow. Go!"

"But what—"

Sumpter read the native like an open page.

"He will recover. Of that I am sure, else I had not let you depart. Go! I take back what I said; you had cause. You were your father's son. Go!"

Pamphlett salaamed, as to his holiest shrine, and then silently left the room, whilst the old doctor stood by the fire wondering.

"Hunger is the Best Sauce."

Yet some people are never hungry. Whatever they eat has to be "forced down." There is, of course, something wrong with these people. By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a short time they are given an appetite and then they enjoy eating and food nourishes them. If you find your appetite failing, try a bottle of Hood's It is a true stomach tonic and every dose does good.

Christian Science Wonders.

Boston, June 9.—Four thousand people crowded into Tremont Temple last night, and an overflow meeting was held in Lennier Hall, to close the Christian Science convention.

One woman told about a deaf and dumb boy, who began his education in an asylum for the deaf and dumb. His first treatment by Christian Science was given to him by the sign language. Soon after his hearing began to come to him, and she gave a graphic story of his delight when he first heard the birds sing. "A week ago," she concluded, "I heard him talk in meeting."

WE CAN SHIP ORE

We have received our Superintendent's Report and find we can ship ore if we want to—but we won't yet. It won't be good mining. Why, we will tell you if you like!

He has been up to the Nettie L. and Siver Cup studying indications and finds that

We have better indications all round, and more ore showing up on surface and more ore underground than either had with same amount of work, and that we gain depth twice as fast as they do, and that when ore shows at or near the surface it continues down, and that it took 900 feet of tunnel on Cup to give 300 feet of depth, and that we can get same depth with 300 feet of tunnel, and that we can take out ore when we like!

Knowledge of our strike is spreading and orders for the Special Issue at .15 per share are coming in from all over, both from States and Canada. We have averaged over $1,000,00 a week in sales lately, so if you want any before we ship you had better get it now, You can't get it after!

The original letter is on file at our office and can be seen by interested persons.

To Camp At Cobourg.

The Toronto Battalion of the Boys' Brigade has made arrangements to go into camp at Donegon Park, Cobourg, on June 29th. They will muster 600 strong, and will be joined by the Cobourg Company, and probably by companies from Oshawa and Whitby. They will be reviewed on July 1st and July 4th. Colonel Hamilton will be in command.

Public Institution.

A deputation of Provincial ministers and others inspected the old college buildings at Cobourg for the purpose of having these buildings converted into an asylum. It is expected that the buildings will be ready for use by November. It is estimated that the establishment of an asylum at Cobourg will necessitate an expenditure of $60,000 annually. Now that Mr. Stratton is in the Cabinet, it would be a good time to ask for some of these good things for Peterborough.

A Young Man Drowned

William Goodwin, a young man of about twenty years of age employed in the Rathbun Lumber Co. drive, now in Horse Shoe lake, fell from the crib some time during the night, and being unable to swim, was drowned. His companions were asleep at the time and if he made any outcry it was unheard. His body was recovered. Goodwin, it is said belongs to Peterborough.

A Presentation.

The employees of the moulding department of the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co., presented Mr. Wm. Rudkins, superintendent of the department, with a handsome gold headed cane on Saturday. Mr. Rudkins is leaving the lock works to assume the position of Deputy Collector of Inland Revenue, and the employees took the occasion to express to him the esteem in which he was held. The regret of the men at separation was conveyed with the token and Mr. Rudkins in return thanked them most heartily for their good will and kind wishes.

Tramps Beware.

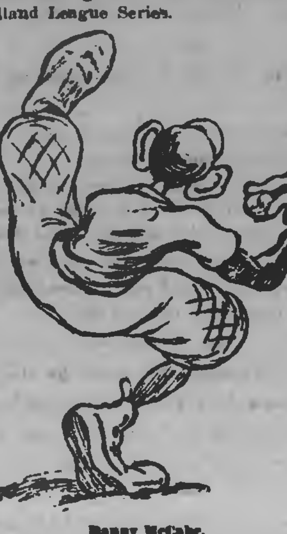
The superintendent of the C. P. R. has notified all agents, operators, roadmasters and section foremen to keep a lookout for tramps. For the purpose of ridding the country of this undesirable class, it has been arranged with the authorities in Ontario to send officers over the lines to arrest tramps found on trains or about station premises. The agents are to report every day the presence of tramps.

This round is to be played off by [illegible].

THE BASEBALL GAME ILLUSTRATED.

Peterborough Wins by Six Runs to Three—An Excellent Game, Furnishing a Good Afternoon's Sport.

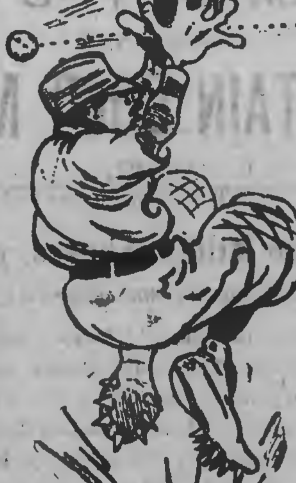
There was a ball game Saturday afternoon on the P. A. A. A. grounds across the river, a number of young men, known as the Lindsay Base Ball Club journeyed to town to play the second home game in Peterboro of the Midland League Series.



Danny McCabe.

Earls says to Dan: Twist 'em around his neck! and Dan immediately proceeded to twist in above highly artistic manner.

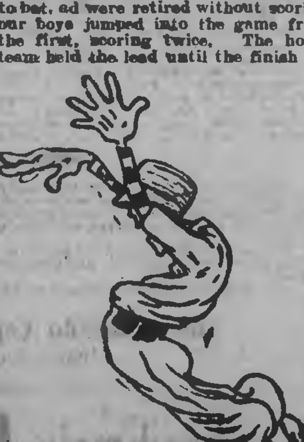
The Times artist having learned that "Chris Graham's" pets were going to play, hurriedly gathered up his sketching material and following the crowd proceeded the scene of action, you will notice the result of his labors. These pictures are pen and ink sketches and are true to life showing several of the players as they appear on the diamond want of space prevents us from giving the sporting public the whole team, but we will endeavor to get the remainder next game, so that the man who never attends a game will understand that he is missing a wonderful acrobatic performance and ball game combined.



Lindsay's second base man, in his frantic endeavor to locate the ball.

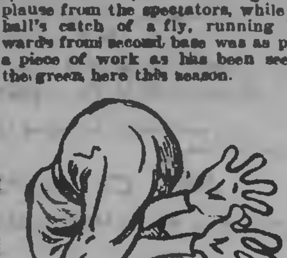
The home team won the game by superior play, and are justly entitled to all credit, they batted well and the infield played far differently from last week. The contrast was very noticeable.

In the first innings the visitors went to bat, ad were retired without scoring our boys jumped into the game from the first, scoring twice. The home team held the lead until the finish although the score was always close enough to give Lindsay a chance, and hold the interest of the spectators.



Joe Guerin, in his wonderful acrobatic rag time coaching. He was a tower of strength to Peterboro.

Clark Earls' hit over the fence was a noticeable one, and drew a great applause from the spectators, while Mulhall's catch of a fly, running backwards from second base was as pretty a piece of work as has been seen on the green here this season.



This is Art. Thompson's error that allowed Lindsay to score, otherwise he played a good game

The score is as follows;—

Peterboro	2	0	0	2	0	1	0	1	*
Lindsay	0	1	0	0	2	0	0	0	0
Total									6—3

Referee R. A. Kenner,

"Chris Graham" also played ball with great judgment, our artist failed to secure "Chris" owing to his very fast foot work.

The bleachers were fairly well filled a large number of ladies being present Base Ball is fast gaining favor with the fair sex in Peterboro.

The more enthusiastic of the fans found seating accommodation around the fence close to the home plate, the sheds and fences in the vicinity held their usual number of small boys.

Dan McCabe is the same steady old veteran, and those who thought his days were over were much mistaken as all will admit after Saturdays game Dan has been on the diamond about twelve years, in fact he was playing ball when most of the present team were looking for a hole in the fence from which to view the game.

A NEW POWER SCHEME.

An Estimate Being Prepared for Putting in a Big Power Plant.

The Times was favored with a call on Saturday from Mr. W. J. Linton, of the Taylor Hydraulic Air Compressing Company, of Montreal, and the Continental Pressed Air Power Company, of Philadelphia. Mr. Linton is preparing estimates for a plant in this place. This new force is sure to come to the front, as it is clean, and unlike electric power, never fails. In some places the power is supplied in pipes laid under ground, and tapped just as gas mains are tapped, the compressed air being run into engines the same as steam. The power is very cheap, Mr. Linton instancing one plant in a small town that cost $54,000 bringing in a revenue of some thousands of dollars per month. It is the proper power for street railways, the power being placed in tubes under the cars.

Mr. Linton hopes to have a private plant installed here, when the advantages of the new power will be fully demonstrated, and in which case it is possible that the electric railway will be transformed, and the cars fitted up with compressed air engines.

EATS ANYTHING

Since leaving off Coffee.

"I wish to give my experience with coffee for the benefit of other people. I used coffee for several years and was a terrible sufferer from dyspepsia. The doctor told me not to use coffee or tea, and put me on a light diet, and I felt better.

"Then I commenced to drink coffee again and I had the same trouble come on.

"One day I told a friend about it, who said if I would stop drinking coffee altogether I would feel better, and advised me to use Postum Food Coffee in its place.

"I tried the Postum but did not like it, so I told him about it and he said I didn't cook it right, that is, didn't boil it enough and that I should use cream instead of milk, and to make sure I would use it, he sent a package to the house.

"After I used that package. I would have no more coffee in the house. Now I don't know what it is to have dyspepsia and I can eat anything. I also give Postum to my two children and they are the healthiest children you could find anywhere. The youngest is a boy 13 months old and we have been giving him Postum for seven months, three times a day. He weighs 30 pounds, and I know that Postum is what keeps both of them so healthy.

"I think all people who have dyspepsia get it from coffee drinking.

"Yours Truly, Mrs. Jno. Stringer, 20 S. Florida Ave., Atlantic City, N. J.

KILLED IN LINDSAY.

Jack Poole, of the Lindsay Light and Power Co., Instantly Killed.

The citizens were shocked Friday morning by the news that Jack Poole, Engineer at the William street station of the power transmission plant had been killed by coming in contact with a live wire carrying 1000 volts of the electric energy generated at Fenelon Falls.

It was about 10.30 when the accident became known. Poole had been busy cleaning up the premises, considerable litter having accumulated as a result of the removal of the huge Wheelock engine the previous evening. Messrs. Walt. Reesor, Max. Clendenan and W. Walker had been in and out of the station several times prior to 10 o'clock for various implements, being engaged in changing wires leading to the station. About 10.15 young Clendenan made another visit and on opening the door found the room filled with smoke and an odor positively sickening. Walker was close by, and when Clendenan shouted "Hurry up—the place is on fire!" he rushed to the station and entered. Poole was not to be seen. Clendenan passed behind the panels of the switchboard, and next moment he shouted to Walker, "Poole is in here—tell Walker." Walker then disconnected the switch regulating the 1,000 volts being transmitted from Fenelon Falls, while Clendenan dragged the apparently lifeless body of the engineer from behind the panels into the large engine room close by.

A few minutes later Dr. Jeffers arrived and was followed by Drs. Gillespie, Poole and McAlpine. They applied all known means of restoring animation, and kept up their labors for over half an hour, but without effect.

The unfortunate man had been in the employ of the Light, Heat & Power Co. for about a year and a half, and understood his business thoroughly. He was about 30 years of age, and unmarried. How he came to receive the shock is mere conjecture. In the far corner of the space behind the panels was a folding stepladder usually stored in the engine room, and when Mr. Walt. Reesor entered the station about 8 o'clock the ladder was standing in the passage near the telephone room. About 9.30 or 9.40 Mr. Jack Sadler rang up from the Fenelon Falls power house, and was answered by Poole. It is supposed that when coming out he picked up the ladder and decided to store it where found. In turning around he must have tripped and fallen against the bus bars, thus meeting death in an instant of time. As the bars are attached to the panel about 4 ft. from the ground the deadly current must have held him upright, as his shirt caught fire and the flesh across the shoulders was burned and charred. When found he was lying in a heap on the floor.

BRITISH REGIMENT IS DECIMATED BY BOERS!

Derbyshires Lost Seventeen Killed and Seventy-Seven Wounded at Roodeval.

THE ENTIRE BATTALION SAID TO BE CAPTURED.

Boers Could Not Face Buller's Heavy Artillery Brought Smartly into Action, and They Were Compelled to Abandon a Pass They Intended Occupying.

London, June 11.—Lieutenant-General Sir Ffederick Forestier-Walker in command of the lines of communication in South Africa, reports that in the disaster to the British troops on June 7, at Roodeval, where the Boers cut Lord Roberts' line of communication the fourth battalion of the Derbyshire regiment lost heavily. Two officers and 15 men were killed and five officers and 72 men were wounded, many of them severely. Many were taken prisoners. The Boers returned the wounded to the British. The officers killed were Lieutenant-Col. Baird-Douglas and Lieutenant Hawley. The wounded include Col. Wilkinson and Lieut. M. G. Blanchard of the 5th R. C. A., belonging to "A" company of British Columbia and Manitoba .

BULLER IN ORANGE RIVER STATE.

London, June 11, 10.30 a.m.—The following report from General Buller has been issued by the war office;

"Headquarters in Natal, June 11.—.The force concentrated on the Klip River at its junction with the Gansvlei last night. We anticipated at that defile a force of the enemy about 3,000 strong, who had, I think, intended to occupy it and who retired as soon a sour heavy guns opened, which were very smartly brought into action by Major May of the Royal Artillery and and Captain Jones of the Royal Navy.

"The South African Light Horse and the Second Cavalry briogade were smartly engaged while covering our left front.

"Our casualties are about six killed and seven wounded."

WILL REMAIN AT THE FRONT.

Ottawa, Ont., June 11.—The Militia Department does not credit the cable despatch from South Africa to the Montreal Star o. Saturday stating that the Royal Canadian Regiment had been ordered home in consequence of the closing of the war. The Canadians will probably be kept at the front until all the figthig is over.

THE OFFICIAL DESPATCH.

Story of the Losses in the Disaster at Roodeval Station.

London, June 11.—General Forestier Walker's despatch in full is as follows;

"Cape Town, June 10, Sunday.—The following telegram has been received from Charles Knox;

"Kroonstad.—The following casualties, reported from Roodeval, June 7.—Received from Stonham, commanding the Imperial Yeomanry Hospital, dated Rhenoster River, June 8, received here by flag of truce June 10; The fourth battalion of the Derbyshire Regiment the Sherwood Foresters;

"Killed, Lieut-Col. Baird-Douglas and Lieut. Hawley and 15 of the rank and file.

"Wounded, Col. Wilkinson, Capt Bailey, Lieuts Hall, Lawder, and Blanchard, and 59 of the rank and file; the Shropshire Light Infantry, 1; Cape Pioneer Railway Regiment, 7 ammunition park, Royal Marines, and Imperial telegraphs, one each; postoffice corps, 1.

"Stonham reports that many were severely wounded and the remainder of the fourth Derbyshire and details of prisoners except six of the rank and file, are in camp. All the wounded are in the camp lately occupied by the Fourth Derbyshire. Enquiries are being made as to the names."

METHUEN HAS BEEN FIGHTING

He Engaged the Enemy on June 8, Near Heilbron.

London, June 11.—A despatch from Gen. Forestier-Walker says;

"Cape Town, June 10. — Sunday.—Kelly-Kenny reports from Bloemfontein this morning that Methuen with the greater part of his division, was fighting early in the morning of June 8 ten miles south of Heibron, where Colville was reported to be with the Highland brigadde. Methuen left Lindley June 5, with ample supplies for self and Colville, leaving Paget to hold Lindley with a sufficient force and supplies.

"Kelly-Kenny has ordered Knox to press in the enemy's strength to be exaggerated.

"All is quite and there is no anxiety as regards to district to south. Communications north of Kroonstad have been cut since June 6."

BULLER ARMISTIC WITH BOTHA.

Boers Refused to Surrender and Accept Buller's Terms.

London, June 11.—A belated despatch from Mount Prospect, via Newcastle Natal, dated Thursday, June 7 throw light on the report ofan armistic agreed upon between the British and Boers recently. It appears that General Bulle met Gen. Christian Botha on June 2 at O'Neil's farm between Umguela and Majuba, and summoned Botha to surrender. Gen Botha said he was not empowered to accede to the demand .

General Buller replied, "Very well," and turned to go away, when General Botha pressed him to make a proposal Gen. Buller said he had no proposal to make, but pointed out that the Boers were surrounded and referred to the uselessness of shedding unnecessary blood.

"What do you want us to do?" asked Gen. Botha beseechingly.

"Return to your farms leave your big guns, and await Lord Roberts' decision," replied General Buller.

The Federal commandant said he would refer the question to the burghers.. Gen Buller then acceded to Gen Botha's appeal for an armistic until daybreak June 6, showing that the Boer reprort of General Buller having requested an armistic to have been incorrect.

The despatches adds that the Federals are understood to have twenty three guns in positions but it is doubtful if htey can remove them. Their only line of retreat is in the direction of Lydenburg . .

WHAT THE A. P. SAYS.

American Agency Tries to Make the Situation Look Serious.

London, June 11.—ehT news that the shutting off of Lord Roberts' communication with the outer world was accomplished by such a serious loss came like a bolt from a comparatively clear sky. In London, until the news came it had been thought thatt he destruction of the railway was accomplished by Free Staters, who were avoiding the British detachments stationed at the point attacked; nor are Gen. Forestier-Walker's vague statements regarding Methuen and the situation at Heilbron looked upon as reassuring. The Boers appear to be in sufficient strength to separate all the British forces north and south of a line stretching some fifty miles between Roodeval and Heilbron. Methuen's march upon the latter place seems somewhat in the nature of a movement for the relief of Colville. The only British officer left at Roodeval appears to be the doctor in charge of the hospital, which is full of wounded.

The Ministerial caucus at Cape Town has resulted unfavorably to Premier Schreiner, only gen supporting him, and Mr. Sahreiner has given notice of his intention to resign. The question at issue is Mr. Schreiner's desire to introduce immediately bills punishing the colonial rebels, and indemnifying the Government for acts committed under martial law.

There is no further word of Gen. Buller's progress.

Reports from Maseru, Basutoland, June 9, say the Boers around Ficksburg refuse to surrender, and severe fighting is expected, though a despatch of June 8 from Hammonia, which is only a few miles from Ficksburg, says the situation in the southeast corner of the Orange Colony is unchanged; that Gen. Rundle has received the Boer delegates sent to negotiate peace terms, and that the result of the negotiations is not known.

BOER TACTICS CLEVER.

Six British Columns are left Without a Leader.

London, June 11.—The break in the communications is rather serious when Lord Roberts army is dependent upon the railway for supplies. The Boer commandos in the Free State, commanded by Generals Dewet and Olivier, probably muster about 5,000 men. Opposed to them there are about six divisions, exclusive of the troops lining the railway. General Colville, with the ninth division is at Heilbron; Lord Methuen with the first at Lindley; Gen. Chermside, with the third at Kroonstad; Gen Rundle and Brabant with the eighth and the colonial division, at Fiksburg; Gen. Clements with the twelfth brigade at Senekal, and Geueral Kelly-Kenny with another brigade of the sixth and probably other forces, at Bloemfontein. There must be 30,000 British troops available for operations against Generals Dewet and Olivier, ad each of these six columns is too strong to be attacked .

Only two of these six columns are supplied directly by the railway, and the remaining four are either dependent upon convoys or are endeavoring to live off the country. The difficulties of transport were serious enough for these scattered forces, and when Lord Roberts was cut off from communica with Kroonstad there were six Generals awaiting orders and there was probably in supreme command in the Free State. There is no official news from any of these columns. General Dewet could hardly have hit upon cleverer tactics for throwing the British plans into confusion.

HUNTER AT VENTERSDORP.

The General is no Doubt Making Towards Potchefstroom.

Lichtenburg, June 11.—General Hunter's advance column occupied Ventersdorp to-day, the Boers quietly surrendering in small bodies. Considerable looting had been done. Colonel Mahon's column has rejoined General Hunter.

Ventersdorp is about half way between the Cape Colony western border line and the main Transvaal railway line. It is on the road to Potchefstroom which place General Hunter is no doubt making for.

CABLE FROM THE QUEEN.

Her Majesty's Reply to Congratulations From Canada.

Ottawa, Ont., June 11.—Her Majesty Queen Victoria has sent the following cable to His Excellency the Governor-General in reply to congratulations sent after the fall of Pretoria—"Grateful thanks for kind congratulations on this most satisfactory event."

VICTORIA, R. I.

BULLER IN FREE STATE.

Story of the Fight Which he Waged in the Passes.

London, June 11.—Nothing has been heard from Lord Roberts for three days; This raid on the railway, the strenuous opposition to General Rundle and the nimble escape of Commandant-General Botha's division forced the War Office observers to the reluctant conclusion that the war is not yet over, although even the occasional civilian Boer sympathizer cannot see how the Boers will be able to do anything to change the result.

General Buller is in Boer territory. Despatches of correspondents with him filed yesterday at sunset describe the corps as camping at Gansolei, close to the point where the frontiers of the Free State, 'the Transvaal and aNtal meet. "The British marched eight miles yesterday," says a Reuter correspondent, "before encountering any opposition. The Boers, who had one gun, withdrew under heavy ordnance fire to a ride just ahead of the camp."

This long range running skirmish will doubtless be renewed this morning. Gen. Buller is expected to make rapid progress now, and to throw the weight of 20,000 enm into Lord Roberts' Transvaal combinations.

The fighting on June 6, in which there were fewer than twenty casuatlies, was kept up all day long by musketry and artillery. The British attacking line three miles in length made its way amid the precipitous hills. A Boer gun on Spion Kop fired shrapnell rapidly at a range of K400 yards at the British right flank, but every shell was buried in the ground before bursting. The defensive power of modern weapons seems less effective in rough country than upon levels, where wide spaces can be covered with flat trajectories.

Gen. Rundle's and Gen Brabant's divisions are atioll at Hammonia, in the Ficksburg district. The latest intelligence from their headquarters is that the Boers are determined to fight to the bitter end. They are concentrating 4,000 men around Bethlehem. The country between them and Gen Rundle is mountainous and resembles northern Natal in being exceedingly difficult for military operations. Gen. Rundle's present care is to prevent the Boers getting past him southward. Major Wood of Rundle's staff rode to a Boer outpost on June 6, and announced that Pretoria had been occupied by the British. How the Boers received this news is not recorded. Altogether 600 Boers have surrendered to Gen Rundle.

General Hunter's advance has occupied Ventersdorp, one hundred miles southwest of Pretoria. This took place on June 7. General Plumer's column is on the Eland's River, northwest of Pretoria. The British are sending detachments right and left to accept the surrenders of commandoes, horses cattle and forage and to over-awe the sparsely settled country. Thus far only one small commando has been heard of, a commando at Tail Basch. Gen Hunter's immediate object is Potchoftroom. This town and Rustenburg are the largest towns west of Johannesberg, It is reported that Rotchofstroom is ready to submit. General Hunter has warned all burghers that if the telegraph is cut between him he will send back and burn the houses near the line.

BOERS WILL NEVER BE CONQUERED.

Envoy Wessels Says That the Burghers Will Now Pursue the Tactics Adopted by the Filipinos.

Chicago, June 11.—The Boer envoys arrived here this morning, but the welcoming words of the reception committee were half lost in the shouts of the newsboys crying—"All about Pretoria surrendered." Mayor Harrison headed the reception committee, which accompanied the Boers to the Auditorium Annex. The party consists of A. Fischer, C. H. Wessels, A. D. W. Wolmarans, Montagu White, Secretary de Bruyn and Mrs. Fischer.

At the hotel Mr. Wessels was shown the Associated Press despatches announcing the fall of Pretoria. He read them through very carefully. "It is true. There can be no doubt of that," he said, slowly, as he read the last words. "It means," he continued, "that organized resistance on a large scale will no longer be the problem presented to Lord Roberts in South Africa. It means that from now on the burghers will pursue much the same tactics adopted by the Filipinos. We may surrender, but we will never be conquered. Pretoria was well fortified, but our generals saw it was useless to stand a siege when they had but 5,000 men to combat the enemy's 60,000.

"They have withdrawn in good order, no doubt, and are still able to fight. And Pretoria has been saved from a bombardment which would have wrecked it. Think. Lord Roberts has with him twice as many fighting men as there are men, women and children in Pretoria. Was it not wise, then, to retreat in the face of such odds?

"I half expected there would be a battle outside of the city. Still, I am not surprised. Doubtless the situation has changed considerably since I left.

"The outcome of a guerilla warfare, generally, is not in favor of the guerillas. But in our case we hope for a change in European affairs which will aid us. If we are still able to fight and the European nations become involved over some question—China, for instance—I have no doubt that the Transvaal can get the best of terms, probably their independence.

That the Boers, as you call us, although we call ourselves Afrikanders, are good fighters, the world realizes. Hardly a battle has been fought in which we have not been outnumbered twenty to one, and we have not lost a gun. Can the British say as much?

"Concerning our reception in this country I will say that the envoys are convinced that nine-tenths of the people are in sympathy with our cause and believe it to be just.

"You do not now expect any country to interfere with the English?" Mr. Wessels was asked.

"Why not?" he answered. "Has there not been a great deal of interference, one with another, in China?"

WITH THE BOERS.

Americans Undoubtedly in Sympathy With the Two Republics

(Special to the Times.)

Boston, Mass., June 12.—A large majority of our people here are Boer sympathizers and a good share of them are of good Puritan stock, with not one drop of Dutch or Irish blood mixed. There is one whole county in Massachusetts all owned by the descendants of a colony of ancestors, who came from Calerain, North Ireland, to Boston in 1700. They are purely Scotch Irish and Scotch English, all Protestants and nearly all Scotch Presbyterians. I have letters from them of recent date stating that a British sympathizer isn't known in their midst. The feeling is altogether against Britain, there is no mistake.

Lost His Life in a Fire.

London, Ont., June 11.—Yesterday morning fire broke out in a building occupied by James Ward, grocer and liquor dealer, caused by the explosion of a coal oil lamp, which Mrs. Ward was carrying. Miss Mafie, the servant, on awakening, seized Selina, a child of seven years, and jumped with her from the window, Miss Mafie escaped with a sprained ankle, but Selina Ward was considerably burned about the hands and face. Mr Ward took his eldest boy, a lad of five, and dropped him from the window. Then he returned for the younger child, Robert, but the little fellow, who was about two years and ten months old, had left the bed. He was not found for some time, and when discovered in a corner life was extince. Mr. Ward himself was considerably bruised, but his injuries are not serious. Mrs. Ward escaped uninjured.

Adventure of Four Boys.

Kingston, June 11.—Three boys named Wm. Millford, Hy. Hughes and Thos Hughes, were caught on the G. T R overhead bridge, Kingston Mills, on Satuday while two trains were passing in opposite directions. All escaped but Thos. Hughes, who was struck by a train and whirled into the air. He fell on the other track, and when found he was hanging over the side of the bridge, which is 150 feet high. His skull was fractured, right arm broken above the elbow, and his left hip joint injured. He is living but in a critical condition .

FOR SWEET CHARITY'S SAKE

AN APPEAL ON BEHALF OF FAMINE STRICKEN INDIA.

The Times Requested to Receive Subscriptions—A Committee of 100 of New York's Most Prominent People Issue A Call for Help

New York, June 5, 1900.

Sir, Three weeks ago, a "committee of One Hundred on India Famine Relief" was formed in New York. Since its formation the Committee has received from many parts of the country earnest requests that it place itself at the service of all those who might desire its facilities. Such offer, accordingly, the committee has made, and now renews, with no wish to do otherwise than promote interest in the famine relief and to aid, if possible, the succes of all famine relief agencies. Our literature, our direct and constant communication with India, and the treasurship of Messrs. Brown Brothers & Co., 59 Wall Street, are freely at the command of any one who finds them available; while, at the same time, we suggest that funds raised in any locality be sent to the nearest relief committee.

In its effort to be most useful, the committee has been greatly cheered and aided by the press of New York and vicinity. All the New York dailies have freely consented to receive and acknowledge contributions to the famine relief, and they have given the cause of the Indian sufferers a constant, generous, earnest advocacy. Many other papers have done similarly effective work in their comunities.

All this, therefore, has moved us to communicate with you, and with the papers of the United States to the number of some twenty thousand, to the end of your columns (if such definite announcement has not already been made) may be permanently opened for the receipt and acknowlment of contributions, along with your earnest appeal for famine funds. Such unitedly favorable action by the press of the whole country will certainly result in a splendid sum total of relief.

You will, we are sure, be gratified to hear that the Express Companies have cordially consented to make all their officers agencies for the receipt and free transmission of relief funds the press and for any and all relief committees in the United States. They also forward free of charge the committee's publications to any part of the country.

The Bank of New York have united in offering themselves as agencies for the receipt of contributions, and we are about to address say fifteen thousand banks and banking houses, hoping for like action on their part.

The telegraph companies also have readily agreed to transmit the committee's official messages free of payment.

All this is strongly favorable, and if the press leads its united and steadfast aid the work of relief will be notably advanced.

Permitous to add a word respecting the committee's choice of agencies for the actual distribution of such funds as have come to its treasury. Of course, all expressed wishes of donors are fully complied with, while the committee, of its own motion, constantly seeks the best means of applying undesignated funds. In the cabling of money, thus far, we have employed the "Interdominational Missionary Relief Committee" of Bombay, which, in the absence from India of our American Bishop Thoburn, is directed by R. A. Hume, American missionary at Ahmednager. We have also sent funds to "The India Famine Charitable Relief Committee", at whose head is Sir Francis Maclean, Chief Justice of the province of Bengal. That is the one national non-government charitable relief agency of India, and by it all needs are known, as to it all most effective methods of distribution are familiar. Its administration is as magnanimous and wise as would be the administration of a relief fund in this country, presided over by Chief Justice Fuller and men of his kind. Both American and European missionaries are among its chosen agents. To its hands are confided those large free gifts from Great Britain which are over and about the government's offical daily relief of not less than six million of sufferers.

The "Committee of One Hundred" will constantly study the conditions of the famine itself, and will constantly try to choose the best agencies of relief.

Pardon the length and the very great freedom with which we have written. oCnfident on your pavrabole action, we are,

Yours sincerely,
W. E. Dodge, Chairman.

GATHERING WAR CLOUD IN FLOWERY KINGDOM!

The Chinese Question Grows More Alarming and More Murders Take Place.

CZAR'S TROOPS REPORTED MARCHING ON PEKIN.

A Doubtful Story That a Force Has Already Left Tien Tsin—High Officials Utterly Incapable or Unwilling to Suppress the Marauders, Says Sir Clude.

London, June 11.—Sir Claude MacDonald, the British Minister in Pekin, sent the following telegram to Shanghai on June 7—

"The movement against the foreigners which has been allowed to grow to such an extent has resulted in the burning of railway stations and in the interription of railway communication for five days. Two British missionaries and several foreign missionaries have been murdered in the district near Pekin. In the country round numbers of converts have been murdered and chapels have been pillaged and destroyed, while in the capital itself the British missionaries have been obliged to leave their houses and take refuge at the legation, which is defended by seventy-five marines.

"The Chinese Government is affected by these events so as to send high officials to parley with the Boxers, but it does not show any intention of summarily suppressing them. Probably it still has power to do so, but the throne is still strongly influenced by sympathy with the movement, and the spirit of the troops is doubtful. All is well up to the present."

4,000 RUSSIANS LANDED.

Despatch From Shanghai Makes This improbable Announcement .

London, June 11.—The return of the Emperor of China and the Dowager Empress to Pekin from the summer palace is regarded as a hopeful sign; but otherwise there is no favorable news from China, with the exception that there is evidence of a continued perfect understanding between the various powers and the announcement that the international guards will probably arrive at Pekin today. Should these prove insufficient to restore order Russia is apparently preparing to deal with the crisis, judging from a despatch from St. Petersburg, which follows—

"As a result of an understanding between the Russian Government and the other powers, a despatch has been sent to Port Arthur ordering that 6,000 men of the Russian garrison there shall be held in immediate readiness to leave for Tien Tsin whenever the Russian Minister at Pekin asks for their assistance or circumstances require their intervention.

According to a despatch from Shanghai, dated to-day, 4,000 Russians, with twenty guns, have already been landed at Tien Tsin, and are marching in the direction of Pekin.

The Shanghai rumors must be accepted with caution.

The London Missionary Society received a telegram from Tien Tsin yesterday saying that all the society's missionaries in North China were safe, but those stationed west of the city of Pekin had been obliged to seek refuge at the British Legation.

A despatch from Pekin dated Saturday evening, June 9, says—

"A body of forty boxers armed with knives have looted and burned the Pekin Club, race track and grand stand buildings.

"Another edict issued this morning orders the military governor to police the streets with cavalry and infantry.

BRUTALLY MURDERED BY BOXERS.

How a Party of Foreigners Fought Their Way to Tien Tsin.

London, June 11.—Details have been received from Shanghai regarding the recent murders of railway engineers by Boxers. It seems that a party of thirty, including six ladies and one child, left Pao Ting Fu in twelve boats under military escort. After traversing fifty miles in safety they missed their way, The boats grounded and the Boxers opened fire upon the unfortunate occupants, using both rifles and wooden cannon. The engineers returned the fire effectively and the party landed. One lady and three men who got separated from the main body were brutally murdered. The survivors formed a square with those able to bear arms outside, and the women inside, and made off toward Tien Tsin. They travelled three and a half days, fighting all the way. More than 2,000 cartridges were expended, and ammunition was running short.

They estimated that they killed at least a hundred rebels. The men behaved like heroes, carrying the women and children.

Twelve miles from Tien Tsin three men disappeared and were murdered. The survivors eventually met the rescue party, and, much exhausted, they were escorted to Tien Tsin.

Neverth.less in the neighborhood of the Legation the street continues thronged with the roughest kind of a mob, ready to break out at the slightest provocation.

United States Minister Conger has sent twenty marines and British Minister Macdonald twelve marines to guard the Methodist mission compound, where numbers of all denominations of Protestants are gathered. The Roman Catholics assembled in the North cathedral. West Pekin, have a small guard of French marines, but the converts also have been well armed by Bishop Favier and will desperately resist attack.

"Business is practically at a standstill. Constantly increasing streams of Boxers parade the streets at their pleasure, much to the alarm of the merchants, although thus far there has been no looting of native shops."

Admiral Kempff reports the arrival of the Monascy at Taku.

THE STORY IS ABSURD.

Chinese Minister Says the Empress is Not Encouraging Boxers.

London, June 11.—The Chinese Minister in London, Lo Feng Luh, when shown the latest despatches from Tien Tsin authorized his secretary to make the following statement—

"It is all nonsense to believe that the Empress is encouraging the Boxers. She is doing all she can to calm them. How can the Chinese Government support a rebellion when China alone suffers? We have already lost property worth 10,000,000 pounds. The Empress back of the Boxers, it it absurd."

The secretary expresses the opinion that the Boxers numbered less than a million of the population.

MISSIONARIES ARE ALARMED.

They Abandon Their Stations and Settle at One Place.

London, June 11.—A special despatch to the Associated Press from Pekin under date of June 8, says—

"The situation is growing steadily more alarming. The missionary compounds were all abandoned yesterday evening. Forty American and English missionaries are gathered at the American Methodist Mission, surrounded by 300 native pupils whom it was impossible to send to their homes. They are waiting, with a few revolvers and guarded by ten American marines, for reinforcements to take them to the coast.

"A missionary who has returned from the country to the east, says the populace are asserting that they must have a new emperor."

TELEGRAPH LINE CUT.

Foreign Troops Have to Fight Their Way to Pekin.

Tien Tsin, June 11.—Telegraphic communication between here and Pekin was interrupted this morning. A special train left at five o'clock this evening with thirty British troops to guard Tong-Shan. It is considered that the number will be inadequate. If trouble arises in Tong-Shan all the Northern China railways would be at a standstill.

Owing to difficulty in securing the viceroy's permission for a third special train to start for Pekin the foreign troops occupied the cars, wherepon the Chinese engine driver ran away with his locomotive. The crowd tried to pull up the track, but the troops cleared the rabble away at the point of the bayonet, and seized the engine. On learning of this the viceroy granted permission and the train left at 5.15 p.m. with about 500 men. The force was made up of 350 Germans, 80 British and the rest French troops.

FLED TO THE RUSSIANS.

Dowager Empress Said to Have Sought Russian Protection.

London, June 11.—A special despatch from Tien Tsin says it is reported the Dowager Empress has fled to the Russian Legation at Pekin.

SITUATION IS CRITICAL.

New York, June 11th.—The Rev. Adna B. Leonard, Missionary Secretary of the Methodist church, whose offices are at the Methodist-Episcopal Bookroom, Fifth Avenue, to-day despatched the following message to the President—

"Hon. Wm. McKinley, Washington, D. C.

"The following cable just received from Pekin—

"'Massacre native Christians. Situation critical. Press Washington.' This means our people are in great peril, and greatly need such protection as our government can afford.

(Signed) A. B. LEONARD."

There are forty missionaries in the Northern section of China, including workers and children. The Methodist Episcopal church has one-third of all missions in China, there being 36,000 communicants in two provinces alone. The Congregationalists are next in importance as affected by this uprising. The Baptists take in Central and South China.

While the Methodists cover the entire country, their work is mainly devoted to the northern and eastern stations.

ENVOYS HOUNDED BY SPIES.

Boers Complain That They Are Constantly Shadowed by British Agents.

Chicago, June 11.—The Record says, Messrs. Fischer, Wessels and Wolmarans, envoys of the South African Republics, say that since they started on their mission they have been under constant surveillance by detectives and secret service by the agents of the British government, whose object it is to keep close watch and report as to their movements and conversations.

In discussing the matter, A. Fischer, chairman of the delegation, said.

"Eavesdroppers would not allow us for the mere pleasure of the thing, or as a means of passing away the time, and so we conclude that some one wishes to know of our movements to the minutest detail. Of course it makes no difference to us, as we have nothing to conceal. It is just an noyance.

ENVOYS ENTRETAINED.

Chicago, June 11.—Renewed assurances of sympathy were extended to Messrs. Fischer, Wessels and Wolmarans, the Boers envoys last night—this time by the members of the Holland Society and their guests at a banquet at Kinsley's, planned especially in honor of the delegates. The visitors were told that their cause was a holy one and they were advised that "if ever their people had to trek again they should trek across the sea to America."

Later Mr. Wessels said.

"Personally I do not think that all Boers would come and I doubt whether a majority of the Boers in the Orange Free State and in the Transvaal would be ready to leave their adopted home. They are willing to trek farther into the interior if they have any assurance that the British flag would not follow them, but generations have come and gone in South Africa, making it a fatherland to them [illegible] them."

A NEW ERA FOR THE BOERS.

The South Africa Republics will take some time for their assimilation with the British system of government. They will at first be administered as Crown Colonies, and when they are ripe for it, be erected into self-governing communities on the Canadian plan, becoming eventually, no doubt, members of South African Federation. But from the outset every law-abiding Boer will have exactly the same rights as every law-abiding native of England living there. There will be perfect equality before the law. The rights of person and property will be the same for Boers and British, and they will be protected and enforced to the same degree and in the same manner. Obviously it would be a misuse of terms to call this subjugation. No yoke is imposed. The great body of the Boers themselves will come at once into the possession of rights that they have not enjoyed under the semi-oligarchical form of government that has heretofore prevailed. The only right that will be suppressed— and this is a legal, not a moral right, which has been theirs only because they had the physical power to exercise it—is that of oppressing residents of the country not of their own blood. But with the change must come two advantages for the Boers and for all others which are of inestimable value. One is the assurance of reasonably permanent peace. Unquestionably the Boers will be absolutely deprived of both the formal right and the chance to renew in the future the war in which they have been defeated. That will not be a big thing for them or for the indefinitely larger population that is likely to settle in the country. The second advantage will be the opening of the country to all the prosperity that its resources and the energies of its people can secure. The conditions of prosperity are better understood now than they were in the days from which the ideas of the Boers date. They include freedom and equality before the law for all, general education, security for the rights of property and of the person, and the maintenance of order. These conditions are observed substantially wherever the British system extends.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The remarkable surgical operation reported from Rio Janeiro, Brazil, whereby twin sisters, ten years of age, united as were the Siamese twins, have been released from what was deemed an inevitable life-long bondage, with every prospect of them enjoying future health, will attract world-wide interest in both professional and non-professional circles. Examination by the aid of the X-rays disclosed the fact that the seventh ribs were united by a solid osseous formation, and that there was but one liver for the two. Early last winter the ribs were cut apart, but, fearing that the shock would prove fatal if the case was proceeded with further at that time delay followed. Now, the announcement is made that the bond has been completely severed, and with excellent result. This is another instance that justifies the remark that in no science has more wonderful progress been achieved in recent years than in surgery. And there is every reason to believe that the profession is as yet only on the threshold of investigation and experimentation.

The Boer used to make "treks." Now that English is going to be spoken there he's making tracks.

** * **

If, as reported in a speech in Chicago by a returned Chinese traveler, the Boxers are urged on by spirits to do their fearful deeds, it seems high time that the temperance societies were bestirring themselves in the matter.

** * **

A local contemporary says that Lord Robert's does not swear. We don't know whether Buller does, or not, but we guess he came pretty near it after that Spion Kop evacuation.

Krugher may have lost the burghers' golden opinions by his flight from Pretoria, but he's got most of their golden coin, which is what buys victuals.

** * **

That Toronto clergyman who 'played the races" and got swindled by a tout, should have been discreet enough to pocket his loss and allow the tout to pocket the money. It doesn't look well for an Anglican clergyman to be compelled in court to admit that a vulgar, uneducated race-track tout is smarter than a college-bred, sophisticated minister of the gospel.

Kruger says the war has only just begun. He talks bravely, but he runs fast for an old man. The world does not hear him so well since he has begun shouting over his shoulder.

That both sides of the Russian-Japanese crowd are getting them guns ready is all the more reason for an amicable arrangement, and thus settle the whole shooting match.

That the French Government has been asked by some of its horrified citizens to prohibit any further bull-fight exhibitions in that country is only what might have been expected. The animals are altogether too much in earnest to suit Gallic tastes, and the liking for shedding dure shown by the toreadors is also against their liking. If such contests could be conducted on the harmless principles of the well-known French duel it might be otherwise, but as in these at least the bull is hurt there seems no alternative but to stop them altogether.

CUT HIS PATRON'S THROAT.

And Other Barbers Say They Are Instinctively Impelled to Do Same.

Paris, June 8.—A barber living in Poitiers who confessed to having cut the throats of eight of his clients in the last two years, has been acquitted upon the testimony of medical experts.

The defense brought upon the stand a number of barbers, all of whom testified that they themselves were subject to a sort of fascination while at work which impelled them to severe the throats of their clients.

The defense got insanity experts to testify that this impulse was pricisely the same appeal to insanity lurking in all men which compels people to jump from great heights; the same vertigo which often makes men working on big mechanical knives to give an arm, a hand or a finger to be cut. An immense number of scientifically recorded cases were cited, among others those of several surgeons who were compelled to renounce their profession because the touch of the keen cutting instruments excited them to commit murder.

The barber in the case declared that when he was alone with a client the instinct to cut the latter's throat was irresistible. Then realizing his danger he concealed the crime cunningly. His last murder, however, was committed before five customers awating their turn. The murderer was sent to an insane asylum. The case is exciting great interest among scientists.

CHANGE IN U. S. CUSTOMS.

An Act Passed by Congress in Which Canadian Shippers Are Interested.

An act recently passed by Congress is of interest to Canadian shippers and consignees. It is amendatory of Section 3005 of the Revised Statutes which it changes so as to read as follows.

"All merchandise arriving at any port of the United States destined for any foreign country may be entered at the custom house, and conveyed, in transit, through the territory of the United States, without the payment of duties, under such regulations as to examination and transportation as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe."

Accordingly, the Secretary of the Treasury has promulgated an order, stating that, on arrival at any port of entry, or subport of entry, of merchandise from foreign countries, whether dutiable or free, intended for immediate transportation through the United States to any foreign country, the consignee or agent may make entry in triplicate, describing the route by which the merchandise is to be fowarded. An invoice showing the value of the merchandise should be submitted at the time the entry is made, but consular certificates will not be required. The entry is to be in substantially the form prescribed in article 431 of the Custom Regulations of 1892. Duties will be estimated on the foreign market value of the goods, and the consignee or agent is to give bond in a penal sum equal to double the value of the goods, such bond being conditioned for the exportation of the merchandise within six months of the date of entry. After entry has been made and bond given, the proceedings indicated in articles 433 to 438, inclusive, of the Custom Regulations of 1892 will be followed.

Hog to be Disinfected.

Lindsay Post.—Dr. Bingham, Peterborough Health Officer, is determined that hogs delivered at the town market shall be thoroughly disinfected. The trouble appears to be however, that no one knows whose duty it is to do this work. They're mighty particular in the Otonabee town. Lindsayites who crowd the market square band nights last summer have learned (when the wind was in the east) for the disinfecting of the market hog pen adjoining, but without avail, and overcame the difficulty by standing afar off.

Keep off the Platform.

The G.T.R. authorities have issued orders that persons not having business at their stations must keep off the platforms and away from the premises. Detectives are to be sent over the line to see that this order is carried out. This is a warning to parents to keep their children away from the stations. This also applies to young girls who frequent the stations for no good purpose.

It is proposed to organize a branch of the Cobourg Old Boys Association in Peterborough. Mr. Wm. Sallsbury is the moving spirit.

ON THE ROAD

All the time, eating irregularly, sleeping irregularly, exposed to every disease latent in bad cooking or poor food; that's a summary of the traveling man's life. The result is "stomach trouble"; that general term which covers various forms and stages of disease of the organs of digestion and nutrition. The traveling man can't avoid the troubles which spring from his business obligations. But he can avoid "stomach trouble." If Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is used when the early symptoms of derangement of the stomach manifest themselves, the cure will be quick and radical. But even if the disease has become chronic the "Discovery" will cure ninety-eight times out of every hundred if tried fairly and faithfully.

Mr. Ned Nelson, the celebrated Irish comedian and mimic, of 577 Roydes St., Camden, N. J., writes: "We fulfilled an engagement of twelve weeks and the constant traveling gave me a bad touch of that dreaded disease called dyspepsia. I had tried everything possible to cure it till last week, while playing at B. F. Keith's Bijou theater, Philadelphia, in the Nelson trio, a professional friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I tried it, and, thank God, with good results."

Free! Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the same book cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Short Story of the Day

"When Dreams Come True."

Eric Braddon was reading a letter. It had arrived in the morning mail and contained an astounding proposition.

"Dear Old Fellow—" (so ran the heading).

"I am rapidly drawing near the end of all things earthly, and I have come to the conclusion that as you long ago promised to stand my friend I would claim the fulfillment of that promise now.

"Eric, dear boy, will you act as guardian to my little girl? I know that you are young at 30 to fill such a position, but I also know that young as you are there is no one better fitted for the arduous task. It is also true that Stella is no longer a young child, and that fact may prove a stumbling block in your estimation; but I feel that your kind mother will help you in finding the position, and somehow I feel safe in leaving her in your care. My plantation is large and valuable; Stella will be rich some day, but I hope you will not find the work of settling up my business affairs too great a task and regret that you have undertaken it. You see, old fellow, I am taking it for granted that you will not fail me now. Come at once, if possible; I want to see you once more before I go. Yours, affectionately, PHILIP AUSTIN.'

Eric Braddon folded the letter up with a low whistle curling his mustached lip. He was handsome, dark-eyed, dark-haired and athletic.

"Well, of all things!" he ejaculated. "To think of Phil Austin remembering our old-time compact—that the one who died first should take charge of the affairs of the one that was left. I shall start for the south at once to attend to his last wishes and see dear old Phil before he goes. And here, mother has invited Miss Laura Warner—that simpering, doll-faced fashion plate—to pay us a visit for an indefinite stay. It is mother's secret hope that I may fall in love with her, but I know all the little mother's guileless plots—bless her dear heart—and this particular instance she will fail.

"Strange! that I cannot get that dream out of my mind. I have dreamed it more than once, too. I see before me in my sleep the saddest, sweetest face imaginable, with great dark eyes and hair like a prisoned sunbeam, and such a tender expression! If only I could meet in propia persona the original of those dreams it would go hard with me if I did not win her. But, ah, me! a dream is only a fantasy of a sleeping brain, and never comes true!"

And here the breakfast bell broke in upon his musing, and he hastened to obey the summons. His mother, a sweet-faced old lady, was already seated at the cozy round table, and at her side a pretty pink and white doll of a woman, arrayed in the latest agony in morning robes, with a superficial smile on her pink lips.

The morning greetings exchanged, Eric broke the news of his intended departure for the far south on his errand of mercy and duty. Mrs Braddon looked the surprise she felt.

"Why, son!" she remonstrated, 'and Laura just arrived! I wish you did not feel it your duty to go."

"But I must, mother," he made answer. "Dear Phil is very near the last, and I could not turn a deaf ear to his beseeching. And as for the little girl—' he stopped short, awed by the look upon his mother's face.

"Eric, you surely do not contemplate carrying on that part of your old compact, do you, son?"

"I see no way out of it," he returned firmly.

"But, to be annoyed by a half-grown hoiden of a girl!" moaned poor Mrs. Braddon, "What have I done that I should be punished?"

"She shall not annoy you, mother dear,' he said. We can send her away to school, you know."

That thought cheered Mrs. Braddon; so she began to rally and even helped her son prepare for the long journey, which must be undertaken at once. The good-byes were all said, and with an uncomfortable recollection of tears in Laura's eyes Eric took his departure. It was early twilight when he alighted from the train two days later at a small country station in the far south. Only a few idlers were about; the place looked lonely and deserted.

It was a crisp October evening; he decided to walk to the plantation; which was but two miles distant. with his traveling bag in hand, Eric walked along at a brisk pace, feeling somehow unaccountably sad and lonely. All at once he found himself the hero of an adventure.

A runaway horse. with a girl upon its back. Of course Eric flew to the rescue, five minutes he was standing face to face with the facsimile of his dreams. He felt faint and weak as he recognized every feature—the wavy, golden hair and the wonderful, deep, dark eyes.

"Oh! sir; I can never thank you," she faltered. "I was going for the doctor for papa. All the negroes are in the fields, but some of the women, and they were afraid to ride Robin, yonder, so I started. And he threw me,' she added with a confused blush, as his dark eyes still dwelt upon her face with a rapt expression.

"Cannot I go?" he asked, anxiously, "I am on my way to Philip Austin's plantation, and—"

"Why, that is papa!" she cried, tearfully. "Yes, sir; he is still living, but he is in one of his sinking spells that Dr. Gray warned me of. I wish the doctor could see him now. Yes; if you do not mind, I will let you go."

She gave him careful directions, and Eric sprang upon the pony and was off like a flash. He found the one doctor's office and returned in his company. A little later he stood once more beside his old friend Philip and saw that his hours were nearly numbered. He died that night, and Stella Austin was alone in the world save for her young guardian. He hadd found likewise, that the girl was past 18, and not the "half-grown hoiden" he had expected to find.

All this Eric wrote home to his mother, expressing his determination to remain south until the business of the plantation was settled up. There was a housekeeper at the plantation, and all the properties were carefully preserved. So Mrs. Braddon, though much against her will, was forced to let well enough alone, and he had his own way.

But at last she wrote and begged him so earnestly to be allowed to make a visit to the plantation that Eric consented, and one beautiful wintry day Mrs. Braddon arrived in full force and with her—charming as ever—was Lura Warner. This was the plot which the two women had laid, with the expectation of Eric falling a victim. At sight of him Lura rushed into his arms.

"Dearest Eric!" she gushed, 'I could not live any longer without you, so I came with your dear mother—soon, I hope, to be my own mother. It's a dreadful thing for you to be roaming about an uncivilized country like this when you knew my heart was breaking for you!"

But Eric was too thoroughly on his guard, and besides he had a surprise to spring upon them. He turned to Stella, who was near, pale and tremulous, and drew her slender form close to his heart, right there before the others.

"Mother!" he cried, utterly ignoring the foolish falsehoods of the painted doll beside her, "I have taken an important step since last I wrote to you. This is my dear wife, Stella; we were married a week ago."

There was no use to object. It was too late now. And thinking it all over in the depths of her secret heart, Mrs. Braddon was more than pleased, for the pride had come well downed and was fair to look upon.

And Eric smiled softly to himself, for it is sweet to know that in this prosaic everyday world of ours there are times when dreams come true!"

WE CAN SHIP ORE

We have received our Superintendent's Report and find we can ship ore if we want to—but we won't yet. It won't be good mining. Why, we will tell you if you like!

He has been up to the Nettie L. and Siver Cup studying indications and finds that

We have better indications all round, and more ore showing up on surface and more ore underground than either had with same amount of work, and that we gain depth twice as fast as they do, and that when ore shows at or near the surface it continues down, and that it took 900 feet of tunnel on Cup to give 300 feet of depth, and that we can get same depth with 300 feet of tunnel, and that we can take out ore when we like!

Knowledge of our strike is spreading and orders for the Special Issue at [illegible] per share are coming in from all over, both from States and Canada. We have averaged over $1,000.00 a week in sales lately, so if you want any before we ship you had better get it now. You can't get it after!

The original letter is on file at our office and can be seen by interested persons.

MONTGOMERY V. M'FARLANE.

The Two Town Drivers Before the Police Magistrate.

There is a small war being waged over in the fire hall, between the two drivers—Montgomery and Macfarlane. The Council havehad the matter before them, but there was no good came from it. The Police Magistrate took a hand, andhe also threw the job up in disgust. The two belligerents should step out on the back of the hall on the market some dark night when the chief of Police is asleep and rule the thing off. Either do this or call in the President of the Lime Juice Club and the matter will quickly be settled.

Yesterday morning Montgomery charged Macfarlane in the Police Court yesterday with using grossly insulting language on Saturday morning and at noon of that day. Macfarlane admitted the statements complained of at noon but denied the other. Montgomery alleged that Macfarlane was underthe influence of liquor. The Magistrate dismissed the charge, saying:—

"I find that the evidence of Montgomery as to the language used by Macfarlane at noon was proved by outside witnesses and I am strongly of the impression that his statement as to what was said in the morning was correct but this ill-language arises between the men which should no not exist. Each is standing on his rights as to the performance of stable duties to such an extent that it is impossible that the two men can work effectively in the same stable, and as Montgomery charges Macfarlane with being drunk on Friday night and under the influence of liquor on Saturday morning, I think the matter is one to be investigated by the town authorities, for no man who has the responsible duty of driving the fire horses through the public streets is capabl of doing it with safety who is to any extent addicted to liquor. Whilst I find that there was evidently a fault in the defendant it arises out of a condition of things that I will not assume to investigate, leaving it to the Council, and I think it best this charge should be dismissed."

Alderman Oke and Sawers were in court while the case was being heard. The Council, with the Magistrate's statement before them, will likely take prompt action to improve things at the fire hall.

REPORTERS ROUNDS.

Watch the Skin and Eyes!

They Are Unfailing Thermometers of Health.

The skin and eyes are two unfailing thermometers of health. If the skin has spots, eruptions, an unhealthy pallor or a yellow appearance, and the eyes a glazed look, with yellowish whites, it is high time to purify and cleanse the blood and regulate the liver and kidneys. Paine's Celery Compound makes pure, bright red blood and relieves the liver and kidneys of the strain that is brought upon them whenever impure blood is pouring through their substance.

It has been fully proved by eminent medical men that Paine's Celery Compound supplies that needed and appropriate food that overworked nerves are too feeble to extract from ordinary food taken into the stomach. Paine's Celery Compound increases the appetite and puts the digestive organs into shape to pass the food over the blood in such a perfectly prepared condition that the change into nerve, brain and tissue substance is easily and fully brought about without waste of nervous energy or wear upon the liver, kidneys or stomach.

In a word, Paine's Celery Compound builds up the weak, wasting and diseased body; it gives all the conditions of health that guarantee a long and happy life. No other remedy in the world has ever done such a true and noble work for suffering humanity.

Make trial of one bottle, dear reader; it will convince you that you have found what you most need to make you well and strong.

GEN. BULLER IS AT LAST MASTER OF LAINGS NEK

Lord Roberts' Broken Communications in a Fair Way to be Mended by the Forecs.

HUNTER DEFEATS LARGE COMMANDO OF BOERS.

Telegraphic Communication With Roberts is Expected to be Restored To-day—Gen. Knox Will Move Out From Kroonstan to Intercept the Boers.

London War Office.

A comparison of Gen. Kelly-Kennys despatch with the maps available shows apparetly that the British line of communication, cut by the Boers has been restored by the movement of troops from the north towards Honing Spruit, to reach which place they would have to pass through Roodeval if they followed the railroaa. The fact that Gen. Kelly-Kenny says Gen. Knox will move out from Kroonstad to intercept the enemy would seem to demonstrate that the Boers are retreating before the northern British force and that troops from Kroonstad, south of Honings Spruit, have been sent to intercept them if possible .

London, June 13.

Two pieces of news encouraging to the British in the official despatches are that the broekn communications of Lord Roberts are in a fair way to be mended by the forces moving north wards and southwards, and driving off the roving commandoes, and that Sir Redvers Buller is at last master of Laings Nek.

Telegraphic communication with Lord Roberts is expected to be restored to-day as a despatch from Bloemfotein, yesterday says that the railways is in British possession again and that the look of repairing the line is going on rapidly with the abundant material from warhouses at Bloemfontein. From the subjoined Telegram it would appear that Gen. Hunter was in command of the troop referred to by Gen .Kelly-eKnny in his despatch from Bloemfontein.

Bloemfontein, June 12.

Gen Hunter is coming up rapidly from the northwest, having severely beaten a large commando of Boers who had destroyed two miles of railway north of Kroonstad .

London, June 12.—General Buller's flaqnking movement, with the object of forcing the Boers out of Laing's Nek, has practically been accomplished. From tiemsviel the army which but recently invaded the Orange River Colony through the Drakensberg is proceeding in a northerly direction with the evident intention of occupying Charles town, which is only four miles from Majuba Hill. Charlestown is the most northerly town in Aatal, and is above Laing's Nek and the tunnel. The Boer position is, therefore, almost turned for a few hours marching should bring General Buller to Charlestown and place him in possession of the railway leading from, Liang's Nek to Pretoria thus intercepting the Boer retreat. It is fairly certain that before he reaches Charlestown the enemy will have abandoned Laing's Nek following their usual custom when a flanking operation. It is interesting to note that General Buller's recent engagement, which must have been more than a skirmish, inasmuch as it involved a bayonet charge by the Dorsets and the loss of 150 men, was fought within sight of Majuba Hill and the grave of Colley. The most recent despatch of General Bulle ris peculioarly significant, indicating the final crossing by the army of Natal of the mountain barrier which has so long held it in check. Laing's Nek is the last citadel of the Boers on the border of Natal, and it has been rendered utenable. An important question now arises with regard to the Laing's Nek Tunnel, which is 738 miles log and is north of the hill. It was reported unofficially some time ago that the enemy had greatly damaed it, a somewhat inexplicable course, seeing that the tunnel is their avenue of escape from the hill which hold. Still it is likely that when the retreat takes place, and this must be very soon, one of the final acts of the Boers will be to damage the tunnel so as to huinder the British from operating a continuous line from Durban to Pretoria. This course would necessitate a somewhat formidable repairing task, and the junction of Buller and Roberts would be somewhat delayed. It is only reasonable to suppose that the Boers would do their best to such delay, for upon it depends the success of their recent raid upon Roberts communications, which would be nullified by the opening up of another railway. The shortness of the tunnel, however, is a factor which may render its restoration a less formidable piece of work than one might expect .

From other portions of the campaign area there is still no news. The cutting of the communications behind Lord Roberts has walled up his force in Pretoria without possibility of communicating with the outside world. The silence has now lasted five days, but there is hope that the Generals north of Bloemfontein may shortly succeed in making good the damaged line. The line cannot, however, be maintained for a long period, and the transport of supplies and troops by the Natal route is inevitable.

BULLER TAKES ALMOND'S NEK.

Last Defile that opens way to Charleston Flats Captured.

London, June 12th,—The War Office posts the following despatch from Gen Buller;—

"Headquarters in Natal, June 11.—We forced Almonds Nek to-day. It is not marked on the map, but is the last were in considerable force with several defile to Charleston Flats. The enemy guns in position. The brunt of the fighting fell upon the Second Dorsets who carried the position at the point of the bayonet, and the third cavalry brigade, who were heavily attacked on our right from very broken country round IkGtini mountain. I hope our casualties are less than 100, which, considering the extreme length of the position, is much less than I expected. The whole attack was directed by Hildyard, whose dispositions were extremely good. The artillery, tenth brigade, and third cavalry brigade did the most of the work..

SCHREINER WILL RESIGN.

Punishment of Colonial Rebels the Roc kWhich Wrecked Him.

London, June 12.—The Ministerial caucus at Cape Town has resulted unfavorably to Premier Schreiner, only ten supporting him, and Mr. Schreiner has given notice of his intention to resign. The question at issue is Mr. Schreiner's desire to introduce immediately bills punishing the colonial rebels, and indemnifying the Government for acts committed under martial law.

IN THE FICKSBURG DISTRICT .

Boers Refuse to Surrender and Fighting is Expected .

London, June 12.—Reports from Maseru, Basutoland, June 8 say the Boers around Ficksburg refuse to surrender and severe fighting is expected, though a despatch of June 8,from Hammonia, which is only a few miles from Ficksburg, says the situaiton in the southest corner of the Orange Colony is unchanged; that Gen. Rundle has received the Boer delegates sent to negotidate peace terms and that the result of the negotiations is not known.

WHAT DR. LEYD SAYS.

It Was Decided Monthjs Ago to Abandon Pretoria.

Antwerp, June 12.—Dr. Leyds says that it was decided months ago to abandon Pretoria. The fortifications were not prepared for a defence of the city, and it would require too many troops. Besides this, it would not leave any men to harass Gen. Roberts' rear and line of communications. The moral effect of the occupation, Dr. Leyds said, was nil.

WILD BOER RUMORS.

General De Wet Marches on Johannesberg and Bleomfontein is Retaken.

London, June 12.—A plentiful crop of Boer reports has been filtering through Lorenzo Marquez. According to these General De Wet with 13,000 burghers is marching on Johannerburg, the Boers have retaken Bleomfontein, where President Steyn again occupies the Presidency; the British have sustained a severe defeat at Elandsfontein, and have also lost 750 iklled and wounded and 150 prisoners in a fight at Vredefort. Nothing from any other source lends color to these stories, with the exception of the last, which is probably the Boer version of the disaster to the militia battalion of the Derbyshire regiment at Roodeval.

In regular to President Steyn being at Bloemfontein, a despatch from Maseru, Basutoland. dated Monday, June 11, says President Steyn was then at Vrede, two hundred miles from Bloemfontein.

Gen. Buller seems to be making substantial progress and ought soon to possess the railroad at Charlestown in the northern border of Natal) whence resumably he will advancpe on Heidelburg and effect a juncture with Lord Roberts.

A despatch from Lichtenburg, dated June 11, says sixty Johannesburg mounted policmen with a Maxim gun have surrendered to General Hunter. This is a probable explanation of the reports that a British force is moving through Swaziland.

A probable explanation of the reports that a British foce is moving through Swaziland comes in a despatch from Port Elizabeth, dated June 11, announcing the return there of the British cruiser Doris from Kosi Bay, whither she had taken a number of whae boats with the object of landing an armed force, presumably part of a plan to penetrate into Swaziland. The Boers, however, got wind of the expedition and the force was not landed.

According to a Cape Town despatch the Cabinet crisis continues. It is addedd that should Premier Schreiner secede from the bond as he threatens, action would place the Bond in the minority in the Assembly.

Mr. Schreiner has accepted the resigations of Mr. J. X. Merriman, Treasfirer, and Mr. J. W. Sauer, Commissioner of Public Works.

MINISTERS RESIGN.

Cape Town, June 11, 2.55 p.m.—The Hon. John Xavier Merriman, Colonial XTreasurer, and the Hon. Jacobs Wil-Xhelms Sauer, Commissioner of Public Works, have resigned. The Argus advocats the formation of a coalition Ministry, including Mr. Schreiner and Sir John Gordon Sprigg, who was fromerly Prime Minister. Governor Sir Alfred Milner has postponed his departure for the Transvaal presumably on account of the Cabinet crisis here.

WORLD S WORST FAMINE.

HORRIBLE SCENES AND TERRIBLE SUFFERINGS IN STRI KEN INDIA.

Vultures, Dogs and Jackals Feeding on the Bodies of Famine Victims—Outlook Gloomier T an During any Preceding Drought!

New, York, June 11.

An American who has completed a tour of several famine sections in India reports the condition of the unfortunate people to be horrible in the extreme. Everywhere he was confronted with shocking and revolting scenes. He found the famine camps stampeded by cholera and small-pox fugitives, who had come from distant points of infection, and are now scattering these diseases in all directions. Many are dying in the fields and ditches and along the roadside. At Godbra, about 300 miles north of Bombay, there were 6,000 deaths from cholera in four days. At Domad the air was stifling and strongly impregnated with a frightful odor from hundreds of decaying bodies, which lay about unburied. The water was also impregnated with poison from the human carcasses and everywhere the stench was indescribable and sickening. In the hospitals the death rate, as reported by the physicians, was 90 per cent.

At Ahmedabad, about 80 miles west of Godhra; he found the water supply vitiated and a prolific cause of sickness. A terrible mortality prevailed among the cattle in that section, rendering them wholly unfit for food, In the poorhouse he saw a new patient brought in and placed face to face with a dead man. The occupant of every fourth cot was already dead. The stories of human bodies being devoured by vultures, dogs and jackals he states are absolutely true. Dogs were seen in some of the districts running off with the limbs of children in their jaws.

The present famine is the most terrible in the history of the civilized world.

A few figures will make the terrible effects of the present visitation clear. The drought of 1877-78 in India was considered to have been the most serious and widespread of the century. It induced the first organized attempt by the government of India to combat a crop failure by relief measures on a great scale, and to it and the investigation which followed we owe the admirable famine code, the basis of all relief measures, to this day. The famine in those years was principally confined to southern India and the Punjab. In August, 1877, just before the drought broke up, the total area affected was 250,000 square miles, with a population of 58,000,000. The affected area in 1878 had grown to 363,000 square miles, with a population of 63,000,000. At the present moment the tract of country under the blighting influence of the drought is 445,000, square miles with a population of 90, 000,000 people. The great feature which distinguishes the present famine from all which preceded it is not the unprecedented area and number of people brought under its influence, but the circumstances that it follows hot upon the footsteps of a period of unequaled scarcity. This has shaken the self-reliance of the peasantry and broken down the feeling of repugnance to accept government aid to an alarming extent. Formerly the sturdy ryot, or petty landowner, regarded the relief works with much the same kind of dislike that the British poor entertain for the workhouse, but this prejudice has given way under the severity of of the strain, Familiarity with famine has brought in its train familiarity with the idea of state aid; the relief works in some centers are crowded with a class of landowners who have never previously sought aid; laborers have turned to the government for help as soon as the pinch was felt, and before either credit or resources were exhausted.

In the worst periods of 1897 the numbers on relief were considerably less than 2,000,000 of people, a total greatly in excess of the highest recorded 20 years previously. In the last week of March of this year a million and a half of people were dependent upon government for their very means of subsistence in the central provinces alone, and in the Bombay presidency a million and a quarter were similarly circumstanced, while the total number in receipt of government relief in one form or another was little short of 5,000,000. The famine commissioners in 1880 estimated that highest demands the government was ever likely to be called upon to meet were 15 per cent. of the population. Nearly 30 per cent. of the population are now on relief.

REBELS WERE STRONGLY FORTIFIED.

Advance of the Ashanti Relief Force Meets With a Strong Opposition From the Natives.

London, June 12.—Col. Willcocks, in command of the Ashanti relief expedition, cables from Phrahsu, under date of June 9 as follows—"Have just received a message from Col. Carter from Kwisa reporting that he advanced June 6, effecting a junction with Capt. Hall at Kekwai. He found the rebel forces strongly fortified at Dompoassi. The fight continued for a long time, and the enemy were dislodged, but on account of the loss of seven European officers wounded and 90 other casualties he was unable to advance and return to Kwisa. There is no news from Kumassie. Hall is at Esumeja and Bekai, which is friendly. Kokofu and Adansi are in a state of rebellion.. The Dongiassi are probably joining the rebel forces."

The commandant at the base cables to the Colonial office as follows—"Cape Coast Castle, June 9.—The following is the purport of a despatch received from Captain Hall—Esumeja. May 24. —Collected the forces at Esumeja, Ejinassi and Dekwai May 22. Considered it necessary to find out the strength of the rebel forces to the front and flank before advancing on Kumassie. The plan of the rebel forces was to hold our front at Ejumum and outflank us from Korkofu. A garrison was left behind at Ejinassi. The remainder of the forces were concentrated at Esumeja, where we left fifty men and a maxim. Told King at Bekwai to advance to Abadon as soon as he heard rifle fire or encountered serious opposition. Within half an hour met resistance in a Kokofu village; repulsed the natives and burned the village in their sight. The Kokofu main villages were then attacked. Eight thousand held them for half an hour. Was unable to advance, but successfully withdrew. Lieut Edwards and six men were wounded. The enemy's loss was considerable. Decided to hold Esumeja, and to keep communications open for news of main body.

POWERS WILL INSIST ON REMOVAL OF ADVISORS

Dowager Empress Must Replace Them for Councillors Favorable to Foreigners.

LARGE RUSSIAN ARMY READY TO LAND AT TAKU.

Sixteen British Marines Fought and Chased Two Hundred Boxers, Killing Twenty or Thirty—France and Russia Not Working in Same Spirit as Powers.

London, June 13.

The correspondents at Tien Tsin, Shanghai and other treaty ports throw side lights on the situation. According to one despatch from Tien Tsin it is understood there that foreign ministers will insist as soon as fresh bayonets arrive at Pekin upon the removal of the anti-foreign advisers of the Empress Dowager and upon the substitution for them of councillors friendly to western civilization. The English at Shanghai are afraid that Great Britain has been deceived and that the whole business will have to be gone through again. Russia's arguments are understood and Russia and France are apparently not in working in the same spirit as the other powers.

Five thousand Russians are ready to land at Taku. A telegram from Yokohama dated Tuesday evening says that the Japanese government have ordered four more war ships to proceed to Taku, and four thousand men of all arms are under orders to be in immediate readiness for embarkation. The despatch says the Japanese government "trusts the powers will not misconstrue this action." The Shanghai correspondent of the Times, telegraphing Tuesday says—The Japanese Minister is pressing for recognition of a Japanese sphere of influence, to include the provinces of Che Kiang, Fo Kien and Kiang Si. The Hong Kong correspondent of the Times wiring yesterday says—"the Admiralty have engaged a transport to take 900 troops to Tang Ku. The sailing date has not been fixed."

The only bit of information which the British War Office has mace public regarding the situation since it became important was the admission yesterday that the summer residence of the British Minister in Pekin, Sir Claude Macdonald, had been burned.

Considerable contracts for the Chinese have been placed with the Birmingham Arms factory, though whether for the Chinese government or for the Boxers is not disclosed. Insurance rates for Tien Tsin have been raised to five shillings per 100 pounds.

London, June 13.

Sixteen British Marines, reconnoitering in advance of the international column marching to Pekin, fought and chased 200 Boxers on Monday, killing 20, or 30..

London, June 12,—The Oriental volcano still gives forth all the preliminary signs of a violent eruption. With the unprecedented scene of the foreign missionaries in Pekin flocking together like sheep and uniting in fear behind barricades, guarded only too slimly by armed troops, while bands of revolutionaries troop about the streets of Pekin inflecting insult and practicing violence and rapine on every hand, it is evident that the Manchu dynasty has fallen upon evil days. Meanwhile the wires connecting Pekin and the interior of China with the outer world are cut, and all is in suspence. The European troops which are practically forcing their way from the sea through hostile China in order to bring off the missionaries, are not expected to reach the end of their journey for some days, and in the meantime the utmost anxiety prevails as to the fact of Western religionsts, who are the bugbears of the Boxer society, which may be stirred be any slight occurrance into a massacre which might parallel St. Bartholomew. The awakening of China has come with a vengeance, and with it the final sleep of many representatives of other nationalities is taking place. The appeal of the Chinese Emperor to the powers offers the most sensible solution of the present trouble in the far East. It is clear that the suppression of the Boxers and the upholders of the present Chinese dynasty would bring about no permanent peace. The only cause is to direct the outbreak into proper channels of reform, and to accede to the desire of the Emperor, whose leaning are all in the direction of civilization, for a protectorate, with himself as the figurehead. The only other alternatives are the Dowager Empress, who is butterly antiforeign, or the Boxers, who are anarchists of the most murderous type.

BOXERS LIKE BOERS.

Wires Are Down Both to Pekin and Pretoria.

New York, June 12.—A London correspondent of the Tribune says London has been severed temporarily from communication with two centres of the most interesting news — Pekin and Pretoria. The Boxers, like the Boers, have cut the wires, and Tien Tsin and Taku have not known with precision what was happening at Pekin, where the Imperial Government is censuring the regular troops for offering resistance to the rebels, and complimenting the fanatical mobs for their patriotism and public spirit in killing foreigners and burning property.

MARINES ARRIVE.

The forces of over two thousand marines which left Tien Tsin on Sunday and yesterday in three trains is believed to have reached the capital in safety. The presence of this force was urgently needed, for the Dowager Empress has dropped all pretences and is in open sympathy with the enemies of the missionaries and foreigners, and all the mission property at Pekin is menaced with the fate of the American native Christians murdered by the soldiers commissioned to protect them.

It is the story of Armenia repeated in Pekin. All Christian converts and foreigners at the capital are at the mercy of the mobs as well as the regular soldiers, unless marines from the 21 ships of war can protect them.

POWERS CO-OPERATING.

A reassuring feature of the situation is apparent in the heartiness with which the great powers are co-operating in a determined effort to protect foreign interests in China. The United States Government is accepting its responsibility for the lives and property of Americans, and even the minor States, like Denmark, are adopting protection measures.

CRISIS MOMENTOUS.

Reports that Russian troops have crossed the frontier and that 6,000 men from the garrison at Port Arthur are preparing to go to Pekin under the arrangement agreed upon by the European powers, are not fully confirmed, but the crisis is so momentous that the jealousies of the suspicious European ca-itals may be overcome and the nearest foreign army be despatched to Pekin to avert massacre and rapine.

ASKS POWERS TO INTERVENE.

Chinese Emperor Makes an Appeal—Warning Against Dismemberment.

London, June 12.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, telegraphing yesterday, says—

"Wend-Tung-Ho, Emperor Kwang-Hau's tutor and confidant, who was dismissed by the Dowager Empress, after the coup d'etat of 1898, sends, with the special sanction of the Emperor and his party, including three Viceroys, a message to the peoples of the West. In part it is as follows—

"His Majesty is convinced, through ample trustworthy sources, that the loyal support of many scores of millions of Chinese will be accorded to his proposals for putting an end to the state of anarchy, brought about by the action of Empress Hai-Tsi.

"The Government of China being virtually non-existent, the Emperor proposes that the foreign powers, whose troops dominate the capitall, shall remove his imperial person from the palace in which His Majesty is confined as a prisoner, shall declare Empress Hai-Tsi and her present Ministers to be usurpers and shall bring Emperor Krank-Hau to Nanking, Wu-Chang, or Shanghai, whichever the said foreign powers deem to be the most suitable situation for the new capital of the Chinese Empire, under the new conditions.

A JOINT PROTECTORATE.

"It is proposed by His Majesty and his advisers that the foreign powers shall declare a joint protectorate, and undertake the task of governing the country through His Majesty."

The message suggests that the protectorate should abolish certain boards in Pekin; appoint new Ministers, abolish the existing so-called armies, establish gendarmie under foreign officers, take control of Customs, posts and telegraphs, and work them through Chinese officials, establish uniform currency, readjust taxation, and insure the freedom of religion.

Weng-Hung-Ho also predicts a peaceful acceptance of such a regime. He then proceeds to point out the inevitable results of any attempt at the dismemberment of China. "If it should be," he says, "that the foreign powers seriously contemplate the dismemberment of the Chinese Empire, they have before them the huge task of facting dense millions, who, although lacking training, and making but contemptible soldiers, possess the power of massive resistance, and would be able to wear out the patience of any European rulers seeking to govern them without regard to the prejudices of the oldest civilization. The conquest and division of China would be possible with 100,000 troops, but to retain the Government would require 1,000,000 soldiers and centuries for work. The task would end with the most unhappy results for both conquered and conquerors.

"His Majesty and his advisors beg America and Japan to pause before resorting to dismemberment, which can be deferred at least until the Emperor's efforts to govern his people and to restore the happiness of this great division of the human race have proved abortive. If the people are assured that the powers are guiding and protecting his Majesty and do not intend to swallow the country piecemeal, they and the soldiers will return unquestionably to the allegiance from which the Empress diverted them."

UNFORTUNATE CAPTIVES.

They Are Confined Without Shelter in an Enclosure

London, June 12.—The Times' Lorenzo Marquez correspondent says that 900 British prisoners are in a fenced-in enclosure at Nooitgadacht. None of them is above the rank of Captain. They are entirely without shelter, but have plenty of blankets and food. A representative of the American agency at Pretoria is actively interested in their behalf. The Prisoners' train, as it was leaving Pretoria, was subjected to heavy British fire, it being the impression that it contained fugitive burghers. No [illegible] injury was inflicted.

President Kruger remains at Machadodorp with a body guard of 1,200 burghers. The stores are being removed from Machadodorp to Lydenburg [illegible] ly as possible. The [illegible] ter [illegible] are resolved [illegible] town under any circumstances.

PRISONERS [illegible]

London, June 12.—The most cheering intelligence at midnight was the Central News' report from Pretoria that 3,700 British prisoners, including 150 officers, were rescued at Waterval, and that only 900 had been taken east by the Boers.

A FLAG INCIDENT AND ITS LESSON

Detroit has had a flag incident and goes down in the list of fool cities of the republic as a result. The incident as told Detroit Free Press follows—

"A miniature fac simile of that flag which Lord Roberts planted in Pretoria, was the cause of serious trouble in the vicinity of Fifth and Plum streets, about 9 o'clock last night and it was not until the bit of bunting was reduced to ashes that the angry mutterings of men, women and children were subdued and peace and the stars and stripes again reigned supreme.

Mrs. John Atkinson occupied one section of the double frame house at 162 Plum street. Her husband is employed in Cleveland and she resides in this city with seven small children. Mrs. Atkinson has only been a resident of this city since last fall and it was but two years ago that she came from Canada to the United States, but since that time she has resided in various places.

When the news of Lord Roberts' victory became known yesterday Mrs. Atkinson's invalid son, Frankie, was especially jubilant and to fully express his satisfaction he secured a small British flag and suspended it from the second story window. The colors waved with the breeze during the day and Mrs. Atkinson gave the matter very little thought until the rude awakening came.

Some eagle eyed youngster with great love for the stars and stripes first espied the little flag and several young children began to throw stones and sticks in the direction of the flag. Their action drew a larger crowd, and finally the demonstration became so great that men, women and children all joined in one great burning desire to haul done the English colors.

The excitement soon became intense and Patrolman Henderson of the Trumbull avenue police precinct, advised Mrs. Atkinson to tear down the colors. A young woman employed in one of the telephone offices rushed in to the place with a long pole and knocked the flag to the ground. This was the signal for a combined movement.

With a yell of delight the crowd surged forward and little Georgie Beebe caught up the fallen colors. Around the square marched the crowd until opposite the Atkinson home. Then, to the intense delight of all concerned, the flag was fired and slowly the blaze destroyed it. The children, waving about their heads the Stars and Stripes, joined by their elders, made the air ring with 'The Star Spangled Banner.'

Mrs. Atkinson was greatly annoyed at the incident, and said she was surprised at the action of the men and women as well as of the children. She said that she had lived in Canada many years and found that the Stars and Stripes were always respected. Quiet reigned in the vicinity at midnight."

While this little scene was being enacted in Detroit, another of a far different character was witnessed across the Detroit river where loyal Windsor was shouting itself hoarse with joy over the glad news. A conspicuous part in the Windsor celebration was taken by a delegation of Canadian residents of Detroit, who crossed back home and carried union jacks and stars and stripes in about equal numbers. Imagine what a lot of Barbara Freitchie incidents could have been supplied by Windsorites that day had they been as narrow as their neighbors. Imagine what a lot of flag incidents Peterborough could have supplied had the citizens frothed at the mouth every time their eyes rested on the emblem of the republic. Canadians are a self contained and a dignified people. They possess a civilization of a higher order than obtains in the U. S., and they do not gnash their teeth and foam and froth, and break things when they see the stars and stripes; and we would not have it otherwise. But we would have Canadians a little less indiscriminate. The day is passing when any old flag will do. The union jack ought to be good enough for to hoist. The people of this country ought to get over their habit of hoisting stars and stripes just to show their good feeling for a coyote nation upon whom good feeling is wasted, and they ought to let the Yankee flags rot in the basements of the stationery stores until our dear American cousins learn at any rate to treat the union jack with respect. When they learn that lesson Canadians can trot out their favorite brands of toleration again and take to flying the stars and stripes alongside a better looking flag, and the Times will make no protest.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Burlington Free Press thinks the Anglo-Saxon movement growing out of the Spanish-American struggle and the Boer war promises to play an important part in the presidential campaign of the present year. While Bryan may play successfully for the support of the "Dutch vote," it is significant that former British subjects in Illinois have planned an organization to support the republican party. It is safe to say that similar influences will operate in other States, and it remains to be seen which will outweigh the other. The very fact that the best sentiment of the American people is in sympathy with England in the present war is an aggravation to the Irish-American agitators and intensifies the opposition to the re-election of President McKinley.

An English paper just to hand remarks that as many are under the impression that not many armed men are left in the British Isles, they may be interested to know that 170,000 militia and 250,000 volunteers may be in the field at a few hours' notice. To this it may be added that the present war has shown that such militia and volunteers need but little time to become formidable troops to any enemy.

The Faded Coat of Blue

(Published by Request.)

My brave lad he sleeps in his faded coat of blue,
In a lonely grave unknown lies the heart
that beat so true;
He sank faint and hungry among the famished brave,
And they laid him sad and lonely within his nameless grave.

CHORUS—

No more the bugle calls the weary one.
Rest, noble spirit, in thy grave unknown;
I'll find you, and know you, among the good and true,
When a robe of white is giv'n for the faded
coat of blue.

He cried—"Give me water and just a little crumb,
And my mother she will bless you thro'
all the years to come;
Oh, tell my sweet sister, so gentle, good
and true,
That I'll meet her up in heaven in my faded coat of blue."

He said—"My dear comrades, you cannot take me home,
But you'll mark my grave for mother,
she'll find me if she comes.
I fear she'll not know me, among the good
and true,
When I meet her up in heaven in my faded coat of blue."

No dear one was nigh him to close his sweet blue eyes,
And no gentle one was by him to give him
sweet replies;
No stone marks the sod o'er my lad, so brave and true,
In his lonely grave he sleeps in his faded
coat of blue.

The Tallest Man on Earth

The biggest living man is Lewis Wilkins, who is now arousing great interest in the scientific circle of Europe. Wilkins was born on a farm near St. Paul in 1874. When he was but ten years of age he measured 6 feet in height, and now has grown to the tremendous height 107 1-4 inches—just three-quarters of an inch less than 9 feet—and weighs 304 pounds.

Perhaps the greatest giant of modern times before Wilkins was Charles Byrne, an Irishman. He measured 8 feet 2 inches. His skeleton is still preserved, proving beyond question his enormous size.

Other giants are Constantine, born at Zurich, in Switzerland, 8 feet 1 inch; Herold, born at Leipsic, 7 feet 5 inches; and Lady Emma, 8 feet 1 inch.

On The Hog.

The following from the Picton Gazette will be of interest to farmers. "Does it pay to raise hogs? is a question frequently asked by one farmer of another, and the answer varies according to the experience of those from whom the information is sought. Mr. Henry Bongard, Cressy, has had experience which convinces him that hog raising has paid him very well. He recently sold a sow to Jerry Hefferman, which was shipped last Tuesday, and weighed 440 lbs., being at that time three years old. During those three years Mr. Bongard says he realized from the sow, in the way of pigs, $337 80, besides supplying his family with pork during that period. This is a famous record.

The Way That Women Work.

It's enough to wear any one out. First it's washing, in damp and draft. Then it's ironing with the hot stove and the hard work to endure. And in between whiles, meals to get, house to clean, and children to tend. It's bad enough for a well woman but for a weak woman it's slow torture. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the diseases of the delicate organs which weaken women. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free of charge. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"My health is the best now that it has been for four years," writes Mrs. Phebe Morris, of Ira, Cayuga Co., N. Y., Box 52. "I have taken but two bottles of your medicine, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' These medicines have done me more good than all that I have ever taken before. Before I took your medicines I was sick in bed nearly half the time. I couldn't do my work only about half the time, and now I can work all the time for a family of four. My advice to all who are troubled with female weakness is to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery'—the most wonderful medicines in the world."

Short Story of the Day

THE CONTRITE COWARD.

Abel went to war one day,
Dropped his gun and ran away!

The children cried after him the jingling doggerel. Abel Tutt went on his road and would not look at them, nor seem to hear them.

These were not the first children to molest him in the village street, as the schools were dismissed. The parents of some of them had yelled at him years ago, parents who were the first concoctors of the rhyme. The elder brothers and sisters of these present babes had chanted it in their turn, and still the mocking words were relished by the urchin mob.

For nearly 34 years the now gray-haired and solitary man had been the butt of the native township. He was tabooed; and he was ostracized; he was out-side the camp.

As the lonely years passed by and many of the soldiers who had fought while he ran dropped out of life, his punishment became softened to a great extent. People began to forget, if they never forgave. For a large part of the year, therefor, Abel Tutt could now come into the market place from his patch of a farm and be contemptuously ignored.

He was young when first he had been called a "coward"—a lad of 18. Now, when he was over 50, an old, familiar call came to his solitude, a call unheard for many years, a call which rang out until every citizen from the Atlantic to the Pacific heard it—the bugle call to arms. Abel heard in the store and saw in the paper what had occurred, and he fell on his knees in his lonely house and sobbed and prayed.

"If I am permitted another trial," he cried. "give me strength, O, Lord! give me courage!"

There was a recruiting station in a larger town not far from the village, and there gathered many who desired to enlist for the war against Spain. Thither went Abel Tutt, telling no man of his mission. A sergeant stood at the door of the fofice, and to him Abel applied.

"I've come to 'list,'" said Abel, straightening up

"I guess," said the sergeant, not unkindly, "this war can be fixed without calling on the veterans. The doctor's only passing young men and hearty. How old are you?"

"Fifty odd."

"Grand Army?"

"No, sir."

"Thought maybe you'd been in the civil war."

"I—I was in the army."

"Well, it's great to see the way you veterans are eager to fight again!" the sergeant said with an approving smile. "You shame lots of the young chaps. But you old hands at the trade have had your fill of glory, so don't grudge the new boys their chance."

"Glory!" cried a voice in the little crowd, and a youngster from Abel's township pushed forward with a loud laugh. "Glory! Him? Great Scott, but that's good. That's Abel Tutt, the deserter, who would have been shot for running away if President Lincoln hadn't pardoned him when his mother went to him crying. You ain't as spry on your feet as you seem to be Abel. You couldn't run fast enough now to get away safe. Best stay home."

"Is that true?" the sergeant asked coldly, looking up and down the man's lank form with a sneer.

"That's why I want to join," said Abel with a pathetic appeal. "I want a chance to wipe it out. Can I see the officer?"

"No good," the soldier answered, turning sharply away. "The captain never lets up on a deserter."

Abel slipped away through the jeering crowd and went back to his farm. He sat there, silent and sorrowing until long after dark, and then sprang to his feet.

"I must go!" he cried. 'I can bear it no longer. It is my only chance—I must go."

* * * * * * * * *

From many transports the American soldiers poured into Cuba. The regulars and volunteers, white and black, paused but a little while, ad then plunged into the interior to do speedy battle.

But beside there were others to be landed. With shouts and yells, the neighing of horses and the clamorous brays of the mules, and four-footed followers of the army were forced over-board and guided ashore, swimming. With them were their immediate masters and attendants, the necessary but far from ornamental muleteers.

They were rough and undisciplined and shaggy bearded and rude tongue. The trained battalions drew out in orderly columns and though leaving the familiar horse parade. The mules followed, a tumultuous herd, ready to stampede, and in front of and behind them, and watching their flanks, rode the whackers, every man garbed and equipped as he thought best.

Each mule was laden down with ammunition, and upon these coarse looking, coarse tongued mule whackers depended perhaps the fate of the army, should that ammunition not be on hand at a critical moment.

Among them, doing his hard work silently and without complaint under a glaring sun, rode the coward, Abel Tutt. All his efforts to enlist in the ranks had been absolutely vain. Despairing of carrying a rifle then, but determined to wipe out his disgrace by some means, he had gone down to Florida, and there at Tampa he had at last found means to follow the army he had once deserted.

* * * * * * * *

The aide-de-camp spurred his horse and rode at a wild gallop down the forest road. The battle had stubbornly raged all the morning, and now when the tropical sun was at its hight, the weary prespiring invaders of the isle were praying for night or else the command to rush the trenches.

The aide-de-camp broke out of the jungle strip again and gained the open. Here he found himself several hundred yards from the objective—a battalion of regular infantry, who was slowly advancing up a hill, pouring in a hot fire on the spaniards, who held the intrenched ridge. Their fire was heavy, but the Spanish fire, backed by artillery, was a deadly one, and here and there lay many blue-coated soldiers stiffening in the long grass. The aide charged through the hall and drew up beside the major in command.

"The brigade general's compliments, sir," he panted. "It is vital that you keep the enemy busy at this point for at least another hour, when the reinforcements coming up will permit a general advance. The general desires to know if you can do this with your present force. He can ill spare the men, but if necessary you can have another company. What shall I tell him?"

"Please ask the general to not mind sending men, but for heaven's sake to send me ammunition. We don't average 20 rounds per man. If he can't why—I must fall back."

The Contrite Coward. Two.

The battalion continued its dogged assault, creeping up by inches, the men throwing aside one by one everything they dared, to linger them and make the heat less intolerable. The major chafed.

"Easy, boys, easy!" he cried. 'Don't throw away a shot. What's wrong Corp. Eads?"

"Not a cartridge left, sir."

The major fumed

"If I fall back," he groaned, 'those beggars will charge us and—ah! Is that them? Yes—go it, boys, here comes more ammunition! Non-commissioned officers, fall out and make ready to distribute ammunition."

At the edge of the jungle strip appeared two pack mules. Two men mounted on other mules, drove them forward. The Americans cheered but the sharp-eyed Spaniards also saw the newcomers, and at once realized on what errand they come.

The fire of three guns on the hill was directed instantaneously upon the mules, who were at once crazed by the shell and shrapnel which screamed at them, while every rifle in the trench seemed to be aimed at the devoted mule whackers.

One of the muleteers, a gray-haired round-shouldered man, was white with the agony of his fear, but the other, a dark, cannon ball-headed young fellow of the bulldog type, was aroused by his danger to passionate wrath and utterly unthinking recklessness.

"You white-faced dummy!" cried he. "What are you shaking about? Round up that mule—get a move on you—them catridges have got to go to the major, see? They've got to. Ram your heels into that brute of yours and follow me, or I'll plug you so full of holes folks'll take you for an open-door! Come on!"

The coward's weaker part was nearly the conqueror. He was in exactly the same deplorable physical condition as he was when, years agone, he slipped away from the ranks, unnerved by the roar of guns. In another moment he would have abandoned the trust and added greater disgrace to his name, when a good angle whispered to him. He saw, by the light of one clear flash of memory, his village street. He saw himself passing, through more than 30 years, a dishonored life. He heard the mocking voices of the children.

Abel went to war one day,
Dropped his gun and ran away!

The incident passed in less than a minute. Then the two muleteers lashed on the pack mules.

The younger muleteer was aflame with rage and excitement. He rode like a horsebreaker. He kept his pack mule pretty straight, shouting, cursing, cheering with every breath. Abel followed silently, but he was no expert. His charge broke hither and thither, and every moment the bullets seemed to fall faster.

At last the young man rose in his stirrups with a triumphant yell, and waved his hat at the Spanish with a gesture of contempt. He was but 70 or 80 yards from a bluff which would shelter him, where the soldiers were eagerly waiting and cheering him on. The pack mule was immediately in front of him, and Abel many yards behind.

The shell arrived. It crashed fairly into the boxes of ammunition packed on the mule. A rock-rending explosion followed. When the earth cloud vanished the mule and muleteer lay in a ghastly heap, and the ammunition was scattered far, and most of it had taken part in the explosion.

Then the major and the man turned their eyes to Abel, the only hope. The coward had seen and his pulses almost ceased to beat. He turned faint, and his impulse was to drop from his saddle and crept away in the long grass and hide and shelter his poor coward flesh. With a mighty effort he broke away and cried again with a martyr's cry.

"Give me strength, O, Lord! Give me courage!"

He received it. He spurred his mule; he guided the stampeded pack mule. He charged through the hell in front of him. He saw the cheering soldiers before him and very near.

Then something shrinking in the air, fell and burst, and, as the pack mule was caught by the soldiers and the all-needful catridges were torn from its back, Abel sank, grievously torn by a piece of the bursting shell, into the arms of the major.

"Thank you, thank you, my man!" cried the jubilant officer. "You're saved the position. That last dash was grand magnificent! You're a hero, and the folks at home shall know it, I promise you."

Abel tried to speak.

"Please sir," he gasped. 'Will you—will you tell the children?"

He lived awhile nd was sent home, and, in the village which had mocked him, died of his wound. There was no mocking then, but much honor was paid the coward, for the major made good his word, and the newspapers spoke much of the obscure muleteer's timely bravery.

There are divers sorts of bravery, but he who is bravest of all is the coward who conquers his cowardice.

Delays Are Dangerous.

A small pimple on your face may seem of little consequence, but it shows your blood is impure, and impure blood is what causes most of the diseases from which people suffer. Better heed the warning given by the pimple and purify your blood at once by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine cures all diseases due to bad blood, including scorfula and salt rheum.

We Shall Know.

(Published by Request.)

When the mists have rolled in splendor from the beauty of the hills
And the sunshine, warm and tender, falls in kisses on the rills,
We may read love's shining letter in the rainbow of the spray,— We shall know each other better when the mists have cleared away.
CHOROUS—

We shall know as we are known, never more to walk alone,
In the dawning of the morning, when the
mists have cleared away;
In the dawning of the morning, when the
mists have cleared away.

If we err in human blindness, and forget that we are dust;
If we miss the law of kindness when we struggle to be just,
Snowy wings of peace shall cover all the pain that hides away,
When the weary march is over and the
mists have cleared away.

When the mists have risen above us, as our Father knows His own,
Face to face with those who love us, we shall know as we are known;
Love beyond the orient meadows floats
the golden fringe of day,
Heart to heart, we bide the shadows, till the mists have cleared away.

It is frequently asserted that Mining is a risky business to invest in, but I think if you would use the same care and judgment you would display in entering into any other investment, you would find it quite otherwise!

If I offered you a dry goods business, would you take it up blindfold, or as a "gamble?"

Certainly not! You would investigate from every point of view, while most men go into Mining as they take hotel soup—hoping it's all right!

Why not look upon Rob Roy shares as an investment and treat them as such—Investigating thoroughly whether the taking up of a thousand or two would pay?

If you wish to investigate—use me! That's what I'am paid for!

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal ore producing region of this portion of the Rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed, and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida, at Cleora station, on the main trunk line of the great Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, and also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

COUNTY COURT.

Opens at the Court House Before Judge Weller Yesterday.

The June sittings of the County Court opened yesterday before His Honor Judge Weller. The following cases composed the docket.—O'Brien vs. Laverdure, Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, for plaintiff, W. H. Moore, for defendant; Campbell vs. Bothwell, Stratton & Hall, for plaintiff, E. B. Edwards, for defendant; Sapery vs. Beck, D. O'Connell, for plaintiff, W. H. Hewson, for defendant; Carton vs. Turner et al, D. O'Connell, for plaintiff, Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, and Kerr & Kerr, for defendants; Rundle vs. Waller D. O'Connell, for plaintiff E. B. Stone, for defendant.

The Grand Jury was empanelled as follows.—Wm. Barry, Douro; Thos. Galvin, Ennismore; Albert V. Hill, Lakefield; Robt. Hunter, Smith; Chas. Leitch, Otonabee; David Miller, Smith; Wm. Moore, Otonabee; John McNaughton, Asphodel; Robt. McWhinnie, Peterborough, foreman; C. B. Routley, Peterborough, Samuel Ray, Peterborough; W. J. Wiseman, Havelock.

Judge Weller addresed the Grand Jury briefly. He referred with satisfaction to the fact that there were no criminal cases to be heard, pointing out that as the law now stands most of the criminal cases are heard by himself or by the Magistrates without a jury. He also referred with pleasure to the prospects for a bountiful harvest.

O'Brien vs. Laverdure was the first case. Michael O'Brien, a carter, residing in the town of Peterborough seeks to recover from E. G. Laverdure, of the firm of Corry & Laverdure, the sum of $200 and costs for damages alleged to have been sustained by the reason of the defendant negligently, carelessly and without taking any precaution as to his method driving, on October 17, 1899, near the Hunter street bridge, whereby a collision occurred and defendant was injured.

The defendant, in his statement of defence, denies that the accident was caused by any negligence, carelessness or want of caution in his method of driving the horse attached to his buggy Dennistoun, Peck and Stevenson for plaintiff; W. H. Moore for defendant.

THE LAKEFIELD BONUS.

Votes of the Electors to be Taken on Twenty-sixth of June.

The votes of the electors of the village of Lakefield on the proposed by-law to assist in the construction of a Portland Cement Manufactory, will be taken on Tuesday, June 26th. The by-law is now before the people, and will doubtless receive the assent of the required number of ratepayers to give it effect.

The many advantages that will accrue to the village by the construction of the proposed works has been fully explained by the promoters, as well as by others who have studied the matter. The report of the gentlemen who visited Owen Sound works told the story perfectly.

We believe it is the duty of every citizen to record his vote in favor of the by-law.

REPORTERS ROUNDS.

Local Happenings Picked Up Here and There by the Times.

The first Canadian strawberries have arrived.

Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer, has issued a notice asking citizens to clean their wells.

You never read of such cures elsewhere as thus accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla, did you? It is America's Greatest Medicine.

Some unhung villain or villains placed a couple of rails across the road near the Walton farm in Smith in such a way that any bicyclists who happened to come along would come to grief, and perhaps be killed. Fortunately the obstruction was discovered by Mr. Fred. Mitchell, who came along the road.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

The Times was favored with a call yesterday from the George McHugh, M. P. Lindsay, who was on his way to Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Master H. Matthews, and Mrs. J. B. Hunter of town, accompanied by Mr. A. J. Mills, of London, England, are on a brief trip to Niagara Falls.

Mr. George A Morrison of Tacoma, Wash., is in town, having been called here through the serious illness of his sister Mrs. Andrew Wilson. Mr. Morrison was formerly in the insurance business here.

Mr. M. Riley mechanical superintendent of the Lock Works here, left yesterday on an extended holiday. He will visit Ireland for a few weeks, and points in the United States, and also the Paris exposition.

Mrs. C. B. McAllister, on behalf of the Aberdeen Association, whose work is to furnish the sparsely settled portions of the Dominion with reading matter, is getting up another box to be sent at an early date. Anyone having any old magazines, etc., may leave the same at the Y. M. C. A., where they will be received with thanks.

We were pleased to have a call from our old friend Lieut.-Col. Bell, who is spending a few days in town, arranging to move his household furniture to Toronto. Since the Dr. entered upon his duties as resident physician at the hospital, he has been kept very busy on account of sickness among st the medical staff, and the brief vacation which he is now taking is a well earned rest.

Be in Style.

Get and wear a button containing a portrait of your favorite English General. We have just received a sample lot of the following English Generals' portraits on a neat little button—Lord Roberts, Lord Kitchener, General Buller Col. Baden-Powell, General White, and Union Jack flag. These are sold at five cents each. Times Bookstore.

A Plausable Theory.

The medical man told The Times yesterday that the foot which was picked up at Stevens' bone yard the other day had probably been "swiped" from a dissecting room by some student who brought it home with him, and who subsequently threw it away. This is probably the correct theory.

AGAIN ON THE NECK.

The Town Loses Another of its Fool Lawsuits With a Big Bill of Costs.

The town of Peterborough is again stuck for a heavy bill of costs in an action at law. It is the same old story without change or variation. In this case a fair offer had been made for a settlement, but the council would have none of it. They wanted the whole hog or nothing and they got—nothing with a big bill costs thrown in. The Council will no doubt try to shift the blame on the Town Solicitor, but in doing this they forget that they are the ones who employ and pay Mr. Edwards.

In the action which was decided at Osgoode Hall, yesterday, the town claimed that the Railway Company was liable to rebuild or repair a bridge on Smith street, when a small stream as diverted by the Railway Company, crosses the street, and asked for a mandamus to compel them to rebuild it or restore the stream to its former state. The court held that the railway company had acted within their rights in diverting the stream, and if the municipality had sustained damage by reason of the exercise of those rights, they must proceed under the railway act to obtain compensation. Should the defendants refuse to proceed the plaintiffs would have their remedy by mandamus upon motion. Such a mandamus should not be granted in the present action, a motion being the proper course. Action dismissed with costs. Edwards, Q. C., for plaintiffs. W. Nesbitt, Q. C., for defendants.

THREE YEARS IN KINGSTON.

The Horse Thief Sentenced by Police Magistrate Edmison.

Isaac Lottridge, who was name the horse thief gave when he appeared before County Magistrate Edmison. He has, on every occasion on which he had an opportunity, given a different name but he will go to the penitentiary for 3 years anyway.

He was charged with having stolen a horse from Hugh Fife, of Otonabee, of stealing a second horse near Lorneville and of stealing clothes, etc. He, pleaded guilty to the three charges and was sentenced to three years each for the first two charges and 6 months for the third, the sentences to run concurrently.

Lottridge is a half breed and claims to be seventy years of age. He said that when he took Fife's horse he did not do so with the intention of keeping it. He also expressed great surprise that he did not receiv ea heavier sentence.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Blanche Foote and Mr. E. T. Lush.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at St. John's church yesterday morning, when Miss Blanche Foote, daughter of the late Frederick Foote, of Peterborough, was united in marriage to Mr. Edwin Lush, of town. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. J. C. Davidson, in the presence of a limited number of intimate friends of the contracting parties. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. H. F. Foote. She was charmingly attired in a white organdie gown, trimmed with lace and insertion, with a sprinkling of cream satin, and wore a veil. She carried a bouquet of beautiful white roses. Miss Lillie Lush, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, and looked exceedingly pretty in a costume of white organdie, trimmed with lace, and with a girdle of net. She also carried a bouquet of pink roses. The duties of best man were satisfactorily performed by Mr. Herbert Lush, brother of the groom. After the ceremony the party drove to the residence of the bride's mother, where a wedding dejeuner was served. The young couple took the noon train for the south, and will visit the Thousand Islands and eastern points before returning and taking up their residence in town.

The presents of the bride were costly and numerous, and showed the esteem in which she is held. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful pearl crescent, and to the bridesmaid an elegant opal pin.

The Times joins in wishing the happy couple a long and prosperous life.

Death of Mrs. Sommerville.

The many friends of Mr. F. R. Sommerville, Civil Engineer, Toronto, formerly with the Grand Trunk railway here, will regret to hear of the death of Mrs. Sommerville. It appears that the deceased, who had been married about a year, had been nursing her step-children, who were ill with scarlet fever. The little ones had entirely recovered when Mrs. Sommerville was stricken with the disease in its most malignant form, and died within a few hours. The physicians in attendance had her interred at once, not even permitting her mother to see the remains, lest there should be infection. Mr. Sommerville has the sympathy of his many Peterborough friends. Miss Jenkins left to Toronto to bring back the little ones.

COFFEE DISEASES.

Minister and Young Lady Affected.

Ministers sometimes find they suffer from the effects of bad habits as well as ordinary people Rev. Mr. of Athens, N. Y., had become greatly emaciated from coffee drinking, which produced stomach trouble and all of the effects of overwork or poor nourishment.

He quit the coffee and began drinking Postum Cereal Food Coffee.

His health began to improve and he now weighs 151 pounds, an increase of 15 pounds over his former weight. This improvement in health and strength is shown to be due to the use of Postum Food Coffee, by the fact that when he stops drinking Postum—as he has done for an experiment—he began to lose flesh and get back into his old condition.

A young lady who writes about the case says that she was formerly suffering greatly from "those twin diseases," dyspepsia and nervousness. "I knew that both of the diseases had their origin in the use of coffee, and while I was fully aware of its injurious effects upon my system, I was not willing to give it up, for I did not know of anything to take its place.

"Tea, I knew, was also injurious and as for cocoa, it lacked the 'snap and go which can alone satisfy a coffee drinker's taste. About two years ago I purchased my first box of Postum Food Coffee and quit the use of coffee. I made Postum according to directions and found I had a drink not only equal to coffee, but far superior to it in many ways. Since that time I have used it constantly and find my general health very much improved, and the 'twin diseases' gone. I also send you the names of Rev., and Mrs.—of Athens, N. Y., who have been greatly helped by the use of Postum Food Coffee in the place of ordinary coffee."

"A Fair Outside Is a Poor Substitute For Inward Worth."

Good health, inwardly, of the kidneys, liver and bowels, is sure to come if Hood's Sarsaparilla is promptly used.

This secures a fair outside, and a consequent vigor in the frame, with the glow of health on the cheek, good appetite, perfect digestion, pure blood.

Loss of Appetite — "I was in poor health, troubled with dizziness, tired feeling and loss of appetite. I was completely run down. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and after awhile I felt much better. Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up." LIZZIE A. RUSSELL, Old Chelsea, near Ottawa, Que.

Biliousness—"I have been troubled with headache and biliousness and was much run down. Tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and it gave me relief and built me up." A. MORRISON, 80 Defoe Street, Toronto, Ont.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Never Disappoints

Hood's Pills cure liver ills; the non-irritating and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mr Kendry's Prediction.

Yesterday Mr. James Kendry, M.P., told the Times that the Conservative members were in high feather in Ottawa, as they were satisfied that the Liberals would not again be returned to power. Mr. Kendry also expressed the opinion that the Ontario Government was on its last legs. On the other hand, Mr. Geo. McHugh, M.P., thinks Laurier will sweep the country, and as for the Ontario Administration, it was a strong, progressive government, and was there to stay. You can take your choice.

The New Granolithic Walks.

Sir.—The town proposes to continue the work of building granolithic walks, would it not be wiser for the council to supply the cement? There would then be no object in slighting the work through lack of cement, it would make it easy for comparatively poor men to tender for the work.

I hope the Times will take this matter up.

ROBERTS AND METHUEN ENGAGE WITH THE BOERS

Lord Roberts Has an All Day Fight With Botha Fifteen Miles From Pretoria.

METHUEN DEFEATS FORCES OF GEN. DE WET.

Kitchener Made a Forced March From Pretoria to Join Methuen at Heilbron and Aid in Clearing the Line Near Roodeval From Troublesome Boer Raiders.

London, June 14.

A despatch from Lisbon says—"The Portuguese Government is again reported fearing that the Boers will enter Delagoa Bay territory when forced to retreat from Lydenburg. The Portuguese have only 1,500 troops in East Africa, a[illegible]ould be powerless to prevent an incursion.

London, June 14.

The despatch from Lord Roberts, clearing up the situation at Pretoria and and along the communications stand out alone. Military observers, noting that no mention is made of prisoners, assume that Gen.. De Wet got away with his forces practically intact.

Gen Buller entered Volkrust Wednesday, passed through Charleston and encamped near Laing's Nek. The tunnel was not much damaged. Both ends were blown up but the engineers think that repairs can be effected in about four days. The advance troops of Gen Buller saw the Boer rearguard four miles distant yesterday. It was estimated that 8,000. Boers were with-drawing. The towns-people at Ermelo counted 15 guns. Three hundred Free Staters released from guarding Van Reenan's pass have gone to join President Steyn's commando. in the eastern part of Orange River Colony

Rundle has sent notice to the FreeStaters that unless they surrender by June 15 their farms and other possessions will be confiscated.

President Kruger, according to a despatch from Lorenzo Marques, keeps a locomotive with steam up attached to the car in which he concentrates the executive offices of the Government, and he intends to leave Machadodorp soon and to establish the Transvaal capital at Helapruit, on the mountain a fine defensive region. The State printing press is operating at Machadodorp producing leaflets containing war news for distributing among the Boers.

It is again reported at Lorenzo Marques that the British are advancing through Swaziland. Lord Roberts, it appears, however, countermanded the order given to Strathcona Horse to land on the coast and to penetrate to the Transvaal through the Swazi countr.

Mr. Schreiner, the Cape Premier, and his colleagues resigned last evening Sir Alfred Milner accepting their resigna-

Gen. Buller's casualties on June 10 have been issued by the War Office. They were 26 killed, 126 wounded, and 2 missing.

A meeting of women who object to the war was held at Queen's Hall last evening. Mrs. Howard Courtney presided and Mrs. Jas. Bryce moved a resolution declaring that the war resulted from the bad policy of the Government. These and other anti-war resolutions were adopted. The meeting hissed Mr. Chamberlain's name most vigorously. Mr. H. M. Donohue, the Daily Mail's correspondent, insists that President Kruger took $500,000 in gold in his flight.

ROBERTS HEARD FROM.

He Tells of Severe Fighting With Botha And Large Numbers of Boers.

London, June 13.—A lengthy despatch forwarded to the War Office by Major General Knox from Kroonstad, presumable sent there by messenger, reads as follows;

"Kroonstad, June 12.—We have been requested to forward you from Lord Roberts the following despatch from the Pretoria residency at 8.30 a. m., to-day.

"Pretoria, June 12—Pretoria and Johannesberg are perfectly quiet, and several of the inhabitants have expressed gratitude for the peace and order which prevails."

"After surrendering the city Botha retired to a place about 15 miles east on the Middleburg Road. He had a small force at first, but during the last few days his numbers increased and is being so near the town kept up the excitement in the country, prevented the burghers from laying down their arms, and interferred with the collection of supplies. It therefore became necessary to attack him. This I did yesterday. He held a very strong position practically unassailable in front, which enabled him to place the main porti onof his troops on his flanks which French with Porter's and xiDons cavlary brigades and Hutton's mounted infantry including the Canadian mounted rifles round by our left and Ian Hamilton with Broadwood and Gordons cavlry brigades, Ridley's mounted infantry and Bruce Hamilton's brigade by our right. Both columns met with great opposition. At about three in the afternoon I saw two of Hamilton's fantry battalion advancing to what appeared to be the key of the enemy's defence on their left flank. This was almost gained before dark and I ordered the force to bivouac on the ground they had won."

"Pole-Carew with his division occupied our centre. As I have explained, he could not attack, but he gradually advanced so as to support Ian Hamilton, and when I left the field he was on the line held by the enemy's out posts in the morning.

"I hurried back to get news of Methuen's movement.. On hearing that the Free Staters had taken advantage of our crossing the Vaal to interrupt our line of communication I despatched Kitchener with such troops as I then could spare with orders to push south and communicate with Methuen, who I knew had a very compact force in the vicinity of Heilbron. I also despatched a special messenger to Methuen, instructing him to push on at all speed to the main line of railway. These two foficers met at Vredefort Road station in the evening of June 10. They marched yesterday to Rhenoster River, where Methuen gained a complete victory over eD Wet and took possession of his camp and scattered his troops in all directions. He and Kitchener marched to-day towards Kroonstad.

"'Her Majesty's Government need have no apprehension as to the security of the army in South Africa. The enemy gained a slight success, which was unfortunate, but which will be remedied very shortly and it will not take long to repair the damage done to the railway. As these diversions are all in existence and I am now able to hold the line between this and Rhenoster in strength. Methuen will arrange to guard it onward as he advances.

"'Hunter should be at Pochestroom to-day. He will then move on Johannesberg.

"'We have communicated with Buller, who will,. no doubt, soon make the presence of his force in the field felt.

"Our losses yesterday were not, I trust, serious,. but I deplore the death of that gallant soldier. the Earl of Airlie. The only other casualties reported as yet are;—

"Seventh Lancers—Major,, the Hon. Lionel Fortescue and Lieutenant, the Hon. C. Cavendish, both killed.

Gen. Knox adds that Kroonstad is quite safe.

LAING'S NEK ABANDONED.

General Buller's Flanking Movement is Completely Successful.

London, June 12, 9.12 p.m.—The War Office has issued the following.

Buller to the secretary of War; "Joubert's Farm, June 12, 5.05 p.m. Encamped fou rmiles north of Volksrust. Laing's Nek and Majuba were completely evacuated by the Boers last night. Gen. Clary from Ingogo is now coming over the Nek. I have had to cam phere for want of water. A correct list of yesterday's casualties will be sent as soon as received."

CROWN COLONIES.

Plan of the British Government for South Africa,

Lodon, June 13.—It is learned that the Government have at last decided upo a plan for the civil settlement of South Africa. The details are kept secret, but it can safely be said that the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal will become Crown colonies, the latter probably beig renamed the Transvaal Colony. Sir Alfred Milner, it is declared is to be High Commissioner of South Africa in spite of the opposition he has incurred. The Crown colony form of government can best be understood by reference to the system in vogue in the West Indies, Sierre Leone and Ceylon. Endeavors will make this in force as soon as possible in the Transvaal and Orange River Colony though it is scarcely exected that the details wiol lbe announced or some part of the work begun for a few months While the civil settlement will be drawn up so as to be eventually independent of military enforcement, it is realized that the initial work must be effected with the co-operation of the troops. Sir Alfred Milner appears to believe that civil reorganization and military pacification can proceed simultaneously, and that a possible scattered rising will not seriously retard the reorganization once it is begun. The Colonial Office is said to be of the opinion, however, that the maintenance of good-sized garrisons at such centres as Bloemfontein, Kroonstad, Johannesberg and Pretoria will be necessary for a long time after the Crown colony system gets in working order, For this reason and others put forward by Sir Alfred Milner, the idea of granting an autonomous form of government has been abandoned. It is believed, although it cannot be verified, that a portion of the Transvaal will be partitioned to Natal. The whole arrangement may be roughly expressed by the progressives, as opposed to those held by the bondites. The final steps in this decision have been taken during the last few days. Mr. Chamberlain sent for Mr. J. P. Fitzpatrick, author of "The Transvaal From Within," who is well known in connection with South Africa affairs, and spent a whloe day in consultation with him Mr. Fitspatrick will saíl for CapeTown on June 16 to join the Advisory Committee which Sir Alfred Milner is forming.

ALL IS COMING BRITAIN'S WAY.

Lord Roberts Has Emerged From Fog Which Enshrouded His Doings for Seven Days With More Prestige Than Ever.

London, June 13.—Lord Roberts has emerged from the fog which for seven days has enshrouded his doings at Pretoria with more prestige than ever, and in his first message assures a waiting empire that all is well, that the raid upon his line of communications has been defeated with loss, and that he himself is in the midst of a battle with General Botha, which gives every promise of a British victory. When the railway and telegraph in his rear were cut by the Boers about a week ago, the bahadur with that activity, alertness and self-reliance which have ever been his characteristics, took upon his own shoulders the task of restoring the interrupted communications. Recognizing that the unexpected might have happened and that his subordinate generals to the south of Kroonstad might be in no position to free his rear, with wise judgment he decided to undertake the task himself so as to obviate any possibility of misunderstanding. Despatching Kitchener by forced marches to the south he at the same time sent a messenger, who by hard riding warned Methuen at Heilbron of what was on foot. The result was that when Kitchener reached Vredefort, twenty miles south of the Vaal, Methuen's division was there to effect a junction and form a force which immediately turned south, marched twenty miles to the Rhenoster, the scene of one of General French's earlier exploits, and inflicted a crushing defeat upon the Boer commandos, which had wrought such sad havoc, depersing them in all directions and capturing their camp. Lord Roberts' despatch clearly gives the impression that all danger of a repetition of the raid is over, and that the line will shortly be in working order again. He also estimates that General Buller will shortly bring his force to play upon the locality in which the raiders are operating, so that with 80,000 men around them it will not be surprising to hear of the capture of the Boers who are still in arms in the Northern Free State.

Lord Roberts also gives a lucid account of an unfinished battle with General Botha, which was fought on the Middleburg road, fifteen miles outside Pretoria, on Monday last, and in which about 40,000 men were engaged on the British side, including the second Canadian Contingent. General Botha has been learning the art of warfare from Lord Roberts, and on this occasion he has exercised so much ingenuity in his choice of a position that the centre was unassailable, while the flanks were so strongly guarded as to render turning movements dangerous and difficult. The fight lasted during all the day and when night fell Bruce Hamilton's infantry had reached a position which, in Lord Roberts' judgment, rendered the Boer left flank untenable. Then the order to bivouac was given, the British sleeping upon the ground they had won from the enemy by hard fighting, while Roberts himself sped post-haste to Pretoria to take up the thread of the doings to the south and hear of the success of Kitchener and Methuen against De Wet. It is likely that the battle was continued yesterday, but so far no information as to the result has been received, though it is anxiously awaited. General Botha is showing no small amount of boldness, in remaining so close to the British lines and a distinct improvement in tactics by his choice of position which marks a departure in the Boer Methods and shows that the lessons of the war are beginning to take effect.

PRESSMEN UNDER FIRE.

They had Exciting Times While Carrying Messages at Develsdorp.

London, June 12.—Reuter's correspondent with General Rundle, writing from Thaba M'chu, about the attack on De Wet's Dorp says; "The Boers stormed the high pleateau intervening between the newly-formed main camp and head-quarters, and actually in the vicinity of headquarters itself, until on Tuesday evening—the night on which they left—they actually threw their nasty little bursting shells by the dozen right among the staff tents. Thkus the press correspondents, having gone with the main body to the new camp, had to cross the pom-pom swept plateau every evening to reach headquarters, where the Press Censor had his abode. Needless to say, the journalists had a most lively and exciting time each evening, and to see us riding across that plain in open—very open—order, was a sight which the "Tommies," scouts and Yoemanry used to look forward to, their faces smirking behind the seclusion of their trenches, and tehir voices yelling warnings as to the vagaries of the pom-pom. One night, indeed, the danger became so real that a hastily convened meeting of pressmen was called to consider whether it was advisable to run the risk of the pom-pom for the sake of the miserably short message per day we were allowed to cable, but after due consideration the risk to our reputation, as against to our lives, carried the day. Early next morning Generals Rundle and Chermside rode over the evacuated Boer positions and entered De Wet's Dorp."

STORY OF THE FIGHTING.

Correspondent tells of the British Disaster near Roodeval.

London June 13.—The correspondent of the Daily Express at Machadodorp sends by way of Lorenso Marques Boer versions of the recent fighting in the Orange River Colony,as the British now call what was formerly the Orange Free State, which resulted in disaster to a battalion of the Derbyshire Regiment. Dating his despatch June 10, the correspondent states that President Kruger issued a bulletin reporting that the burghers on June 7 advanced in four divisions under Commandant Steenkamp, Froneman, Duploy, Fourie and Nel, and attacked the British at Roodeval and Rhenoster river. Severe fighting ensued which lasted four hours. Two hundred British were killed or wounded, and 700 were captured together with immense stores including food and ammunition. A Maxim gun and 1,000 lyddite bombs were also captured. Some of the food was commandeered by Boer farmers and the remainder was buried. The British were sheltered behind embankments and in kopjes. The burghers attacked from the open veldt and displayed unprecedented bravery.

Another unofficial report says that Gen De Wet was fighting on June 7. He captured 3000 suits of clothing overcoats boots and blankets. Being unable to remove the property he burned it. Its value was £10,000 sterling. He also captured thousands of shrapnel and lyddite shells... Gen. De Wet estimates that he put a thousand British out of action.

Commandant Steenkamp took 38 prisoners in a small fight at Vredefort road on June 8. Five Boers were wounded in this engagement. Five hundred men arrived to reinforce the British complain of the cold, and suffer greatly. Their hospitals are full of exhausted and sick troops. Horse sickness is increasing. Thousands of animals have died at Kroonstad.

BOER SHOT ON THE SPOT.

How Chesham Punished the Man Who Killed Patrick Campbell.

London, June 13.—Some startling particulars of the shooting of Sergeant Patrick Campbell, husband of the distinguished actress, are given in a letter from an officer at Kimberley to a friend in Glasgow. It appears, according to the wrighter, that at the fight at Boshof, after General Villebois de Mareuil was killed by a piece of shell, the enemy surrendered and hoisted the white flag. Then, continues the officer, "Patrick Campbel', the actress' husband, with the Yeomanry Sergeant-Major, went forward to take the surrender, and when within thirty yards of the enemy, was shot right through the head. Lord Chesham, in command, with a squadron of men, then went up and threatened to shoot the whole crowd unless they handed up the man who shot Campbell. He was promptly given away by his comrades and taken and shot on the spot,—a just reward for his treachery—but poor Campbell had passed the Styx also."

ASHANTIS CHECK RELIEF COLUMN.

Colonel Carter's Force Engaged by the Natives and Suffered Heavy Loss.

Accra, Gold Coast, June 13.—Details have been received here of another serious reverse to the relief column under Col. Carter and Major Wilkinson, a day's march north of Prahu. There were heavy casualties.

The latest rumors report a further disaster to a detachment on the north bank of the Prahu, which is now flooded, and where the Ashantis were found strongly entrenched.

Captain Willcock's advance has been delayed by rains, which have destroyed the bridges in the Prahu road.

The continued absence of news from Kumassie tends to confirm the pessimistic views as to the safety of the Governor and his staff. The coast towns are apprehensive of their own safety.

The British gunboat Magpie, stationed at Accra, is the sole protection for the coast.

Owing to the difficulty encountered in procuring carriers, the enforcement of a labor ordinance is threatened, but such a step is considered unadvisable in view of the present temper of the inhabitants and the unprotected condition of the colony. The general opinion is that the present force is inadequate to cope with the situation, and the local Government apparently fails to recognize its gravity.

FLED WITH HUSBAND'S BEST MAN.

Mrs. Winton of Buffalo Deserted Her Husband Two Days After the Wedding

New York, June 13.—Wm. Winton, of Buffalo, last night asked the police of this city to aid him in the search for his wife, who disappeared from their bridal suite in the Iroquois Hotel, Buffalo, on Monday night. She is supposed to be in the company of Fred. Albert, who was once a friend of Winton's, and was his best man at the wedding on Saturday last.

Winton met his wife, who was a Miss Eleanor E. Cushing, of Tonawanda, at a supper given by Albert and himself. He became engaged and married Miss Cushing four months afterward. It is said that Albert and Miss Cushing had previously been engaged, but that the match was broken off by the parents of the young lady.

Winton and his wife spent Saturday., Sunday and Monday at the Iroquois Hotel, and in the evening Mrs. Winton left the room, saying she wished to see one of the chambermaids. She did not return. Some time afterwards, it was learned that a woman answering her description had left on the 8.15 train for New York in company with a man answering the description of Albert. Albert disappeared about the same time.

THE ORIENTAL SITUATION STILL REMAINS CRITICAL

The Japanese Chancillor Is Brutally Murdered by Bodyguard of Empress Dowager.

LI HUNG CHANG IS IN SYMPATHY WITH REFORMS

International Force of Two Thousand Men Fighting Its Way Slowly to the Chinese Capital—Britain Sends a Regiment From Hong Kong—Russia Preparing.

London, June 13.—Events in the far East are going from bad to worse. The murder of the Japanese Chancellor coupled with the burning of the British ambassador's residence, shows that the wind is blowing strongly against Britain and Japan, who are evidently looked upon as the head and front of the foreign invasion which China fears. The force of 2,000 marines landed from the men-of-war at Taku has so far not reached Pekin, and until it does so anxiety as to the fate of the missionaries must exist. In fact the two outrages above referred to are calculated to make it more intense than ever, for two such occurances may easily lead to many others. The international force, representing eight different nationalities, bound to the rescue of Europeans in the Chinese capital, is making slow progress over the hundred odd miles separating the coast from the centre of disturbances. Their task is as hard as that of Roberts and Buller, for the railway has to be repaired, bridges restored, and marauding Boxers along the road driven off. It is scarcely likely that so small a force will prove adequate to restore order among the teeming millions of China. Britain indeed recognizes her part and is sending an additional 900 men from Hong Kong, which will only be another drop in the bucket. The future, however, will probably see a large European army in the Orientall field, though how eight diverse nationalities can work together with any good result it is impossible to see, so that to Chinese anarchy may soon be added dissentions among those who wish to put such anarchy down.

JAPANESE CHANCELLOR KILLED.

Bodyguard of the Empress Commits a Brutal Crime.

London, June 13.—The Times, in an extra edition, publishes the following despatch from Pekin, dated June 12, 2 p.m.

"The Chancellor of the Japanese Legation, Sugiyama Akira, while proceeding alone and unprotected on official duty, was brutally murdered by soldiers of Ting-Fun-Siang, the favorite bodyguard of the Empress, at Manigate railroad station yesterday.

MARINES DEFEAT BOXERS.

Sixteen are Said to Have Dispersed a Mob of 2,000.

London, June 13.—A despatch states that sixteen British marines, reconnoitring in advance of the international column marching to Pekin, fought and chased 2,000 Boxers Monday, killing 20 or 30. A correspondent accompanying the column, in a despatch, dated Tien-Tsin, June 13, 8.15 a.m., says—

"While the working parties, accompanied by a patrol of 16 British marines, commanded by Major Johnson, were repairing the line Monday afternoon, eight miles beyond Lofa, they encountered small parties of Boxers who were destroying the line. The Boxers moved away from the advanced marines, and apparently dispersed into the country, leaving the rails moved and the sleepers burning.

"The marines, when two miles in advance of the first train, near Lang Fang, suddenly perceived Boxers streaming from a village on their left. It was estimated that they numbered 2,000, some of them being mounted; and they were trying to get between the marines and the train. Most of them were armed with spears and swords. A few had firearms, which they handled awkwardly.

"The marines retreated, keeping up a running fight for over a mile, and killing between 20 and 30.

"The Boxers pursued the British for some distance. Then seeing more marines from the train coming to the assistance, Major Johnson's 16 halted and poured a heavy fire into the crowd, driving them across the front of the reinforcing bluejackets, who punished the Boxers severely with Maxims.

"The Boxers fled; and the Europeans, following up their success, cleared out two villages. The total loss of the Boxers is estimated at 40 killed and wounded. Seven of their wounded were attended by British surgeons. The British loss was nothing.

"Unless their loss causes the Boxers to lose heart, the international column will have much trouble before it reaches Pekin. The railway is so much damaged that the column only covered thirty four miles Sunday and Monday and there is reason to fear that the road beyond is more badly damaged.

"Evidences of General Nieh's operations were found in headless bodies. The whole country presents a desolate aspect, entire villages have been desrtd.

"The expedition numbers 2,044, as follows—British, 915; German, 250; Russian, 300; French, 128; American, 104; Japanese, 52; Italian, 40; and Austrian 25."

RUSSIA'S PREPARATIONS.

She is Rushing Arms and men to the Far East Every Day.

Chicago, June 13.— A special to The Record from San Francisco says;

Yokohama newspapers received here record that enormous details of munitions of war, arms and men have been sent by the Russian Government to its possessions in the far east.

A Japanese who publishes a newspaper at Port Arthur recently interviewed the captain of the big Norwegian stmr Normannia, which had landed arms of that port. The captain said the Normannia was only one of the many ships engaged by Russia to bring over arms and men. His vessel had landed at Port Arthur ten big guns and an enormous quantity of iron materials for fortifications. At Vladivostock the steamer had also discharged stores and provisions.

Port Arthur was now completely fortified, but many other places along the coast were being put in condition for an emergency. Russian troops were being poured into Russian China at a rate of 1,100 weekly.

The captain of the Normannia also said a Russian volunteer fleet of cruisers and ships chartered by the Russian War Office was carrying troops and war stores to Persia.

LETTER FROM LI HUNG CHANG.

Alleged Missive in Which He Advocates Reform in China.

Chicago, June 13.—A special despatch to The Record from Honolulu, June 5, via San Francisco, says;

Leung Chi Tso, the Chinese reformer has received a most remarkable letter purporting to have been dictated by Li Hung Chang, the grand old man of China in which the objects sought by the Reformers are commended and they are advised to continue their efforts with patience, but with carefulness.

When the letter was first received opinion among the reform element of the Chinese here was divided as to whether it was or was not a fraud. However, it is now accepted as genuine and it is thought that it was dictated by Li Hung Chang, but written by his grandson, so that in the event of it ever coming to the knowledge of the Empress Li Hung Chang could deny the authorship.

WELL DONE, C. P. R.!

Over $12,000 Contributed by Employees to Patriotic Fund.

The Times is in receipt of the following statement from Mr. W. M. Taylor, the Hon. Treasurer of the Canadian Pacific Railway Employes' Voluntary Patriotic Relief Fund. Everybody will exclaim, "Well Done." Mr. Taylor is an old Peterborough boy, being a son of the late Dr. W. H. Taylor, and brother of Mrs. W. H. Hill, of this town.

Windsor Street Station,
Montreal, June 1st, 1900.

To our Fellow-Employes—

On behalf of the Committee we take pleasure to report the following result of the Canadian Pacific Employes' Patriotic Relief Fund Subscription. The fund was closed to-day, and the proceeds, amounting to twelve thousand and thirty-three dollars and sixty-four cents, were remitted to the Treasurer of the Canadian Patriotic Fund Association at Ottawa for distribution. The subscription has proved a great success, and the amount subscribed is a practical proof of the loyalty of the employes of the Railway from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The amount is practically the total available figure based upon a half-day's pay. The whole collection was made without a cent of cost. The Committee herewith give a few details which will possibly be of some interest to all concerned. The amount before stated was made up as follows—

From Lines East of Fort William	$ 6629 55
From Lines West of Fort William	5384 09
	$12,033 64

This shows a very equal percentage, considering the proportionate extent of the two Divisions.

By the different branches of the service the figures show as follows—

Shops and Stores (Mechanical Department)	$3636 28
Trackmen and Extra Laborers	3131 08
Officials and Clerks	1717 94
Stations and Freight Sheds, including Operators and Despatchers	1410 84
Drivers and Firemen	1390 71
Conductors and Trainmen	1374 32
Bridge and Building	681 42
C. P. Telegraph	344 68
Sleeping and Dining Cars, Hotels River and Lake Steamers	395 94
	$12,033 64

This Committee beg to place on record their appreciation of the services of all who in any way contributed to the success of the fund, especially those of the President of the Company for sanctioning the collection through the accounts, the Comptroller for his organizing the system of collections, the Committees at Winnipeg and Vancouver, through whose cooperation so much has been accomplished, the Distributing Committee at McAdam, which was of considerable assistance and the following Newspapers and Printing Companies—"The Montreal Gazette," "Winnipeg Free Press," "News Advertiser" of Vancouver, and "The Mail" Job Printing Company" of Toronto, for doing printing free of cost. As to the individual action of the whole employes, too much cannot be said, for to each is due the success of the whole movement, the patriotic spirit displayed giving a result that can be looked upon with pardonable pride by all concerned.

On Behalf of the Committee,
ROBERT MILLAR, Chairman.
M. McD. DUFF, Hon. Secretary.
W. M. TAYLOR, Hon. Treasurer.

THE WAR CLOUD IN CHINA

The thoughtful observer of events must have seen with continually increasing apprehension the trend of affairs in the far East which appears to betoken the coming disintegration of the most ancient empire in the world, and the seizure of different parts of her territory by foreign powers. The "Heathen Chinee" is a difficult person to understand, and it is extremely doubtful whether even the best informed "foreign barbarin" is more than superficially acquainted with the various political elements which make up the Chinese Empire, and only betray themselves spasmodically by unintelligible local "revolutions," and by less pretentious riots, and occasionally by a missionary also. A section of rioters, however, denominated the Boxers, which first obtruded itself on public European notice by the massacre of the Rev. Mr. Brooks in December last, has suddenly risen to the rank of revolutionists, of rebels, it is difficult to say which, and appears bent on provoking the active hostilities of the European powers by an attempt to "drive the foreign devils into the sea." Viewed in the light of an effort to rouse the Chinese nation against foreign aggression, the Boxers may be said to have originated a national revolution which is viewed approbation by the Imperial authorities themselves, who, unless they are much belied, give it secret encouragement and support; whilst on the other hand they are, to outward seeming, rebels, because they are denounced in Imperial edicts, and opposed by Imperial troops. Under either head, the result so far as the foreign Powers are concerned is the same; if the Boxers movement is a national one directed against them, they are in face with the commencement of an actual condition of war; if, on the other hand, it is a rebellion against the constituted authorities, the Powers are concerned, because the murder of their subjects, and the converts of their subjects forms part of the programme, and the Chinese government is unable or unwilling to repress it. On either supposition, intervention is incumbent on them, and it is different to see how it can be prevented from growing into a partition of Chinese teritory, a proceeding which is more likely than not to give rise to a war whose extent is very difficult to predict. We notice that in some quarters great hopes are entertained from the presence of the United States at the scene of action, but we are of opinion that in any discussion that may arise out of events in China, the United States will be treated as a negligible quantity, because it is as certain as can well be that the Powers will go no further than "mortal support," which counts for nothing in partical politics nowadays, unless it is known that it will be backed up, if necessary by physical force. The United States have not sufficient interest in forcibly preventing the absorption of any part of Chinese territory by Russia, Germany, or France, and it is very safe to say that they will not attempt it. England is rather differently situated, but it is doubtful whether she will incur the perils and expenses of a European war, however dissatisfied she may be; but Japan cannot fail to see in European acquisition of Chinese territory a menace to her own independence, and she will probably fight.

CHINA'S SPIRIT.

A French newspaper writer, Jean Hess of Le Journal, has sent from Pekin an interview with Li Hung Chang which is particularly interesting since the appearance of so much disorder in the ancient empire. The Chinese statesman asserts that his people are willing to receive the Western ideas of progress, but it is a matter of compulsion, rather than desire. He says. "For a long while we have understood the necessity of adopting modern methods. We do not like modern novelties, for they won't bring to the Chinese nation any greater happiness. When we applaud what you call progress, it does not mean that we have adopted your ideas. We merely don't want to die. We take up and swallow your progress as a sick person takes bitter medicine. Those who have neither strength nor the will to think and reflect throw away the drug. Don't be surprised, therefore, at the resistance which is offered to you by so many conservatives."

This attitude serves to explain many of the difficulties that are being encountered in China by foreigners. If the most intelligent element, which is represented by Li Hung Chang, is not convinced of the great value of the ways of modern civilization, what is to be said of the densely ignorant Chinese? Is it surprising that the rank and file of a people whose conservatism is proverbial, and whose customs are rigidity itself, should be disturbed and angered by the entrance of the mechanical processes which they do not understand and of a white race whose activity is stimulated by a multitude of new ideas? China's is the oldest civilization in the world and it now encounters another which is the product of centuries of development in the course of the westward march of mankind. Intense conservatism meets the eager spirit of change.

If there is a practical lesson to be drawn from the analysis of Li Hung Chang it is that too great haste in imposing modern ideas upon China will inevitably bring such discontent as now is seen there. The Dowager herself is not intellectually of the class to which Li Hung Chang belongs. She has more in common with the Boxers. It may be unavoidable that the Western nations should press into China and seek to do in a few years what generations might accomplish without too great wrenching prejudices and habit, but if this course is followed, it involves many years of friction.

Exercise and Health.

Exercise is a splendid thing for a healthy person. But when the body is weakened by disease, exercise strains rather than strengthens. Exercise will not cure a "weak" stomach. It may increase the appetite, but it won't cure dyspepsia, and an increased appetite is a curse not a blessing to the sufferer from dyspepsia.

Take exercise by all means but also take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery if there is a deranged or diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. This medicine is not a cure-all but a specific for diseases of the stomach and digestive and nutritive system. It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, and increases physical vigor.

There is no alcohol contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and every other narcotic. It is strictly a temperance medicine.

"I wish to say that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved a great blessing to me," writes Mrs. Ellen E. Bacon, of Shutesbury, Franklin County, Mass. "Prior to September, 1897, I had doctored for my stomach trouble for several years, going through a course of treatment without any real benefit. In September, 1896, I had very sick spells and grew worse; could eat but little. I commenced in September, 1897, to take Dr. Pierce's medicine, and in a short time I could eat and work. I have gained twenty pounds in two months."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a cure for constipation.

Memonandum of Agreement made in triplicate between the Municipal Corporation of the Village of Lakefield in the County of Peterborough, Province of Ontario, herein after called the Corporation of the First part and John Melbourne Kilbourn, of Owen Sound, in the County of Grey, Esquire, herein after called Kilbourn, of the second part.

Whereas the said Kilbourn proposes to establish works for the manufacture of Portland Cement, and for that purpose proposes to form a company with an authorized capital of $5500,000, and has agreed with the said Corporation to locate the said works in the Village of Lakefield provided the said Corporation will aid and assist him by granting to him or his assigns debentures of said village payable twenty years after date to the amount of $10,000, bearing interest at 3 1-2 per cent., per annum, payable half-yearly, and will grant him or his assigns a suitable site within the limits of the said Corporation consisting of not less than ten acres of land, lying along or adjacent to the tracks of the Grand Trunk Railway to be taken and held by said Kilbourn and his assigns in fee simple but subject to the conditions herein after set out.

And will exempt said Kilbourn and his assigns for a period of ten years from all municipal rates, taxes and assessment other than School taxes, in respect of said land and all erections, building, plant, machinery and stock in trade in connection with the said manufacturing business, the buildings of said Kilbourn or his assigns occupied by or rented to tenants or workingmen not however to be exempted as aforesaid.

And whereas the said Corporation by their Council deemed it expedient to grant the said aid upon the terms and conditions above set out, and herein after appearing.

Now therefore this agreement witnesseth and it is hereby agreed.

1.—The Corporation will grant to said Kilbourn or his assigns the lands herein described that is to say being composed of portions of lots 1, 2, 3, and 4 on the west side of Concession street, in said village of Lakefield, bounded as follows—Commencing at the South East angle of Lot No. 1, 2, 3 and 4, on the West side Concession street, in said Village of Lakefield, bounded as follows; Commencing at the South East angle of Lot No. 1 on the West side of Concession street, in the said Village of Lakefield, thence Westerly along the Southern side, thereof, a distance of four chains, thence Northerly in a straight line across said Lots 1, 2 3, and 4 to a point in the Northerly limit of Lot 4, distant six chains from the North East angle thereof. Thence Easterly along the said North limit of Lot 4, six chains to the North East angle of said Lot 4; thence Southerly along the Easterly limits of said Lots 4, 3 2 and 1 and on to the place of commencement, comprising about ten acres more or less, or in default of the Council securing title to said lands then the said Corporation shall procure and convey as aforesaid some other suitable site within the limits of said Corporation, along or adjacent to the said Railway, providing the same can be obtained and shall not cost a sum exceeding the sum of $1,000. To be taken and held by said Kilbourn, his heirs and assigns in fee simple but subject to the charge hereinafter set out.

2.—And the said Corporation agree to grant said land, and said exemption from taxes, and pay said sum of $10,000, by debentures running for 20 years, with interest Coupons attached at rate 3 1-2 per cent. per annum, payable half yearly, on the first days of July and January, during the currency of said debentures, and will submit the same to be voted on by the ratepayers and so soon as the said by-law shall have been duly approved by the requisite number of duly qualified ratepayers, as required by law, will finally pass said by-law and carry into operation the terms and conditions thereof.

It being distinctly understood that terms of said by-law shall be binding upon said Kilbourn, his heirs and assigns, and any person or persons, Company or Corporation to which the said Kilbourn may assign said land.

4.—And in consideration of the premises and of the said grant of land, exemption and bonus the said Kilbourn covenant for himself, his heirs, his executors, administrators and assigns, that he or they will proceed forthwith to erect on said lands, and diligently carry on the same to completion, a Portland Cement Works, and to equip and furnish the same with all necessary machinery and plant for the manufacture of a high grade of Portland Cement, and shall also erect such further plant and buildings as may be required for the proper carrying on of said works, and the said works shall have a capacity of not less than two hundred barrels per day, said works to be called and known as "The Lakefield Portland Cement Works."

5.—Said Kilbourn further agrees that in the employment of labor a preference shall at all times be given to residents of said Village of Lakefield.

6.—It is agreed that said debentures shall not be handed over until an expenditure in connection with said works has been made to the extent of $50,000. Said debentures shall be dated as of the day of the final passing of this by-law and shall run from 20 years from their date and have attached thereto interest Coupons as aforesaid which Coupons and also the principal, when mature, shall be payable at the Bank of Montreal in Peterborough.

7.—It is further agreed that the said lands shall at all times be and remain liable to a charge in favor of said Corporation equal to the total sum paid therefor in addition to the said bonus of $10,000, which charge is to be reduced proportionately during the ensuing years. One tenth thereof being deemed satisfied by each year's performance of the terms of this agreement by the said Kilbourn or his assigns, so that the same shall be fully paid and satisfied at the end of ten years' performance by the said Kilborn or his assigns of the covenant herein entered into on his and their part, and in case default be made by said Kilbourn or his assigns in the performance of this agreement for and during any of the next ten years ensuing the beginning of said manufacturing operations then the said Kilbourn or his assigns shall pay to said Corporation the interest on said debentures in that year or in any year in which said default shall be made and on said works ceasing to be operated for a year the said Corporation shall have the right to foreclose their said charge and to realize in any manner provided by law out of said lands, and the works erected thereon, the balance of said charge then remaining unsatisfied.

8.—It is agreed that said Kilbourn or his assigns is to increase the capacity and output of said works from year to year as rapidly as the markets for Cement will warrant, until the capacity of said works has reached 5600 barrels per day.

9.—It is agreed that the manufacture in any year of an average of two hundred barrels per day shall be taken as a fair performance of this Contract in that respect.

10.—It is further agreed that if the said by-law shall not be ratified by the electors as by law required, then this agreement shall drop and be at an end.

11.—It is further agreed that if said Kilbourn or his assigns shall conclude on fuller investigation and within sixty days of the date hereof, that it will not be expedient for him or them to locate said works in said village then it shall be optional for the said Kilbourn or his assigns to decline to accept said bonus, land, etc., and if he or they thus decline, this agreement shall be declared off and in such case he or they shall bear and pay all the expenses incidental to the publication of said by-law and taking the vote thereon.

12.—It is further agreed between the parties hereto that it shall and may be lawful for the said Kilbourn to plant and maintain on any of the public streets of the said village poles for the support and conduct of wires for conveying electric power or for the running of a trolley in connection with said work, free of charge and free of taxes. No trolley pole to be placed so as to constitute a public nuisance.

13.—And that along and over any public street in said village lying East of the Grand Trunk Railway south of Reid street, the said Kilbourn or his assigns may lay down and maintain a trolley line to be used in connection with said Cement works provided that the surface of the rails shall not stick up above the surface of the road more than two inches, and provided that said Kilbourn or his assigns shall maintain in good order so much of the highway as lies between the rails and for a distance of two feet on each side of the rails.

This agreement shall be void unless the said by-law shall be approved by the requisite number of qualified electors as by law provided.

In witness whereof the parties hereto have herein set their hands and seals, the said Corporation by their corporate seal and the signature of their Reeve and Clerk.

Signed, Sealed and Delivered in the presence of Our Canadian Contingent.

Written for the Times by Miss Rose E. Carter, Bracondale, Ont.

We cannot hear the cannon roar,
Or sound of clashing steel,
That tells us of the savage Boer,
Or what the British feel.

But this we feel, and know, and hear,
That friends from our own land,
Have gone to fight for Sovereign dear,
With a brave and noble band.

The time has come when Canada,
Sends noble men to fight.
And until the foe surrender,
They will fight with all their might.

They leave Toronto brave and free,
Amid the throng of friends,
Who gather round to bid farewell
To those, they ne'er may see again.

Here we see a mother weeping,
She's comes to see her boy depart,
Down her cheeks the tears are sweeping,
As she clasps him to her heart.

There we see a loving brother,
Talking low to sister dear.
"While I'm away take care of mother,
Tell her there is naught to fear."

Now we see them at Quebec,
Amid the applause and cheers.
But some think not of those on deck,
But those they have left in tears.

Out amongst the roaring billows
Rolls their ship in anxious speed.
For they go to meet their fellows,
To join them in war's awful deed.

Now the days are fast declining.
Soon they'll reach the foreign shore,
Soldiers round the ship reclining,
Dream of those they may see no more.

Yes, the ship has safely landed,
Soon they'll hear the ringing cheer,
And the joyous cry of welcome
From the hearts that know no fear.

General Buller leads his forces,
With a firm and steady hand.
"Men on foot and men on horses,"
Who says 'tis not a noble band?

Now the welcome news has reached them
"Take up arms, on to the front!"
There they must without a waver,
Help to bear the battle's brunt.

We know that some will not return,
To this, their native land,
And 'tis very sad for us to learn,
Of dear ones laid beneath the sand.

Eating and Sleeping

Food supplies the substance for repairing the wastes of the body, and gives strength. Sleep affords the opportunity for these repairs to be made. Both are necessary to health. If you can't eat and sleep, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It creates a good appetite and tones the digestive organs, and it gives the sweet, restful sleep of childhood. Be sure to get Hood's.

Billiousness is cured by Hood's Pills, 25 cents.

Our Brave Canadian Boy's

Written by Bella Hetherington, aged 14, of St. Catherines, Ont., and published by request.

What think ye, British veterans,
To whom war is but play—
What think ye of the bravery
Of Canadians in the fray?

They left their homes and loved ones,
They left their friends and joys;
They answered dear old England's call—
Our brave Canadian boys.

When England's call resounded
Throughout our happy land,
Glad was each loyal soldier
To join the patriot band;
They went with hearts that bounded
With love which naught destroys—
They're fighting for old England's cause—
Our dear Canadian boys.

What think ye, British veterans,
Were ye more brave than these,
Who left their all behind them
And crossed the distant seas?
Thought ye our men were youngsters
That played at war with toys?
If so, ye little knew the grit
Of our Canadian boys.

And when the war is over,
We'll welcome back our braves,
Home from their glorious battleground
Across the ocean waves.
They'll come with flying colors,
And praise which naught allors—
We'll gladly hail your glad return—
Dear, brave Canadian boys.

It is frequently asserted that Mining is a risky business to invest in, but I think if you would use the same care and judgment you would display in entering into any other investment, you would find it quite otherwise!

If I offered you a dry goods business, would you take it up blindfold, or as a "gamble?"

Certainly not! You would investigate from every point of view, while most men go into Mining as they take hotel soup—hoping it's all right!

Why not look upon Rob Roy shares as an investment and treat them as such—Investigating thoroughly whether the taking up of a thousand or two would pay?

If you wish to investigate—use me! That's what I'am paid for!

Such clothing as Shorey's always takes first rank, and when Le Bruin & Co. announce their big sale there will be great big bargains for buyers. Sale begins on Saturday 16th inst.

THE COUNTY COURT.

M. O'Brien Got a Verdict for $151 Against Mr. Laverdure.

The case of O'Brien vs. Laverdure, which was the first on the list at the County Court, was concluded. As already stated this was an action in which Micheal O'Brien, carter, sought to recover $200 damages and costs from Mr. E. G. Laverdure, of the firm of Corry & Laverdure, for injuries received in an accident which happened in October last. O'Brien was driving in to Ashburnham with two men named Williams and Spence on his truck when a horse and buggy driven by Mr. Laverdure struck them from behind. O'Brien's cart was upset and the wheels passed over his leg and he was laid up for five weeks. He, therefore sued for the amount named. The accident happened just at the Peterborough end of the Hunter-st bridge. The jury gave a verdict for the plaintiff for $151. Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, for plaintiffs; W. H. Moore, for defendants.

The Grand Jury handed in their presentment in which they congratulate His Honor on the absence of criminal cases on the calender. They also referred to the war in South Africa, eulogizing the brave men who were fighting the battles of the empire.

His Honor thanked the jurors for the attention they had given their duties, and expressed a hope that the bountiful harvest now in prospect would be fully realized. His Honor spoke at some length in regard to the war in South Africa, referring to the lives that had been laid down in the Empire's cause on the battlefield and through disease. spoke of the unusual interest taken in the war in Canada by reason of the part Canadian soldiers had taken for the first time. The presence of Canadians on the fighting line, he believed would result in the drawing closer of the ties which bind this country to the Motherland.

Half Holiday.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," was very wisely said, and this also applies to the master as well as the man.

Now, Mr. Editor, what is the reason the merchants can not unite and agree to close up stores at one o'clock one afternoon a week during July and August? It would give a much needed rest to both employer and employed. Who will second the motion? Yours truly,

MERCHANT.

The Lakefield By-law.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The ratepayers of Lakefield will have an opportunity on Tuesday, 26th of June, of saying whether or not they want to progress or remain at a standstill. There are a few who will deny that the establishment of the cement works will be a great boon to the village; that it will increase the value of their property and increase the business of the merchant; that it will bring a large number of families to reside permanently in Lakefield; that these additional taxpayers will more than make up the extra taxes required to pay the bonus; that it will advertise our village and our magnificent water power, and be the means of attracting other industries. I say, Mr. Editor, for these and other reasons, it behooves every citizen who loves progress and who desires to see our already thriving village still more prosperous, to do everything in his power to carry the by-law.

I am pleased to observe the Times is on the side of progress, and is lending its influence in favor of Lakefield's advancement.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, etc.,

GEORGE B. HILLIARD,

Lakefield, June 12.

A "CHANGE" BREAKFAST

Getting Ready for Warm Weather

A complete change in breakfast would at this time of the year, improve the health of anyone.

Meat, potatoes and coffee become tiresome. The system calls for a change, but what! Hot and half cooked pastry and starchy cereals are unattractive.

Vegetables taste good but furnish too little nourishment to sustain one until the next meal, particularly if brain work is required.

A most appetizing, convenient and healthful breakfast can be made on Grape-Nuts, (a ready cooked food) a little cream or milk, some fruit and perhaps two soft eggs.

(Pint tin cup of sharply boiling water, put in two eggs, not one, nor three, cover and set off stove, serve in just nine minutes. Whites will be like cream and half digested.) The Grape-Nuts food is concentrated and three or four teaspoons should be used at one meal, that amount furnishes full strength and nourishment up to the next.

A change from the old breakfast to one like this will refresh and invigorate the system in a surprising manner.

Good food in proper variety and a contented mind, insure the whole health problem.

Tonight

If your liver is out of order, causing Biliousness, Sick Headache, Heartburn, or Constipation, take a dose of

Hood's Pills

On retiring, and tomorrow your digestive organs will be regulated and you will be bright, active and ready for any kind of work. This has been the experience of others; it will be yours. HOOD'S PILLS are sold by all medicine dealers. 25 cts.

A Suggestion.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In your issue of this morning, "Citizen" suggests that the town supply the cement to contractors, in order that the proper quantities shall be used. Would it not be better, since the town already supplies the granite for them, to supply the labor also—in short do it day labor—and instead of starting the work next July, or possibly August, start at once, so that the workingmen of the town may receive the greatest amount of benefit from it.

PLUNGED INTO WHIRLPOOL

YOUNG WOMAN'S SUICIDE BELIEVED TO BE DUE TO DISAPPOINTMENT IN LOVE.

Left Farewell Tokens—She Registered as Mable Williams, of Philadelphia, but was Identified as Gertrude Roth, of Allentown.

Buffalo, June, 14.—A young lady, whose beauty attracted much attention here, threw herself into the Whirlpool Rapids at 9 o'clock this morning, after remarking that it was wonderful more people did not commit suicide at the Falls, because the rapids are so fascinating.

The girl arrived in Niagara Falls last night on the 10.50 o'clock Nehigh Valley train, and put up at the Wayne Hotel, in Second street, where she registered as Miss Mabel Williams, Philadelphia. She was up before 7 o'clock this morning, but she did not care for breakfast. She paid for her lodging and engaged Elijah Shainboltz, a carriage driver, to drive her to points of interest.

She stopped at the Table Rock House, on the Canadian side, registered and had a light breakfast. The next stop was at the Hotel Fayette, where she bought a piece of wedge-wood crockery. She addressed the parcel to Mrs. Charles N. Wagner, Allentown, Pa.

Viewed the Cataract.

The tourist was next driven to the Whirlpool Rapids elevator, which she descended about 8.30 o'clock. While standing on the platform over the water she took a chased silver bracelet from her wrist, and put it in her parcel. Then she remarked to Arthur Buckley, the photographer—

"It's a great wonder that more people do not commit suicide here; the Rapids are so fascinating."

The Fatal Plunge.

Mr. Buckley's attention was attracted to the photograph gallery and the woman walked out on a large rock by the platform. When he returned she was missing. A man standing on the railway arch bridge saw her plunge into the water.

The suicide had the appearance of being well educated, was refined in manner and fashionably dressed. She was apparently 22 or 23 years of age.

The proprietor of the Wayne House recalls that she sighed heavily several times while at the hotel, but he supposed it was from fatigue.

A CASE OF BLIGHTED LOVE.

Gertrude Roth had Quarreled With Her Sweetheart and Sought Solace in Death.

Allentown, June 14.—The girl supposed to be Mabel Williams, of Philadelphia, who jumped into the Niagara whirlpool rapids, is none other than Gertrude Roth, aged 20, a sister of Mrs. Charles N. Wagner, of this city, to whom she addressed a parcel found on the banks. Her father, once a prominent hardware dealer, in this city, died about fifteen years ago. His widow resides here. For the past few years Gertrude had her home with her sister, Mrs. Wagner.

It is supposed disappointment in love led the girl to commit suicide. Eight months ago she became acquainted with a Lehigh University student. About eight weeks ago the lovers quarreled and since then she was not herself. To a few friends who tried to console her she said she would drown herself at a place where her body could not be found.

She created considerable excitement in the western part of the city about ten days ago by jumping from the second-story porch of Mr. Wagner's home and running away. She concealed herself in the yards of several houses near by and eventually found her way to the house of her mother. The next day she came back, apparently sorry for her conduct, but the spirit of unrest soon again broke out, and Mr. and Mrs. Wagner kept a close watch on her.

She accompanied Mrs. Wagner and her children to St. John's Reformed Church yesterday morning to participate in the children's day celebration. During the exercises the girl slipped out and from that moment until the news of her death reached the family of her death reached reached the family her whereabouts were involved in mystery.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagner cannot account for the girl's strange conduct. She had a good home, received the best care, and the only theory for the girl's suicide is that she was suffering from aberration of the mind. It was not known that she had enough money to take her to Niagara Falls and she was not believed to be far from home.

DYING BEHIND BARS OF AN AMERICAN PRISON.

Premier Mabini of the "Filipino Republic" Now Under Restraint a Helpless Paralytic.

Before the Revolution He Was a Rich Man, But Sacrificed His Wealth for the Independence of His Country—Enormous Sums Paid by Rebels for Munitions.

Manila, June 13.—Apolinario Mabini, the Premier of Aguinaldo's Cabinet, who is not only the most able among the leaders of the insurrection, but almost the only one whose honesty has never been questioned, has probably finished his career. His friends believe that he is dying. Mabini remains in an American prison in Manila because he has no where else to go. Before the revolution he was a wealthy man, as riches are rated in the Philippines, but all his money was invested in the cause of "independencia." Recently General Otis offered to release him from the prison in the walled city, where he has been housed comfortably since his arrival in Manila, on condition that he would not take advantage of his liberty to incite trouble.

"But I have not changed my convictions," said Mabini.

The general explained that was not required. Then Mabini said that he was entirely destitute and preferred to remain in prison. Afterwards when his health was plainly failing General Otis offered him a carriage for a daily drive. Mabini refused it, replying that "I cannot accept favors from the Americans."

Mabini is a paralytic, although a young man. The strain of his flight with Aguinaldo from Tariac was a severe one, and now he cannot even rise from his chair without help. Those who know him predict that he will last but a few months He remains extremely loyal to his dreams of an independent republic for the Filipinos, but more practical men like Buencamino scoff at him as an idealist, who cannot accept conditions.

The Rebels' Finances.

The Filipinos are addicted to the preservation of their records, no matter how unimportant. Down in Albay Province the American troops recently found the yearly financial statement of the rebel government. While it is thought its figures are untrue, it is interesting as an example of how the rebels do business and maintain their prestige among their people. In the balance sheet for 1899—1900 the insurgent Minister of Finance states that during the year 1896-97 the expenses of the Spanish Government in administering affairs amounted to $17,474,020, Mexican, but thanks to the capacity of the revolutionary leaders the total expenditure of the insurgent government for last year only amounted to $4,243,407. All this economy was effected while the Manila custum house, a most lucrative source of income, was in the hands of the Americans. It was promised that as soon as the rebels gained possession of Manila, which would be in a few weeks, they could manifestly reduce the rate of taxation. In the meantime money was needed, and it was incumbent on all good patriots to pay all the tax collectors asked of them. The Minister of Finance in presenting his statement described Aguinaldo's glory and invulnerability and the good time coming to everybody, when the Americans would be finally driven from the islands.

The insurgent government undoubtedly handled considerable money last year, but whether they collected $6,000,000, Mexican, is not known to outsiders. Their expenses have been especially heavy in the matter of arms. Filibusters and others have made them pay exorbitant prices for everything.

Two of their generals—Pana and Luthabare—are said to have large cash accounts in the Hong Kong banks.

Enormous Sums Paid by Insurgents for Munitions of War.

Filibustering must have been a costly enterprise to the revolutionary government. It appears that one cargo, consisting of five hundred rifles and five hundred thousand rounds of ammunition, cost $187,000, Mexican money, before it reached the insurgents. Among the items included in the bill of the gentleman who engineered the deal was one of $4,000 for hotel bill in Hong Kong, and the other expenditure of several thousand dollars explained as "sqeeze," which is interpreted as bribes to officials to keep their eyes closed.

Aguinaldo's letter books contain copies of letters to all sorts of people, one to the Emperor of Japan, accompanied a gift of a sword, which was sent as a token of appreciation of the "kindness" shown by the Japanese Government to the Filipinos, the nature of the "kindness" being unexplained. These documents the authorities are sending to the War Department, and they are reticent about their contents. The publication in the Manila papers that letters were found implicating prominent business firms in the city, is said by the gossips at the English Club to have brought great uneasiness to sundry guilty consciences. Records of contributions by Manila firms to the insurrection, the papers say, are not surprising because the foreigners in Manila considered it necessary to make such contributions by way of insurance upon their property.

THE ORANGE CELEBRATION

Preparations Progressing for the Big Celebration on 12 July

The Orange Celebration on the 12th of July, the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne, promises to be a huge affair. The Committee, composed of representatives from the various local lodges, met in Ald. Robert Weir's store, and a number of sub-committees were appointed.

A deputation from the Sons of England band waited on the Committee with a view to supplying music for the day.

The posters are now in the hands of the printer, and will be out in a few days.

The town will be handsomely decorated for the occasion in the way of arches, flags, bunting, etc.

It is expected that fully 15,000 strangers will be brought to Peterborough. It is therefore the duty of every citizen to see that the town is made as attractive as possible.

County Maps.

Be sure and get a copy of the new County Map published by The Times Printing Company. It is a first-class map and should be in the hands of every business man in Peterborough. Only a few copies left. Copies on paper, 50 cents; on rollers, $2.00.

CHINESE GATHERING TO OPPOSE ALLIED POWERS.

International Expedition Under Admiral Seymour is Meeting With Much Opposition.

Communication With the Force Interrupted And the Marauders Will Burn Tien Tsin Station—Situation Growing Steadily Worse and More European Troops Needed.

London June 14

A special despatch from Shanghai says an unconfirmed report has reached there from Tien Tsin to the effect that a foreign legation has been burned and a minister had been killed. The names, it is added, are with held, pending confirmation of the report. It is further rumored here that the International relief parties are experiencing great difficulties in regard to provisions and water

CUT OFF FROM THEIR BASE.

Boxers Cut the Railway Between the International Force.

Tien Tsin, June 14.—Railroad communication between this place and Admiral Seymour's international force has been cut three miles beyond Yang Tsun. Two bridges have been destroyed. It is rumored here that the Boxers are determined to burn Tien Tsin station to-night.

The above despatch indicates a somewhat serious state of affairs, showing, as it does, that the railway behind the international force has been cut and that such force has been cut and that such force is therefore cut off from its base.

TROOPS STILL DELAYED..

International Force Cannot Reach Pekin Before Sunday.

Tien Tsin, June 14.—Owing to the extensive damage done to the railroad line it is now feared the international troops cannot reach Pekin before Sunday.

The Japanese cruiser Suma has arrived at Taku.

were partially destroyed and those of the Roman Catholic and Bible Christian Missions were utterly demolished. All the missionaries are safe.

A Russian troopship passed up the Yang Tse Wednesday, June 13. It was reported that her troops were to be laded at Hankow, but the Russian officials at Shanghai explain that the transport has merely gone to Hankow to load for Odessa, and the troops on board are time-expired men on their way home..

A MIXED REGIMENT.

Japanese Press Says That Japan Alone Can do Good.

Yokohama, June 14.—Japan is about to send a mixed regiment to China. The Government press declares that Japan alone could suppress the revolt, but that she must first win the confidence of the powaers and avoid acts likely to awaken suspicion.

GUNS AND FUSILIERS.

Britain Sends a Field Battery and Troops to Pekin.

Hong Kong, June 14.—Four companies of the Hong Kong regiment, a mountain battery, and a field battery of Asiatic artillery with a battery of 2-5 inch guns start for Tien Tsin to-night.

The Fusiliers are expected t osail on the Terrible June 19.

CHINESE ENTRENCH PEKIN.

They Have Guns Ttrained on the British and American Legations.

London, Thursday, June 14.—The Chinese are entrenching outside of Pekin to oppose the advance of the international column. A despatch from Tien Tsin, dated Tuesday, June 12, says—

THE ASHANTI RELIEF EXPEDITION.

London, June 14.—The following despatch has been received at the Colonial Officefrom Colonel Willcocks, in command of the Ashanti relief expedition—

"Prahsu, June 12.—A letter has just been received from the Governor of the Gold Coast (Sir F. H. Hodgson,) dated Kumassi, June 4. It is as brief as possible. The following is its substance—On several occasions unsuccessful attempts have been made to get off letters. He informs me that he inclosed a copy of another, of May 4, which I have not received.

"Kumassi is garrisoned by 700 native troops under the command of Major Morris, acting commissioner and commandant of the northern territories, who has succeeded in entering the place from the north. The European and other troops are on half rations. The supplies of aammunition at Kumassi are not sufficient to allow offensive measures, and must be husbanded in case of the reinforcements not arriving.

"The march for the relief of Kumassi will be met by great numbers of rebels, who have constructed stockades and put impediments in the way, such as trees. There are also stockades surrounding Kumassi, offering the rebels good shelter. The rebels have places built up in trees, and have used them to open fire from.

"The state of the health of Kumassi is good, but 3,000 persons of the native community are in a state of destitution. Immediate assistance is required.

"The reinforcements which have reached the Gold Coast, most of which have crossed the Prah, comprise 100 of the Lagos (Hausas) force, 50 of the Sierra Leone Frontier Police, with Maxims and field guns. These are in addition to the Gold Coast Constabulry and Gold Coast Police. Further reinforcements, amounting to 900 men, are being sent from Sierra Leone and Northern and Southern Nigeria, and will reach Cape Coast in the course of a few days.

"The advance of the relieving force has been delayed by heavy rains and the difficulty of obtaining carriages, of whom 2,000 have arrived from Cape Coast, and have proceeded up the country, June 11."

Col. Willcocks was at Prahsu June 12. Five river gunboats have been ordered to go to the West African coast to assist the operations of the Ashanti relief expedition.

THIRTY THOUSAND CHINAMEN.

They are Drawn up to Oppose the Relieving Force.

London, June 14.—A special despatch from Shanghai says the position of the Legations at Pekin is most critical. According to this despatch 30,000 Chinese troops are drawn up outside the gates of the city to oppose the relief force, and guns are trained on the American, British and Japanese Legations. The American, Russian and Japanese Ministers have sent couriers to Tien Tsin asking for 2,000 troops of each nationality.

The United States gunboats Yorktown and Castine left yesterday for Tong Ku. There is no foreign warship now here.

HALF WAY TO PEKIN.

International Expedition is Moving Slowly to the Rescue.

Tien Tsin, Wednesday, June 13.—The international expedition is now at Lang Fang, half way to Pekin. The troops found the station destroyed and two hundred rails of the track torn up. Upon approaching the station they found the Boxers still carrying on the work of destruction, but the latter bolted into the village upon the approach of the advance party. A shell from a six-pounder dropped into the village ad the Boxers fled up the line. Above the station a small party was discovered engaged in tearing up the track, but a few long range shots drove them off. The patrol returned this morning and reports that a mile and a quarter of the track has been destroyed.. The expedition will remain for the present at Lang Fang.

A courier who arrived this morning from Pekin and Lang Fang brughot a letter from the American Legation stating that General Tung Fuh Siang intends to oppose the entrance of the foreign troops into Pekin. Ten thousand troops were guarding the South gate.. The courier feported that it was said that upwards of two thousand Boxers were in the immediate neighborhood of Lang Fang.

MISSION BUILDINGS DESTROYED.

Chia Inland Mission at Yun-Na-Fu Attacked by Boxers.

Shanghai, June 14.—A despatch from Chung King announces that a riot has taken place at Yun-Na-Fu. The buildings of the China Inland Mission

"I learn that the Chinese have guns trained on the American mission and the British Legation. Two thousand Russian cavalry and infantry, with artillery, have landed at Taku."

The Shanghai correspondents report that United States Minister Conger, by a courier, asks for 2,000 United States troops. The question of provisioning the relief force is already difficult, and it is predicted at Shanghai that it will become acute.

The leading members of the Reform party, representing 15 out of 18 provinces, are at Shanghai. A despatch to the Daily Mail, dated yesterday, says they are sending a petition to the United States, Great Britain and Japan, praying those powers to take joint action against any attempt on the part of other powers to partition the Empire, andt hey implore the powers thus addressed to rescue the Emperor.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says that ships of the Russian Pacific squadron on the active list, as wellas those at Vladivostock, have been ordered to proceed with all haste to Chinese waters.

The Foreign Office confirms the report of an engagement between the troops of the international column and the Boxers on Monday. It says that "about 30 Chinese were killed."

DEPOSITION OF THE EMPRESS.

British Government will be Asked a Question in the House.

London, June 4.—No change is reported in the diplomatic aspect of the Chinese question, but the usual tales of outrages continue to come to hand. The powers are stated to be acting well together, but suspicion is growing in some quarters as to Russia's attitude. The Mail has reason to believe the British Government intends to continue a firm policy in China. The Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs will be asked in the House of Commons to-day whether the British Government will endeavor to ar- the deposition of the Dowager Empress and restoration of Kwangtsu as Emperor of China. range to concert with other powers for

AN EXCLUSIVE MOVEMENT.

Will Any One Power be Allowed to Intervene Singly.

London, June 14.—The news from Pekin is still vague. The marines are compelled to fight their way into the capital with rifle and maxim. There are persistent rumors that the uRssian troops are under orders to invade oNrthern China, but it is not yet clear that either

BOTHA ESCAPES AFTER TWO DAYS HARD FIGHT.

Boers Abandoned Their Position Near Pretoria in the Night and Fled to the East.

He Escaped With All His Men, Guns and Transport Despite Overwhelming Forces of British Troops Under Lord Roberts—Wakkerstroom Occupied.

London, June 14.

The war office has made public a despatch from Gen Buller accepting the congratulations of the secretary of State for war, Lord Landowne, in which he says the Dorcester Regiment who have been unduly paid, charged at Almond Nek, and showed themselves to be as good as any others.

About 150 yards at each end of Laing's Nek tunnel are blown in and it wil lrequire several days to move the debris. The line otherwise is uninjured and open to the reversing stations, and also to SandSpruit

London, June 15.

That Commandant Louis Botha should have been able to stand for two days against Lord Roberts and then to retreat without losing any guns or having any of his men captured is taken to mean that he has a force which the British must still reckon as formidable when acting defensively. The pacification of the whole of the Transvaal,especially the wide spaces far from the railways, is looked upon as a business requiring months rather than weeks. Meanwhile everything goes well for the British arms.

A Boer bulletin ussued June 12 at Machadodorp said—Both wings of the Federal forces touched the advancing enemy at 10 a.m. yesterday east of Pretoria. Fighting continued until dark. The enemy, though in overwhelming numbers, were checked along a line of 38 miles, and the burghers succeeded in driving back their right wing five miles. Two burghers were killed and ten wounded.

Another Machadodorp announcement is that the first regiment of Gen. Buller's force to attack Almonds nek was annihilated, but as the British were in overwhelming force, the burghers were compelled to abandon the nek.

A despatch from Lorenzo Marques dated yesterday says,—President Kruger is holding onto his gold and issuing paper notes from a press in his executive car. The Boer Government's coin stock is exhausted, and the officials are now paying out plain gold disc's unstanped. Some who have declined to accept notes have taken their salaries in gold bars. The Boer Government is still paying out much gold in that way.

Two steamers arrived at Lorenzo Marques yesterday bringing several thousand tons of supplies consigned to Portuguese merchants, but destined for the Boers. One hundred Americans, Frenchmen, Germans and Hollanders have arrived there by various steamers en route for the Transvaal.

Gen Rundle had a sharp skirmish at further until he gets supplies. He will probably wait until the tunnel has been cleared.

Gen Rundle hud a sherp sirmish at Ficksburg on June 12. The Boers had been aggressive along the whole Ficksburg—Senekal line and menaced Ficksburg in force. The British outposts retired to the village. Gen Rundle held the attention of the Boers in front with two guns while Yeomanry were sent around to their rear and drove them off with a loss to the British of three wounded,patrols had three also wounded.

President Steyn is at Uitkop. His presence here is supposed to account for the Boer activity.

CONTINUES THE BATTLE.

London, June 14.—Lord Roberts reports to the war office under date of Pretoria, June 13, as follows.

"Methuen advanced to Honingspruit yesterday and found all quiet. Kroonstad is strongly held. Methuen returned to-day to Rhenoster River, where the railway is being repaired. We were engaged all yesterday with Botha's army. The enemy fought with considerable determination and held our cavalry on both flanks, but Ian Hamilton, assisted by the Guards Brigade, of Pole-Carew's division, pushing forward, took the hill in hisf ront, which caused the enemy to fall back on their second position to the eastward. This they are still holding. It is slightly higher than the one we have captured. The great extent of country which has to be covered under modern conditions of warfare renders progress very slow.

"Details of the casualties have not reached me, but I understand they are moderate in numbers. The only further casualties reported to date are two officers wounded."

London, June 14.—General Buller reports to the war office as follows;

"Headquarters at Laing's Nek, June 14, morning.

"General Lyttleton yesterday received the formal submission of the town and district of Wakkerstroom which the enemy is believed to have completely evacuated."

A DASHING ENGAGEMENT.

Gen. Buller's Work Around Laing's Nek Was Brilliant.

London, June 14.—The correspondents' accounts of the fighting at Allenmann's Nek, if accurate, must be yaken asconfirmation of the reports of the extreme demoralization of the Boers. The Standard's correspondent describes the nek as a position of immense natural strength. Hills of great height rise almost abruptly from the road, which winds round precipitous rock slopes. The position might have been held with ease by 500 determined men against 10,000. The natural propection of the pass is continued on either side by ascending ranges of hills cleft by sudden precipices and deep ravines.

There was only one way for theco lumn to go up. There was only one thing to do. It had to force the pass and storm the heights commanding it. This was done gallantly.

When the march began in the morning it was the accepted conclusion that the Boers would make a stand in the hills, but, thanks to the dash and determination with which the assault was delivered, position after position was carried, and the nek and commanding heights were in position of the British with exceptionally small losses.

It was one of the finest andmost dashing engagements of the Natal campaign.

The same correspondent, under date of June 13, records that the Boers, numbering some thousands, succeeded in getting away with their guns. They retreated to Ermelo. The white flag is flying everywhere. The women are all in tears, ignorant of whether their husbands and brothers are dead or alive.

Gen. Buller and Gen. Cleary met at Charlestown on the morning of June 12.

Gen. Buller's casualties on June 10 have been issued by the War Office. There were 26 killed, 136 wounded and missing.

England or Japan has concented to an exclusive movement by a single power. Japan will acquiesce if she be allowed to supply a large military contingent, but this is not included in the Russian scheme of military occupation. What Lord Salisbury's policy is nobody in diplomatic circles can make out. It is strongly suspected that he has not hit upon a policy, but is cautiously feeling his way in the dark.

The China complications will exert a direct influence upon the political fortunes of Ministers here. It is now probable that rM. Arthur Balfour will be induced to take the Foreign Office when the Cabinet is reconstructed. He is deeply interested in the China question, and has studied it in detail. He will probably be Lord Salisbury's successor in that office at an early date. This will leave a vacancy somewhere for Mr. Chamberlain, either in the Treasury or War Office, and the leadership of the Commons in any event.

RUSSIA SENDS TROOPS.

Washington, June 14.—The following cablegram has been received from Admiral Kempff;

Manila, June 14.—The united States hospital ship Solace has sailed, having on board 100 marines and five officers, Maj. Waller commanding in response to the telegraphic request sent from Tong Ku June 11 by Admiral Kempff for a battalion of marines from Manila. Thirty others left last week on the United States gunboat Nashville, bound for Tien Tsin. The marines on the solace had been destined for Guam. It is believed that others will be sent there lateron. A supply ship will leave this week, and probably the cruiser New Orleans will sail later.

New York, June 12.—News has been received in this city of the murder of Dr. Edna G. Terry, in charge of the station of the Methodist Episcopal Woman's Foreign Missionary Society at Tsung Hua, China.

SHOULD BE STOPPED

It is noticed again this year that several Canadian regiments are making preparations to visit United States points on the coming Fourth of July. What rot! It is high time that the militia authorities set their feet down on such proceedings. Imagine an American regiment visiting Canada to celebrate the anniversary of the battle of Queenston Heights!

KRUGERISM.

The course of President Kruger in these last days of the Transvaal trouble is not calculated to enhance his reputation as a brave, honorable enemy. The London Times thunders its denunciation of him. It says. "No condemnation can be too strong for the conduct of Kruger and the corrupt gang of which he is the head. His abandonment of his post in the hour of danger, and the withdrawal of all control over a population which he has done his best to exasperate, are proofs of the utter absence of principle, which becomes all the more striking when taken in connection with the difficulty experienced by General Botha in preventing him from wrecking the Johannesburg mines. Not the smallest of our difficulties in bringing about a peaceful settlement in the Transvaal will be the profound demoralisation of a large section of the population, which has been affected by Kruger's methods of government."

BOER RESISTANCE

The continued fighting of the Boers may be merely an outcome of their loose organization, or it may point to the beginning of a guerilla war. In either case, it imperatively calls for a strong military occupation. This refusal to recognize defeat when the entire country of one of the allies and the two chief cities of the other—including its capital—are in the hands of the British, furnishes abundant justification, if any were needed, for keeping a large British force in the country. The war, so far as it can be a contest between two settled governments, is over. The Boer Republics are beaten, their failure to make a stand at the fortified capital of the second state emphasizing this fact. If they decline to recognize this patent fact and go on fighting against British occupation, clearly the British must go on fighting against them; and must maintain a capability to meet force with force so long as there is any danger of an appeal to this ultimate tribunal.

If the Boers do not want a strong military occupation, they are taking an excellent course to get what they do not want.

POLITICAL CORRUPTION

All the electoral corruption is not on the side of the Liberals. The records may be lost; the witness may be dead or gone; but in the hey-day of Conservative power there was a political machine—able, unscrupulous, silently operative—which gave results, as did the Liberal machine at Brockville and elsewhere. There is something sinister in the treat of the man Birgmingham employed at the calculated moment, when Sir. Wilfrid Laurier had consented to the judicial enquiry into Liberal corruption. The attitude of Sir Charles Tupper was the only possible one to take. Honest politicians, high-minded statesmen, are compelled to accept the service of unscrupulous creatures to reach or to maintain themselves in power. A day comes when a sullous creature proves restive, makes threats, cover honorable men with confusion. For, in the game of politics,

"There are ways that are dark," and he who most loudly insists that he is in power by the free will of the people, is conscious of operation to which he would not dare to give name. It was the trusted Quebec organizer who spread dismay in the Conservative ranks; it is the truclent creature in whom confidence has been reposed, who makes threats. It will be an exquisite irony, indeed, if the enquiry upon which the Conservatives insisted, should be undertaken for the double purpose of discovering Conservative and Liberal wrong-doing.

WAR AS IT IS TO-DAY.

Scenes, Sounds and Horror of the Modern Battlefield

The modern battle is admirably described by the well-known American correspondent, Julian Ralph, who recently returned to England a physical wreck owing to the hardships he endured. He writes—

Really, the field of operations is so extensive and the range of modern guns is so great that battle conditions have altered there is no longer any general "clash of battle," or even any possibility of grasping or viewing an engagement from any single point. There is no great resounding noise in war nowadays. You hear one of our big guns loosed three miles over on the right, and another one two miles on the left. If you are near one it makes a tremendous noise, yet I have not heard one explosion as loud as a good, strong, clap of thunder. You hear the guns of the enemy cough far in front of you, and the shells burst within your lines with a nearer, louder noise —but not a really great or deafening sound, by any means. Our guns created almost no smoke, though our lyddite shells throw up clouds of dust and smoke where they fall, miles away. Because the Boers are using old-fashioned powder in their cannon, there is a small white cloud wherever one is fired, and a spurt of red sand where their shells dig into the veldt. The smoke of war, therefore, and the so-called "roar of battle" are both alike—occasional, scattered—inconsiderable.

The rifle firing has been the principal feature of our battle. It sounds like the frying of fat or like the crackling and snapping of green wood in a bonfire. If you are within two miles of the front you are apt to be under fire, and then you hear the music of the individual bullets. Their song is like the magnified note of a misquito. "Z—z—z—z—z" they go over your head; "z—z—z—z—p" they finish as they bury themselves in the ground. This is a sound only to be heard when the bullets are very close. You pick up your heels and run a hundred or even fifty yards, and you hear nothing but the general crackle of rifle fire in and before the trenches. The "Putt-putt" (or Vickers-Nordenfeldt) gun is able to interest you at a distance of three miles. Its explosions are best described b ythe nickname given to the gun by one regiment—"The blooming door knocker." Its bullets or shells as are big as the bowl of a large briar root pipe, and they tear and slit the air with a terrible sound, exploding when they strike.

It is just without the range of fire that you see and realize the horrors of war. It is there that the wounded crawl and stagger by you; it is there that they spend their final output of energy and fall down to lie until assistance comes; it is there that you see the stretchers, laden with their mangled freight, and the sound ones bearing the wounded on their backs and in their arms. Better yet—if so cheerful a phrase is permissable in such a case—to know the brutality and woe of war, happen upon a kopje that has just been stormed or a trench that has just been carried. Go to such a place to-day, 20 centuries after Christ came with His message of peace on earth and good will to men, and behold what you shall see.

AGGRESSIVE JAPAN.

The Island Kingdom the Rival of the Anglo Saxons in the East.

Russia will not reap the first fruits of her railway invasion of China, says a writer. She is not the rival in the construction of her railways to be feared by the Anglo-Saxons. A new power has risen at the very doors of Asia. Forty million progressive, irrepressible Japanese stand ready, by force of arms if necessary, to open the door of the new Asia to their manufacturers. It is the only hope of salvation for the overcrowded Island Kingdom, and the people will fight for that last chance with desperation. Already Japan is beginning to undersell other nations in supplying material for the Siberian Railway, and Russia will buy in the cheapest market. Last July Japan entered the family of civilized nations, becoming by treaty everywhere open to foreigners. She will multiply her machine shops and factories, besides inviting capitalists of all other nations to enter Japan and erect plants where coolie labor is cheapest. Even Japanese ships convey freight at almost a nominal tariff, and with the open-door policy enforced in Asia Japan will doubtless be the greater gainer.

THE RISKS WOMEN TAKE FOR THOSE THEY LOVE

We thrill at the story of "Curfew shall not ring to-night." Yet it is melodramatic and commonplace beside the peril every woman runs who faces motherhood. Women are strangely self-forgetful. The exaltation of the fact of motherhood blinds them often to its peril. Yet the husband who can bear no tithe of the mother's pain or peril owes it to himself to see that his wife is in that condition of sound health which minimizes the risk both to mother and child. Many husbands have expressed their gratitude for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, because it makes the pain of motherhood practically nothing and reduces the risk to its lowest possible point.

"Five years my wife was in an almost helpless condition, suffering from female weakness," writes J. S. Everritt, Esq., of Hagerman, Washington Co., Fla. "Last September I decided to have her try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. She took several bottles of the medicine and gave birth to a ten pound son on January 31st, 1899. She is now sound and well and doing her housework."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser sent free on receipt of stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume or 50 stamps for cloth bound, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Under The Snow
(Published by Request.)

Poor little Nellie is weeping to-night,
Thinking of days that were full of delight;
Lonely she sits by the old kitchen grate,
Sighing for mamma, but now it's too late.
Under the daises all covered with snow
Rests a fond mother away from life's woe,
Nellie is left to mourn and weep;
Why did they dig mamma's grave so deep?

CHOROUS.

Why did they dig mamma's grave so deep?
Under the snow so deep;
Why did they leave me here to weep,
Why did they dig mamma's grave so deep?

Only sweet memories of gladness and love
Come to the child of the dear one above;
Shadows are creeping around the lone room,
Early and late there's feeling of gloom.
Out in the churchyard where daises blow,
Seeming to echo her heart's grief and woe,
Softly she mourns, while o'er her creep,
Why did they dig mamma's grave so deep?

Poor little Nilie in slumber's sweet rest
Dreams all the night of the mother's blest.
Sees her again in the visions of light,
Praying, God bless little Nellie tonight,
Smiling upon her with glorified face,
Calling her to that bright resting place.
Poor little Nellie oft sighs in her sleep,
Why did they dig mother's grave so deep?

Short Story of the Day

The Passing of the Laird.

A Story of the South African War.

It was that field of dread memory—Magersfontein. From dawn—when the belching hill front of fire had mowed in swathes the ranks of the Black Watch—till dusk—when the last gun had sent its whistling sharpnel—the air had seemed to live and screech and scream and to maim, blast and wither the men of the Highland brigade.

The dark African night had flung its blackness over Magersfontein, and in the scanty scrub and hollows remained those who could not well retire when the bugles, with reluctant notes, sounded the retreat.

Piper Duncan Farquharson sat up and groaned. His last experience of life had been rather mixed. He remembered retiring behind a wire fence, and after he had scampered over the veldt a few dozen yards something happened. What this was Duncan was uncertain, but as he felt his head he knew he had been hit.

The blood had caked hard on his neck and collar, and as he moved it began anew to tricke down his face. He took out his handkerchief and bandaged his wounds as well as he could.

His pipes were safe. He could feel the reeds lying over his knees. He bent to grasp them.

He was tormented with an awful thirst. His water bottle was still intact, and he raised it to his lips. Still the thirst continued.

He sat up and considered. Where was his company? Where was the captain and his lieutenant, the young laird, who bore the same name as he bore? He would go to them. So he went.

He rose up and, reeling, fell. He rose again and once more came down. Then he crawled.

There were groans and curses and sobs from the darkness, and sometimes a wild yell tore the night asunder. There were calls for water in all the dialects spoken north of the Tweed and in many forms of southern Anglo-Saxon.

Duncan crawled through them. At last he came to the barbed wire entanglements. As he crawled through these the barbs tore his kilt and hose, and he felt them enter his flesh, but at last he threw himself clear.

Then he rolled down a short way, and a bowlder brought him up. He put out his hand to protect his face and caught another hand, cold and clammy, in his own.

The other groaned aloud.

"Is this you, laird?" said Piper Duncan Farquharson.

"Ah, it's you, Duncan," said Lieutenant Duncan Farquharson.

"Ah, it's me, laird. Are ye sair hurtit?"

"Oh, I don't know, Duncan. For heaven's sake, if you have any water give me some!"

"I've nae water, laird, but I'll get ye some. Ye are awful' caul', though," said the piper.

He took off his tunic and wrapped the laird in it as well as could be done under the circumstances.

The laird suddenly stirred.

"Do you mind the loch your father and we two used to fish at the back o' Barr-d-[illegible]uran? Now, was it a Jock Scott he used? I don't remember."

He shivered; then he came back to Magersfontein.

"Duncan, lad, if you can move, bring me a drink of water."

Duncan sat still and felt his head. He heard with his ears, but his brain had not yet comprehended.

Then consciousness returned to him. He must obey the laird.

It was in these circumstances that Piper Farquharson robbed the dead on Magersfontein.

His field of operation was limited, but he had many within it, limited though it might be.

Duncan pillaged from an officer a silver flask which its owner would never more require.

With other melancholy loot Duncan crawled slowly back to the laird, and, feeling for his face, he poured whisky and water between his lips.

The laird caught his trembling hand.

"Steady, Duncan! I've enough. I'm going. Keep it for yourself."

"Na, na, laird; tak' some mair o't. I'll tak' some mysel,' though."

He drank the mixture, and, as the spirit brought back life into his trembling frame, he said—

"Man, laird, I houp that officer chiel was a good levin man. He deserves to gang to a place there's nae sich a drought as there's here."

"You were always plucky, Duncan," said the lieutenant. "But I'm going." His voice was now at a whisper.

"Na, na; ye'll tak' anither drapple!" said the piper, and again he poured a few drops between the laird's lips.

"Duncan, could you play a march before I go?"

"I'll try, but ma heid awful' queer. Hiv ye my pipes?"

"Yes; I kept them in my left hand."

Piper Farquharson turned his pipes.

"Now, the 'Haughs o' Cromdale,' Duncan. I'm going," whispered the laird.

"Na, na; yer nae gaun, laird! I'll play ye a reel." And over the desolation floated the springness crispness of the "Perth Hunt."

From the darkness the sentries on the heights and in the trenches fired off their rifles, and their sleepy comrades stood to their arms. These verdomed petticoat rooineks were to make a night attack. Suddenly the music stopped.

"Das ye mind that? It was danced at yer coming o' age."

"Yes, I remember, Duncan. But play the march and sit down there beside me. I'm cold. It will soon be snow, Duncan."

Duncan, whose head was throbbing with the effort in playing the reed, crawled down beside his laird.

"Aye; I think it will be snow afore mornin," he said.

Then Piper Farquharson played marches and strathspeys, and in the cold and darkness death came to many of his audience. But as they fell asleep and their thirst was sated and their pain ceased, their lullaby was, to them, the sweetest they had heard since childhood.

Duncan could play no more. It was indeed only fitfully he had played at all.

And the laird was passing.

"Goodby, old man, and thanks!" sighed the laird. "If you go home, tell them I sent my love. I wrote to them all yesterday. Good"—

There was a slight tinkle, the laird fell sideways. He had gone with his comrades.

The dawn would soon come. Already the summits of the eastern hills were beginning to appear through the grayness. Day was coming, and the night and those who had gone under its blackness were now to be numbered with that which had been.

Duncan, however, was only concerned about one thing.

The laird was gone. He had asked him for a march. He should have one. Duncan rose, propped himself against the bowlder and stood over the body of his lieutenant.

Then over the veldt the low, wailing strains of "Lochaber No More" rose and swelled in the dawn, like the voice of a mother mourning with a sore articulate grief the loss of her children.

It was well played. The infinite sorrow, the wild hopelessness of the music rang out over veldt and kopje, and the more superstitious among the Boers muttered that "it was the wailing of the souls of the petticoat rooineks." It was probably Piper Farquharson's best effort. It was his last.

The Boer sentinel in the advanced trench saw, as the dawn came, a rooinek standing facing him. He was a petticoat and might have thousands behind him. The sentry brought his rifle to the "present." It was an easy shot—a tall man, with no khaki tunic to deceive the marksman. Then the Mauser barked.

In this wise Piper Duncan Farquharson of the Highland brigade rejoined his laird.

BURNHAM'S ESCAPE.

How the Noted American Scout Got Out of the Boers' Clutches.

One of the leading scouts serving with the British in the South African war is F. R. Burnham, an American plainsman, who was recently captured by the Boers at Koorn Spruit and who ingeniously made his escape. In describing the latter he said.

"After a fight I, with other prisoners, was rounded up. As I had bound my handkerchief around my leg, pretending that I was lame, I was allowed to ride in a wagon with other sick and wounded captives. We started toward Ladybrand, going two miles along the road then we turned to the north-by-east, trekking until 4 p. m.. We rested on a suitable place for defense and fighting a rear-guard action, for the Boers imagined that they would not get away without being heavily attacked.

"Those of our men marching on foot suffered severely, but the Boers forced along all who could walk. At that point the prisoners were separated, and it was decided to send the wounded and sick into Brandfort. Before that could be done news was received that the British were at Brandfort. So we all started forward again in the dark to go to Winburg. On and on, the men and animals being marched to the point of exhaustion. Sunday had passed in the same way, with only brief halts for food and rest, until, early on Monday morning, we were within 10 miles of Winburg.

"We had thus trekked about 44 miles from Koorn Spruit. Behind the wagon I was upon several mounted Boers rode, and a little bushman was set to watch me, as they had grown suspicious, one of the wounded men having said he knew me, though I declared he was quite mistaken and that my name was not Burnham. Just before daylight the bushmen walked forward to speak to the driver. Seizing the opportunity, I dropped upon the disselboom, slid off that into the road, letting the wagon pass over me; then I rolled to the side of the track. The mounted men almost rode over me, but failed to notice me. There were 20 minutes still left before daybreak in which to hide. I got past their rear guard and ran to a Kaffir kraal, when the native said he would fetch me a horse. He left, and, thinking better of it, I ran out into the open veldt, and there I lay down in a very shallow depression among the grass, covering my face with my hat. Very soon I saw the Boers hunting for me in every direction, but mostly among the kopjes.

"I lay flat for 12 hours without food or water or daring to move until darkness set in. It was a trying experience, which nearly drove me mad, for the sun's rays were parching and blistering hot. At sunset I arose, got a drink in a spruit, and hurried down the back track.

"Without food I was week, and it was not until after another day spent hiding in a kopje that at 4 o'clock on Thursday morning I reached Broadwood's cavalry camp at Rhinoceros Spruit, five miles outside of Bloemfontein. From the time I escaped until I arrived I had only one biscuit and a mealie cob to eat."

REWARDED FOR MERIT.

Boys in British Army Who Have Won Their Spurs in Action.

The modern schoolboy who has not yet reached his teens and has to anticipate years of drudgery before he can qualify for the sixth form must sometimes sigh for a return of the good old days of the Georges, when boys quite as young as himself were wearing the king's uniform and fighting his battle on land and sea.

Those were days when a boy found himself on a ship's books before he had learned to write his own name, or held an army commission while he was yet receiving "stripes" from a lower schoolmaster; and when youths still unripe for the universities were thought quite old enough to command one of his Majesty's ships or to sport a colonel's badge.

It was quite a common thing for an Eton or Harrow boy to be gazetted a captain while he was struggling with his pons asinorum and defying discipline by going out of bonds; and when George III. was king many a young public schoolboy was sent straight from the class room to fight the Spaniards as a full-blown lieutenant or captain, while even colonels of 17 and 18 were plentiful almost as blackberries.

Even Wellington was far less precocious than these fovored youngesters, for he had to wait until he was 24 before he was gazetted lieutenant colonel; and Lord Wolseley, in spite of his phenomenally rapid promotion only reached the same rank at the age of 26; and Lord Robets had to wait ten years longer. In these slower-moving days an officer is fortunate if he blossoms into a lieutenant colonel much before 40.

But while the boy majors and colonels of the last century were chiefly content to air their uniforms in Pall Mall or Piccadilly many boys much younger ever than themselves were fighting their country's battles at sea, which has ever been the great nursery of boy fighters.

Lord Nelson was taken away from the grammer school in Norfolk at 11 to serve on the Raisonnable, under his uncle, Captain Suckling, and acquitted himself so well that he was made a post-captain at 21, a very remarkable example of rapid promottion due entirely to merit.

Admiral Lord Collingwood, who was Nelson's second in command at Trafalger, left school at 11 to join his relative, Captain Brathwaite, on board the Shanon, but he had to wait fourteen years for his lieutenantcy and five years more for his post-captaincy, and Admiral Hardy, Nelson's captain and friend, was a midshipman on board the Helena when he was a boy of 12.

Even these marvelous records were eclipsed by the son of the first Lord Gardner, who was a midshipman at 10, was wounded a year later, and was made a commader at 17.

Admiral Rowley signalized his entrance into the teens by promotion to the rank of lieutenant, and was a captain in command of a frigate before he reached his 20th birthday, but even this precocious boy must yield place to Sir Fleetwood Pellew, who had sole charge of a warship at 16, and at 18 was captain of a 74-gun frigate.

THE BLARNEY STONE.

Origin of the Superstition Relative to Its Persuasive Power

The remains of ancient Blarney Castle lie about four miles northwest of the City of Cork, Ireland. Tradition makes it the interesting scene of a siege early in the 17th century, when lord of the castle, who had been taken prisoner by the English, held out in his fortress for a long time by adroit and plausible promises that he would surrender. Whenever the critical time came, however, he was always ready with a good excuse. It was from his inventive manner of putting off the besiegers by his soft insinuating speech that the term blarney became a standard expression. The celebrated blarney-stone, to which is ascribed the marvelous power of bestowing upon anyone who kisses it a persuasive, fluent and not over-honest tongue, has an origin founded on vague superstition, firmly grounded in the minds of the Irish peasantry, hundreds of whom gather there annually for the purpose of kissing the stone and receiving the power with which it is supposed to be possessed. Its exact location in the ruins is a matter of dispute. By some it is claimed that it is lying loose on the ground; others place it at the summit of the large square tower which was originally the dungeon of the castle; still others maintain that it is inserted in the wall at such a hight that in order to consummate the osulatory ceremony the person must be suspended by his heels from the top. "When or how the stone obtained its singular reputation," says a writer, "it is difficult to determine; the exact position among the ruins of the castle is also in doubt; the present guides humor the visitor according to his climbing, and direct either to the summit of the base the attention of him who desires to 'greet it with a holy kiss.'"

A circus is coming west on the line of the Grand Trunk and will be in Campbellford on Saturday. It will be in Lindsay later. This show takes in only the larger country villages.

Some Reasons Why...

Scottish-Canadian Stock (Rob Roy Mines) is a good investment.

1—The Specially liability, (none beyond the amount originally subscribed for stock.)

2—The large area of rich mineral lands owned by the Company.

3—The abnormal richness of the ores of the district (ours assays over $100.00 to the ton.)

4—The enormous amount of ore we can show on the properties, and which we are now working to get at by tunneling.

5—The comparative ease of working and good transportation facilities.

6—The great improvement as work progresses.

7—The safe conservative management and administration of investors' money.

8—The likelihood of an early advance in price of shares.

The above is a combination hard to beat! It eliminates all undue risk and renders an investment infinitely safer than mining share investments usually are, and makes the outlook for large profits soon, very encouraging. Not much more stock will be available at Fifteen cents per share. Send or call for particulars.

The Toronto Star has made wonderful strides of late, and the paper now occupies a leading position amongst the great newspapers of Canada. Like the Morning Times, it gives the news straight from the wires, without any faking or yellow journalism. This great family journal has a special regard for the Star. There is always room for progressive, well edited newspapers, in which our contemporary (and the Star) are worthy examples.

A Pleasing Surprise.

Rev. Father J. F. Sullivan was pleasantly surprised on Wednesday evening by the Shakespearean class, (who so successfully presented scenes from "The Merchant of Venice," last spring,) by being presented with an address and a handsome picture of the group of "The Merchant of Venice." The address was read by Miss Annie McCabe, and was couched in language of appreciation and respect. Father Sullivan replied in suitable terms, thanking the class for the unexpected honor done him. The engrossing of the address was the work of Mr. Pringle of the Business College and was very creditably executed.

An Energetic Representative.

Lindsay Post.—Hon. J. R. Stratton, member for West Peterborough, has been up north this week meeting his constituents. He delivered addresses on Monday at Silver Lake and Union Creek, Galway, and on Tuesday at Ford's, in Cavendish, and at Swamp Lake, in the course of which he described minutely the object and probable results of the progressive legislation that marked the last session of the Ontario House. Hon. J. R. Stratton is a representative of whom any riding in Canada might well be proud, and in calling him into the cabinet Hon. G. W. Ross gave convincing proof of that foresight which will make Ontario one of the most advanced and prosperous provinces under the British flag.

CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

Drivers Montgomery Charges Driver McFarlane With Grave Offence.

There is trouble at the Fire Station. For some time there has been friction, and it culminated a few days ago in Driver Montgomery charging Driver McFarlane with using grossly abusive language. This the latter denied under oath, and Montgomery say he can now prove that McFarlane used the language which he swore he did not use. He accordingly laid an information against McFarlane, charging him with perjury. The case will come before Magistrate Dumble this morning.

Yesterday afternoon Driver Montgomery's bed was taken out and placed in a room in the fire building that is unfit for habitation. Last night Alderman Sawers told the Times that the quarrelling which was going on was a disgrace, and the sooner the affairs of the fire brigade were straightened out the better. Ald. Weir was also very indignant at the treatment accorded Montgomery. It is not known who moved his bed, but the supposition is that it was done with the knowledge of the men who sleep at the station.

Mr. James English, who has charge of the station, had the bed taken back, and Montgomery occupied it last night as usual.

It is quite evident that the trouble should be put a stop to by the Council without delay.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

Three Men Charged With Fast Driving a Horse But Only One Appears

We are pleased to see that police magistrate Dumble is disposed to punish cases of cruelty to animals that come before him. The latest case was that of Thos. Greenan, Walter Harron and Wm. Moncrief, who were expected to appear in police court yesterday morning to answer a charge of having cruelly overdriven a horse on Friday night last, but Moncrief was the only one who made himself visible. Greenan is a Port Hope man. He and Harron thought it wise to keep out of the way. Moncrief pleaded not guilty and testified he had nothing to do with the driving and simply rode in the buggy when invited. The three drove up to Lakefield Friday night with one of Mosley's horses. Two of them were drunk. They drove the horse so hard that a telephone message was sent down from Lakefield to watch for them on their return. They alarmed all the village with their galloping and whooping. When they drove the horse into the livery barn it was sweating so hard that in the time it took the men to unhitch it the floor under it was as wet as if a pail of water had been thrown down. Its shoes were twisted and bent.

The Magistrate found Moncrief guilty and fined him $2 and $9.30 costs to be paid in three days, imprisonment for a month in default.

REPORTERS ROUNDS.

Mr. Will Fowler is arranging for a trout pond on his premises on Toronto street, Cathorne. The pond will be large enough to be used as a skating rink in winter time and the ice can also be used for storage purposes as the water will be supplied from flowing springs. Mr. Fowler expects to have the pond completed next week and will proceed to stock it as soon as the fry can be secured.—Enterprise.

Accused of Horse Stealing.

Thomas Coursey is in trouble, having a charge of theft against him. He is charged with stealing a horse belonging to Mr. R. H. Leary. He was to have had his preliminary hearing yesterday morning at the police court, but waived that and agreed to let the case go before the next court of competent jurisdiction. It is alleged against him that last night he went to a man who had a horse belonging to Leary at the Oxford House and claimed that Leary had sent him after it. The man said that he would telephone up to see if this was true, and while he was doing so Coursey went off with the horse. He was also charged with being drunk and disorderly on Saturday last and was fined $2 and 3.75 costs, to be paid in 10 days.

The Late James Brickley.

There died in the Peterborough Protestant Home on Wednesday one of Peterborough's oldest residents. James Brickley who for the past 16 years has been a humble inmate of that institution, entered his eternal rest in the 96th year of his age. The old gentleman came out to Canada with the Robinson emigration party and has lived ever since in and around Peterborough. His occupation was principally that of a farm laborer although he was an employe of the fire axe factory that was established in Peterborough. Many and interesting were the reminiscences he could relate concerning happenings particularly in Otonabee where he was often engaged. He was a staunch and life-long Orangeman and was a member of the old L.O.L. No. 446, Peterborough, now defunct. He was also a member of the volunteer force which quelled the Fenian raid of '66. Deceased was twice married, his last wife having predeceased him about 20 years. He has, it is understood, a son living in New York, and another in Manitoba and a daughter living in Chandos, but has no relations here. The funeral took place yesterday morning to Little Lake cemetery.

COUNTY COURT SESSIONS.

Jury Cannot Agree in the Case of Carton vs. Turner et al.

The session of the County Couurt was occupied all day Thursday with the suit of Carton vs Turner et al. This is a suit arising out of an accident last spring, in which Mr. Fredenburg, an employee of J. J. Turner & Sons, while putting up an awning for Mr Geo Carton, fell off the ladder on which he was standing fell,and two plate glass windows were broken. The windows were not insured and Mr.. Cartou sued for $92 and costs. The case was commenced on Wednesday evening, and yesterday the evidence, of which there was a great deal, was concluded and the case was given to the jury. They retired about 4.30 but at eight o'clock last night had not agreed and were dismissed till this morning, when they again went into caucus without being able to arrive at any finding. About 11 o'clock they stated their position to Judge Weller who dismissed them. The case thus goes over to the court in December next. D. O'Connell for Plaintiff; Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson for defendant Turner; Kerr & Kerr for defendant Fredenburg.

Rundle vs Weller—This was an action for damages for alleged illegal seizure. Verdict for Plaintiff for $80 D.. O'Connell for plaintiff; E. B. Stone for defendant.

THE PERJURY CASE.

The Matter Came up Yesterday But Was Enlarged Till 20th.

As stated in the Times yesterday, the charge of the perjury preferred by driver Montgomery, of the fire department, against driver McFarlane, came up yesterday morning at the Police Court. The two principals were present, but the prosecution was not prepared to go on, so the case was enlarged until the 20th.

The duty of the council in the premises is quite clear. They should at once give the whole fire department a shaking up that will do them good.;

The Band in the Park

The band of the 57th Regiment gave the second of their famous open air concerts last night in Victoria Park. There was a very large turn out to hear them, the music being exceptionally good. The band is improving every day, the latest addition being the acquisition of a trombone player in the person of Mr. E. McCabe, an old member of the band, who has just returned from Lindsay, and who intends to remain in Peterborough.

LORD KITCHENER HAS A BRUSH WITH BOERS

The Enemy Makes an Unsuccessful Attempt Upon British Lines of Communication.

KLERKSDORP SURRENDERED BY CRONJE'S SON.

Young Cronje Surrendered as Soon as He Was Certain Pretoria Had Fallen—Baden-Powell Appointed to Temporary Rand of Lieutenant-General.

London, June 16, 4 a.m.

Lord Roberts' despatches leave affairs east of Pretoria with the Boers withdrawn to new positions. News of fresh fighting is expected at the War Office but none came last night. General Rundle's patrol had a skirmish with Boer videttes again Wednesday. Some wonder is expressed here as to what he is doing with three divisions. It is assumed by some that General Buller will move into Orange River Colony and cooperate with Lord Methuen and General Rundle in bagging President Steyn and his seven or eight thousand followers.

Part of Christian Botha's force has halted at Paardekop, eighteen miles northwest of Volksrust. Boer parties are still near Volksrust and fire occasionally upon the British pickets.

A despatch from Lorenzo Marques dated yesterday says—Persons have arrived here who have seen the preparations of the Boers, and learned that they will retire when forced, through the Lydenburg district into the Zoutpansberg region adjoining Rhodesia and Guzaland.

The Daily Mail has a despatch from fontein dated Wednesday saying—General De Wet's attack on the railway was made after he had succeeded in luring Lord Methuen from where he had destroyed the line, then he cleverly seized it north of Kroonstad, blew up the bridges and destroyed a long section of the line with dynamite.

Major-General Baden-Powell has been appointed to the temporary rank of Lieutenant-General.

London, June 16.

The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, In despatch dated yesterday, says; I understhnd that Gen DeWet in addition to the Derbyshire Battalion captured two companies of the Irish Volunteers and two companies Yeomanry two men only escaping to tell the tale.

Cape Castle Gold Coast Jne 15.

Capt. K Ellis with West African frontier troops while advancing from Fumism to Revisal lost one man killed and a corporal and six men wounded..

A SON OF CRONJE..

Man Who Surrendered Klerksdorp Son of the General..

London, June 15.—By the peaceful occupation of Klerksdorp, announced by Lord Robert's, the British have gained a strategic position of some importance ,as the town is not only the terminus of another railroad to Johannesburg, but it is within easy reach of the Kroonstad Vierfontein Railroad; though there is gap of 20 miles between the termini of the two railways; also the Vaal River.

The Cronje who surrendered the place is a son of the famous General Cronje now a prisoner at St. Helena. The former was prominent during the seige of Mafeking.

Apart from the fact that Lord Roberts' despatch comes direct from Pretoria, showing the telegraph line is reopened, the only other point of interest is the fact that the Boers whom Gen Methuen reported to have so utterly routed have sufficiently recuperated to attack a reconstruction train..

MAY SUSPEND LEGISLATURE.

Crisis in Cape Colony May Lead to this Step .

London, June 15.—The Afrikander Bond Congress opened at Paarl to-day with seventy delegates, including seven assemblymen present. It is feared at Cape Town that the Parliamentary dead-lock will probably lead to a temporary suspension of the legislature and there is much anxiety in regard to the possible outcome of such a grave step.

Sir John Gordon Sprigg is experiencing much difficulty in forming a cabinet,Mr.. Schreiner persisting in his refusal to support a minstry dominated by Mr Cecil Rhodes owing to personal antipathies. A coalition seems impracticable.. Messrs Rose-Innes and Solomon are not inclined to accept subordinate positions in a government composed of nominees of the South African League.. If Mr. Schreiner should be dissatisfied with personal and pledges of the new ministry the latter would be unable to pass imperial measures and a dangerous deadlock would ensue which might lead to a grave constitutional crisis

PRIVATE HAMPTON DEAD..

Another Death from Fever in the first Contingent.

Ottawa, June 15—The Governor-General has received the following cable from Sir Alfred Milner;—

Cape Town, June 15th, 1900

"13th June—Regret to report that 169 Private W. J. Hampton, died of enteric at Naawport June 13th.

JIM HOLLOWAY CAPTURED..

Puglist who Blew up a Bridge is in British Hands.

London, June 15.—A despatch from Kimberley reports the capture of the well known puglist Jim Holloway,who was an adjutant in the Boer war, and who blew up the bridge at Fourteen Streams. Holloway was among a body of Federals captured in the western part of the Transvaal.

TRANSVAAL TOWNS SUBMITTING

Cronje the Less Surrenders Towns of Klerksdorp to General Hunter.

CANADA'S RIGHTS ARE NOW FULLY MAINTAINED

Americans Are in a Sore Way Over Our Timber Regulations. Canada is Receiving a Good Deal of Attention in the United States—Lord Pauncefote Has a Royal Visitor.

Washington, June 15.—The wood pulp situation in Canada is attracting considerable attention in the United States where the price of paper is steadily rising and the newspapers are kicking vigorously about it. Of course, now that Congress has adjourned nothing can be done to change the tariff laws until next December or January and probably nothing will be done then unless Mr. Bryan should win, though there will undoubtedly be a strong effort to secure action. Charles Kurtz, a manufacturer of Toronto, who is in this city, has been discussing the situation in an interesting manner. He thinks that if Canada holds out, the United States will give in on the pulp question. Said he—"Ontario has passed what is known as the manufacturer's restrictive tax, providing that all Ontario timber must be manufactured where cut. We could not very well make an export duty, but this answers the same purpose. Formerly it was the practice to take Canadian logs to American mills and have them sawed on this side. This was a good thing for American manufacturers, but did not develop the districts from which the logs were taken. Now we insist that the logs be manufactured where cut, and this will force the building of cities and villages. This law raised a terrible row on the American side. Americans had purchased the right to cut these logs with the understanding that they could be taken to American mills and it was said that the restrictive act was practically a confiscation of property. I am not able to discuss the legal points, but the law is certainly a good thing for Canada. There is no activity in our lumber business now because we are shut out of American markets. Our own markets will grow, and if we only keep our nerve it is only a question of time until the Americans come to us. They need our lumber."

BIG MILLS FOR CANADA.

Apropos of this subject, Consul Shotts, at Sault Ste Marie, has reported to the State Department that Ontario has recently granted to the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company the right to select as a reserve fifty square miles of spruce and other woods suitable for pulp, with the further privilege of cutting pulp wood on territory five miles on either side of the Spanish River and tributaries. This gives the company control of over 2,500 square miles of territory. Another grant for 40 square miles was given to the Blanch River Pulp and Paper Company, and an additional right to cut pulp wood on the Blanch River and tributaries. A grant was also given to the Nipigon Pulp Paper and Manufacturing Company, on the Nipigon River, near the north shore of Lake Superior. All the above companies agreed to erect costly mills.

CANADIAN MINES.

A good deal of attention is also being paid to Canadian mining by the United States papers. The mineral region lying north, northeast and northwest of Lake Superior, has been believed for a long time to be one of the most diversified, if not of the richest, in the world. Why it has never been systematically prospected is not easily explained, except upon the theory that great gold discoveries, especially those of placer deposits, have been usually due to accident rather than to systematic search. It is claimed that gold-bearing quartz ledges have been discovered which bid fair to rival the South African gold fields, and American miners are already turning their eyes hungrily in that direction. At Winnipeg a chamber of mines has been established. A London corporation this summer will begin dredging the Saskatchewan river. Hundreds of tests of the river have revealed that the sands which form the bed, in some places to the depth of twenty-five feet, carry over 25 cents' worth of gold to the cubic yard.

THE ROYAL VISIT.

The Princess Aribert, granddaughter of the Queen, who has been visiting Lord Pauncefote here for some time, left on Sunday night for New York, whence she will go to Niagara Falls. The Princess was accompanied by her lady in waiting, Fraulein von Chapins. Lord and Lady Pauncefote went with them to the Pennsylvania depot, where a special car was reserved for the royal tourist.

FRAUD ORDER ISSUED.

A fraud order has been issued by the Post Office Department against "Credit General de Cuba" and against "L Leveque," both of Montreal, Canada. These parties are said to be conducting a lottery and advertising it in the United States. All letters addressed to them will be held by the Post Office and returned to writers, marked, "Fradulent."

"A messenger from Klerksdorp reports that Cronje who commanded there, determined to surrender as soon as he knew for certain that Pretoria was in our possession. His example has been copied by many in the neighborhood."

"The court house is now said to be full of arms."

GOOD WORK FOR CANADIANS.

It is said They Forced Botha to Evacuate their Positions..

London, June 14.—The Morning Standard correspondent at Kroonstad cabling yesterday, says that at Yester Nek the Canadians were ordered to advance toward the enemy's front, and to take cover and hold the enemy with long range fire. The Canadians advanced under a heavy shell fire from three guns over a dead slight ridge before the main range held by the Boers, and took cover behind a stone wall. All the time they were pouring a steady, well-aimed fusilade on the enemy, and, finding themselves outflanked, the Boers left during the night,

According to the Standard's correspondent the Canadians figured prominently in forcing Botha to evacuate his position near Pretoria.

BULLER MUST WAIT.

He Cannot Advance until he gets Supplies via Laing's Nek.

London ,June 15—Gen. Buller will be unable to advance further until he gets supplies. He will probably wait until the tunnel has been cleared. Nearly every farm house his troops passed flew a white flag. The British took nothing without paying for it and a brisk business was done in milk, eggs, bread and chickens by thrifty housewives, who were pleased to get so much British money. One woman, whose husband and two sons have been fighting, said; "You British are unlike our people. They took my horses in exchange for sheep ,and made me make butter, which they never paid for. I am sending to have my men come home at once."

Usually the first question a Boer woman asks is; "Will my husband be shot if he is captured?"

One man was pulled from under the bed, and he went on his knees begging to British patrol not to shoot him. ,

Military men assert that Lord Methuen will be left in command of the forces along the railway from Kroonstad to the Vaal, and that Hunter's division after reaching Johannesberg, will be sent to Heidleberg, and will open the railway to Standerton. Evidently De Wet's forces must be dispersed before there can be an invasion of the Lydenburg district, and Lord Kitchener is likely to remain at Kroonstad until the campaign in the Free State has gain been set in order..

There has been many storie sabout bad feeling and lack of co-operation between Lords Roberts and Kitchener, but these are ot well-founded. Lord Kitchener as chief of staff, works incessantly, and is Lord Roberts' trusted lieutenant, especially in managing the details of transport. Lord Kitchener is not liked in the army on account of his brusque manners, but but Lord Roberts knows how to get on with him, as with everybody else.

Visitors in Town.

The Port Hope Council spent yesterday afternoon and evening inspecting our fire system. Ald. Oake had the party in hand, and did the honors of the occasion. Mr. Oake could give the visitors a few pointers as to what it would be advisable to steer clear of in regard to street paving.

THE THEATRE OF WAR

Movements of British Commanders in South Africa—Great Work Done by General Hunter—Vigilance of Kitchener Frustrates the Enemy.

London, June 15—Since the relief of Mafeking on May 17, General Hunter has not allowed the grass to grow under the feet of his division. Upon the day of that auspicious event he was in the neighborhood of Taungs, about 140 miles south of the relieved town and was pushing rapidly northwards opening up the railway in order that supplies might be forwarded. He reached Mafeking in due course, and after making a brief stay crossed the border into Transvaal territory. Moving rapidly to the southeast, he passed through Rooigrond, Lichtenburg, and Ventersdorp, from which he marched due south upon Klerksdorp, which he occupied on June 9th, having marched over a hundred miles from Mafeking. Klerksdorp is a town of 6,000 inhabitants, and of considerable importance as a mining centre. In fact at one time it threatened to become the rival of Johannesberg, which is only 118 miles away.. From Klerksdorp runs a railway to Potchefstroom Johannesberg and Pretoria, and it is likely that Hunter's force will now swerve to the northeast along this line and occupy Potchefstroom, about 25 miles away, in a few days. On the whole, the achievement of Hunter's column is a somewhat notable one, for he has covered fully 250 miles in less than a month, which is remarkably good marching. The fact that he has traversed teh western part of the Transvaal without opposition emphasizes the fact which has previously been made apparent that the Boers both north and south of the Vaal are beping driven to the eastward and are gravitating naturally towards the mountains, making not the least show of opposition in the level country.

The vigilance of Lord Kitchener has defeated another attempt of the Boers to cut the railway a few miles north of Roodeval,the scene of the last raid upon Roberts' communications. This news indicates however,that the scattering of the Boers said to have been accomplished by Methuen the other day was not entirely effectual,for they have evidently rallied and intend to persevere in their attacks upon this particular point of the British line. An encouraging piece of news is contained in Lord Roberts' despatch, and shows that the occupation of Pretoria is having considerable effect upon the Boers. The commandant a. Klerksdorp decided to surrender the town so soon as he heard of the occupation of Pretoria, and other commandants of Boer towns are following his example indicating that the moral effect of the fall of the Boer capital is being felt in the Transvaal.

General Buller is halting at Laing's Nek, his advance guard being at Volksrust, while the tunnel is being repaired when he will again add his weight to the operations by an advance probably towards Pretoria .

ALLIED POWERS WILL SEIZE FORTS AT TAKU

British Government May Send a Brigade From South Africa to Scene of Trouble.

INTERNATIONAL FORCE STILL FIGTHING ITS WAY.

Powers Are Reinforcing Their Contingents in China—Trouble Between British and French at Tien Tsin—Empress Advises Rioters to Disperse.

Tien Tsin, June 15..

The mixed forces it is reported will attempt to seize the Taku Forts to-night.

Gen.. Neih is moving 2500 troops from Lutin to Chaing Le Tuungo. Shanghai troops are moving to Pekin.

London, June 16, 3.30 a.m.

The British Government is considering whether a substantial force should not be sent to China from South Africa. It is thought uniformly that Lord Roberts could spare a brigade or two, and the necessary transports are now in South African waters. The commander of the expedition, it is said, would probably be General Sir William Nicholson.

London, June 15.—The news from China is distinctly confused, but the general trend indicates that the gravity of the situation has in no way diminished. Shanghai provides the usual crop of alarmist rumors as to the conditions at Pekin, and the preparations to oppose the international forces, but there is a disposition in London to regard the safety of the Legations and the Europens there as not seriously threatened at the present moment. It is realized, however, that the slightest sign of a check to the international forces would put an entirely different face on the matter, and would probably lead to an outbreak of the rabble which could not be easily controlled. Besides, the news of the burning of the French and British missions at Yunnan Fu is regarded as extremely grave, as it points to the extension of the rebellion to remote parts of the Empire.

If the reports of Chinese opposition to the entry into Pekin of the international forces are true it may be best for Admiral Seymour to wait for reinforcements. The latest accounts say Gen. Tung and Ma are reported to be concentrating forces at Feng Tai, while Gen. Nieh, who killed a number of Boxers, has been degraded.

The Pall Mall Gazette continues to support the view that the initiative in the present crisis can best come from Washing, saying as the disruption of China has been stopped in the past by the intervention of the United States, a similar intervention will have the same effect now and so save the mercantile world irreparable loss.

TELEGRAPH LINE AGAIN CUT.

Reports in Paris That Entry of Troops Will Not be Opposed.

Paris, June 15.—At a cabinet council to-day the Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Delcasse, announced that the telegraph line to Pekin had again been cut. The latest despatch from the French Minister there, he added, was dated the evening of June 12 and said the Chinese Government had informed him it would not oppose the foreign troops entering Pekin.

The French Consul at Tien Tsin, M. Delcasse announced, had telegraphed that all was quiet within the French concession there which was guarded by French and Russian troops.

A swift, first class cruiser had been ordered to proceed to Taku to reinforce the French naval division at that place.

FIGHTING WITH THE BOXERS.

Times Says the International Force Has Fought a Battle.

London, June 15.—A despatch to the Times from Shanghai says that a telegram from Pekin reports a serious engagement between Admiral Seymour's force and the Chinese Imperial troops under Gen. Tung Fu Siang, near Pekin.

It is learned from the same source that the Tsung-li-Yamen has been dissolved and reorganized under Prince Tuan.

A Chinese steamer has sailed for Tien-Tsin with arms and ammunition from the Kiang-Nan arsenal under orders from the Tsung-li-Yamen.

Mr. Byron Brennan, British consul at Shanghai, who is now in London, says that the Mohammedan troops are armed with machine guns and repeating rifles.

The international force under admiral Seymour includes the following—British, 915; German, 250; Russian, 300; French, 128; American, 104; Japanese, 52; Italian, 40; and Austrian, 25. It left Tien-Tsin, June 10.

WHAT SEYMOUR SAYS.

British Admiral Recounts the Immense Difficulties he Encounters.

Washington, June 14.—A despatch has been received at the British Embassy from Admiral Seymour, in command of the international troops now forcing their way from Tien-Tsin to Pekin. The despatch discloses the extreme difficulties encountered, mainly in the form of tracks destroyed, and stated that he progress was only three miles for the preceding 24 hours. The commanding admiral felt that it would be desirable to have additional forces in order to meet every contingency, although the general feeling was that the trouble would be less difficult to deal with than had been expected.

MORE TROUBLE AHEAD.

Powers are Reinforcing Their Contingents in China.

London, June 15.—Observers at Shanghai and Tien-Tsin think there is a great deal more trouble ahead for the concert of powers than merely reaching Pekin with 2,044 men. Serious disturbances are taking place at Yun-Nan-Fu and Meng Tse, as well as at other points at a considerable distance from the capital. The whole Chinese Empire seems to be in a ferment.

While Admiral Seymour, with the international relief column, is forcing his way to Pekin, several of the powers are arranging largely to reinforce their details at Tien Tsin. Germany purposes sending 1,500; Great Britain sent 600 from Hong Kong yesterday, and 400 go Sunday. Italy has ordered 1,000 to hold themselves in readiness; Russia, according to a St. Petersburg despatch of Wednesday, has decided to bring her force at Tien Tsin up to 6,000. Thus, the combined force at Tien Tsin will probably soon be over 10,000 men.

THE EMPRESS IS FEARFUL.

She Personally Advises the Rioters to Disperse.

London, June 15.—An Express telegram from Shanghai says the aspect of affairs is more threatening than before. The Empress Dowager became so fearful of the consequences of the murder of the Chancellor of the Japanese Legation that she proceeded in person to the Yungting gate of Pekin and advised the rioters to disperse. The Standard believes an arrangement has been arrived at between England and Russia, whereby the English admiral will act as commander-in-chief of the forces advancing on Pekin, and the Russian general will be chief of staff. I. N. F.

THIRTY MILES FROM PEKIN.

A German Transport With 1,000 Men Due on Tuesday.

Berlin, June 14.—The Berlin papers a despatch from Tien Tsin saying that the international relief column has arrived within 30 miles of Pekin, but that the distance remaining must be travelled on foot, as the railway is completely destroyed. This, the despatch says, will take two or three days.

Thus far, the German squadron has landed at Taku 22 officers and 550 men. The German troops at Kiao-Chau will be increased on Tuesday by the arrival of the transport with 1900 soldiers.

INTERNATIONAL FRICTION.

Trouble Between French and British Seemed Imminent for a While.

London, June 15.—An incident has already occurred involving the British and French at Tien Tsin, which nearly ended in violence. A despatch from Tien Tsin, dated yesterday, says—For some days the French and Russian authorities here have been jealous because of supposed facilities given to the British authorities by the British employees of the Chinese railways. Yesterday (Wednesday)some French marines attempted to take charge of an engine required at the front. Locomotive Inspector Weir refused to give up the engine, and a Frenchman attempted to bayonet him. Weir caught the muzzle of the rifle, and the bayonet passed over his shoulder. For a moment serious trouble between the British and French was imminent, but the prompt action of British Consular and naval officers, backed by the American Consul, and the railway officials, prevented a collision. Conciliatory expressions were exchanged. The French Consul withdrew his opposition and the British remained in charge of the engine, as before."

A special despatch from Shanghai, dated to-day, says—"A report has reached here that the British, American and Japanese Ministers in Pekin favor the restoration of Emperor Koang-Su, but that the French and Russian Ministers insist upon the powers taking charge of China. It is further reported that the respective divisions of the country have already been assigned. The belief is that the withdrawal of the British ships from the Yang-Tse-Kiang is an indication of Great Britain's disclaimer of the sphere theory."

CONDUCTOR CLAIMS EARLDOM.

Estate of the Earl of Airlie, is Claimed by New Yorkers.

New York, June 15—News of the death of the fighting Earl of Airlie in South Africa brought to view here humble people who are claimants for the Scotish Ogilvy castles. The Earl was a member of the Ogilvy family. The claimants here also are of the Ogilvy family, and have insisted that they are the direct descendants fo an Earl of Airlie who lived in the last century and therefore the most valid title of the landed property..

The claimants here are John Wilbon conductor of a Broadway car, his family and a Mrs.. Bridget Callaghan.Long before the Earl of Airlie had gone to the African war they had engaged a New York attorney to establish their right to the bulk of the Ogilvy estates..

TEN LIVES LOST.

Disastrous Results of a Fire in a New York Tenement House

New York, June 15.—Ten lives were lost, and six people were badly injured during a fire which almost totally destroyed the old five-story tenement, 34 Jackson st., early to-day. The following is a list of the dead—Louis Marion, 40 years old, and his three children, Albert, Elsie and Emma ; William Cotter and his wife Kate, and their four children, Maggie, Jacob, Kate and John.

The Cotter family occupied apartments on the fourth floor, and the Marion family occupied apartments on the floor above them. The two families apparently were asleep and were not aware of their danger until too late to affect an escape.

Louis Marion was killed by jumping from a window. When the firemen reached the apartments of the family three of the family were dead on the floor and the others unconscious.

In the Cotter rooms were found Mrs. Cotter, while a few feet away lay the body of Mr. Cotter with a dead child under him. In oother parts of the rooms were found the remaining members of the family. Only two of them escaped alive.

But for the heroic behavior of the police and firemen many more lives would have been lost.

THE INDIA FAMINE RELIEF.

Three weeks ago a "Committee of One Hundred on India Famine Relief" was formed in New York. Since its formation the Committee has received from many parts of the United States and Canada earnest requests that it place itself at the service of all those who might desire its facilities. Such offer, accordingly, the committee has made, with no wish to do otherwise than promote interest in the famine relief and to aid, if possible, the success of all famine relief agencies. The literature of the committee, the direct and constant communication with India and the treasurership of Messrs. Brown, Brothers & Co., 59 Wall street, and by the advice of the chairman of the committee, William E. Dodge, freely at the command of any one who would wish to avail himself of their kindly offices.

The express companies have cordially consented to make all their offices agencies for the receipt and free transmission of relief funds for the press and for any and all relief committees in the United States. They also forward free of charge the committee's publications to any part of the country.

The banks of New York have united in offering themselves as agencies for the receipt of contributions, and the committees are hoping for like action on the part of 15,000 banks and banking houses of the country. The telegraph companies also have readily agreed to transmit offical and business messages free of payment.

All contributions should be sent to Messrs. Brown Bros. & Co., 59 Wall street, New York.

HE STRUCK IT RICH.

AN OLD PETERBORO' BOY MAKES A FORTUNE.

He Goes Into Mining in Montana and Make a Rich Strike—Is Now on a Fair Way to Become a Millionaire—May Return to the Land of His Birth.

Peterborough has procured many clever men during the past few years, as well as a great number of lucky chips. Amongst the former may be classed Mr. C. W. Fleming, who has just become possessed by great wealth.

Born in Belleville,—Mr. Fleming with his mother and sister came to Peterborough to live. The young man, about four years ago, went to Helena, Mountain, and without any experience in mining, and with small capital, made up his mind to make a mine out of the Bell group and in spite of the advice of the easy chair miners who persistently tried to discourage him, he kept everlastingly at it and his deserved success is the result. The Helena Independent says.— Many times during the four years the outlook was blue. Frequently the money and grub ran out and when it did Mr. Fleming went to work for wages until he had enough ahead to buy supplies for another try at the Bell. His patience was industry were rewarded last June by striking two feet of high grade shipping ore that averages $50 per ton, and since then the ore teams have been busy. The total output up to date has exceeded $50,000 of which the largest portion was profit. There are 2 tons of high grade stuff in the bins which the two six-horse teams have been unable to haul, owing to bad roads. While Mr. Fleming's experience as a miner is limited to four years and has learned more rapidly than most men and with true, miner-like method he is keeping his development ahead. The new strike is in the 400-foot tunnel, which was started last winter and has been driven steadily and only struck the ore shoot two weeks ago, since when driving on the vein has developed the shoot a length of 70 feet with no indications that the end has been reached.

The pay streak averages three and one-half feet and the same shoot is disclosed in the 150 foot level. An uprise is being made for air and stopes are being started. When the uprise is completed driving on the vein will be resumed and more ore put in sight.

The force at present consists of 20 men, but when the new uprise is completed the force will be doubled.

Owing to the bad condition of the roads, Mr. Fleming was the victim of a painful accident Thursday. One of the teamsters was laid off and Mr. Fleming took his place. The roads are so bad that it is almost impossible to stay on the ore wagon. He was thrown out and one of the small bones in his arm was broken. He was out attending to business yesterday and fortunately no serious results are likely to follow.

SAT ON HIM HARD.

How the Mashing Drummer was Squelched by a Pretty Girl.

"Anything wrong?" asked the hotel clerk of the New York drummer who had just gone home from the west.

"I was thinking," was the reply. "I rode from Toledo to Buffalo with the prettiest girl I ever saw."

"But that didn't hurt you. Who was she?"

"Can't tell."

"You didn't introduce yourself and get her card in return?"

"No."

"No particular trouble, eh?" solicitously insisted the clerk.

"Well, it was this way," replied the traveling man as he braced up for the explanation. "She sat opposite me, you know, and I tried for an hour to catch her eye. She simply ignored me and gazed out of the window. Then I rose and handed her a magazine, but she declined, with thanks. Ten minutes later I bought the latest novel out, but she said she didn't care to read. Then I bought some fruit, but she would accept none. She also ignored me when I tried to draw her out on music."

"But you persisted?"

"Oh, yes. That is, I was about to make another attempt to enter into conversation when the train came to a halt at a town, and the girl beckoned me over. I was there in an instant, and with the sweetest smile you ever saw she asked me if I would do her a slight favor."

"With all my heart," I hastened to say.

"Well," she said, smiling even more sweetly, 'suppose you leave the train here and take the next one that follows, for you have made me dead tired, and I feel like taking a nap.'"

"Good gracious," whispered the clerk

1 "Yes," said the drummer, as he reached for a cigar, "and I want to go up to my room and sit and think and try to figure it out. Perhaps it's time I left the road and settled down at home."

HAWAII GETS POSTAL RATES.

Territorial Form of Government for Uncle Sam's New Possession.

Washington, D. C., June 15.—The act of Congress providing a territorial form of government for Hawaii signed by the President April 30, goes into effect to-morrow. All persons holding positions under the Hawaiian government will become federal officers, and will hold such positions until relieved or re-appointed. The United States postal system in its entirety will be instituted to-morrow throughout the Islands. All preparations have been completed and the change will take place without a hitch. After to-day the Hawaiian postage stamps will not be acceptable as postage, and will have to be presented at the post office for redemption within six months. United States Stamps will be given in exchange. There are eighty-five post offices in in the islands, the principal office being Honolulu, which is an office of the first class. The others will be on the forth class. Honolulu, will be the central office, and the postmaster at that place will act as general head over all the other offices. Mr. John M. Oat is now the postmaster. His bond has been fixed at $100,000. All funds will go to Honolulu, and will be forwarded monthly to the sub treasury at San Francisco. It is said that the Hawaiian postal receipts have hither-to exceeded the expenditures. The rates of postage were about the same as ours, and, it is believed that the service will be improved and continue more than self sustaining. Under the new regime letters and articles will be mailnable to and fro, from the Unitedd States and Hawaii, at the same rates of postage as exist in this country.

Population of Chicago.

Chicago, June 15.—The national census which is about finished will show that the population of Chicago now exceeds 2,800,000.

"My Wife Became Anxious."

There is cause for anxiety when a cough hangs on for a year and can't be shaken off. The quickest way to relieve that anxiety is to begin at once the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a cough remedy, but it is also a great deal more. In far advanced stages of disease, when hemorrhages have been frequent, and there have been emaciation and weakness, "Golden Medical Discovery" has produced a perfect cure. It increases the supply of the life fluid—blood. It cleanses the blood from impurities, and sends a current of rich, new blood to build up the weak places in the body with new life.

The "Discovery" is strictly a temperance medicine, non-alcoholic and non-narcotic.

"For one year I was troubled with a cough," writes Mr. H. E. Curtis, of Sumner, Bremer Co., Iowa. "As I continued to cough during the summer, my wife became anxious, and wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for medical advice. It seemed to us that we could not go to a better source for advice, and so it proved, as the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which was recommended, proved just the medicine to effect a cure. Dr. Pierce and his medicines are 'As good as wheat,' as the farmers used to say."

Bad taste in the mouth is removed by using Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

The Curing of Ills No Longer a Luxury.

Old Hutch, the one time Chicago Wheat Plutocrat, leaves the formula of a cure for dyspepsia, given him by the greatest dietetic specialist in the world, a bequest to suffering humanity; made up into tabules heavily coated with chocolate, and called Hutch Tablets, that the benefit of the billionaire's legacy may be within the reach of all. Ten Hutch Tablets can be obtained for ten cents. Endorsed by the most prominent physicians of Canada and the United States Hutch Tablets as a cure for dyspepsia are regarded by them as the only preparation which works in a natural and healthful manner. Never before has a preparation received so many marks of distinguished approval as has Hutch Tablets, the cure for stomach troubles with a special feature of giving instant relief to and permanently curing indigestion. From the instant of its conception in the brain of the great dietetic specialist of New York up to the present moment of writing, the progress of Hutch Tablets has been a succession of triumphs, unique in the history of proprietary preparations. The reason of its marvellous success is that it is efficacious. It assists digestion, increases the secretion of the gastric juices, causes perfect assimilation, and by being gently cathartic expels all excreta which may remain in the intestines to poison the system with its pestiferous gases and poisonous liquids. In this way Hutch advances all the organs in a healthful natural manner, and no organ is invigorated at the expense of another; Peter is not robbed to pay Paul. Peter-robbed-to-pay-Paul policy is that of all other dyspepsia cures and is bound to end disastrously. The formula of Hutch will at once be made known to your family physician and will be placed on the prescription lists of the hospitals. No more headache. Headaches result from a sick stomach and excrement which is not expelled from the intestines. The matter remains in the system, forms gases as stated before, and poisons the blood with its deleterious liquids. These reach and inflame the delicate organs of the brain—hence that dull maddening throb. Hutch by being instantly solvent is able to start work immediately. Its value as a headache cure is evident. Already a large number of testimonials have been received from cases cured and deriving much benefit from Hutch Tablets. It is not claimed that Hutch Tablets are infallible. Quacks and Impostors do that for their so-called "remedies" and "cures." What is claimed for Hutch is that it will cure the most obstinate stomach troubles and give relief where all others fail in ninety-nine out of a hundred cases. None such as Hutch. Ten for ten cents. At all first-class drug establishments.

DURRANT WAS LEGALLY MURDERED

He Was Innocent of the Double Crime For Which He Was Hanged at San Quentin Prison in 1898.

"One of the saddest and most atrocious legal murders so far recorded is that of Theodore Durrant, who was hanged in California a few years since, for the murder of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams, a most diabolical double crime, its very fneidishness hardly having a paralel in the annals of vice, and its perpetrator was sought high and low for several days, the whole world hoping for his capture and punishment. In the meantime the so-called astute detectives and police authorities concluded a victim was needed, and after fastening their clutches on young Durrant proceeded to collect what they termed evidence, the whole mass of stuff in all probability being manufactured for the purpose of conviction, and all of a circumstantial nature. Durrant stoutly maintained from his arrest up to the moment of his execution that he was innocent of the horrible charge, but, forsooth, because he could not explain every moment of his presence at certain times, he was convicted and hanged, and once more the majesty of law, along with the thick-skulled theory of these police wiseacres was duly vindicated. Not the true sequel. A few days ago, on his death-bed, Rev. Mr. Gibson, who at the time was pastor of Emmanuel church, where one of the murders was committed, confessed that he killed both of the victims. He was an active and important witness at the trial of poor Durrant, the reason of which is now quite plain, and also in view of the fact that suspicion was strongly directed to him at the time."

Theodore Durrant was hanged at San Quentin prison, Cal., on Jan. 7, 1898.

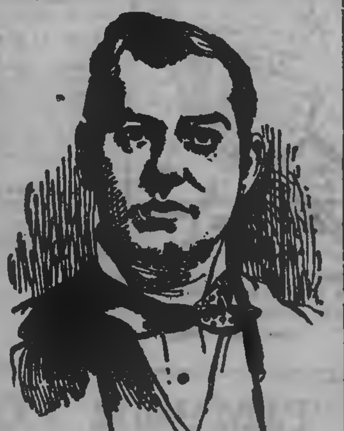
HISTORY OF THE CASE.

Story of the Murder and the Trial of Durrant as Given in 1898.

The following history of the crime for which Durrant was hanged and his trial was telegraphed from San Quentin on the day of Durrant's execution.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 7—William Henry Theodore Durrant, who was hanged at the state prison at San Quentin to-day, gave his life in exchange for the lives of two young women, who were members of the church to which he belonged. While Durrant was convicted of but one murder under the law he was responsible by public opinion for the murder of both Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams and it is felt that his death expiates one crime as well as the other.

Durrant's crimes were peculiar in their atrocity from any point of view. He was reared in a Christian home and until the time of his arrest was regarded as a model young man of industrious habits, who was trying to work his way through a medical college. The only characteristic that seemed marked in his nature was piety. He had been a prominent member of Emmanuel Baptist church for several years and for a year previous to his arrest he had been assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. In this capacity he made the acquaintance of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams, both by whom were destined to be murdered by him in the church where they worshiped together. Blanche Lamont disappeared on April 3, 1895, and was never seen alive afterwards. She left the home fo her aunt Mrs. C. G. Noble, on that day to go to school and for ten days no trace of her could be found. Many members of Emmanuel church assisted in the search and among others was Theodore Durrant, who had often acted as Miss Lamont's escort. He was seemingly greatly distressed on account of Miss Lamont's disappearance and at length expressed the belif that she had joined the ranks of fallen women. This theory seemed plausible to the police and a search was made among the places where it was believed that the missing girl might be found. Durrant assisted in the inquiry which came to naught. Ten days had passed since Miss Lamont disappeared and her friends had almost given up hope of ever knowing her fate when a discovery was made which led to the finding of Miss Lamont's body.



William Henry Theodore Durrant.

The ladies of Emmanuel church were engaged in decorating the edifice preparatory to the elebration of the Easter Sunday service when the mangled body of Minnie Williams was found in the library. A number of ugly wounds and some rags had been forced down the young woman's throat told of the unequal struggle she had made to protect her life. Miss Williams' body was discovered in the afternoon and late the same night the first clue to the murderer was obtained. From some of the young woman's friends it was learned that she had been seen the evening before with Durrant and although there was nothing else to show that he had any connection with the crime, the police decided to arrest him. Durrant's home was visited late at night but he was not there. His parents said that he had left shortly before midnight with the signal corps of the National Guards, to which he belonged, to make some heliographing experiments at Mount Diablo. The next train carried two detectives toward the mountain and after completing their journey by stage, Durrant was found late in the afternoon and arrested. While these events were taking place on Mount Diablo, 60 miles away, a discovery had been made in this city which filled the streets with men and women crying for vengeance. From the first the police associated the finding of Miss Williams' body with the disappearance of Miss Lamont and a serch was at once begun in the church for her body. Men worked all night tearing up floors and breaking down partitions and at 10 o'clock Sunday morning the body of Miss

Durrant Murdered. TWO

Lamont was found. A broken door knob and a turned bolt excited the suspicions of the searchers and the door leading to the belfry of the church was broken down. Up the winding stairs the policemen groped their way and at the third landing, lying in the corner of the darkened belfry, the body of the murdered girl was found. No knife had been used to commit the crime, as was the case in the murder of Miss Williams, but the imprint of five fingers buried in her throat revealed the manner in which the young woman had met her death.

The trial which began on July 22 and lasted until Nov. 1 was one of the most celebrated in criminal jurisprudence. Nearly 1,200 talesmen were examined before a jury was secured and six weeks passed before the taking of testimony was begun. The evidence throughout was circumstantial, but when taken together formed a chain so strong as to permit of no reasonable doubt. The case was submitted to the jury on the afternoon of Nov. 1, 1895 after having been on trial over three months. Twenty minutes after they left the courtroom the jurors returned and rendered a verdict of guilty in the first degree. Judge Murphy a few days ago sentenced Durrant to be hanged on Feb. 1, 1896. Then began the fight for delay, vigorously maintained for almost three years, not even ceasing with the execution of the sentence.

The theory of the prosecution has always been that Durrant murdered Miss Williams to conceal the murder of Miss Lamont. The two young women were acquaintances and Durrant suspected that Miss Williams believed that he knew something about the disappearance of Miss Lamont.

NIGHT BEFORE EXECUTOIN.

Talked With a Pressman and Proclaimed His Innocence.

The night before Durrant's execution the supreme court denied an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the case.

As stated in the item from the California paper, Durrant maintained his innocence to the last.

At his request a reporter of the Associated Press interviewed him the night before his execution. His mother was present.

"How do you feel?" was asked.

"Hopeful, buoyant, and ready to meet my maker," was the reply. "I know the Lord is with me. No one knows what faith is until tried. I am going to a Judge who has never committed a wrong and who cannot. My faith is so strong that I have kept up and will be sustained to the end."

Then turning to his mother he said. "Mother, I have come to the conclusion that it needs trial to know God. And you may say that to the world," he added.

"What will you say at the last?" he was asked.

"I shall proclaim my innocence loudly, strenuously," answered Durrant. "Make this as strong as you. please. I will not falter at the end. I will die bravely, knowing I am going to a better world. I thank God my hands are clean, not stained with blood, but the fair name of California will stand with a crime that can never be wiped out, the blood of an innocent man."

BRAVE TO THE LAST.

It was feared that Durrant would commit suicide and the prison guards were most vigilant. But Durrant had no thought of suicide. He passed his waking hours in prayer and when the night before his execution the jail physician remarked reassuringly that he would visit Durrant in the morning prepared to give him stimulants Durrant's smile and easy increased tone told, if he had not said a word, that he would scorn such support or comfort.

So impressed was the penitentiary doctor with the attitude of Durrant that he declared. "Why that fellow is the man of the century."

The day of the execution Durrant awoke at 6.15 a.m., after sleeping from one o'clock. He was not given a collar and necktie, as they would have to be removed when the noose was placed around his neck. Durrant noticed the omission and at the request the missing articles of attire were sent to him.

"You never saw a braver man," said the jail governor. "He is calmer than you or I, not the least bit nervous. There is no danger that he will weaken. He has nerve and is determined to die bravely."

SPEECH ON THE GALLOWS

With his feet on the gallows, the rope about his neck and the hangman turning to get the black cap, Durrant whispered a request to be allowed to speak and it was granted. In his speech he protested his innocence, declaring he was not guilty of the crime.

Off the Track

This means disaster and death when applied to a fast express train. It is equally serious when it refers to people whose blood is disordered and who consequently have pimples and sores, bad stomachs, deranged kidneys, weak nerves and that tired feeling. Hood's Sarsaparilla puts the wheels back on the track by making pure, rich blood and curing these troubles.

Constipation is cured by Hood's Pills, 25 cents.

A LONG CROOKED ROAD.

Love has a long way to go to reach the heart of the modern up-to-date young man. When he looks for a wife, he expects a good deal. Probably he expects more than he deserves. He wants good looks, good sense, good nature, good health. They usually go together. An observing man learns that a woman who is physically weak and nervous and incapable, is likely to be ill-natured too. The sweetest temper is ruined by continual sickness.

A woman whose nerves are constantly racked and dragged by debilitating drains and inflammation, cannot be a genial companion or happy wife; and she is totally unfitted to be a mother.

These troubles prevail almost universally among women largely because of carelessness and neglect. There is no need of them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive specific for the weaknesses and diseases of the feminine organism. It cures them radically and completely. It heals, strengthens and purifies. It is the only scientific remedy devised for this special purpose by an educated, skilled physician. It is the only medicine that makes motherhood easy and absolutely safe.

Its sale, through dealers in medicines exceeds the combined sale of all other medicines for women. It acts directly and only on the child-bearing organism. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, heals ulceration and gives the tortured nerves a rest. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period and makes baby's coming easy and comparatively painless. Thousands of women have testified to its wonderful virtues. All good druggists sell it and honest dealers will not offer inferior substitutes for the sake of a little extra profit. Dr. Pierce has been for thirty years chief consulting physician of the famous Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. His reputation as a skilled specialist in woman's ailments is world-wide.

Miss Lauretta McNees, of Reno (P. O. Box 723), Washoe Co., Nev., writes: "I have discontinued taking the 'Prescription' and will not take any more (at present). Last month I had no pain at all and worked every day without any inconvenience whatever. It was the first time I never had pain during that period. I cannot say too much for your medicines especially the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I know of a lady who took one bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription' and she says she was not sick like she was with her first baby. This was her second baby. She thinks it a grand medicine. So do I."

"I had suffered untold misery for a number of years, with ovarian trouble, an exhausting drain, constipation, painful periods and other annoying troubles," writes Mrs. Annie James, of No. 27 Seventh St., Memphis, Shelby Co., Tenn. "Thank God, my health has been fully restored and I can gladly say I am a well woman to-day. I used six or seven bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription,' and also used the lotion which you advised in the 'Common Sense Medical Adviser.'"

"For years I had been failing in health and kept getting worse and more nervous all the time," writes Mrs. Annie Dulan, of East Stroudsburg, Monroe Co., Pa. "I doctored with two different doctors and they told me that my system was run down and my nerves were weak. I had ulcers of the uterus which were so painful at times that I was afraid that they must be cancers. Indeed I felt discouraged with the treatment, and did not get any better until my nurse advised me to write to you and I did so.

"In May I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' and followed your advice as closely as I could. I took twelve bottles in all, six of each. Thanks to God and the right kind of medicine I feel myself cured and a well woman. I have no bad feeling whatever and can do the work for a family of eight, and feel better than I have for years."

Dr. Pierce has had a life-time of experience in this particular field. His 1000-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" contains several chapters devoted to woman's special physiology. A paper-bound copy will be sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. For a cloth-bound copy send 50 stamps.

Some Reasons Why...

Scottish-Canadian Stock (Rob Roy Mines) is a good investment.

1—The Specially liability, (none beyond the amount originally subscribed for stock.)
2—The large area of rich mineral lands owned by the Company.
3—The abnormal richness of the ores of the district (ours assays over $100.00 to the ton.)
4—The enormous amount of ore we can show on the properties, and which we are now working to get at by tunneling.
5—The comparative ease of working and good transportation facilities.
6—The great improvement as work progresses.
7—The safe conservative management and administration of investors' money.
8—The likelihood of an early advance in price of shares.

The above is a combination hard to beat! It eliminates all undue risk and renders an investment infinitely safer than mining share investments usually are, and makes the outlook for large profits soon, very encouraging. Not much more stock will be available at Fifteen cents per share. Send or call for particulars.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the Rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed, and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our company owns, clear of incumbrance, the following claims: The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida, at Cleora station, on the main trunk line of the great Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, and also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

A Big Sale of Republic Stocks

THE FAIRFAX CO., OF REPUBLIC, J. J. Brown, Pres., Willis Merriam Treas., after securing the Jim. Hill claim ajoining it on the north, sampled the ledge and W. H. Stowell reports on this sampling $16 50 in gold, immediately upon the result becoming known in Republic, a Mining Boom, through our agent there, Tom Angel, negotiated the purchase of $1,000 worth of Treasurer's stock, the company has authorized me to place a small amount of this stock at 3cts. Remember the Fairfax and Jim. Hill are less than 500 feet from the Mountain Lion, which is now $1.00 per share, and is an investment at that. The Fairfax at 3½ cts., is a speculation. Which is to be pushed.

Four Children Rescued.

Yesterday afternoon Chief Rozzel and Mr. F. W. Miller, (in the absence of Mr. Cochrane, Agent of the Children's Aid Society) went to the home of Timothy Kearns, on Patterson street, and removed the four childfen and placed them in the shelter. The disposal of the children, who range from two to twelve years of age, will be made this morning by the Police magistrate.

Board of Health.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held in the town Clerk's Office. The lane in the rear of George-st between Brock and Hunter, a nuisance of ancient date, was the subject of discussion.. The owners of the property affected were present at the meeting Town Engineer Hay submitted plans for the draining of the lane by means of a catchbasin and connection with the sewer and these were discussed at some length. The estimated cost was $100 The Board adjourned for a week without any action being taken.

Hotel Changed Hands

We understand that the National Hotel will change hands in a few days.. Mr. White having disposed of his interest in it to Mr. D. A. Moon, proprietor of the Stirling House, Stirling. Mr. Moon comes to Peterborough under the most favorable auspices, and has large experience in his line of business. He has one of the finest hotels in eastern Ontario, and we look for big things from the National. The house is modern, has every convenience, is well situated and should be full up all the time.

Electrical Fireworks

Lindsay Post.— Fenelon Falls-Lindsay power transmission line vied with nature last night in the production of electrical pyrotechnics. The high wind caused the power cable and the telephone line to come in contact with each other at several points, the result being that the electrical current cut loose and made brilliant displays wherever the union occurred. Opposite Braund's china store the wires burned through and the ends fell to the ground, but luckily pedestrians had the good sense to carefully avoid them. The occurrence plunged Kent-st. hotels and stores in darkness while the Power Co. electricians were remedying the trouble. About 2 a.m. a similar mishap occurred near Skitch's carriage shop.

REPORTERS ROUNDS.

Local Happenings Picked Up Here and There by the Times.

Who's going fishing?

The steamer Eclipse took out a private party yesterday.

The farmers' picnic will take place at Jubilee Point on Thursday next.

Park street is being cut down between Hunter and Simcoe streets. More waste of money.

Remember this—No other medicine has such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla. When you want a good medicine, get Hood's.

Men were at work yesterday digging up the drain across Brock street in front of the Canadian Canoe Co.'s premises, which had become choked.

A successful garden party was given Thurady night on the grounds of Ald. Robertson, Stewart street, by the Dorcas Society of the Park street church.

About a year ago or a little over a clothes line in the western part of the town was robbed. Some of the clothing has just come into the possession of the Chief of Police, and the owner is requested to communicate with him.

Dr. Geo. Burnham, President of the Horticultural Society, called the attention of the Times to the fact that it was the Society which was fixing up the boulevard in front of Victoria Park, and not the town, as erroneously stated in these columns.

A mass meeting is to be held in the Y.M.C.A. hall, on Tuesday, June 19, at 8 p.m., to be addressed by Rev. J. G. Shearer, B.A., Field Secretary for Canada of the Lords' Day Alliance. The theme for discussion will be "Our Imperilled Sabbath, and how it may be saved."

Orillia Packet—Mr. G. E. Whiten has sold his pretty residence on Tecumseth street to Mr. Wm. Tudhope. At the same time he has bought a very desirable corner lot in Peterborough and will build there. Mr. Whiten's business, the Packet hears, is exceedingly prosperous, and he and his family are feeling more and more at home in Peterborough.

Another Clever Capture.

If the men and boys of Peterborough don't get purse-pleasing bargains in clothing during the next thirty days it won't be H. LeBrun & Co's fault. Two of H. Shorey & Co's smartest representatives Mr. Albert Shorey and Mr. Frank Ross, came to town Monday specially to do business with LeBruin & Co., and after the day was over, Mr. LeBruin had captured a big slice of as fine a class of summer clothing as Shorey ever made at much less than wholesale manufacturers prices for cash. Such clothing as Shorey's always takes first rank, and when Le Bruin & Co. announce their big sale there will be great big bargains for buyers. Sale begins on Saturday 16th inst.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Post Office Inspector H. Merrick of Kingston, is in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Yelland left yesterday for a visit to Fenelon Falls.

Mr. Richard Hall and Mr Herb Hall arrived home from Clifton Springs.

Mr. Frank Jones, of Toronto, formerly an employee of The Times, is down visiting his parents.

Mr. S. J. Sharp., of Toronto western manager of the Elder, Dempster & Co steamship lines was in town yesterday.

Tweed News;—Dan J. DeVine, of Peterboro, has been spending a few days in town assisting Mr. Meiklejohn, local agent of the North American Life Assurance Co.

In the Montreal Star is noticed the list of successful medical students in the third years exams. Among those who took honors in all subjects is a Peterborough boy, Mr. H. B. Rogers, son of Lt-Col H. C Rogers. Mr. Rogers is to be most heartily congratulated on his success, for not only does he appear in the list of those who took honors in all subjects, but he stands first on the honor list in several subjects.

The Deaf and Dumb Institution.

Mr. James Coyle Brown, the efficient Inspector of Public Schools for Peterborough county, recently inspected the Ontario Deaf and Dumb Institution, Belleville. "The Deaf Mute," a paper edited and published of the Mute Institutioon makes the following reference to the official visit;

"The written examinations were held on the week commencing May 21st and indicated very marked and satisfactory progress during the session. The official examiner, Mr. Brown, Public School Inspector Peterborough County, spent the week beginning 24th at the Institution and made a thorough test of each class and expressed himself as much gratified with the character and high degree of excellence of the work done, and as especially pleased with the conduct and demeanor of the pupils.

Local Talent Abroad.

The splendid choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, under the leadership of Mr. Crane, drove out to Omemee last night and took part in a sacred concert in that village. The affair was very successful, there being a large attendance.

FOOD CURE.

Results in Change of Diet are Wonderful.

"Good food, properly selected, will, in my opinion, cure almost any ordinary disease. I want to tell you my experience and of my recovery by the selection of the proper diet. I am a business woman, very closely confined indoors, with considerable care and anxiety. Some time ago I had a severe case of the grippe and after recovering from it, had a serious time following, as many people do.

"I was unable to get well until I changed my diet, leaving off Mocha and Java coffee and using the Postum Food Coffee in its place, and taking up Grape-Nuts breakfast food. This winter I have given both a fair and continued trial and the results are superb. I am restored to perfect health and strength, and as you claim, I have a "reserve force" bodily and mentally, that carries me through many hard places.

"I cannot praise the food too much, for it will, if used steadily, cure all disturbances of the system caused by the congestions lagrippe is answerable for. A dish that contains the most powerful rebuilding elements, can be made as follows—hot milk brought to a boil, break in two fresh eggs and as soon as the eggs set, pour the boiling milk and eggs over some Grape Nuts in a soup dish. No breakfast of meat can be so good.

"I use Grape Nuts in this way every morning and have no sense of lack of food all day. I have kept well and remarkable free from colds all winter, which I attribute to a fine condition of health brought about by the use of the famous food and of Postum Food Coffee." (Grape-Nuts are perfectly cooked at the factory, and are usually served cold, with a little cream or milk.) Mrs. C. S. Woodward, 24 Granada St., St. Augustine, Fla.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The idea has been suggested that the new band stand be erected in Central Park instead of Victora Park.. The idea is a good one. The music was never so good in Victora Park on account of the hill. By all means let us have the new stand in Central Park.

Time for a Change.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The shameful disorder that prevails in the fire hall calls for immediate action on the part of the council. It seems to me, Mr. Editor, that a complete reorganization of the fire department could be made with advantage to the public.

SOCIETIES AT CHURCH.

Woodmen of the World and Independent Foresters Attend Divine Service.

Peterborough's camp of the Woodmen of the World to the number of about one hundred attended divine service in Mark street Methodist church last evening and listened to a special sermon. This was the first anniversary church parade and the appearance of the camp as they marched to church was favorably commented upon by large numbers of people who saw them. Special and appropriate music was rendered by the choir and all joined heartily in the singing. The sermon was preached by a brother of the pastor's Rev. Mr. Moore, of Michigan, who is a visitor in town. The pastor afterwards addressed a few appropriate remarks to the Woodmen. Onreturning to the rooms, a vote of thanks was rendered the Rev. Messrs. Moore, officers of the church and the choir. A short address was given by Organizer Boles, who is in town at the present time, and the camp was dismissed after singing the National Anthem.

INDEPENDENT FORESTERS.

CHILDREN'S AID CASES.

A Girl Ill-Treated at Kinmount—A Case in Court.

Mr Cochrane, agent of the Children's Aid Society, went to Lindsay Friday to bring down a girl who was placed in the Shelter. The girl has been subjected to brutal treatment. She is fourteen years of age. The officers of the Society would be grateful for clothing for her.

At the police court Saturday the Magistrate heard evidence in the Kearns case concerning the Children's Aid Society, the mother of six children being accused of not caring properly for them. There was considerable evidence against her, but the Society thought it best to not break up the home, and, acting on the instructions of the officers of the Society, Mr. Dennistoun, its solicitor, asking that she be given another chance. The Magistrate agreed and the children were returned to their home.

THE FUGITIVE RETURNS.

Toronto Laundryman, Wanted for Stealing Public Funds, Surrenders to Indiana Authorities

John E, Sullivan, formerly proprietor of the Oriental Laundry in King street west, has returned to Marion Country, Indiana, where he is wanted on a charge of stealing $52,400 of the county funds while he was its clerk. He surrendered himself.

Sullivan was a Democrat, a member of the Sim Coy band of politicians which manipulated affairs in Indianapolis for years, and wound up with the famous tally-sheet frauds. It was in 1889, after the battle over the tally-sheet frauds that Sullivan fled to Canada.

In Toronto Sullivan had note transactions with the Hyams brothers and was a witness at the murder trial. George McC. Wilson, the defaulting Merchants' Bank clerk, backed a note for Sullivan, which fell into the hands of the Hyams, and it is alleged this was the commencement of Wilson's trouble..

Military Canteens

London, Ont., June 16.—The military camp on Carling's Heights closed yesterday morning with a final drill, when Col. Aylmer complimented Lieut.-Col. Holmes on the proficiency of the troops, their steadiness and general appearance on parade.

Yesterday afternoon the camp was cleaned up, and the early trains to-day took the men home.

In an interview, Col. Aylmer said that though he did not believe in canteen regulations, they should be obeyed.

"I believe in having lager beer, not whiskey, and lots of it, in the men's canteen," he said, "as, if they don't get it there, they will get it somewhere else."

ROBERTS SAW BOTHA'S VULNERABLE POINTS!

Boer General Weakened His Centre and British Immediately Made Strong Attack

ANOTHER PAARDEBERG NECESSARY FOR BOERS.

No Decisive Action Has Been Fought in Afrika Since the Capture of General Cronje—Gallant Work of British Regiments in Recent Battle.

London, June 15.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts—

"Pretoria, June 15.—As I telegraphed yesterday from one of our outposts, fifteen miles east of Pretoria, the Boers evacuated their position during the night of June 12. They had paid so much attention to strengthening their flanks that their centre was weakly held, and as soon as this became evident on June 12 I directed Ian Hamilton to attack. He moved against Diamond Hill, with the Suffolks, Derbyshires and City Imperial Volunteers, supported on the left by the Guards Brigade under Inigo Jones.

"It was grand, seeing the way our men advanced over the difficult ground and under a heavy fire.

"The casualties, I am thankful to say, were less than 100, a very small number, considering the natural strength of the position which had to be carried.

"Our seizure of Diamond Hill caused the Boers to feel they were practically surrounded, and this resulted in their hasty retirement. They were being followed yesterday by some of our mounted corps.

"Hamilton spoke in high terms of the troops engaged. Hamilton received a contusion from a shrapnel bullet in the shoulder, but is not, I am happy to say, unable to perform his duty."

The rest of Lord oRberts' despatch deals with the casualties, and General Baden-Powell's movements in the Western Transvaal, where he, with 800 men, is systematically re-establishing order and collecting arms and supplies. About 600 Boers have surrendered and Baden-Powell captured 230 prisoners.

According to Baden-Powell's report the Boers will readily discuss terms of surrender and they will appreciate the work of pacification performed by his troops.

A SECOND COLENSO.

Buller's Successful Battle at Almond's Nek Was Almost as Terrible.

Allenman's Nek, June 15. — General Buller yesterday fought a protracted and stirring engagement at Almond's Nek, twelve miles from Volksrust.

The enemy were found in force lining a semicircle of hills which lay in front of our line of march at the nek.

The position was very strong. To the right of the road rose a high, conical, boulder-strewn hill, and beyond it another rocky hill. On the other side of the road was a high hill covered with rocks and bushes.

The enemy's [illegible] was about eight miles in length.

A battery of artillery on an eminence to the right of the road, one mile from the nek, shelled the hills in front, and later on some 4.7 and 12-pounder long-range naval guns opened fire on the nek and its neighborhood.

The infantry then advanced. The Dublin Fusiliers swept around the extreme rig ht,sending the Boers on to the nek.

While the Dorsets went straight for the conical hill, swarming with Boers, the East Surreys advanced on the left of the hill, and the West Surreys and the Queen's advanced on the hills on the left side of the road.

When the infantry on the right had advanced within eight hundred yards of the hills the Boers opened fire with Mausers, pom-poms, and big guns, sending several shells in the direction of the artillery, all going wide.

Not until half past three was the fight begun in earnest. The naval guns were then hotly shelled and the eminence on which they stood was swept for ten minutes by a tornado of pom-pom shells.

The advancing infantry, however, forced the Boers to give their entire attention to their more immediate surroundings.

The Dublin Fusiliers, Dorsets, and East Surreys were now actively engaged, and the Mausers crackled fiercely, our men on the flats taking what shelter they could behind ant heaps and then in a donga, and returning a heavy, continuous fire.

The donga was crossed and the Dorsets charged up the hill, the Boers promptly retreating to the next hill.

At this stage our shell fire was splendid, greatly assisting the rifle fire.

The Dorsets on the ridges at the top of the conical hill poured a scorching fire across the deep gorge separating them from the Boers.

The East Surreys now advanced on the left of the hill.

The Dublins, yb a wide movement on the right, threatened to isolate the Boers, who, as the Dorsets charged up the front of the hill, retired further back.

The Boers were now being rapidly enveloped, and the Dorsets, fixing bayonets for a final charge, made them flee from the hill.

By five o'clock the Boers were in full retreat, and our guns were shelling them. They appeared to be galloping along the hills on the right.

The Boers had made extraordinary preparations for holding Laing's Nek by placing guns on Majuba, Popwani and the nek itself.

The nek is second only to the Tugela heights in entrenchments, which in many places are even deeper and more elaborate. Behind the trenches actual caves had been dug for shelter during shelling.

Gen. Buller's march on the Boer rear by way of Botha's pass saved thousands of lives.

METHUEN WAS OUTWITTED.

Correspondents Say that Dewet Lured Him From the Railway.

London, June 16.—From Cape Town comes an account of a series of operations between Lord Methuen and Dewet, from which it is tolerably clear that the Boer commandant steadily during the whole time outmanoeuvred the British general. He succeeded in luring him away from the railway, and then by clever, swift movements, he turned and destroyed the line for several miles north of Kroonstad.

General Rundle's force seems to be hid in inactivity by the Boers, whose immensely strong positions secure them from attack on any side except the north while he is also afraid to move lest the Boers slip southward, as they seem to be attempting to do.

Given unlimited supplies, the burghers might hold their own in the northeastern part of the Orange River Colony for an indefinite time, but reports represent their supplies as running short. It is also said that the Boers are hemmed in.

PRISONERS ARE SUFFERING.

British in Confinement at Nooitgedacht Not Protected From Cold.

London, June 16.—The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the Times says—Among the Boer agents here there is talk of negotiations being opened with a few of securing peace. The nature of these negociations is not made public.

Mr. Wolmarans, a cousin of the member of the Transvaal Executive of the same name, has arrived here. He declares that he intends to take no further part in the fighting. The British prisoners at Nooitgedacht are suffering terribly from cold, and arrangements are being made to provide them with shelter. Their, rations are identical with the scanty fare served out to the burghers.

VEILED STATE OF WAR NOW EXISTS IN CHINA

Members of Foreign Legations Are Virtually Prisoners in the Capital and Chinese Troops Are Only Restrained From Attacking Them by a Wholesome Fear of the Guards.

London, June 16.—This is the situation in China as it appears to the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, cabling last evening;

"It is really a state of veiled war. The members of the Legations in Pe-in Pekin are virtually prisoners and the Chinese troops are only restrained from attacking them by fear of the Legations guards.

"Meanwhile the Ministers are altogether unable to communicate with the officers commanding the relief column which is making an enforced and isolated halt between Tien Tsin and Pekin. The walls of the capital are guarded by 100,000 Imperial troops. The gates are heavily defended with modern guns. General Tung, acting under orders from the Empress Dowager, says that no more foreign troops shall enter the sacred city.

"On Monday the Ministers sent a demand to the Tsung li Yamen that the gates be opened declaring that otherwise, the foreign troops would enter forcibly. To this no reply was given. A second message went unanswered or had not been answered when the latest news left Pekin.

"Sir Claud Macdonald's latest message says that the Legations are capable of sustaining an effective defence, unless attacked in force."

Russia, this correspondent asserts, notwithstanding assurances to the contrary, sides with China. Some foreign troops are already reported to be in the environs of Pekin, and the attitude of the Chinese troops increasingly, menacing.

"The streets of Pekin," continues the correspondent of The Daily Express, "are reported to be seething with anti-foreign mobs clamoring for the destruction of the Legations and the death of the foreign Ministers. Even were the Tsung-li-Yamen disposed to restrain the violece of the reactionaries, it is considered highly improbably that they will be able to hold them in check. For the foreign ministers the crisis will arised when the relief column comes in sight of Pekin.

NO ONE ALLOWED TO LAND..

St. Helena Declared a Prison and Some Strict Rules are Adopted .

London, June 16.—A St Helena correspondent wires:—The Government has issued a proclamation declaring that, owing to the detention of alarge number of prisoners on the island, it is expedient to constitute the place a prison for the time, being and to prevent the landing of unauthorized persons, whether to visit or reside on the island. No person is therefore allowed to land from any ship or steamer without a pass signed by the Governor, and no boatman shall use his boat in violation of this proclamation under a penalty not exceeding £25.

HE DID IT FOR A JOKE.

Mystery of Abduction of a Parisian Comtesse Cleared Up

Paris, June 16.—The mystery of the abduction of "Gyp," Comtesse de Martel de Janville, is at last cleared up. Le Matin publishes a full confession of the chief perpetrator, an artist named Karl, a character of the Latin quarter and famous for his practical jokes.

He it was who hoaxed M. Quesnay de Beaurepaire at the time of the Dreyfus trial by making him believe that he (Karl) was in possession of conclusive proof of the guilt of the accused. M. de Beaurepaire for a time made great capital out of the communication, whereupon Karl to the immense amusement of the Parsians, announced that it was all a practical joke.

Karl now explains that the idea of abducting "Gyp" occurred to him one day while in the Louvre and looking at a painting representing the abduction of the Sabines. He carried out the plan with the assistance of four jovial companions, andl eft the Comtesse imprisoned in a small villa at Graveile.

He expressed astonishment that the Comtesse had not revealed the identity of her abductiors, as they were quite well known to her, he having introduced himself and friends before leaving her for the night. He declines to give the real object of the joke, inasmuch as it failed, owing to the agility of the Comtesse, who escaped through a second-storey window.

Politics on the Coast

Vancouver, B. C., June 16, Special.—There is great indignation here at the apparent attempt to resuscitate the old Turner party. Dunsmuir's selection of Ministers causes great dissatisfaction on the mainland. Turner, the Finance Minister; Eberts, the Attorney-General; Dunsmuir, the Premier, and Pooley are really behind Dunsmuir beig manage of the Dunsmuir legal business and general adviser, made a pretty strong Island Cabinet, or rather Victoria family arrangement. Major Garden's refusal to accept portfolio till after Monday's meeting of the Opposition in Vancouver is generally approved. W. C. Wells, Northeast Kootenay, is an unheard of quantity heretofore in Provincial politics. He was a member of the late Legislature, but quite undistinguished for any ability or force of character. Wells is chosen because he is a harmless person, not likely to cause any trouble. It is said Bob Green, of Slocan will be called in to seter the mining department; but none of those men want to act before Monday. It is expected the convention of the opposition will produce some startling effects, as all is not harmony in that camp by any means.

Fire at Lakefield

A serious fire broke out in Lakefield this morning shortly after one o'clock, which resulted in total destruction of Munro's hotel and an entire block was in danger at one time. A telephone message was sent the Fire Department here asking for assistance and hose wagon and engine were placed in readiness, when word was received that the fire was under control and assistance unnecessary.

Church Mission.

Halifax, June 16.—At yesterday's session of the Presbyterian General Assembly reports on the home and foreign mission fields, aged and infirm ministers' fund, widows and orphans' fund and century fund were received and proved most satisfactory. Dr. Warden stated that the subscriptions to the century fund actually registered amounted to $700,333.

It was agreed that the age limit for ministers to receive allowance from the aged and infirm ministers' fund should be changed from 70 to 65 years.

Did She Drown Herself

Londonn, June 16.—The police are dragging the canal between Stratford and Sale for the body of the pretty Jewess, Miss Jewel, whose association with the African Prince, Lobengula, last summer, gained her much notoriety.. It is stated that the Prince quarrelled with Miss Jewel at Manchester, in consequence of her extravagance, and struck her..

As a result she left him and has not been seen since, but some lady's clothing and a tragic letter signed Kitty Jewel have been found on the canal bank..

Left After Law Costs

Quebec, June 15.—The actual sum received by the 63 persons comprising the Fox Bay settlers who have been ejected from Anticosti was $497 Eleven families were awarded $1,460 by the court. The Government, Quebec paid $300 towards their legal expenses which amounted to $1,263 leaving a balance of $497 for the settlers. They brought their fishing boats with them to Quebec expecting to have use for them in their new homes in Manitoba but here they learned they would enjoy no fishing rights in the west, and they sold the boats at a sacrifice.

POWERS' RELIEF TRAIN WAS FORCED TO RETURN

Telegraph Line From Tien Tsil to Thanghl Destroyed—Fresh Trouble Breaks Out at Other Points—British Cruisers Sail From Hong Kong.

London, June 18.

The German Minister has been captured, is the announcement to the Morning Post from Pekin in a despatch dated June 13, 5 p.m., via Tien Tsin, June 16. This is the latest press message known to have left Pekin. It comes as follows—A crowd of Boxers occupies Legation street, cutting off communication between the buildings. A few Boxers are in the city. Their superstition in regard to foreign arms is pitiable. The Boxers hold the officials of Tung Chau for for redemption. Anarchy reigns at that place. The Americans in the interior and in the neighboring provinces have been advided to leave, but several have no means of doing so. Unless a relief force is sent, there is danger of a massacre of native Christians. A large Chinese army is ready to oppose the relief column on the way here. The Chinese Government cannot decide whether to adopt the policy of rigidly suppressing the Boxers or that of defying the whole world. The decision rests with the Dowager Empress.

London, June 18.

The following summary of the situation was telegraphed to the Daily News from Shanghai ast evening.—The situation is critical and without parallel since the Indian Mutiny. At the Yang Tse ports there is a grave feeling of unrest among the natives. As yet there has been no outbreaks, but placards have been posted in Kin Kiang, Ugas Skin and Wu Hu calling on the people to kill and burn.

FORCED TO RETURN.

Shanghai, June 16.—Last night's advices from Tien Tsin report that large incendiary fires occurred in the eastern part of the city. Three English and American churches were burned, besides the residences of many foreigners. Telegraph communication is interrupted—the poles having been burned—and there is no hope of immediate repairs being made. The train conveying the relieving party with food and ammunition was obliged to return, being unable to reach Lang Fang, where detachment of foreign troops despatched on Sunday last are now endeavoring to repair the line.

GERMAN MINISTER KILLED.

London, June 16 4 p.m.—A special despatch from Hong Kong says all the Pekin legations have been destroyed and that the German Minister, Baron Von Ketteler has been killed.

SITUATION BECOMES GRAVE.

Telegraphic Communication With Shanghai is Now Interrupted.

London, June 16.—With the reports coming through Tien Tsin that the Boxers have massacred a number of native converts and servants of foreigners east of the city of Pekin besides burning the Catholic Cathedral at Pekin the situation in the far east appears perceptibly graver. To add to the difficulty comes the news this morning that telegraphic communication between Shanghai and Tien Tsin is totally interrupted consequently, the prevailing uncertainty as to the facts and possibilities of the position of the foreigners at Pekin is perilous as there is but a short step from the massacre of the servants of foreigners to the killing of the foreigners themselves.

"If a massacre is averted" says the Spectator "and the place reduced to seeming obedience the grand difficulty will be to decide on the next step.; The powers can neither encamp permanently in Pekin nor leave until it is established that the Government is prepared to respect international obligations and able to hold China together. If anarchy breaks out in China the object of the powers is defeated and the failure or success of the present efforts may involve a series of wars of which no man can see the end."

The Spectator suggests that an egress from the present empasse must be found in the appointment by the representatives of the powers of a competent vizier, as has so often been successfully done in other eastern crisis. Otherwise the hideous calamity of China falling to pieces may in a few months be exciting the cupidity and overtaxing the capacity of all the ruling men.

Commenting upon the supposed hesitation of the United States to participate in the movement to suppress the Boxers as reported in cable despatches from Washington, the Statist says;—

"No European power will misunderstand the present hesitation of the United States, and jump at he conclusion that American feeling and opinion may be disregarded. The United States will undertake mioilitary operations in China as it did against Spain if the protection of its citizens requires them or if the powers threaten to exclude American merchants from their rights in China acquired by treaty . Great Britain can reckon on the assistance of the United States and Japan in maintaining even by force the policy of the Open Door in China."

RIOTS AT BUN CHOW..

Five Thousand Rebels Assemble in the The West River District.

Hong Kong, June 16.—Trouble is brewing near West River. Riots have broken out at Bun-Chow, whence over a hundred refugees arrived at WuChow June 12.

About 5000 rebels have assembled at Kwei Li Sien. Bodies of Canton troops passed through Wu Chow June 11 on their way to meet the rebels.

CAPTAIN SCOTT IS THERE.

Hero of Ladysmith is Sailing for the Scee of Chinese Troubles.

HHon Kong, June 16.—The British first-class cruiser Terrible ,with troops sailed for Tein Tsin this morning.

Captain Percy M. Scott of the Terrible previous to sailing arranged to land a twelve pounder and others ships' guns for land service.

The British first-class cruiser Undaunted has suddenly been ordered north under sealed orders. She will sail immediately.

MORE AMERICAN TROOPS..

Men will be sent from Manila to China Immediately.

Washington, June 16.—The Cabinet has agreed that Admiral Kempff's force must be largely increased without delay. For the present all efforts will concentrate in assembling at Tien Tsin all the available marines attached to the Asiatic station and Admiral Kempff the entire battalion from Cavite, the guards for that naval station being replaced by troops from General McArthur's command. Admiral Crowninshield, who was called to the Cabinet meeting, was able to assure the President that these marines could bel anded at Pekin in five days after their departure from Maila, a fast army transport being assigned to them Following these reinforcements the New Orleans, and perhaps the Brooklyn could be spared from Manila if the tension around Tien Tsin and Pekin is not relieved in a few days .

RUSSIA TO THE RESCUE.

She May have to Send a Force to Aid Seymour,.

London, June 16.—The excitement at Shanghai and Tien Tsin is increasing and it is rumored that the relief column is itself in need of rescue. Admiral Seymour is a cool, intrepid officer of excellent judgment,and he can be depended on to conduct the force to Pekin if the supplies hold out. The foreign Admirals may have miscalculated the strength of the Boxers and it may be necessary to send a Russian military force to support the marines. A Russian reserve of 1700 men is already on shore with guns and horses, and this can be increased by 4,000 men from Port Arthur.

BURNED AT THE STAKE.

New York, June 16.—A despatch to the Journal and Advertiser from Tien Tsin says; —

Boxers control Tien Tsin and the native city officials have been burned at the stake. A great panic prevails among the Chinese.

The above is clearly a New York Yellow Journal fake.

BRITISH CABINET MEETS.

London, June 16.—A Cabinet meeting held to-day under the presidency of Lord Salisbury was concerned almost wholly with the situation in China.

THE WIRES ARE CUT.

New York, June 16.—The cable companies to-day sent out a notice to the effect that telegraphic communication with Tien Tsin was totally interrupted.

London, June 18.—With the foreign ambassadors and ministers barricaded at Pekin, and the composite force under Admiral Seymour which was to have relieve them brought to a halt half way between the capital and Tien Tsin, affairs in China look more gloomy than ever. It is becoming more and more apparent that a second expedition will have to be sent from the coast in order to extricate the first one from its dangerous position. The sooner this second expedition is equipped and despatched the better it will be. Admiral Seymour is not only cut off from telegraphic communication with his base by the railway behind him is destroyed, and an effort to forward supplies along that line has completely failed. In front of him the Boxers hold the railway, which is impassable, and requires a much larger force than Seymour has to open. He can neither advance nor retreat, and being in a hostile country must be in supreme difficulty in supplying his column. Preparations are evidently being made by Russia to step into the breach, for she is the only power who can place on the spot a large body of men in sufficient to be of use. Meanwhile it is interesting to note that Capt. Scott, of the Terrible, has sailed from Hong Kong with guns which he intends to land in the same manner as he landed them in Natal. Let it be hoped that he may save the situation at Pekin as he did that at Ladysmith.

THE BOXERS TROUBLE.

As interest in the South African war wanes interest in the Chinese situation increases, and the average man is almost as much interested in the developments around Pekin as he is in the doings in South Africa. In China the novel spectacle is presented of a rebel force receiving tacit support and encouragement from the government. That is an anomaly that could not obtain in a civilized and properly organized community, but apparently all things are possible in China, and we are thus treated to the extraordinary spectacle of Europe temporarily uniting to suppress rebellion in a foreign country which either will not, or cannot preserve order within its own borders.

According to the Philadelphia Times the Chinese name for the Boxer society, which is causing the present trouble, is I-Ho-Tuon, I meaning righteousness, the Ho standing for peace, and Tuon meaning fist. This oddly named society labors to promote peace and righteousness by destroying railroads, looting missions, and massacring European and native Christians. Its methods are orthodox, according to a school which is now some centuries out of date in Europe.

The Boxer society numbers nearly eleven millions of men, and was originally called The Great Sword Society. Organized as a law and order league, it became bitterly antiforeign and Anti-Christian. A series of outrages on Christians followed, until at last October the Christian natives forced the Chinese government to send a force against the Great Swords. There was a battle, followed by the report of the governor of Shantung that the so-called rebels were honest country folk. Then the Great Sword society disappeared, by edict, and in its place sprang, ready-made, the Universal Society of Boxers, with the old organization and purposes, and with the added idea of fighting all foreign influence—missionary or otherwise—and of having the government help it. The operations of the society and outrages committed by it have since continued, and have constantly become bolder until Europe has been forced to take a hand with the result that foreign troops have landed, foreign warships are flocking to the Chinese coast and the day when China will be parcelled out among the "great predatory powers, as Goldwin Smith calls them grown measurably near. It will be better for China and better for the world whenever this is accomplished.

FATAL TO PROHIBITION

Hugh John Macdonald's prohibition measure, introduced in the Manitoba Legislature is of a most sweeping character, prohibiting everything in sight. Not only would the saloons go down under it, but private parties could not import liquor in any form for their own use. The only liquor allowed to be sold through the drug store, and in order to get it it there it would be necessary to have a doctor's prescription. This means that a person who happened to be ill and knew that a little liquor would cure him, would have to go to a doctor and pay for a prescription to get it. This is one of the ways that prohibition restricts reasonable liberty and works hardship to innocent people, in the interests of the few who may be classed as drunkards. But an unforeseen difficulty has arisen, and there does not seem any way of removing it. The Hudson Bay Company, which has stores and posts all over Manitoba, does business under an Imperial charter, and in that charter they are granted the privelege of selling liquor. As neither the Provincial Legislature nor even the Parliament of Canada can override an Imperial grant, it is clear that the effect of Hugh John's prohibition law, if it is passed, will be to boom the liquor business of the Hudson Bay Company, giving them a monopoly of the whole trade of Manitoba. The fault is not with the Government. It is a matter over which they have no control.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Toronto Star.—Lieut-Col. Ryerson, M. D., has been praised by Lord Roberts and Lord Methuen for his hospital work. We might suggest to Lord Methuen and the other generals who are in the rear of the main British army that if there is anything wrong with the eye-sight of their scouts, Dr. Ryerson has standing in this country as an oculist.

The Engineer's Story.

Well, yes, 'tis a hair-curling story—
I would it could not be recalled!
The terrible fright of that hell-tinctured night
Is the cause of my head's being bald!
I was runnin' the Git-There express, sir,
On the Yankee Creek Jerkwater line,
An' the track along there was as crooked, I swear,
As the growth of a field pumpkin vine.
My run was a night one, an' nights on the Yank
War' as black as the coal piled back there on the tank.

We pulled out of Tenderfoot station
A day and almost a half late,
An' every durn wheel was a-poundin' the steel
At a wildly extravagant rate!
My fireman kept pilin' the coal in
The jaws of the ol' 94
Till the sweat from his nose seemed to play through a hose
An' splashed 'round his feet on the floor,
As we thundered along like a demon in flight,
A-rippin' a streak through the breast of the night!

As we rounded a curve on the mountain,
Full sixty an hour, I will swear,
Just ahead was a sight that with blood-freezin' fright
Would have raised a stuffed buffalo's hair!
The bridge over Ute creek was burnin,'
The flames shootin' up in their glee!
My God, how they gleamed in the air, till they seemed Like fiery-tongued imps on a spree!
Just snickered and sparkled and laughed till they knowed
I'd make my next trip on a different road!

In frenzy I reached for the throttle.
But 'twas stuck and refused to obey!
I yelled in affright, for our maddening flight
I felt that I never could stay!
When wildly I grasped the big lever,
Threw her over, and then held my hot breath,
An' waited for what I assuredly thought
Was a sure an' a terrible death!
Then came the wild crash, an' with horror-fringed yell
Down into that great fiery chasm I fell!

When I came to myself I was lying
On the floor of the bedroom; my wife,
Sat astride of my form, an' was making it warm
Fur her darling, you bet your sweet life!
My hair she had clutched in her fingers,
An' was jammin' my head on the floor,
Yet I yelled with delight when I found that my fright
Was a horrible dream, nothing more!
I had wildly grasped one of her ankles, she said,
An' reversed her clear over the head of the bed.

THE BEEHIVE.

Contract the space in the hive to the size of the colony.

A good and fertile queen keeps the hive full of bees during the season.

Do not offer to feed liquid food to bees in winter; it is almost sure death to a colony.

Bees abhor being molested at night, and no work can then be done with them with any satisfaction.

In every case where comb is to be built furnish the bees with foundation, using full sheets in the frames.

Clipping the wings of the queen prevents losing first swarms by absconding, but does not always prevent losing the queen.

Bees seem to seek naturally a span between two combs, and the queen seldom goes to the outside comb of a hive unless she is compelled to for want of room; so that a nucleus of two or three combs is better than one.

Propolis is the gum or varnish that bees collect for varnishing over the inside of their hives, filling cracks and crevices, cementing loose pieces of the hive together and for making things fast and close generally. It collects in time in old hives and combs.

A Curious Lake.

A curious phenomenon is that metal never rusts in the waters of Lake Titicaca. You can throw in a chain or an anchor or any article of ordinary iron and let it lie for weeks, and when you haul it up it will be as clean and bright as when it came from the foundry. And, what is stranger still, rust that has been formed upon metallic objects elsewhere will peel off when immersed in its waters. This is frequently noticed by railway and steamship men. Rusty car wheels and rails and even machinery can be brightened by soaking them in the waters of Lake Titicaca.—Chicago Record.

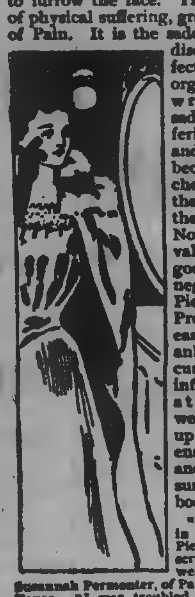
Just where the large crowds that suddenly fill the galleries of the senate and house when a notable speech is being made come from is a puzzle. They spring up, however, and as strangely disappear into nothingness.

Art Treasures In Japan.

The Japanese idea in regard to art treasures is quite different from the American idea, as seen in the home. The American method is to keep all the good pictures or beautiful bronzes or unique vases in evidence all the time. The Japanese way is to store the artistic belongings, bringing different ones to light for a time, and thereby avoiding the too abundant appearance that is [illegible] the [illegible]

Wrinkles Come

To many a face which should still be smooth and fair. Worry doesn't bring them. There are no cares and anxieties to furrow the face. They are the signs of physical suffering, graven by the hand of Pain. It is the saddest result of the diseases which affect the womanly organs that they write plainly the sad record of suffering on the face and form. The skin becomes sallow, the cheeks are sunken, the eyes look dull, the body falls away. No woman who values her health or good looks should neglect to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for diseases of the womanly organs. It cures irregularity, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It lights up the eye, brightens the complexion, and rounds out the sunken curves of the body.



"I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for female weakness," writes Mrs. Susannah Permenter, of Pauls Store, Shelby Co., Texas. "I was troubled with bearing down pains in my back and hips six years, and I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. I tried his 'Favorite Prescription' and six bottles cured me. I feel like a new person, and I thank Dr. Pierce for my health. Life is a burden to any one without health. I have told a great many of my friends about the great medicines I took."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, sent free on receipt of stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for paper covered book, or 30 stamps for cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

TAKING THE REINS.

During the past winter 19 horses without records have sold for $43,375, or an average of $2,282 each.

Peter Truax, Major Douglas and Frank Blaisdell are going to equip a racing plant on Half Moon island, Eau Claire, Wis.

Mr. William C. Whitney's unnamed 2,000 guinea colt, by Miguel-Aurora, has been entered for the West Derby stakes (England) as a 3-year-old.

At the late Bonner sale five of the get of Ansel, 2:20, none of which had a record, sold for an average of $738, while the sire brought only $150.

The Morristown (N. J.) track, which Barney Demarest has leased, is the track where Ethan Allen and running mate defeated Dexter more than 30 years ago.

Horses at matinee races are not handicapped according to their records, and this season the club handicappers will take into consideration the weight of their owners.

Genius receives tribute in divers ways. Recently Mme. Rejane, the famous French actress, was presented with a handsome pair of driving mules by the king of Portugal.

There is a Baron Wilkes mare in "Doug" Thomas' stable that has been priced at $5,500. On a three-quarter mile track she stepped a half in 1:04 and a quarter in 31 seconds.

Short Story of the Day

The Lost Miniature.

"It is a rather peculiar case," he began.

I smiled wisely. Everyone thinks his case peculiar. In reality it generally proves unusual only to the one concerned in it.

My book was turned face down, on the window sill. I was ready to listen, but Alyn did not go on at once. He sat quietly gazing out of the window across the river. The smile was still on my face as I suggested.

"This peculiar case' certainly has its heroine?"

"It was a heroine, yes."

Alyn's eyes were so frank as they met mine. His gaze had not been so direct nor his face so clear the last time I had seen him. A year's absence from his old associate had certainly been good for him. It was a pleasure to look at him.

Just now his expression puzzled me. I could not fathom it but it invited me to continue.

"Have you her photograph with you?"

"Yes."

He drew out of his breast pocket a small red leather case and opening it handed it to me. It needed but one glance at the painted oval to make me exclaim impetuously.

"You love her. No one could doubt that an instant."

Such a picture. A dainty little head covered with short curling hair; a delicate, loving, teasing face; dark, full bewitching eyes. The throat was bare, and an indistinct mass of white gauze ended the portrait.

"You must love her." I spoke with conviction.

"I do returned Alyn, 'most sincerely."

Still his expression puzzled me. An inscrutable smile played over his face, but he delayed beginning the story he had volunteered to tell.

"And she?" I hesitated over the inquiry remembering what manner of man it was who had gone from us a year ago.

A gentle expression passed over Alyn's face.

"I think she has found me," he replied simply.

I stretched out my hand and Alyn grasped it warmly.

"I do believe," he said earnestly, "that if ever a man was fortunate that man is I. Will you care to listen as I used to tell you things when I was a boy," he added, apologetically.

I picked up my sewing always lying ready against such times as this and leaned back in my rocker.

Alyn reached for the picture. He leaned his head on my hand and his elbow on the table. In the other hand he held the case where his eyes could rest on the face. His own face became grave.

"It was a year ago. One night, or morning rather. I landed on the ferry on the way to my lodgings. I couldn't get a street car nor a cab. In fact I was too drunk to think of either, so I stumbled along keeping just straight enough to escape the police. In front of my lodgings is an electric light. A slight fall of snow had whitened the pavement and made distinct this case beneath the light. I had just strength and sense enough left to pick it up, tumble up the stairs and stretch myself out on my couch."

Alyn snapped the case shut and paused a moment.

"Some time the next day I awoke and the first thing that attracted my attention was this—open on the floor, and her eyes looking up at me—me in that condition."

An expression of disgust good to see came over the man's face.

"I quickly shut the case and put myself and my room in order. Then I sat down and studied her."

Still absorbed in his narrative Alyn opened the case again and dropped his eyes on the photograph.

"I told you this was a peculiar case and you will think, I fear, that I am a peculiar man. But the more I looked at her the more I wanted to look. I never parted with the miniature. I carried it around in my pocket and thought and thought about her, until she became a living presence to me, a beautiful woman always with me. I became absentminded. The fellows complained, but I came to have an engagement always when they wanted me. My engagement was with this—the lady of the miniature. I had lost my heart to her.. About the original of the photograph I reasoned this way. She would be carrying her own miniature around in all probability. It must have been lost by a friend and, probably, here was the hard part of all, by her lover. If I advertised it he would claim it and I should not meet her.

"I didn't advertise. I did something far more irrational. I spent my spare hours searching. I visited stores and walked the streets. I haunted the residence part of the city. I went to the opera and scanned the boxes rather than the stage. Needless to say, I did not find her; yet I never lost hope. I felt I must find her and look at her. I felt this afresh every time I opened the case. I would not give up the search. When I had exhausted every resource of my own I did something which I had shrunk from doing before; I hunted out the best detective in the city and told him to spare neither time nor money in finding her.

"Within two weeks I received a note from him. He was obliged to leave the town suddenly. He wrote something like this.

"I've found her at 320 Water avenue. Imogene Munroe. Will give you particulars when I return tomorrow. She is anxious to recover the miniature."

"But I should not wait until the next day, and saw no reason why it would be necessary. I had the photograph and would take it to her. Because of it I should insure myself a reception at least.

"I went to 320 Water avenue that evening. It is an elegant residence in perfect keeping with the case and face. I had scribbled on my card, 'The finder of the miniature.' The maid who admitted me said that Miss Munroe was at home. She took the card and left me in the reception room. It was one of the most—what shall I call it?—delicious rooms I was ever in. One side was lined with deep windows draped in soft, dainty curtains and filled with plants and flowers. The air was heavy with the scent of roses.

"I stood before one of the windows looking at the blossoms when she came. She came so quickly and gently that I did not hear her. It was only when the sweetest, lowest, clearest voice I had ever heard, said 'At last! I am to have my miniature,' that I knew she was in the room. I confess I trembled as I turned and took the hand of—'

Alyn stopped and smiled. It was a half sad, half amused, wholly inscrutable smile. My sewing had fallen into my lap and I leaned forward listening breathlessly.

The Lost Miniature TWO.

"The hand of the original of the picture. These eyes, this mouth, this delicate complexion, this same soft curling hair. I was looking on it all, the same but—"

Alyn raised his eyes. The amusement had faded away.

"The hair was snowy white and the skin was wrinkled. Hers was indeed the face of the miniature, the face of 50 years ago. My foolish fancy was destroyed, but in its place came the sweetest little white haired lady that man was ever privileged to call friend. And strange reluctance to part with it, and so here it is with me now. That is all," concluded Alyn abruptly.

"That is enough," I said quietly. "I think that face has stood between you and—"

Alyn broke in hastily.

"O that is nothing. I couldn't carry this," holding up the photograph, "into such places as I had been frequenting so, well, it's all right."

Alyn buttoned up his coat and smiled at me frankly as he went out by way of the office door.

The doctor has always said there was the making of a man in that boy.

A WONDERFUL CITY.

Bankok, Siam, Has Its 70,000 Houses Built on Water

One of the most wonderful cities in the world is Bankok. It is the capital of Siam and is situated on the river Meinan. A writer thus speaks of it—

On either side, of the wide, majestic stream, moored in regular streets and alleys and extending as far as the eye can reach, are upwards of 70,000 neat little wooden houses, each house floating on a compact raft of bamboos; and the whole intermediate space of the river presents to our astonished gaze one dense mass of ships, junks and boats of every conceivable shape, color and size. As we glide among those we occasionally encounter a stray floating house, broken loose from its moorings and hurrying down stream with the tide, amid the uproar and shouts of the inhabitants and all the spectators. We also observe that all the front row of houses are neatly painted shops, in which various tempting commodies are exposed for sale; behind these again, at equal distances, are the lofty and elegant porcelean towers of the various temples.

Every house has a canoe attached to it, as no people detest walking as much as the Siamese. At the same time they are all expert swimmers and both men and women begin to acquire this very necessary art at a very early age. Without it a man runs momentary risk of being drowned, and when a canoe upsets none of the passers-by ever think it necessary to lend any aid, supposing them fully adequate to the task of saving their own lives. Canoes are hourly being upset owing to the vast concourse of boats plying to and fro. Some years ago a Mr. Benham, an American missionary, lost his life by the upsetting of his canoe. Hundreds saw the accident, but none thought it necessary to go to the unfortunate man's aid.

A MAN WHO FORGED HIS OWN PARDON.

The dangerous criminal of to-day,' said an ex-warden of the Ohio State Penitentiary, "is a gentleman by education and instinct; inventive, with courage to carry out the most daring deals. These are the men who roll through the world half of the time in want, sometimes with wealth. Absolutely without conscience, yet sensitive to a fault, these are the men who it will be well to guard against.

"There is one instance I have in mind which has never, to my knowledge, been duplicated in this country,' he continued, "in which the ingenuity of one of this class was severely taxed in what turned out to be a successful attempt to obtain release from a long term of imprisonment in the Ohio State Penitentiary.

"Some years ago William Allen was cashier of the old Union National Bank in New Orleans, one of the strongest financial institutions in the city. He had been connected with the bank for twenty-five years and was familiar with every crook and turn of its affairs. He was implicitly trusted by both depositors.

"One Sunday evening a covered express wagon drove up Canal street and turning into the alley at the rear of the bank was backed up and inside of half an hour was loaded up with over $375,000 of the bank's currency. Allen had hypothecated all the securities he could lay his hands on and had, unknown to the president or directors, several days before, ordered large shipments of cash from the bank's correspondents in other cities.

"The loss was not discovered until Tuesday morning, when Allen was missed from his place in the bank, Monday chanced to be a legal holiday, so there was plenty of time in which to plant the proceeds of the robbery. To this day the hiding place of the bank's coin has not been traced.

"Circumstances all pointed to Allen and a warrant was issued for his arrest. A marshal went up to Carrolton to serve it and Allen was soon in custody. He refused to make any explanation. He was placed on trial and was sentenced to ten years at hard labor at Columbus.

"One morning the mail brought a letter from Mrs. Allen, then in Washington, directed to her husband, announcing she would be in Columbus the next week, and that she had strong belief a pardon would be granted in a few days. She came according to appointment. Three days after her arrival an official-looking document was among the mail of the warden. It came from the Department of State, Washington, D. C., and contained the information that a pardon had been granted to Allen. The next mail brought the pardon itself, signed by President Grant. Allen was released, and, with his wife, left Ohio. It was nearly a week before it was discovered that the letter and pardon were clever forgeries. Allen was never discovered again—at least in this country. He is to-day at the head of the leading bank in the capital of Honduras. He also owns the only line of railway there. He is counted a multi-millionaire. The only untrue thing about this story is Allen's name."

THE MIGHT HAVE BEEN KINGS.

Instances in History Where Crowns Were Refused,

The English crown has only been rejected once, and then Cromwell was the man who refused the honor.

The crown of Greece has been refused more times than any other. Lord Derby might have worn it had he chosen, for it was offered to him 38 years ago upon the expulsion of Otto and owing to the friendly feelings he exhibited toward Greece.

No sooner had Lord Derby refused the throne, than it was offered to the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen's second son. He would in all probability have accepted had it not been for the objections of other European sovereigns, who considered that a son of Queen Victoria as King of Greece would make that country an ally of Great Britain in the event of war, altough the former's military strength was as insignificant as it is now.

Garibaldi, the great Italian patriot, might have been King of Sicily had he not refused the proffered throne..

Much as the great Napolen loved power he once refused the monarchy of Spain, this being the third consecutive time he had been declined. Fredinand VII first of all passed it on to his father, who in his turn rejected it in favor of Napoleon.

Another man who might have been a King had he wished was Bismark.. Not only did Prussia crush Austria, in the great war of 1866, but several minor states as well, and for his services in bringing the campaign to a successful issue Bismarck was offered the throne of one of these kingdoms which now came under Prussian surveillance.

The throne of Austria was refused in 1848 by the father of the present Emperor Franz Joseph. He was the Archduke Carl, and when Fredinand I abdicated on account of internal strife in the year mentioned he absolutely refused to have anything to do with the monarchy, though he was the rightful heir.

Some years ago a Prince Napolen, nephew of the great Bonaparte, died in exile after refusing the first offer of the crown of Roumania when it was converted into a kingdom. He was a man of great ambitions, and fully believed that at a future date he would be offered the monarchy of France, so he declined the former in the hope that he would get better things..

Some Reasons Why...

Scottish-Canadian Stock (Rob Roy Mines) is a good investment.

1—The Specially liability, (none beyond the amount originally subscribed for stock.)
2—The large area of rich mineral lands owned by the Company.
3—The abnormal richness of the ores of the district (ours assays over $100.00 to the ton.)
4—The enormous amount of ore we can show on the properties, and which we are now working to get at by tunneling.
5—The comparative ease of working and good transportation facilities.
6—The great improvement as work progresses.
7—The safe conservative management and administration of investors' money.
8—The likelihood of an early advance in price of shares.

The above is a combination hard to beat! It eliminates all undue risk and renders an investment infinitely safer than mining share investments usually are, and makes the outlook for large profits soon, very encouraging. Not much more stock will be available at Fifteen cents per share. Send or call for particulars.

In conversation with Mr. Gliddon Saturday, we learned that the plans for new band stand had been given the Town Engineer in rough. Mr. Gliddon's idea is, however, that a copy be made of the band stand on the Island at Toronto, which is built on modern principles. We suggest that the Engineer be sent to Toronto to get plans, and that a proper stand be built at once. The stand should be placed on Central Park.

WAS WELL CANED.

The Proprietor of the National Hotel Presented With an Address by Boarders.

Mr. James White, proprietor of the National Hotel, who has lately disposed of his interest in the concern received a pleasant surprise from the boarders, who presented him with a farewell address, accompanied by a beautiful gold-headed cane. That Mr. White and his two sons were justly popular the following address will show,—

Mr. Jas. White,
National Hotel, Peterboro.

Dear Mr. White,—It was only a few days ago that we, the boarders of the National Hotel, became aware that there was some truth in the rumor that you were about to leave us. We immediately started a rigid enquiry and as a result many of us find ourselves in such a position that we will be owing you about seventeen cents on Tuesdy morning and after that our cents will be paid under the guiding light of the new Moon. Now this is a state of affairs that does not agree with our stomachs. We believe the change will be too great for us, and while we need not mention how glad we are that you are leaving us, we must express our appreciation of the many little kindly acts which have helped to materially make the National feel like home. We have stopped at many places, but in no instance can we say that we found such sociability shown between the boarders as could be found at the National, over which you were host. This has been helped to a considerable extent by the popularity of your two sons, Frank and Alban, who have at all times been ready to assist in making doings for the boys.

Then on the other hand and on behalf of the ladies we cannot too highly commend the many little courtesys of Mrs. White, Mrs. Frank White, and Miss White. It would seem that they were at all times ready and willing to help and remedy any little want of the ladies. In fact everything they did seemed a pleasure to them, their whole desire being to see others comfortable.

After taking these things into consideration, it seems to be a duty imposed on us to show our gratitude to you in some way and we have come to the conclusion that the best possible way in whicht o get even with you was to give you a solid caning. This performance will now commence, and while it is going on we venture to express the wish that Mrs. White, yourself and family will continue to live long and useful lives. We regret their leaving us, but we have the consolation that we will have kindly remembrances of the days spent at the National when you were the host.

With the very kindest and most sincere wishes for a very pleasant journey. We are yours sincerely,—

E. G. Laverdure, W. J. Bailey, W. O. LaBelle, A. H. Vennels, H. Leahy, W. J. English, J. G. Bradley, F. M. Vanderwater.

A Fishing Party.

Messrs McHarrie, Hatton and Kenner went out fishing Saturday. It wasn't a very good day for fishing, so we will say nothing about the catch, which was something less than a couple of dozen. A very good way to do in cases of this kind is to hire an Indian or two to do the fishing a day or so ahead. The editor of this g. f. j. has been there, and knows all about it.

COFFEE COMPLEXION.

Many Ladies Have Poor Complexions from Coffee.

"Coffee caused dark colored blotches on my face and body. I had been drinking it for a long while and these blotches gradually appeared, until finally they became permanent and were about as dark as coffee itself.

"I formerly had as fine a complexion as one could ask for.

"When I became convinced that coffee was the cause of my trouble, I changed and took to using Postum Cereal Food Coffee, and as I made it well, according to directions, I liked it very much, and have since that time used it entirely in place of coffee.

"I am thankful to say I am not nervous any more, as I was when I was drinking coffee, and my complexion is now as fair and good as it was years ago. It is very plain that the coffee caused the trouble. Please omit my name from public print." Mrs. ——, 2661 Ogden Ave., Chicago, Ill. The name of this lady can be given by the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

Most bad complexions are caused by some disturbance of the stomach, and coffee is the greatest disturber of digestion known. Almost any woman can have a fair complexion if she will leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee and nutritious, healthy food in proper quantity. The food coffee furnishes certain parts of the natural grains from the field that nature uses to rebuild the nervous system and when that is in good condition, one can depend upon a good complexion as well as a general healthy [illegible]

JAMES FARLEY IS FREE

SENTENCED TO DEATH ELEVEN YEARS AGO IN PETERBORO

For Shooting an Indian—The Tragedy Recalled by the Pardoning of the Murderer

James Farley, who was sentenced to death in Peterborough for the murder of Simeon Elijah, an Indian, and whose sentence was subsequently commuted to imprisonment forl ife in Kingston Penitentiary, has been pardoned and on regaining his liberty on Saturday last at once left for his home in Philadelphia.

The story of the tragedy is soon told. Howe's circus was in town, and Farley as well as his victim were with the circus. The tents were on the market square and during Sunday the men, being unemployed did considerable drinking. This was Sunday, June 24, 1888. Earlier in the day Farley and the Indian had a wrestling bout, and when they met on the square outside the tent later the Indian spoke to Farley, saying "'Hello, Reddy." Whereupon Farley retorted, and the Indian replying Farley drew a revolver and shot the Indian with fatal results. Farley had been drinking, and as it was shown afterwards had previously borne a reputation as a quiet, orderly man. He was arrested, committed for trial, tried before Mr. Justice Street, and on Oct. 12, 1888, was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged on November 8th. Efforts to secure a commutation of the death sentence were made and were successful, and on October 27th the news that the sentence had been commuted to imprisonment for life, reached here. Farley, who was a son of Jos. Farley, an iceman of Philadelphia, was taken to Kingston. Since he has been in the penitentiary he has been a model prisoner, obedient and industrious, and never gave up hopes that he would be pardoned. Now he has realized his hopes and has gone to his home a free man. His father, who did so much to have the sentence commuted, died about four years ago.

THE PEOPLE AS INSPECTORS.

The Way to Ensure Well Built Granolithic Pavements.

There has been so much crookedness over the building of granolithic walks in .Peterborough that the following plan might be well worth adopting. In Chicago the practise has been of leaving at each house along the street that is being newly paved, a printed copy of the specifications for the work so that each householder may know the character and quality of paving the street is entitled to get. Experience has proven that the inspectors employed by the city are not always to be relied upon to see that the material used is of the right quality and that the contract is fully carried out.

By inviting the householders along the streets to read the specifications and to see that the work is up to the mark, it is thought a check is put upon contractors and inspectors, whose thoroughness in performing services for the people has often been doubted.

In Peterborough we have probably more to complain of and more need for personal vigilance on the part of the ratepayers as under our system the people whose property fronts on a street pay 60 per cent of the whole cost of the pavement laid on it, it might be well that those interested persons should be given every opportunity of seeing that they get what they pay for. There is a widespread opinion that the foundations and excavations for pavements have been hurriedly done and quickly hidden. There is no reason why the people residing on a street should fail to regard the paving of it as a matter of the closet personal concern to them. They really pay for it; the loss is theirs if it is badly done..

The County Council

The County Council will meet to-day, when the tenders for the Chemong Lake bridge will be opened. It is to be hoped that the figures will be low enough to warrant the work being gone on with at once. A permanent bridge will have to be built, sooner or later, and there is no use in delaying operations.

BOERS ATTACK GEN. KNOX WHO KNOCKS THEM OUT

Eight Hundred Attack a Post at Zand River But Are Beaten Off With Severe Loss.

KURGER IS REPORTED TO BE IN FEEBLE HEALTH.

Lord Roberts May Seize the Delagoa Bay Railway at a Strategic Point—Boer Commandoes Are Retiring on Middleburg, Followed by British Cavalry.

London, June 19.

According to a despatch from Machadoorp the Boer commandoes are retiring on Middleburg, followed by the British cavalry and artillery. The Boers are destroying the bridges and burning the Veldt behind them, carrying off provisions and cattle, and leaving the country barren. They have abundance of ammunition and arms, with dynamite and oxen, and are preparing heavy wagon trains for retreat to the Lydenburg district where the chiefs, notwithstanding rumors to the contrary, are determined to make a stand. In a despatch to the War Office from Pretoria, dated yesterday, Lord Roberts says that Gen. Baden-Powell has just arrived there.

Lorenzo Marques, June 18

ATTACKED BRITISH POST.

And Were Driven Off by General Knox With a Mixed Force.—Major Killed.

London, June 18.—A belated despatch from Lord Roberts, sent from Pretoria under date of June 16th gives an official version of an attack on a British post at Zand River, June 16th, by 800 Boers, with three guns. It says that General Knox, with a mixed force, drove off the Boers, who left four dead and four prisoners on the field. The British loss was—Major Seymour and two men killed and nine wounded.

MAY SEIZE THE RAILWAY.

What Lord Roberts Will do on His Next Move.

London, June 18.—With the exception of a rumor at Cape Town that Lord Roberts is about to seize the Delagoa Bay Railriiad at a strong strategic point and the announcement of the completion of the new Cape cabinet there is no news from South Africa.

ADMIRATION FOR CANADIANS.

Mounted Rifles Went Through Heavy Fire in a Marvellous Way.

London, June 16. — Mr. H. S. White, the special War correspondent of the Star, with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, writes as follows under date of Kroonstad, May 19—"During our halt here we have heard on every band expressions of admiration at the efficient manner in which the Canadian Rifles have performed the onerous and very dangerous work assigned them. The marvellous way in which they have gone through the heaviest rifle and shell fire without suffering any casualties is also a subject of much comment. During the week a detachment of one hundred of our men from the four squadrons, under command of Captain Chalmers, together with a squadron of the Imperial Mounted Infantry, the whole under the command of Col. Alderson, rode out sixty miles without once off-saddling, captured twenty-four Boers, including a commandant, some Field Cornets and other officers, and returned to camp without casualties.

"To-day the men and horses, much benefited by their long rest here, are now in a condition to stand any amount of further work and hardships. Orders have just been received for the two battalions, with the rest of Gen. Hutton's brigade, and a strong force of cavalry to march to-morrow at 7 a.m. This is understood to be the beginning of the general advance upon Pretoria.

"Colonel Evans commands the first battalion in place of Colonel Herchmer, invalided home. Major Howe remains behind to fill an important position at the depot here. Veterinary Surgeon Hall also remains here in charge of the remount depot."

KRUGER'S HEADQUARTERS.

Boer President Has Now Gone to Live at Alkamaar.

London, Monday, June 18.—President Kruger has removed his headquarters to Alkamaar, near Vel Spruit. A despatch to the Times from Lorenzo Marquez says that trustworthy men who have been at Machadodorp within the last few days, say it is extremely problematical whether the Boers retire to the Lydenburg hills. It is more likely that they will stick to the main line of railway as long as possible, and unless they surrender they will fall back to Dekaap Valley. The objection of the Boers to the Lydenburg district is that the native tribes there are very unsettled.

TWO VETERANS RETURN.

Members of Canadian Regiment Who Were at Paardeberg Return Home.

Halifax, N.S., June 18.—The steamer Siberian arrived from Liverpool this morning. Among the passengers were two strapping young fellows in khaki, members of the first Canadian contingent and wounded in the famous battle of Paardeberg. Both men belong to New Brunswick. Private H. E. Fradsham, coming from Fredericktou. and Pte. H. E. Durant from Moncton. They left Cape Town on April 4 and arrived in England on the 25th, going at once into Herbert Hospital at Woolwich. They left the hospital on May 25th and sailed for Halifax on June 7th. Durant was shot through the elbow and left thigh and Fradsham through the groin. The men called at the Militia Brigade office this morning to see what disposal would be made of them. The Canadians marched up to Paardeberg like a lot of hoboes, says Durant, but they got there all the same. They went after Cronje and got him. They report other Canadians in Herbert Hospital as doing well.

BOTHA'S REAR GUARD SURPRISED.

Ian Hamilton's Mounted Infantry Defeats the Boers.

London, June 16.—The War Office has received the following message from Lord Roberts—

"Pretoria, June 16.—Rustenburg was occupied yesterday by Baden-Powell. A column starts from this place to-morrow to meet Baden-Powell and repair the telegraph between Pretoria and Rustenburg.

"Hunter is moving from Potchefstroom. His advanced brigade expects to reach Johannesburg June 19."

"Buller, I hope, is at Standerton. Heidelberg will be occupied from this place shortly and then the Orange River Colony will be completely cut off from the Transvaal.

"Baden-Powell reports that the district through which he passed is settling down satisfactorily. Over 1,000 stands of arms were surrendered and Hans Eloff and Piet Kruger, son of the President, were to make submission to him yesterday, having been previously disarmed on their farms.

"Botha's army has retired, and is believed to be at Middleburg. His rear guard was surprised and entirely routed by Ian Hamilton's mounted infantry."

DISGRACEFUL DOINGS.

London, June 17.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller—

"Laing's Nek, June 15.—Now that Natal is clear of the enemy I wish to call attention to the disgraceful way in which private property was treated in the part of the colony they occupied. Their wilful and needless damage is visible everywhere, and houses, when not completely wrecked, have been desecrated with filthy ingenuity. That this has been done with the consent of the leaders is proved by the fact that while in Charlestown every house was wrecked in Volksrust, two miles off, but in the Transvaal every house was intact."

NEW CAPE CABINET.

. Cape Town, June 18.—The new Cabinet has been officially announced. Sir J. Gordon Sprigg is Premier and Treasurer; J. J. Graham is Colonial Secretary; Mr. Rose-Innis, Attorney-General; Smartt, Department of Public Works; Sir Peter Faure, Agriculture, and Frost without portfolio.

UNCLE SAM AND HIS NEW POSSESSIONS!

The United States Peace Commission Have a Difficult Task in the Philippines—The Natives Will Not Take Oath of Allegiance—Conciliatory Policy of Commission.

Manila, June 18.—Judge William H. Taft and his colleagues of the Phillippine Civil Commission were beset during their first week in Manila by a multitude of callers of all nationalities professions and interests who presented a bewildering assortment of recommendations touching military and civil policies. The Commissioners maintained the attitude of unprejudiced listeners.

They admit that, while they anticipated an enormous task, the complexity and difficulty of the problem and conditions are well-nigh staggering. They are determined, however, with the co-operation of the army in pacifying as well as in fighting, to make the Phillippines a peaceful and honestly governed country before departing..

They find General McArthur administering civil and military affairs in a way that is universally popular. The Filipino party, embracing insurrectionists who accepted American rule through force of circumstances, is already making overtures for the discussion of a scheme of permanent government practically reviving the old proposition of autonomy under an American protectorate.

Conciliatory Policy..

There are of course some Filipinos who believed that Judge Taft would bring the millenium in his vest pocket, and these profess to be disappointed because sweeping changes are not made immediately. Judge Taft's utterances indicate a conciliatory policy towards the natives. He has conferred with the high officers, some of whom strongly urge that a large army is necessary to suppress the insurrection, believing that civil government will be impossible until the rampant rebellion in the southern districts of Luzon, in the extreme northern provinces of the island, and in the Visayas except Negros, is crushed.

One of the foremost questions is now and from what materials to organize a civil force with which gradually to supercede the army, as a governing machine. Spain's auxiliary, the church is necessarily barred from consideration American experience with the natives discourages the hope of honest government through them until a generation or more of training shall have eradicated the results of Spain's Tutelage. A large proportion of the provincial officials already installed have proven treacherous, while the native police and officials here in Manila are living on a scale of luxury suspiciously disproportionate to their salaries Charges against native Judges of failing to account for thousands of dollars received in fines are under investigation.

Army or Anarchy.

At present the government alternatives are the army on one hand and anarchy on the other. General Otis' plan of municipal towns of Central Luzon, and in parts of the Visayas, but the Filipinos persist in thinking that the question whether the United States will retain the Phillippines is still open and some local leaders ask that municipl elections be postposed until after the Presidental election.. Many people object to taking the oath of allegiance to the United States Government, which is the first qualification for voting for municipal candidtes..

The commissioners also find that the future state of the church in the Phillippines is a leading question in the minds of many, although most of those who have talked with Judge Taft and his colleagues draw the inference that the commissioners are opposed to the reinstatement of the friars. Archbishop Chappelle has taken a strong stand in supporting the request of the friars to be established in their old positions.

As a result of last week's scouting more than two hundred Filipinos were killed and one hundred and sixty captured, while 140 rifles, with ammunition and stores, were secured.

The American loss was nine killed, including a captain and a lieutenant, two captains and twenty-one privates wounded and one captain taken prisoner by the Filipinos.

HELLO, OLD LONDON!

Discovery by an American University Professor Opens the Way for Wonderful Extensions of Long Distance Telephoning,

New York, June 18.—If all that is claimed for the invention of Prof. Pupin of Columbia University is true we may be telephoning from Boston to San Francisco and perhaps from New York to London. The difficulties of cabling may be so lessened that messages will not be limited to 25 words a minute at $1 a word. Pupin has discovered a new law of electricity and its formula. Prof. Pupin's standing as a scientist is absolutely free from the specular or sensational impulses which have characterized some men who have gained distinction in the field of electrical development and is acknowledged by the greatest of the world's scientists. Lord Kelvin deems him among the most important of American scientific intellects. Some of his discoveries of certain electrical laws and his experimental illustrations of them matched the early brilliant demonstrations made by Tesla, with whom for a time Pupin was associated laboratory work. But Pupin has confined himself almost exclusively to scientific investigation, seeming not to be at all tempted by any of the commercial opportunities which other scientists have deemed to be more important than any contribution they may make to the world's learning.

In the construction of a long-distance telephone system it has been discovered that a telephone circuit underneath the water cannot be relied upon to carry the voice much further than 20 miles. Even in crossing broad streams, like the Mississippi or the Delaware or New York Harbor, the expense of the apparatus increases enormously as compared with the expense of the aerial circuit. It is conceivable that a copper wire as thick as an ocean steamship hawser might be laid upon the bottom of the ocean and connected with telephone apparatus in such a manner as to carry the human voice across the sea, but if there were no scientific reasons for presuming that a service of this kind would be impracticable, the enormous cost it would entail would be prohibitive.

The dream of the long-distance telephone managers is the construction of a system which would make possible easy and intelligible communication for instance, between New York and Omaha or New York and San Francisco. But hitherto the physical limitations have been such as to make the communication of that kind impossible, and the fear has been that it would always be impossible.

Prof. Pupin after a series of experiments carried on for a long time with the utmost patience and caution at the laboratory at Columbia University, has discovered a method for the construction of long-distance electric circuit, both submarine and aerial, by which the efficiency of electrical energy can be enormously increased and nearly all of the difficulties, perhaps all, that have stood in the way of telephonic communication between New York and San Francisco, or even with Europe, can be overcome.

The ocean cable companies, however, may possibly see in this discovery a radical change in the methods of ocean telegraphing, for the essential feature of Prof. Pupin's discovery and invention is that it appears to overcome that very obstacle in ocean telegraphing which has hitherto limited the service by cable to about 25 words a minute. If practical experiment demonstrates what from a purely scientific viewpoint seems to have been already demonstrated, then the chief cause for high rates on ocean telegraphing will have been removed, since, if the service can be quadrupled or even more greatly increased than that, it will be easily possible to reduce the charges for ocean service.

CHINESE OPEN FIRE ON FOREIGN SHIPS OF WAR

And The Result Was a Seven-Hour Duel Between Vessels and the Forts at Taku.

CHINA DECLARES WAR WITH CIVILIZED WORLD.

British Government Orders Indian Troops to Proceed to Hong Kong. Native Christians Again Become Victims of Chinese Anarchists—Seymour Had to Retreat.

Berlin, June 18..

The German Consul at Che Fu telegraphs that a Japanese torpedo boat from Taku has brought the following: "The Chinese laid torpedoes in the Taku River and called troops from Shan Lei Kwan. The foreign commanders assembled on the Russian flagship, and addressed an ultimatum to the commanders of the Taku forts, summoning them to withdraw their troops before two o'clock June, 17. At 1 a.m. the guns of the forts opened fire to which the Russian, British French and Japanese warships replied. The bombardment lasted seven hours. Two British ships in the river between the forts are reported to have been sunk. The telegraph line and railroad between Tsin Tsin and Taku were destroyed. Communications by water is also threatened.

London, June 19.

China declared war against the world when the Taku forts opened fire on the international fleet. The accounts of what took place are still unsatisfactory. The best semi-official information is the despatch received at Berlin from Che Foo as follows—Berlin, June 18 (later) —A semi-official despatch from Che Foo announced that the Taku forts had been captured after a combined attack by the foreign warships. Three men on the German warship Iltis were killed, and seven were wounded.

An Associated Press despatch from Che Foo dated yesterday afternoon says—The forts on both sides of the Taku are now occupied. The Chinese opened fire unexpectedly. The casualties to the mixed forces were as follows.—Killed—mixed forces were as follows.—Killed—British, 1; German, 3; Russian, 16, and French 1. Wounded.—British 4; German, 7; Russian 45, and French 1. The Chinese torpedo boats were seized.

A Shanghai correspondent telegraphing yesterday says—The forts began firing in obedience to orders from Pekin, conveyed in a personal edict of the Empress Dowager, by advice of Kung Yi, in obedience of the Ministry of war. Several warships were struck by shells from the twelve-inch guns of the forts. The heavy Russian losses were due to the blowing up of the magazine at Nandshur. Four hundred Chinese are reputed to have been killed.

The Chinese when retreating, fell into the hands of the Russian land forces..

The Daily News has the folllowing from Che Foo. The situation at Niu Chewang is reported critical. The British Consul at Kin Kiang has ordered all foreigners to leave Kin Ging and Nap King Chiang. The powers are taking prompt action.. Four thousand German troops have been ordered to China. Ten thousand French troops are waiting to embark at Saigon, capital of French Cochin China, and from three to five thousand more Russians have been ordered from Port Arthur to Taku .

SEYMOUR'S POSITION CRITICAL

Lodon, June 18.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Times says; "The Boxer movement is gaining strength after the impunity with which the recent outrages have been committed, and it is likely to spread rapidly. Telegrams received here yesterday by the Consul from the fleet at Taku describe the position of the force under Admiral Seymour, close to Pekin as serious, since it is confronted by General Tung Fu Hiang's troops, and has large bodies of Boxers in the rear. Water is scarce and the commissariat defective."

FORCED TO RETREAT.

London, June 18.—The Admirality Office has received the following official despatch from Che Choo under today's date;—

"The Japanese man-of-war Teyahai has just arrived from Taku. She reports that the commander-in-chief and troops are back at Tien Tsin.," Admiral Seymour with the international force of 200 0men has therefore failed to reach Peki and has been compelled to retreat so that the European missionaries are still in as perilous a position as ever.

WARSHIPS BOMBARD FORTS.

Berlin, June 18, 1.30 p.m.—The German Consul at Che Foo cables that an engagement is proceeding at Taku between the Chinese forts and the foreign warships.

TAKU FORTS SURRENDERED.

Wachington, June 18.—The Navy Department has been informed by Admiral Kempff that the Taku forts yesterday fired on the foreign ships and after a brief engagement surrendered.

SIX BRITONS WOUNDED.

London, June 18.—A despatch from Che Foo under to-day's date says;—"The forces of the combined fleets occupied the Taku north forts yesterday after exploding a magazine. The British gunboat Algerine was damaged and two of her officers and four men wounded.

"Japan and Russia are reported to be landing a large force of troops.

"All is quiet here.'"

INDIAN TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

Simla, June 18.—In consequence of the gravity of the Chinese situation the Seventh Bengal Infantry has been ordered to proceed to Hong Kong.

TAKU FORTS OCCUPIED.

Report that the International Troops Have Seized Them.

London, June 18—Shanghai is to the front again with the statement that the Taku forts have been occupied by the international troops. According to a Che Fu special 17 forts opened fire upon the warships whereupon the fleet replied in kind and silenced the Chinese guns and the international forces subsequently landed and seized the forts. The news of this engagement is stated to have been brought to Che Foo by a Japanese warship, but the date of the occurrence is not given. According to a despatch the Chinese bombardment followed an ultimatum sent by the commanders of the fleet.

An official despatch from the German Consul at Che Foo received in Berlin confirms the arrival of a Japanese torpedo boat with the following message.

"The Japanese torpedo boat reports that the Legations at Pekin have been taken."

Whether taken by the Boxers or the Chinese troops or the mob is apparently not stated, nor is mention made in the message of the Japanese torpedo boat of the capture of the Taku forts.

A later despatch from the German Consul received in Berlin this morning states that an engagement is proceeding at Taku between the Chinese forts and the foreign warships Berlin has also official notification from Shanghai that owing to the interruption of the telegraph lines no trustworthy news whatever is obtainable of the events transpiring in Pekin.

"FIGHTING HAS BEGUN."

Last Message Before Communication was made Gives this Announcement.

London, June 18—"Telegraphic communication with the north," says the Shanghai corresonpdent of the Times under Saturday's date," ceased early this morning. The last message from Tien Tsin reported that fighting had begun but give no details. Messages for the north are now forwarded by steamer from Che Foo.

HUNDREDS WERE MASSACRED.

Native Christians again Become Victims of Chinese Anarchists.

London, June 18.—A Times despatch from Pekin dated June 14 says there was a serious anti-foreign outbreak Wednesday night. Some of the finest buildings in the eastern part of the city were burned and hundreds of native Christians were massacred within two miles of the Imperial palace. If the troops to reinforce the foreign guards failed to arrive Thursday further riots were expected. The despatch adds that it is believed no European has been injured.

The correspondent adds; "It was an anxious flight for all foreigners, who were collected under the protection of the foreign guards. The Boxers burned the Roman Catholic East cathedral the large buildings of the London mission and the American Board of Missions, and also all the buildings in the eastern parts of the city occupied by the foreign employes of the maritime Customs."

CIVILIZATION MUST RULE.

Bishop Cranston Says it is Worth any Cost in Bloodshed.

Chicago, June 18.—A special to the Tribune from Denver says; —

Bishop Earl Cranston who recently returned from China, declared from the pulpit on the 17th that civilized nations must rule China.

"It is worth any cost in money," he said. "It is worth any cost in bloodshed if we can make the millions of Chinese true and intelligent Christians.

"I would cut all of the red tape in the world, and break all the treaties ever made to place the armies of the United States in the fore next to Great Britain.

"The open door must be maintained for Christianity as well as for commerce."

The New Boat Service

The T. V. N. Co'y commenced its boat service between Coboconk, and Burleigh Falls, Thursday, according to announcement.. The Ogemah Capt. James Hamilton took the run between Bobcaygeon and Chemong and Burleigh Falls, and was quite gay in her new fittings and paint. The officers were in caps and uniform, and there was an up-to-date business like appearance throughout, says the Independent. Despite the best efforts, the Manita will not be ready for a few days, and in the meantime, the Maple Leaf is taking her place, on the run between Coboconk and Lindsay. This route and the handsome new and fast craft, is in charge of Capt. Lane, and Purser Blewett. Balsam lake is an ideal one for cottages and camps, and promises to be largely favored by Toronto people. A permanent reliable service was the one need for development, and the connection of the boat with the morning train at Fenelon Falls for Toronto, will be a great convenience.

POLITICAL CORRUPTION

We publish elsewhere a letter dealing with political corruption, and in this regard we desire to say a few words. Refering to the judical commission appointed by the government, to investigate the charges of electoral corruption, we are pleased to see that it has been given a free hand. It is not tied down to dates. The Liberals always insisted that Sir John Macdonald debauched the electorate by bribing it with its own money, in forms so insidious as to deceive the very elect. It need not be at all doubted that there are men sitting on both sides of the House to-day who have no sort of word or legal right to the seats they occupy. Unfortunately, our politicians early gave themselves to those callous methods which are practised without shame in the United States. A long reign of power made the Conservatives indifferent to public opinion. They conceived themselves to masters of the country. They gerrymandered, they bribed; and they had a man at their head who had a genius for manipulating men to his will. The Liberals are not a whit better than the men they denounced. The most truculent forms of corruption have been employed by them in Ontario. It has been remarked that the judical commission will not reach the Liberal charges before the election. There may be deliberate intention in this. In any case, it will be well for all of us when we have ceased to laugh at fraudulent practices which have the effect of blunting the moral sense in our rising youth, in whom our hope of nationhood rests. We should not call ballot stuffing smartness, but criminality, and we should punish it implacably, whenever found.

BOER DELEGATES TO CANADA

One of the peculiar features of the present war in South Africa is the difficulty there has always been of obtaining an accurate estimate of the Boer forces in the fields. The Boers themselves are notoriously untrustworthy in all their statements, and no one could believe what they said even they swore on the whole collection of Oom Paul's bibles, while so called reliable correspondents, who have been in Pretoria and Johannesburg, or possibly on the field with Joubert, Cronje or Botha, have furnished wildly different estimates of the strength of the federal force. Some have placed the number as high as 100,000, while others have asserted that the total never exceeded 40,000. Of the latest statements of the fighting strength of the combined Boer army comes by mail from Pretoria under date of April 27—over a month before the surrender of the capital—and in this letter the declaration is made that the allies never had more than 50,000 men under arms, and that the total was reduced at that time to 42,000. Possibly the Boer strength was not greater a month ago than 42,000—probably to-day it is even less than that figure—but originally, shortly after the outbreak of hostilities, when the enemy were carrying on their aggressive operations, their army must have been nearer 75,000 than 50,000. Again with respect to the Boer artillery the same Pretoria authority similarly underestimates it. He says it never exceeded 70 field pieces and machine guns combined—a manifest misstatement when it is remembered the number the enemy employed in the sieges of Ladysmith, Kimberley and Mafeking besides what they had on the open field. However, it must be conceded that the Boers made the most of their army, and have been remarkably successful in preventing their guns from falling into the hands of their foes.

THE BOER ARMY

At a meeting of Cape Colony Boers, at Graaf Reinet, a resolution was passed to send delegates to Canada, Australia, and Ireland, to instruct these countries in the politics of the Cape and of South Africa generally. So far as Canada is concerned, the Times is of the opinion that this is a needless task. We need no instruction on the subject. One of the resolutions of the Cape Colony "Congress" tells us that a remote and subordinate cause of the present war was the overruling of the Cape constitution; and another is the "enormous difficulty" of acquainting the English people with the facts. According to this statement, the Boers have been fighting from a reminiscent point of view; but assuredly the English people are not so badly in need of being instructed in Cape Colony politics as the "Congress" assumes. The main object of this ill-timed activity is to persuade the British people to permit the fighting Boers to retain their independence. These Boers forced Great Britain into a war in which they staked everything, and now they have lost it is vain for them to try to evade the consequences of their own acts. It is only fair to tell the delegates in advance, that they will get no support for their lost cause in Canada. We are fully acquainted with the merits of the question in this country.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is really rather funny, the Boers leaving thousands of British prisoners at Pretoria to be released by Roberts, while elsewhere other Boer forces are making desperate efforts to capture a few hundred more British.

Ought They to Marry

And bring children into the world to suffer from an inherited blood taint? Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery puts out the smoldering fires of scrofula. It cleanses the blood from disease taints, strengthens the weak lungs, heals the diseased stomach.

"Dr. Pierce's medicine has done wonders for my two sons," writes Mrs. M. Hartrick, of Demster, Oswego Co., N. Y. "Both had scrofula. I have lost two daughters in less than five years with consumption and scrofula. My eldest son was taken two or three years ago with hemorrhage from the lungs. It troubled him for over a year. He took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and has not had one in over a year. My younger son had scrofulous sores on his neck; but has not had any since he commenced to take your medicine."

Use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the bowels and liver.

Short Story of the Day

An Unconventional Courtship

"This sort of thing is all very well, but if it lasts much longer, I shall be a perfect wreck," said Arthur Mason to himself one evening as he sat gazing thoughtfully at the fireplace. "For the past six months I have been head over heels in love with Vera Fray, and what is worse, not had the pluck to tell her so. But she is such a peculiar girl" (he argued in self-defence), "if it was anyone else I wouldn't hesitate a moment."

Mason was a man of about 25, and as full of passion and sentiment as a man well could be. But he had been brought up in orthodox English style with many sharp lessons never to betray his feelings. These lessons had been so hammered into him in his youth that he found now that even against his own wishes it was almost impossible for to show what his real opinion was of anything that affected his likes or dislikes. When he was most happy, people thought him sad, and vice versa. It was, perhaps, on account of the peculiar way he had of looking at things, that he invariably saw the funny side first, sometimes on the most serious occasions.

His passion for Vera at times made him laugh; and when on the verge of proposing to her the thought would strike him, how foolish he would look. The truth of it was, he knew too much of the world, and the love affairs of his friends had appeared ridiculous to him.

One of the chief attractions of Vera in his opinion was her passive nature, and it was that perhaps which made him falter. The idea of her being in love seemed absurd to him.

The week following the self-communings just recorded, he knew that Vera would be at a dinner party to which he had also been invited, and he determined, if an occasion arose for a serious talk, to have the matter settled. How he would manage it he did not dare to decide; chance, he thought, would have to be his guide.

Mrs. Fairburn's drawing room was packed on the night of the dinner. So much so that poor Mason's heart sank. If Vera did come his opportunity for a tete-a-tete with her appeared small. She was a popular person, and he knew she would be dragged off to entertain some of the "lions" of the evening.

The Fairburns' home luckily boasted one of the finest gardens in Sussex, and if he could persuade his idol to go for a stroll in that garden he meant to do so.

At dinner Vera sat directly opposite him, and he inwardly blessed his hostess for not crowding the table with flowers, ferns or ornaments, which would have hidden her charming clear-cut features from him. When looking at her a calm always came over him that he could not explain. Even when absent from her, he generally pictured her as a limpid spring, from which peace was always flowing. Nothing on earth, he imagined, could ever ruffle her.

The dinner passed off perfectly. All seemed thoroughly pleased with themselves and the world in general.

It was an hour later and he was sitting by Vera's side in the drawing room. They were enjoying an animated discussion on some topic of public interest, and no chance had so far presented itself. At last, in pure desperation, Arthur blurted out, during a slight fall in the tide of argument, "This room is terribly close; shall we finish our little controversy in the garden?"

Vera was nothing loth.

It was a lovely night; the sky was a mass of twinkling stars, and the moon gave a light that one could easily read by. Such a moment seemed specially ordained for love-making, love whispered in the trees, and echoed in the bushes. And yet these two continued to disagree, as if such romantic evenings were intended for the battlefore and shuttlecock of social commonplaces.

They had by now wandered to an arbor, and without either of them drawing attention to it, they entered and sat down in the two deck chairs it boasted. Vera tried to continue the subject at issue, but Arthur remained silent. In this wise the conversation stopped, and each became absorbed, for the first time, in the beauty and stillness of the night. Presently, with startling abruptness, the silence was broken upon.

"Vera," said Arthur, turning towards her, "would you care to marry me?"

It was not, by a long way, the first time she had received a similar request, for she had been vainly courted by the richest and highest in the country. So vainly, indeed, that people were beginning to hint of the shelf when speaking of her. But whether it was the suddenness of the request, or the personality of him who made it, for the minute her confusion was obvious, though luckily for her the friendly moon did not light up this little arbor. Calming herself immediately, and looking quickly up at her companion, Vera queried, "Why do you ask me? You don't think I'm in love with you, do you?"

"No, in fact I'm sure you are not."

"Then that settles the question without further trouble," said Vera, carefully rearranging her shawl and establishing herself in a more comfortable position, as if some knotty problem had just been solved.

"Not at all, for you haven't answered me."

"You have answered yourself though; you would hardly marry a woman who did not love you."

"That is one of the reasons I am asking you," replied this cool diplomatist, slowly lighting a cigarette.

"Then before answering," she said, appearing to be interested in this strange species of proposal, "let me question you. Do you love me?"

"No, I don't."

"Then why on earth do you talk such rubbish! How can you wish to marry me?"

"Simply because neither of us is in love with each other, which shows that we are both mentally and physically in sound health."

"You consider then that love is a disease; in fact, I suppose," she added, sardonically, "a kind of disordered liver?"

"Exactly. But let me put the case before you properly," said Arthur, raising and walking up and down in front of her as he spoke. "You and I have been friends for 12 years, and by now know each other thoroughly. I am thankful to say I have never loved you, nor, to my knowledge, have you loved me, and it is these facts which convince me we should make a thoroughly congenial and happy married couple. On these grounds I again ask you. Will you marry me?" he concluded, stopping opposite Vera's chair.

During this curious monologue the moon had traveled somewhat on its journey, and now cast a pale light into the arbor—just enough to show Arthur that his fair companion's eyes were twinkling and that she was on the verge of smiling.

Looking straight at him, Vera composedly answered.

"Your philosophy, dear Arthur, is excellent, and your case apparently fully proved, but—er—if you would not mind sitting down here" (noding towards the empty chair at her side), "hold my hands and look me full in the face, and tell me that you are not head over heels in love with me, I will belive that for the last five minutes you have been speaking—as they say in courts— the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

Arthur felt dazed. He sat down and took his pretty companion's hand—he observed it was beautifully soft. He loked her in the eyes—he noticed they had in them a light he had never seen before, and that her face was a smile and an expression that could have but one interpretation—and he faltered.

And the silence of night wrapped the arbor in its embrace. A bird moved in the ivy—a nightingale called to its mate—and the moon traveled farther on its journey. It sank—but never before it had witnessed what, in the course of its considerable experience, it had often seen before, but of which—it never told.

UNCONSCIOUSNESS.

The Causes That Induce This Condition and Its Various Phases.

It is often difficult when a person is found unconscious to determine the cause of the condition. Yet this determination is of the greatest importance, since upon it must depend the treatment and perhaps the life of the sufferer.

Of course this is a task for the physician, and it is often one that taxes his acumen to the utmost. But there are certain signs which every one may learn to know and so be prepared to prevent maltreatment before the physician arrives.

The chief causes of a sudden loss of consciousness are apoplexy, Bright's disease, diabetes, drunkenness, opium poisoning, injury to the head, epilepsy and fainting.

A person found unconscious should be placed on his back, the clothes, especially those about the neck, should be loosened, and he should have plenty of air, curious spectators being kept at a distance.

If the breath smells of alcohol, the first thought is that the man is drunk, but it is most unsafe to assume this to be the case without corroborative evidence. The man may have taken a drink just before the accident befell him, or he may have been slightly drunk, and in that condition he may have had a stroke of apoplexy or have fallen or been struck a blow on the head, or some bystander may have poured whisky down his throat with the mistaken idea of helping him.

The head should first be examined to see if the skull is broken, if there is a wound of the scalp or if blood is coming from one of the ears, which is a sign of a fracture of the base of the skull.

Note should be taken of the breathing. If it is very slow, six or eight times or less a minute, the probability is that the case is one of opium poisoning. If the respiration is rather slow and snoring, with blowing out of the lips and of one cheek, apoplexy or concussion of the brain may be suspected.

In unconsciousness resulting from Bright's disease the breathing is usually more rapid and not noisy, and in that resulting from diabetes the inspiration is slow and prolonged, while expiration is short and quick.

A drunken man can usually be aroused temporarily if spoken to in a loud voice or pricked with a pin, and the same is true of one suffering from Bright's disease, but in apoplexy and opium poisoning the unconsciousness is usually complete.

Unconsciousness may be hysterical in its nature and may simulate any of the types mentioned above. A dash of cold water in the face will often restore consciousness with great rapidity in such a case.—Youth's Companion.

For Williams and Didn't Know It.

"John," said the wife, "who air you for in the race fer sheriff?"

"I'm fer Tompkins fust an last."

"No, John, you ain't for Tompkins; you're fer Williams."

"I said Tompkins," replied John.

"I know you did, John. But, all the same, you're fer Williams!"

Then he made a grab for his hat and was about to make for the door when she locked it and, standing against it, said:

"Don't let us fuss over this matter, John. Be reasonable now an own up that you're fer Williams."

He fumbled with his hat and kicked the fire.

"Molly," he said, "ef you ain't as good as a mind reader I'll give it up! Course I'm fer Williams fust an last! Durn him!"

THE ARCTIC MOSQUITO.

It Is About the Most Terrible Insect Pest In the World.

"Nothing that has ever been written about the arctic mosquito begins to come up to the real thing," said a guest in the St. Charles corridor the other evening. "I went up the Yukon river in the summer of 1898, representing the Alaska and Dominion Trading company, and we struck mosquitoes as soon as we got into the hills. They are twice as large as our familiar bayou species, and their sting is like the prod of a hot needle. They sweep along the valleys in dense clouds, and if they catch a man unprepared they are liable to blind him before he can escape. I heard stories of children being stung to death and can readily believe them.

"Whenever we went ashore we wore heavy hat nets and took the utmost precaution, but were certain to suffer more or less. One of our party cut the tongues out of his shoes, and a narrow line of sock was exposed under the lacing. Next day he was bitten there at least a hundred times, and his feet were so terribly inflamed that the shoes had to be cut off.

"Another man, a fireman in the boat crew, got drunk on Alaska whisky one afternoon and lay down to take a nap in a corner of the engine room. I noticed him a little later and was horrified at the solid brown mass of mosquitoes that had settled on a small exposed section of his cheek and throat. In an hour his face was swollen out of all resemblance to anything human, he was unable to swallow and was burning with fever. It was a week before he was able to be about. I saw a number of cattle near Fort Hamilton that had been made stone blind by stings near the eye.

"The arctic foothill mosquito is without doubt the most terrible insect pest

THE PARIS SHOW.

The Paris exposition catalogue will contain 100,000 names.

The parks of Milwaukee will be part of the exhibit of that city at the Paris exposition. A series of photographic views of the public parks of that city will be shown.

It took a bid of 275,000 francs to secure the privilege of letting out seats for the Paris exposition of 1900. For the 1889 exhibition the successful bid for the monopoly was 39,000 francs.

Governor Mount of Indiana is personally supervising an elaborate exhibit for his state at the Paris exposition. One of the features of this will be a series of large photographs to show the progress of the "good roads" movement in Indiana, where there are now 50,000 miles of graded and graveled highway.

Some Reasons Why...

Scottish-Canadian Stock (Rob Roy Mines) is a good investment.

1—The Specially liability, (none beyond the amount originally subscribed for stock.)
2—The large area of rich mineral lands owned by the Company.
3—The abnormal richness of the ores of the district (ours assays over $100.00 to the ton.)
4—The enormous amount of ore we can show on the properties, and which we are now working to get at by tunneling.
5—The comparative ease of working and good transportation facilities.
6—The great improvement as work progresses.
7—The safe conservative management and administration of investors' money.
8—The likelihood of an early advance in price of shares.

The above is a combination hard to beat! It eliminates all undue risk and renders an investment infinitely safer than mining share investments usually are, and makes the outlook for large profits soon, very encouraging. Not much more stock will be available at Fifteen cents per share. Send or call for particulars.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this part of the Rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed, and it is our purpose to push the same on to a paying basis at once.

Our company owns, clear of incumbrance, the following claims: The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just south of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida, at Cleora Station, on the main trunk line of the great Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, and also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

In accordance with the usual custom a half holiday has been proclaimed for Thursday afternoon next. The Oddfellow's decoration ceremony will take place. The brethern will assemble in the Central park, as usual at 2.30 o'clock.

The Cracker to Remain

While nothing perhaps should be done to discourage the spirit of patriotism in the rising generation, there is wisdom in prohibiting the sale of the new marble explosive and cannon crackers which boomed into such sudden popularity with the boys. There is all the noise a reasonably constituted community can well care for in the old-fashioned fire-cracker or torpedo. The approaching First of July should therefore be comparatively noiseless.

Peterborough Boys Too.

Cobourg Post.—On Tuesday last a letter was received from an old Cobourg boy in Peterborough, in which it was stated that there was over sixty residents of town who proposed organizing a Cobourg Old Boys association and visit town on the occasion of the Toronto association, August 6th. They propose to bring a band, which is claimed to be one of the best in the country. We can assure Peterborough people a hearty welcome.

The Lakefield Fire.

The destruction of the Queen's hotel by fire Sunday night removes an old landmark. The origin of the fire is not known. Mrs. Munro and family were away at the time. The inmates could save nothing, Mr. Munro not even getting a coat out. The slight wind was from the north and the sheds and stables were not burned. Mr. Munro carried some insurance, though his loss will be considerable. The hotel was owned by Mr. George Blakely, of Buffalo. It is understood that the hotel will be rebuilt at once.

A SPECIAL MEETING.

The City Fathers Meet and Discuss the Matthews Siding.

Mayor Kendry called a special meeting of the Council yesterday to deal with the Matthews siding matter.

A letter was received from the Department of Railways and Canals in regard to the crossing the C. P. R. having agreed to use it exclusively for the business of the Geo. Matthews Co., and not as a general siding. The Railway Company also agreed to keep the crossing planked between the rails and ten inches on each side.

The matter is now before the Railway Committee at Ottawa, and Mr. Kendry was given full authority to look after the town's interests in this connection.

DECORATION DAY.

A resolution was passed appointing Thursday, June 21st as a public half holiday.

OTHER BUSINESS.

The clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Bellegham that they would not require the use of the lot on the corner of London and Aylmer streets after the end of the year.

Ald. H. Denne moved, seconded by Ald. J. Sawyers that the rate of interest of the local debentures be issued at 3 1-2 per cent and that $150.00 be added to cost of sidewalks and seven for expense of selling debentures, and that the Engineer be instructed to proceed at once with the assessment.

Council then adjourned.

REPORTERS ROUNDS.

Local Happenings Picked Up Here and There by the Times.

Victoria County Council met in half-yearly session last week.

The efforts to reorganize a band in Cobourg are not meeting with much success.

Cobourg's civic holiday is August 6, when the Cobourg Old Boys will have a time.

The Methodists of Cobourg are building a handsome new church. It will be ready next fall.

The June session of the County Council opens this afternoon at two o'clock, at the Council Chamber at the Court House.

If you wish to cure scrofula, or salt rheum permanently, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It expels all impurities from the blood.

The total receipts of the Fenelon Falls picnic will probably amount to nearly $600. The funds go to the parish of Rev. Father O'Leary.

The Chief of Police made a round of the fruit stores yesterday on a visit of inspection to see that the premises were not a menace to health from decayed fruit or fish.

There arrived from England at five o'clock yesterday morning 120 girls for the Barnardo Home, under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown and Miss Johnson.

The Bank of Toronto has given its army of clerks a substantial bonus recently in the shape of a percentage on their salaries. This practical evidence of good times and prosperity has sent a smile of satisfaction over the countenances of the Bank of Toronto officials from Montreal to Rossland.

Stenography, and possibly typewriting, will be taught in the senior department of Orillia Public schools after midsummer. Teachers have also been instructed to report monthly to the board the names of pupils whose absence during the month was greater than deemed necessary. The idea is to prevent truancy and promote better attendance.

Remember the important public meeting to-night in the Y. M. C. A. hall, at 8 o'clock, in the interests of the preservation of the Lord's Day. The Rev. J. G. Shearer, B. A., of Toronto, will address the meeting, taking as his subject, "Our Imperilled Sabbath and how to Save it." Mr. Shearer will hold a conference with all who can make it convenient to attend in the Y.M.C.A. at four o'clock.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company's new flyer makes the run from Montreal to Vancouver, 2,906 miles, in 100 hours. The train, which is vestibuled and buffet equipped, runs through without change. Twenty-six different locomotives are requisitioned in its flight across the continent. By leaving Montreal at 9.30 o'clock on Monday morning the Imperial Limited passenger arrives at Vancouver at one o'clock Friday afternoon.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey was in Campbellford yesterday.

Miss Lillie McKay leaves to-day for Broadview, Assa., N.W.T., where she has accepted a position as teacher.

Mr. W. Butler returned on Saturday last night from a visit to Rochester. He is, we regret to say, not greatly improved in health.

The many friends of Dr. Adam Scott, son of Mr. Wm. Scott, Ashburnham, will welcome him back to town. He enters into partnership with Dr. Wrightman, dental surgeon.

Miss Agnes Dickson, daughter of Mr. James Dickson, P.L.S., Fenelon Falls, has acquired the degree of B.A., as a result of the examinations at Toronto University. Miss Dickson is well known in Peterborough.

Mr. W. J. Taylor, of the Montreal Herald, was in town for an hour or two yesterday on his way east from Toronto. Mr. Taylor was formerly proprietor of the Tweed News, which he sold to assume a responsible position on the Herald. He says that the Times is regarded by people in Montreal as the leading newspaper of Eastern Ontario. This g. f. j. doffs its hat in acknowledgment of the compliment.

For Camp To-Day.

A local detachment of the Durham Field Battery leaves this morning by special train at six o'clock from the Grand Trunk station for the Artillery Brigade camp at Deseronto, where they put in ten days. Lieut B. O. Bradburn will be in command and the local detachment will be 30 strong. They travel via Port Hope, where they join the main body.

C squadron of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons also leaves to-day, going into camp at Kingston. They leave the Grand Trunk station by special train at 9 o'clock. Lieutenants W. Hall and Jack Fessenden left to-day for Millbrook, where they join B squadron of the Dragoons for the camp.

Lumbering Operations.

Mr. James Eakins, the efficient "walking boss" of the Dickson Company, was in town over Sunday, and dropped into the Times office for a few minutes. The Company has a lot of timber on the water this season—probably 100 pieces all told. The first drive is now passing over Lovesick, while the second is coming out of the Mississauga. This will keep the mills in Lakefield and Peterborough going steadily all season. Mr. Alf. McDonald's drive of about 80,000 is also on the way down.

THE PERJURY CASE.

Driver McFarlane Has a Preliminary Hearing Yesterday Afternoon.

The readers of the Times are familiar with the trouble between the two drivers at the Fire Station. It will be remembered that Montgomery accused McFarlane with using abusive language. This the latter denied, under oath, and as a result Montgomery charged McFarlane with perjury, and brought two witnesses to prove that he used the language which Montgomery swore he used.

These witnesses were Robert Long, an employee of the Times press room, and Charles Guy, of the Palace Restaurant, both of whom corroborate the statement of Montgomery.

The magistrate reserved his decision until the morning. Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for McFarlane, County Crown Attorney Wood prosecuting.

The Political Parties

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would like to have the views of the Times on the corruption which has been rampant everywhere since the advent of the Liberals to power, so that we may know where we are at. Is the the Times a Grit sheet, that it is afraid to speak plainly? I see it has a share of Government advertisements, and I suppose this is what keeps its mouth closed. I always thought it the duty of the press—particularly the great independent press, of which the Times is one of the top-notchers—to denounce wrong-doing wherever found. This apparently does not apply to political affairs, for we find nothing in it that would indicate that any ballot-stuffing has been going on. How about our own riding—West Peterborough? Is it not regarded as one of the most corrupt ridings in the country? Is it not a fact that there is a "deal" on between the leaders of the two political parties by which a Liberal goes to the Legislature, and a Conservative to the Dominion House? It is even said that the two political papers are in the deal, or crooked business, or whatever you choose to call it.

I heard a horrible story about the last Mayoralty election, in which Mr. Kendry, who was ostensibly a supporter of Mr. Garvin, and Mr. McWilliams, were the opposing candidates. It is in reference to where the editorials which appeared in connection with the campaign were cooked and written. I am also told that there will be a sensation in regard to this matter when the time comes. It will prove beyond doubt that there has been the most bare-faced hypocricy in connection with the elections in West Peterborough by the leaders of the party that even was known, or could be imagined. Poor Garvin was deliberately knifed by his friends (?) as was also the Liberal candidate for the Commons. And not a word from the Times? Now, Mr. Editor, I have written plainly, and if you don't see your way clear to publish this letter, I will have it printed in fly sheets and distributed with explanations. It will only confirm what I have all along believed—and that is that the Times is not entitled to credit for being with the people and for the people every time.

If the Times is run as a Grit organ, under the guise of being independent, the sooner the people realize it the better.

F. W. W.

Peterborough, June 14.

Ans.—No one will accuse our correspondent of want of frankness. He is deliciously outspoken, and deals with the "crooked" side of politics as if he were a master hand at the work. We would suggest that he might exercise some of his regard for honesty by giving his proper name and address when sending his articles to the printer. There is no such a number of 231 Queen street, or do we believe the name which he gives is genuine. However, we will let this go in order to show him and others like him that the Times is not afraid to do its duty. He apparently does not always read this great family journal or he would see that we have taken strong ground in regard to ballot stuffing, etc. We refer to this matter in our editorial columns to-day. Our correspondent refers to Government advertisements appearing in the Times. My dear boy, this only proves that the Government has a level head in selecting a widely read newspaper in which to make its announcements. In regard to West Peterborough we do not take much stock in "rumors" or do we know of any crookedness, as alleged. When the sensation to which he refers is sprung, the Times will be on hand to deal with it. If the leading party men have been engaged in crooked work we will do our best to expose them.

LOCAL NEWS-LETTERS.

OMEMEE.

The weather has been perfect of late, encouraging individuals to go out and enjoy the beautiful country surroundings, which are very attractive. The country is looking fresh and nice. The farmers are rejoicing over such fine markets for every kind of crops.

The news of Geo. McHugh, M.P., of South Victoria, attaining high honors at Ottawa is nothing more than is wished here by his many friends, for whom he has done several favors without any "blow."

The topic of the day is confined almost entirely to discussion of a grand wedding in Christ's church on the 13th—Miss Johnston, daughter of Mrs. Annie Johnston, and James Johnston, to Mr. Fletcher, B. A., of Rat Portage. The Rev. Mr. Langfeldt officiated. Their future home is to be at Rat Portage.

A musical event of high order is a new feature here. Whilst being favored with many of the best and most renowned soloists, yet chorus selections by St. Paul's choir, of Peterborough, under the direction of Mr. Crane, attracted attention from the surrounding district to hear this choral work. The concert took place last Friday night.

Capt. Neill finds it easier to recruit volunteers when no real active South African service is in view. Dr. Dean, of Mount Pleasant, is the company surgeon.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

Crops in this locality look well—much better than in most parts of the surrounding countrry. Fruit, especially apples, promises to be very good.

Mr. J. Lowe has now suffered for some weeks from a peculiar sore on his foot. The case seems to be rather puzzling to the doctors, and they are at a loss to know exactly what the trouble is. We hope for his speedy recovery.

Our foundry is doing a rushing business, being very busy at present in turning out fruit-cleaners. A large consignment has been sent to British Columbia, and another shipment will follow in a few days.

The illuminated canoe parade will be held on Wednesday evening, and not to-night, as was announced on Saturday.

Why Not Come Here.

Cobourg Post.—Papers in the eastern section of the country are booming the proposed electric railway from Havelock to Brighton or Colborne, and and feel confident that it is going to be put through all right. Why cannot some of our enterprising citizens try and have the road touch Cobourg? The Crossen car works could give such a road as the above named business enough to sustain it and pay handsome interest on the investment. If the road should be properly constructed cars could be shipped from the works to the C. P. R., which would mean a large sum of money to the promoters.

Filipino Casualties.

OVER 10,000 HAVE BEEN KILLED; 2,104 WOUNDED.

M'Arthur Cables that the wounded may be Larger in Number and the Killed Less when Complete Reports are Made.

Washington, D.C., June 19.—Secretary Root today made answer to the Senate resolution inquiring as to the number of Filipinos killed and wounded and the number of prisoners taken since the insurrection began. Having no detailed information on the subject, the Secretary cabled the inquiry to Gen. MacArthur, commanding at Manila, and received the following reply, which was submitted to Congress—

Manila, June 18th.

Adjutant General, Washington—

With reference to your telegram of 22nd ultimo. Filipinos killed, 10,780; wounded, 2,104; captured and surrendered, 10,475; number prisoners in our possession, about 2,000. Foregoing, compiled from large number of reports made immediately after engagements, is as close an approximate as now possible, owing to wide distribution of troops. More accurate report would take weeks to prepare. Number reported killed probably in excess of accurate figures; number reported wounded probably much less, as Filipinos managed to remove most wounded from field and comparatively few fell into our hands. Officers of high rank and dangerous suspicious men have been retained as prisoners; most other men discharged on field as soon as disarmed. Propose to release all but very few prisoners at an early date.

(Signed) M'ARTHUR.

INSURGENTS SURRENDER.

Manila, June 19.—Yesterday Gen. Funston, with 25 men, engaged 50 of the enemy 25 miles west of San Miguel de Mayumo, Capt. George J. Godfrey of the 22nd Regiment and one private was killed. The enemy's loss is not reported. Twenty-five armed insurgents have surrendered at Calire, island of Panay.

MILITARY PLANS FOR FUTURE.

Washington, D.C., June 19.—In order to prevent misapprehension as to the future policy of the War Department respecting the military forces in the Philippines Adjt.-Gen. Corbin made a brief statement of the facts in the case today. He said there has been no change of policy since the departure of Gen. Otis and that none was contemplated. Under the law the entire Volunteer Army now serving in the Philippines will go out of existence on June 30, 1901, and the problem before the War Department is how to get the 31,000 men of that army home from the Philippines before the date named, at the same time relieving them with other troops of the Regular establishment, so far as possible, without loss of military prestige in the Philippines and without material disturbance of the present military organization. Gen. Corbin says it is purposed to maintain an army of 40,000 Regulars in the Philippines so long as required and to do this it will be necessary to draw upon the troops now in Cuba. The homeward movement of Volunteer forces will probably begin in November. In order that there may be no immediate reduction of force under Gen. MacArthur it has been arranged to send Regular troops to the Philippines as rapidly as possible to take the places of departing Volunteers. Orders have been issued for the assembling of the Sixth Cavalry at San Francisco for transportation to Manila. It is believed that many of the troops in Cuba can be relieved from duty in that country soon after the elections there, which took place on the fifteenth instant.

Fishing Extraordinary

The Times has been informed that Mr. A. St. A. Smith, between four and seven o'clock Saturday afternoon, caught 25 bass at Young's Point. Our informant did not disclose the style of bait used by Mr. Smith, but we imagine that it was a silver one. The Indian who assists the editor if this g.f.j. to catch fish generally charges 50c. per dozen, refreshments included. We have frequently been known to catch three dozen in this way without leaving the hotel.

CHINESE TORPEDO BOATS CAPTURED BY POWERS.

Russian Relief Force Accompanied With Artillery Arrive at Pekin.

REVOLUTION SPREADING RAPIDLY IN THE WEST.

Province of Sze Chuen to the West is Now in a Disturbed Condition

Empress Dowager Degrades Her Generals—Japan May Act for the Powers.

London, June 20, 3 p.m.

The Russian relieving force arrived outside of Pekin this morning, says the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Express, and immediately began to attack the city on both sides, employing numerous artillery. This force apparently arrived in the nick of time, for the Chinese assert that the attack upon the legations had been successfully renewed.

On the night of June 16th the Chinese troops under Gen. Ting Fuh Siang and Tung Ching attacked the legations and set on fire five European buildings. Nothing definite is known as to the result, except that the Chinese were disappointed, although other reports being discredited by foreigners here are that the Chinese infuriated by the destruction of Taku have since massacred all the foreigners in Pekin.

Another Shanghai despatch to the Daily Express says the new Chinese cruiser Hai Yang, built by the Armstrongs, have been taken into custody at Taku by the British and Russians. At Yum Nan where the rising has been gathering force from for days, 60 Christians have been attacked at the French Mission settlement, many being put to death. The disorderly elements have secured the upper hand at WuHu and Czec Huan, where the native Christians have been massacred.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily News, telegraphs. "The Chinese officials here assert that they have news from Pekin up to June 17th. The situation was then very serious. Although I am not willing to adopt the alarmist reports, my impression, gathered from the consulate and the Chinese authorities is that the worst is to be feared in Pekin.

London, June 20.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times telegraphing yesterday says—The British flag is reported to have been floating over the south gate of Pekin to-day. This is presumed to indicate the arrival of Admiral Seymour. The summoning of Li Hung Chang to Pekin is regarded as a complete change of front on the part of the Manchus, who have abandoned the hope of opposing the powers. The Hong Kong correspondent of the Times says the Boxer movement is spreading on westward.

REVOLUTION SPREADING FAST.

Lodon, June 19.—The revolt is spreading in Western China. The representative of Mr. Pritchard Morgan, M. P., at Cheng Tu wires that he and his party have been detained there owing news that the revolution has broken out in Szechuan which adjoins the Province of Yunan, also in revolt and official news comes to-day that the London Missionary Societies premises at [illegible], eCntral China, west and northwest of Hankow, have been destroyed by a mob. The rising seems to be spreading with rapidity, and shows unexpected organization among the anti-foreign elements. The missionaries at [illegible] escaped, and reached Hankow in safety.

EMPRESS GREATLY ENGAGED.

She Is Degrading Her Generals for Losing the Taku Forts.

London, June 19—An agency despatch from Shanghai dated June 19 says the latest news from Pekin is that the Dowager Empress is greatly concerned at the capture of the Taku forts and that whole sale degradations of the Chinese army, including Generals Sung Ching and Fung-Fu-Siang, the Governor of Pekin and other high officials who promised in the Tsung-Li-Yameu to accomplish the expulsion of the foreigners have taken place.

AN OFICIAL DESPATCH.

British Admiralty Received News From the seat of war in China.

London, June 19.—The Admiralty Office had received the following message from the officer commanding the British First-class cruiser Endymion. "Liu Kun Tau, June 18.—Monday. The Taku forts opened fire at one in the morning of June 17, on the ships of the allied squadrons. After six hours' engagement the forts were silenced and occupied by the allied forces. Additional men for stroming the forts were sent ashore from the ships the previous afternoon.

"The British ships up the river engaged were the Algerine gunboat, Fam torpedo boat destroyer, and Whiting torpedo boat destroyer. The two latter captured four Chinese torpedo boat destroyers. The casualties of the Algerine were slight. Those of the storming party and others are unknown.

"A Chinese second class cruiser, flying an admiral's flag, is detained outside Taku by the allied admirals.

"No information of Commander-in-Chief Seymour's return to Tien Tsin had been received by the rear admiral up to two in the afternoon of June 17. I am sailing forthwith for Taku."

GALLANT CHARGE OF SAILORS.

Three Forts Destroyed and Garrison Killed by Sailors.

London, June 19.—A despatch says that three of the Taku forts were completely destroyed and most of the garrison killed or wounded by a charge of the sailors of the allied fleets.

JAPAN WILL TAKE ACTION.

Possibility That she May Restore Order as Agent of the Pwoers.

London, June 19.—Judging from the German official despatches the American ships took no part in the bombardment of the Taku forts. No news has yet bee received here of the relief of the Legation at Pekin, and Europe's attention is centered far less on the overwhelming display of naval force at Takthan on the fate of the diplomatic staff and 600 cosmopolitan residents guarded by a handful of international marine withing the Legation compound

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

Her Majesty Completes Her Sixty-Third Year on the Throne of Great Britain.

London, June 20.—Queen Victoria to-day completed the sixty-third year of her reign. Exceeding the long reign of her illusturious and long lived grand grandfather by three years and nine months. Talk of a regency has been heard for twenty-five years, but Queen Victoria remains the head of the British Empire and is not likely to relinquish the post in favor of the Prince of Wales as Prince Regent until she is compelled to do so by inexorable death. The Queen was born at Kensington Palace on May 24, 1819, ascended to the throne June 20, 1837, proclaimed queen the following day, and was crowned queen at Westminster on June 28, 1838.

There has been no news thence since June 14.

Rumors that Japan as the mendator of the powers will restore order in China, was revived in a despatch today from Yokohama. Berlin despatches intimated that Germany will not object to Japan sending 18,000 troops, while Great Britian will endorse the plan with avidity though perhaps only secretly. The Japanese Legation in London has official information of the despatch of 3,000 troops. In the meanwhile the British are despatching six native regiments, besides artillery.

THREE REGIMENTS FROM MANILA

McKinley will Send 5,000 Men from The Philippines.

New York, June 19—To meet the exceedigly grave complication that has developed in Northern China, the President has directed General McArthur to send three regiments of regulars to Tien Tsin, which with their support of commissary, field transportation, signal men, and medical staff will make a force of 5,000 says a Washington special to The Tribune.

Admiral Remey has been directed to send the Oregon to Taku as soon as she can start. She will take extra marines and sailors from the Monterey, now with her at Hong Kong. The Iris is expected to leave Manila to-morrow for Taku with food, coal and ammunition for nine hundred men for three months for Ad. Kempff's squadron. She will take at least eight days to make the voyage. The Solace, which left Manila with 100 marines last Wednesday, is due at Taku.

TELEGRAPH STILL INTERRUPTED

Li Yung Chang Summoned to Pekin From Canton.

Paris, June 19.—At a Cabinet council to-day the Minister of Foreign Affairs M. Delcasse, announced that the telegraph line between Pekin and Tien Tsin was still interrupted.

A despatch received here from Shanghai says LiHung Chang has been summoned to Pekin from Canton.

CHINESE CRUISERS AT SHANGHAI

A Thousand Celestials Occupy Forts Outside the Town.

London, June 19.—Cable despatches from Shanghai report that a number of Chinese cruisers are anchored in sight of the foreign settlements, which are only guarded by a small Japanese gunboat. A thousand Chinese troops with two 49-ton guns still hold the forts outside the town. The Viceroy of Woo Sung is reported to have assured the consuls that the foreign settlement Shanghai will not be attacked.

The British Admiralty draws attention to the fact that the Endymions report which is a later date, does not confirm the Japanese report of Admiral Seymour's return to Tien Tsin.

GERMAN COMMANDER WOUNDED.

Chinese were Driven From the Forts at the Bayoet's Point.

London, June 18—A despatch to The Times from Shanghai gives from official sources a brief description of the fighting at Taku, which agrees in the main with the reports from Chefoo. It says that the ultimatum sent by the naval commanders threatened to destroy the forts unless the troops were disbanded. The Japanese torpedo boat destroyer which took the news to Chefoo reported that the commander of the German gunboat Iltis was serios-y wounded. Two British, one American and five Chinese warships are now at Chefoo.

Other correspondents at Shanghai report that the landing parties which occupied the forts drove out the Chinese at the point of the bayonet. The struggle was short. Fully 400 Chinese were killed. The attackers numbered 2000. They were chiefly Russians, but included British, Americans, Italians, Germans, Japanese, French and Austrians. The Russian troops on the land side are reported to have co-operated with the naval force.

The fire of the forts was at first directed at the gunboats lying in shore, namely, the Yorktown American, Algerine, British, and Iltis, German, Mandshur, Russian, and Otago, Japanese. Several of them were struck by shells from the 12-inch guns, which made good practise. A shell exploded in the Mandshur's magazine, and the vessel was blown up. The Algerine and Iltis were badly damaged, being struck thirteen or fourteen times.

WHERE RAE THE BOERS?

Pursued by the British Cavalry, Botha Moves on Middelberg.

London, June 19—The Boer commandos are retiring on Middleberg, followed by the British cavalry and artillery, occasional shells reaching the rear guards. The Boers are destroying the bridges and burning the veldt behind them, carryig off provisions and cattle, ad leaving the country barren.

THE ZAND RIVER FIGHT.

Story of the Action in which Seymour was Killed.

Bloemfontein, June 19.—The enemy's attempts to interupt our communications have at las received a decided check, and one which reflects the greatest credit on the little British force.

Emboldened apparently, by the recent Boer success in capturing the Derbyshires, a commando supposed to be about five hundred to seven hundred mne attacked Virginia, otherwise known as Zand River Station, at daybreak on Thursday.

The Zand River bridge was badly damaged during the Boer flight north. To repair it three hundred and fifty men of the Railway Pioneer Corps happened to be at the spot when the attack was delivered. They thus fortunately increased the tiny garrison of two hundred and fifty Royal Lancasters, under Colonel North and with them fought shoulder to shoulder.

The attack, furious though it was was met with unflinching courage and heavy fighting lasted well into the afternoon.

Early in the day Louis Seymour, the American mining engineer, who was chief engineer of the Eckstein group of the Rand mines, was shot dead by an explosive bullet in the forehead.

Lieut. Clements also of the Rand, was badly wounded and has since died five privates of the railway pioneers were also killed and seven wounded.

Things might have gone hard with the British forces had it not been for 180 of the Northumberland Hussars belonging to the Imperial Yeomanry, who opportunely arrived from the south and went into action with great dash and brilliancy. The arrival of these men speedily caused the Boers to decamp.

Many of our men were wounded by explosive bullets, which apparently the Boers are using in large quantities.

ARE COMMUNICATIONS AGAIN CUT BY BOERS?

War Office Receives no Word From Lord Roberts For Several Days.

THE FIRST TRAIN THROUGH LAING'S NEK TUNNEL

Lord Roberts Will Have a Line From Durban to Pretoria in a Few Days—Strathcona Horse Have Joined General Buller—Canadians Gallant Work.

London, June 20. 2.35 a.m.

Casualties not previously made public by the War Office include three killed, five wounded and sixty captured in an attack on a reconstruction train at Loewspruit on June 14, and nine wounded and eleven missing in an action at Vredefort on June 7.

The Daily Mail points out that it is quite possible the wires have again been cut in Lord Roberts' rear as no despatch later than June 16th has been received. The Boers are gathering in force in front of General Rundle near Ficksburg. The Boers there are commanded by De Villiers and Herman. Mr. Steyn is at Bethlehem, the temporary capital of the Free State. According to despatches from Lorenzo Marquez the Malana bridge has been destroyed. This will temporarily interrupt the flow of supplies to the Boers from Lorenzo Marquez.

London, June 19.—From South Africa comes the budget of good news which nowadays generally appears over the name of Lord Roberts. The despatch received from Pretoria this morning contains the first official mention of the British prisoners who were so long kept in the neighborhood of Pretoria by the Boers. It appears that those rescued from their prison by the rapid encircling movement of General French number 3,187, of whom only a small proportion are too ill for active service. This force will no doubt be a welcome addition to Lord Roberts' force, and will make good the losses by ease which have been so numerous since his march from Bloemfontein. It is now to be supposed that Lord Roberts is marshalling his forces, assuring his communications and gathering supplies preparatory to the final stage of the campaign—a chase after General Botha and President Kruger towards the Portuguese border, with the prospect of fighting the decisive battle of the war on the way.

Meanwhile General Buller is doing his work well, and it is interesting to note that he has been joined by Strathcona Horse, under Colonel Steele. The tunnel has been repaired and the first British train which has passed through it for over nine months reached Charlestown yesterday. Within a few days trains wil be running directly from Durban to Pretoria via Ladysmith, and Lord Roberts will have a short and easily guarded line of communication with the sea, which will make him the master of the situation. Probabilities are that the attention of Lord Roberts will at an early date be directed towards subduing the Orange River Colony Boers, who are still a source of danger south of the Vaal.

London, June 19.—Lord Roberts reports that over 2,000 stands of arms have been given up at Pretoria since the occupation of the capital.

These will be utilized by the released British prisoners, of whom there are 148 officers and 3,039 men. Of the former 12 and of that after 148 are in the hospitals. The total of the British losses on June 4, says Lord Roberts, only amounted to two men killed and one officer and 48 men wounded.

General Buller reports that the first train passed through Laing's Nek tunnel on oMnday, June 18, and proceeded to Charlestown.

The first batch of Mafeking's sick and wounded arrived at the hospital at Belfontein June 15.

STRATHCONAS ARE WITH BULLER.

Ottawa, June 19.—A cablegram was received at the Militia Department this morning which goes to show that Strathcona's Horse is with General Buller in his movement from Natal into the Transvaal. The message is sent by Colonel Steele from Newcastle, and reads—"With Buller, moving forward."

BRILLIANT WORK OF CANADIANS.

Second Contingent Performed Gallant Feats South of Kroonstad.

Kroonstad, June 13.—A, B, C and D Squadrons of the Canadian Mounted Rifles came into Kroonstad yesterday after seven days' hard marching and continuous fighting. A Squadron, under Major Forrester, being among the first of the British troops to enter thet own. They were a portion of the advanced guard of Lord Roberts' main army and fought daily from Brandfort to Zand ZRiver, a distance of almost a hundred miles.

Among the plucky feats performed by some of the Canadian force was the swimming of the Vet River by Lieutenants Borden and Turner with five men, who put 40 Boers to flight. Lieutenants Taylor, Van Straubenzee and Cosby were in a tight place on no less than three separate occasions, but extricated their men with miraculously good luck. The only casualties so far sustained are Capt. Pearce, Lieut. Van Luven and Troopers McCulloch, Fergus, Brown and Wildman, all wounded, none of them, however, were more than slightly, a marvellously lucky record, considering the fighting in which they have been engaged.

Four troops of C and D Squadrons, under Capt. McDonell, undertook to blow up a culvert north of Smaldeel a few nights ago, and succeeded after overcoming great difficulties, but the Boers had succeeded in removing their guns and baggage which would otherwise have certainly fallen into our hands. As it was, the achievement was a brilliant one, though without the hoped for results. The troops engaged in this undertaking were in the saddle continuously for 24 hours. Certainly the pluck and endurance of our men are everything that could be desired.

A CANADIAN PRECEDENT.

Cape Cabinet Recommends the Course of Lord Durham.

Manchester, June 19.—The Guardian's Cape Town correspondent sends the following despatch—"Immense importance is attached to the publication of the Cape Ministry's minute on the subject of the treatment of the insurgents. I am able to state positively that the Cabinet, including President Schreiner, has united in advising that a policy should be followed analogous to that of Lord Durham in the case of the Canadian insurgents. This proposal, however, was overruled by Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, and the resignation of the Ministry followed."

Lord Durham came to Canada as Governor-General in the spring of 1838 when the Papineau rebellion was in progress. He immediately declared for the punishment of the leading men in revolt, but granted a general amnesty except in respect of the special [illegible] mentioned. His conduct was severly criticised in England. Lord Brougham declared that he had exercised one of the powers of the Sovereign without authority. Both Houses condemned his conduct, and Lord Durham hastened to England to defend himself.

AN OFFER TO KRUGER.

Report That a British Offer of [illegible] Has Been Declined.

London, June 19.—The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the Times telegraphed yesterday that Judge Van Leeuwen, who left Pretoria last Wednesday, was understood to be the bearer of a verbal assurance to President Kruger that if he surrendered at once he would not be sent out of the country. Secretary Reitz replied that the President would not entertain the proposal. The Express reports that Lord Roberts sent a message to Botha suggesting disarmament, but the latter declined the terms.

TORONTO'S BIG SCHEME TO CATCH TRADE.

The City to Build Electric Roads in Ten Different Directions—A Great Scheme to Kill the Small Towns.

(Special to the Times.)

Toronto Ont., June 19.—Ald. Lamb has been working steadily at the scheme of radial railway development, and states that before another year passes the construction of the roads will have begun. There are ten routes in the proposed system, and along every route the municipalities hold entire sway. In addition to securing from the municipality permission to pass through Ald. Lamb asks them to give some assistance, such as guaranteeing a certain amount of the bonds of construction. He is now negotiating with these small municipalities and he has been successful in getting a number of them interested, though in none yet has any action been taken. The extent of such a work will be understood when the proposed routes are taken into consideration.

Route No. 1, which will run from Toronto to Rice Lake, passes through the townships of York, Scarboro, Pickering, Whitby, Whitby East, Darlington, Clarke, Hope and Monoghan, and the towns of east Toronto, Whitby and Oshawa. It will be 63 miles long and cost $525,000. Route No. 2, which will run from Toronto to Prince Albert, is to pass through Pickering, Whitby and Reach township. The total distance will be fifteen miles and the cost of construction $125,000. Route No., 3 will run from Pickering to Beaverton, and will pass through Pickering, Uxbridge, Scott, Georgina and the towns of Uxbridge and Beaverton. The road would be 48 miles long and cost $370,000. Route No. 4 will run from Toronto to Shelburne, passing through the townships of York, Vaughan, King, Tecumseh, Adgala, Mono Melancthon and the towns of Toronto Junction, Weston, Woodbridge and Tottenham. This line would be 50 miles long and would cost $455,000. Routes 5 and 6 form two branches, one of which will run from Lloydtown in West Gwillimbury and the other from Tottenham to Beeton, a combined distance of 123 miles. Route No. 7 will run from Weston to Fergus, passing through Etobicoke, Toronto Township, Chinguacousy, Esquesing, Georgetown, Brampton, Acton, Erin, Eramosa, West Garafara, Nichol and Fergus, a distance of 59 miles, to cost $585,000. Route No. 8 will be a branch from Acton to Guelph. Route No. 9 will run from Toronto Township, Peel, through Trafalgar, Nelson, Streetsville, Milton, Flamboro East Flamboro West, Beaverly, South Dumfries, Brantford Township and Brantford City, a distance of 53 miles, at an estimated cost of $435,000. Route No. 10 is to join Toronto and Burlington, a distance of 30 miles along the lake front. The total mileage of the system would be 354, the cost $2,850,000, and the population to be served outside of Toronto 187,334. There are 39 townships interested, 16 towns or villages and 2 cities. In these town are 300 members of municipal councils, each of whom must be personally converted to the project. However great the task, Ald. Lamb says that it certainly will be put through.

Bell Telephone Changes.

Mr. J. F. Freeman, who has for many years been in charge of the local office of the Bell Telephone Company, has resigned, and accepted a responsible position with the Sun Life Assurance Company. Mr. Freeman will be missed by the many friends and patrons of the company in Peterborough, with whom he was very popular. He will be succeeded by Mr. C. W. Springer, of Belleville, who is now in possession.

VAST MILITARY PREPARATIONS.

Another illustration of the comparative helplessness of The Hague peace conference is furnished in the fact that the English Government has a plan under consideration whereby every lad in the public schools of that country is to receive a military training with a view to future possibilities of being called on to serve as a soldier.

If the plan matures about four million children will be subject to this new branch of learning. It is proposed to start in with their martial tuition at about the age of 11 and continue it for at least three years. During this time they will use dummy guns.

When they leave school they will form regularly armed cadet organizations, and so become in miniature exact counterparts of the present militia or volunteer regiments. All of which is quite a commentary on the way modern education is inclined to teach the young idea how to shoot.

CHINA GOING TO PIECES.

China is in a condition of revolution. It is useless to longer disguise the fact that the troubles are not confined to the neighborhood of the capital or its sport, Tien-Tsin. The four great southern provinces, practically under the viceregal dominion of our old friend, Li Hung Chang, are in open rebellion. He is importing Mauser rifles to prepare for a crisis that is already upon him. He is too late. As in the Japanese war, he did not awaken to the danger until the storm had burst upon him.

England will be found at the front when Canton is involved. Hong Kong stands for the province of Kwang-Tung quite as much as does Canton. The three southern provinces of the Empire are within English's "sphere of influence." and she always can be relied on to guard her interests.

If the partition of China takes this new phase, England's natural ally in China will immediately become France, which is already established in Tong-king, just across the southern border. It is more than likely, therefore, that England's real strength will not be shown at Taku or Pekin, but husbanded for a decisive blow at Canton when the hour for action arrives. Of course, England will co-operate with the other powers at Pekin for the protection of life and British property, but her great commercial interests lie in southern China, and there is where her effective strength is sure to be employed.

Present indications are, that before this last year of the century is run, China, south of the Yellow river, will be belted into several "spheres of influence," to be labeled at an early day with the names of Germany, France and England. This would leave northern China to the "future," which, despite Japanese contention, is merely a synonym for Russia.

The situation is clarified by this revelation in the southern provinces. England, France and Germany must protect their recognized interests, rather than co-operate to foil a mighty foe that will not threaten their rights in China for many years to come. If this be Russian's opportunity, it is equally the moment for her three European rivals to take what they most covet.

It is doubtful if in the history of the world an Empire of hundreds of millions ever before threw itself into the arms of strange and repugnant foes in order that they might dismember it at their leisure.

CHINESE PIRATES.

THEY STILL PLY THEIR TRADE IN THE CHINA SEAS.

And Only Recently Attacked an American Vessel in an Inland River—Some Instances of Their Horrible Brutality.

The present unsettled state of affairs in China has given a fresh impetus to the ancient Chinese diversion of piracy and only the other day an American vessel was attacked by pirates in the Yang-tse-Kiang river.

Piracy has never been fully suppressed in the Chinese seas. The hotbeds of this species of crime are at Amoy and Macao. Here the pirates lie in wait until their many spies, who are scattered about all the principal ports, bring them word of the sailing of a richly-laden boat. Immediately they sail out to sea in their shallow-draught junks with the intention of intercepting the vessel near some shoal water, over which it would be impossible for the sailing schooner to follow them in case of detection.

A favorite device is to ship several of their fellow cutthroats in the guise of seamen. These gentry pose as harmless, hard-working coolies until their comrades' junks are in sight. Then, all in a moment, they show themselves up in their true colors. All opposition speedily is stunned or knifed, and the few remaining Europeans or loyal natives are only too glad to hold up their hands in token of surrender rather than incur the fate of their slaughtered brethren.

Within Sight of a Gunboat.

Last January a British launch was captured by pirates in the Chek-Hueng-Shan district, almost within sight of a British gunboat. The gunboat—the Sandpiper—had stuck on a bar, and the pirates saw their opportunity. They swarmed aboard the launch, killed the pilot, made a prisoner of the supercargo, and looted both the launch and the lighter which she had in tow. Then they took to their junks and disappeared. This sort of thing frequently has taken place almost within pistol shot of British gunboats in the Hong Kong dock yards.

A well-known case of the capture of a merchant steamer by Chinese pirates was that of the Naoma, which occurred in November, 1890. This vessel was a good-sized liner and carries five European and 250 Chinese passengers. Among the latter were several rich merchants who were returning to their homes from the Straits Settlements with their carefully hoarded savings.

This fact became known to the pirates, 50 of them took passage in the vessel. She had barely been five hours at sea, and the majority of her peaceably disposed inmates were comfortably settled at their evening meal, when 50 yelling savages, armed with revolvers and cutlasses, suddenly appeared on deck.

Carefully covering the officers' quarters, the villans started to fire upon the passengers below. In so doing they killed the captain, wounded the first officer and made the second officer a prisoner. Then they looted every possible article of value in the ship. They shut the surviving Europeans in a tiny cabin and navigated the vessel back to Pinghoi.

Here they were met by a fleet of pirate junks into which they speedily transferred their plunder. They abandoned the vessel after damaging every bit of her machinery which they could readily reach.

Eventually the imprisoned Europeans burst open their prison house, repaired the damaged engines and made the best of their way back to Hong Kong.

Recently a launch belonging to a British naval officer was appropriated by pirates while she was lying peacefully at her moorings in Canton harbor, right under the guns of the responsible port officials. The pirates took the launch up the river and held up every promising looking merchant vessel they met. When they had filled the launch with booty until she could hold no more they ran her ashore, landed their spoils and made off.

The natives of Archin, on the northwest coast of Sumatra, are as notorious pirates as the Chinese.

A Woman's Armament.

In July, 1896, the steamer Pegu stopped at the East Indian port of Erid, one of the places where pepper is taken on. At that port the steamer was boarded by 11 Achinese men and one woman. Capt. Ross, who commanded the steamer, searched the men for weapons, as is customary when taking natives on board a merchantman. The men were found to be unarmed, but the woman, as afterwards was learned, had concealed under her clothing a fine assortment of Malay knives. When the captain and the chief engineer, Cragie, were at dinner, six armed Achinese burst into the cabin and attacked them with great fury. The officers defended themselves with chairs and, although badly slashed, managed to reach the deck. Cragie ran to the engine room and locked himself in, but the captain was cut to pieces as soon as he reached the deck. There were several Chinese passengers on board, five of whom were killed outright, and five driven overboard, where they drowned. The Achinese ran among the passengers and crew, cutting right and left, and wounded 14 of them. Having terrorized every one left alive on board, they broke open the ship's strong box and looted it of $15,000. Then they lowered away one of the steamer's boats, placed their booty in it, got in themselves and escaped.

A nearly similar fate befell the Dutch liner Rajah Kongsee Atjeek in July, 1893. In this case the Achinese passengers suddenly turned upon the ship's officers, with the result that the captain and mates, all of whom were Englishmen, with 24 passengers and 22 members of the crew were butchered. Eighteen other passengers were drowned by the capsizing of the boat in which they tried to escape, and 12 of the remaining passengers were wounded. The pirates got 5,000 guilders, which the vessel was carrying in her strong room.

The Welcome

At the door from a happy, healthy wife, is something which the husband looks forward to all through the day's labor. He may be tired, but his step lightens and his face brightens as he quickens his pace to receive the smiling welcome of his wife. What a difference in the home-coming of the man whose wife is nervous and gloomy, having neither heart nor strength to be glad. Many such a husband has worked a transformation in his home-life by learning of the cures performed by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures diseases of the delicate organs, builds up the nerves, induces refreshing sleep, and transforms the sickly woman into the happy helpmeet.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"My wife was sick for over eight years," writes Albert H. Fultz, Esq., of Altamont, Grundy Co., Tenn. "She had uterine disease and was treated by two physicians, but got no relief. At last I read in one of your Memorandum Books, about Dr. Pierce's medicines, and we decided to try his 'Favorite Prescription.' I sent to the drug store and got one bottle, and the first dose gave ease and sleep. She had not slept any for three nights. Being sure that it would cure her I sent for five more bottles, and when she had taken the sixth bottle she was sound and well. We now have a fine boy at our house."

CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Tom Courney Charged With Stealing a Horse and Buggy.

Yesterday morning at the Court House before Judge Weller, Tommy Courney, who has been languishing in goal for a week was tried on the charge of stealing a horse and buggy, the property of Mr. R. Leary from the Oxford House, on Wednesday last.

The prisoner was defended by Mr. W. A. Stratton and Mr. R. E. Wood looked after the interests of the Crown. The evidence of several witnesses went to show that Courney had been pretty full when he took the horse.

His honor stated that he could not see from the evidence how the young man could be declared guilty of theft when there was no intention on his part to commit a theft. He was also at a loss to know what punishment to inflict upon a young man going about the town in a drunken condition, and taking conveyances belonging to others. He however, would consider if the evidence would justify him in convicting him. He would look into the matter and satisfy himself, for it would not do to allow young men to labor under the impression that they could do such acts with impunity. He would adjourn court until June 30th when he would dispose of the matter from the evidence before him.

If an examination paper required him to write a short account of Epaminondas he was not daunted by the fact that for all he knew, Epaminondas might be a Carthaginian general or a small island off the coast of Sicily. He would seize his pencil and dash off something like the following.

The situation at that period presented more difficulties than a conservative estimate could have been possibly made, and were it not for the fact that the finances of the country were also doubtful, the result might have been different, as in the case of Epaminondas."

He would continue his paper in the same strain, and the probabilities were that when his Professor took it up for correction, he became entangled in Judell's sentences that he got a headache and went to bed and was bluffed into giving Judell a passing mark.

Whenever any other crisis came up, Judell was equally well prepared. If he did not surmount it in the manner common sense would seem to dictate, he at least did it gracefully and with confidence, which, after all, is the main thing.

It was in Judell's first summer out of college that a crisis presented itself which threatened to ruffle his habitual complacence. Three days after his graduation Miss Phyllis Ward decided that he was not the man to whom she could entrust her happiness, and she embodied that determination in a cruel little note which reached Judell just as he was preparing to run up to Bar Harbor and spend a week with her.

But that was not the impending crisis. "Oh, no," Judell assured his mirror at least three times a day. "That was no crisis at all." He didn't care; in fact, he never wanted to lay eyes on Phyllis Ward again. The mirror looked back at him and told him that he lied.

Phylis' note remained unanswered, and Judell went off for a hilarious four weeks' cruise with some fellows. When he returned a letter awaited him from Mrs. Hildreth, commanding his presence at Indian Harbor to fill a gap in her house party. Judell was delighted. He had vivid recollections of Mrs. Hildreth's house parties.

When a cart deposited him at Mrs. Hildreth's door in Indian Harbor the house seemed deserted. Evidently the people were all either out sailing or on the links. He followed a maid through the cool, dark hall, and would have followed her up stairs to his room if he had not encountered, sitting in a low wicker chair and looking more inviting than ever, Miss Phyllis Ward. She rose hastily, glared at the inoffensive Judell and fled.

"H-m," mused Judell, stopping on the bottom stair. "This is interesting. I am to be avoided. I'm a pestilence."

"Suffering Pharaoh!" muttered Judell. "You are, you consummate ass! So you're the man. Augh—h—!"

When Judell came down to dinner that night he sought out Mrs. Hildreth and the warmth of his welcome was balm to his lacerated soul. Miss Ward with the egregious Ten Eyck arrived late and was formally introduced to Judell across the table and did not once look at him until the coffee and cigarettes came and the ladies retired.

"Now what does she mean by eyeing me like that?" growled Judell. "I suppose she wants me to apologize for coming here. Perhaps she thinks I've hired a private car and a yacht to follow her around the country. Some women have more cold conceit—oh, hang this room, I'm going out to get cool."

He stepped out of the broad doors, wandered around the corner of the house and almost ran into Phyllis Ward, who was standing there pensively regarding a rosebush.

"What do you mean by following me around?" demanded Phyllis, with flaming cheeks. "I thought you were a gentleman. I hate you."

"Did I speak to her? Did I open my mouth? Did I say one blooming word?" howled Judell, impassionately addressing the rosebush. "Oh, look at that!"

Ten Eyck had come out of the house and joined Miss Ward, and the two were strolling down the drive towards the gate.

The next three days Judell spent in watching Ten Eick, the foozler, play golf with Phyllis, or Ten Eyck, the landlubber, take Phyllis out sailing, or Ten Eyck, the duffer, play tennis with Phyllis or Ten Eyck the cad made love to Phyllis. He had a runabout and a tidy little pony, and when Phyllis wanted to go anywhere, it was Ten Eyck who drove her there. Judell came to consider himself as 160 pounds of dirt, and he wondered why he didn't turn into mud when it rained.

The fourth evening Mrs. Hildreth gave a fete champetre. She came to Judell before the guests arrived and took him to task.

"What do you mean, Dick Judell," said she, "by going around here with that mortuary expression? You've got to brace up. You're to sing 'Kitty Loo' tonight and make love to all the girls and create excitement by the yard. Do you hear?"

"I've got an attack of indigestion," said Judell.

"Nonsense," said Mrs. Hildreth. "Oh, here comes the Masons. Mind now, Dick, you must do college stunts all the evening and earn your bread and butter. Be a good boy, Dickey. You're perfectly silly when you think you're in love."

"I'm not in love!" exclaimed Judell heatedly.

"Oh, how do you do, Mrs. Mason. May I present Mr. Judell—"

Judell untangled himself from Mrs. Mason and dexterously passed her on to Mr. Hildreth. Then he went out-oors and watched the gate until Ten yck's runabout appeared. He hurled the stump of a cigar at it as it passed and sat down on a bench to await events.

The grounds at the rear of Mrs. Hildreth's house ran down abruptly to the bay. The descent is broken by three terraces. The first terrace is a fascinating place at night. The second terrace has a small pond on its surface, and is not so fascinating because there are no benches to sit on. Judell watched until he saw Ten Euck and Phyllis come out of the house and go down the terrace steps.

Ten Eyck had taken his runabout to the rear of the house, and fastened the pony near the top of the first terrace. He didn't send it to the stables because he thought he might want to take Miss Ward out for a drive if the grounds became too crowded.

The top of the terrace was coped with stone, and there was a clear drop of 15 feet to the ground below. It was not a turfed, rolling terrace as some are.

The pony was fastened near a Japanese lantern, a thing he did not like even in its calmer moments, but when the Japanese lantern caught fire and blazed, the pony objected strenuously. He made a plunge forward, broke the hitching strap and would have pitched head-foremost off the terrace if the runabout had not caught the stone coping and held the unfortunate pony suspended in space. He did not seem to mind. He worked his legs in the air like a gigantic lobster, but apart from that and a strained, anxious look in his eyes no one would have suspected that the pony found the situation at all unusual. Judell was an interested spectator.

Suddenly it occurred to him that he had better do something for the horse. He rushed for the house, bounced into a room full of people and yelled.

"Carving knife! Get me a carving knife! There's a horse choking to death."

A few of the crowd laughed, but by far the larger majority attempted to make a hurried exit from the room. Some of them got jammed in the narrow doorway, some dropped out of the windows, and some got nowhere, but all of them fought industriously to remove themselves from the vicinity of the man who wanted a carving knife. Not one of them gave a thought to the horse. Mrs. Hildreth wasn't quite sure, but she thought the commotion was one of Judell's college stunts.

Judell found his was to the butler's pantry and secured a carving knife. No one sought to detain him when he came back through the house.

The pony was still suspended, making mute protests with his forelegs. Judell hacked through the traces, and the shafts broke under the pony's weight and let him fall heavily to the terrace below. A succession of feminine screams arose. Judell looked over and saw a pair of white ducks scudding across the lawn. He knew they belonged to Ten Eyck. He knew also that there was another terrace, and he knew what had happened when he saw the white ducks suddenly disappear and heard a great splash. Ten Eyck had fallen off the first terrace into the pond on the second.

Fifteen seconds later Phyllis found herself in Judell's arms.

"Dick, you scamp," said she, 'I believe you threw that horse over on purpose."

Ten Eyck, damp and gloomy, appeared before Dick could offer a protest to his imputation, and Phyllis turned to him with the air of resuming a conversation which had been for a moment interrupted.

"No, Mr. Ten Eyck," she said sweetly, "I'm sorry, but I don't think I could ever learn to love you."

"And say, Ten Eyck," added Dick, "I think your runabout's broken."

"Hunger is the Best Sauce."

Yet some people are never hungry. Whatever they eat has to be "forced down." There is, of course, something wrong with these people. By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a short time they are given an appetite and then they enjoy eating and food nourishes them. If you find your appetite failing, just try a bottle of Hood's It is a true stomach tonic and every dose does good.

THE BLACK DEATH.

DEADLY INVASIONS OF THE BUBONIC PLAGUE.

It is the Most Virulent and Fatal of Diseases—The United States Practice by Immune—In Existence for Centuries.

Owing to the prevalence of the dreaded bubonic plague in Honolulu and its reported visitation to San Francisco, a few statistics relative to this most deadly of diseases will be of current interest. It is found in its worst stages in lands like India and China, where the natives live in squalor and filth and the meanest of habitations. In these countries the people are unclean in their personal habits, the very soil becomes saturated with filth and the utter lack of sanitation of even the crudest kind, invites the deadly plague. It is among the poor that the disease thrives, where the people's bodies, weakened and emaciated by lack of proper food, present an easy target for this fatal black death.

Under the conditions obtaining in the Orient, the bubonic plague is the most virulent and deadly of diseases. The symptoms manifest themselves in from 12 hours to 12 days after the system absorbs the disease. The crisis is reached in from two to eight days, generally in 48 hours. If life can be prolonged for five or six days the chances of successful treatment are greatly increased. As a rule, however, little can be done to save the victims. A few of the well-nourished ones escape; of the rest death claims an average of from 50 to 100 per cent. of the total number of cases. This fearful mortality is best shown in the following figures, furnished by Surgeon General Wyman, of the United States Army. Bombay, cases 220,907, deaths 164,083; Hong-Kong, cases 1,600, deaths 1,541; Formosa, cases 2,466. Strangely enough this death rate varies greatly according to nationalities. From statistics obtained during the prevalence of the plague in Hong-Kong the following offical showing is made, the percentage being based on the total number of cases reported. Chinese, 93 deaths out of every 100 persons attacked with the disease; East India, 77 out of every 100, Japanese, 60; Eurasians, 100; Europeans, 18. This small relative percentage of mortality among Europeans is attributed to better food and stamina, and to the success of treatment in the early stages of the disease, the intelligence of the European leading him to call in a physician at the first sight of trouble, while the ignorance and prejudice of the Orientals prompt them to conceal themselves and reject medical aid.

Medical scientists have determined that bubonic plague may be contracted in three weeks—by inoculation through an external wound or abrasion, by respiration (breathing air laden with the plague germs). and by introduction into the stomach of food or water that has become infected. Contrary to the general belief, the disease is not infectious or contagious in the ordinary manner. A person might even sleep in a bed occupied by a plague victim, or wear clothing taken from his body, and yet escape infection, provided there were no wounds or abrasions on the skin in which the disease germs could get lodgment. Even the breath of a patient is not necessarily poisonous, the greatest source of danger being in the discharges from the swellings. All this being granted, the question will naturally arise, Why, then, should the disease rage so among the Orientals? The assertion that the plague is not usually infectious or contagious in the ordinary way applies only to people who are ordinarly cleanly in their habits. To those acquainted with the Oriental no further explanation is necessary. Once the plague gets a foothold among East Indians or Chinese coolies it is almost impossible to check it, except with the extermination of the affected. Russia has adopted heroic methods in dealing with the plague in its Chinese colonies. All those affected are taken out and shot. "It saves trouble and other people's lives," the Russian grimly remarks. The conditions of environment favoring the plague are similar to those that encourage typhus fever, mainly density of population, bad ventilation and drainage, impure water and inattention to sanitary requirements.

The most notable visitations of the plague of which there are records are these.

The plague prevailed in Athens in 432-429 B. C., and reappeared 18 months after it was thought to have been stamped out. In the third century B. C. the plague swept away countless numbers in Egypt. Livy records a great plague that distroyed millions in various parts of Africa in the third century B. C. In 1842 A. D. the plague spread over Egypt and reached Constantinople, where 10,000 died in a day. In the same century it ravaged Italy and Northern Africa. In the seventh century the plague invaded England and claimed scores of victims. In 1270 it appeared in Cairo and Constantinople, spread and became epidemic. In the 14th century the pestilence came from Arabia and swept Egypt, Armenia, Asia Minor, Northern Africa, and nearly all Europe. Hecter, the historian estimates that it claimed 25,000,000 victims in Europe during the century. In 1466 40,000 died from plague in Western Europe. In 1572 pestilence swept away 50,000 more than 70,000 died in and around Venice. In 1646 the plague depopulated Naples, claiming 3000,000 victims people in and near Lyons, and in 1576 in five months. In 1654-55. London suffered ravages by the pestilence and 100,000 died. In 1720 one-third of the people of Marseilles died, and the following year 88,000 died in Toulon and the whole of the province. In 1743 nearly 50,000 died in Messina. In 1771 the plague destroyed 50,000 lives in Moscow. In 1835 Cairo again was visited by the plague and one-fifth of the people died.

The bubonic plague, Dr. Wyman asserts, is the same old plague that for centuries past has made its appearance at intervals in various countries and which has been known in turn as the Levantine, Oriental, black plague and black death. Of late years, with the advance of civilization and the adoption of intelligent systems of hygiene sanitation, quarantine and medical treatment, the field of the plague has been narrowed year by year, until now it is almost exclusively confined to countries like India and China, where the conditions are always inviting for an epidemic.

Some Reasons Why...,

Scottish-Canadian Stock (Rob Roy Mines) is a good investment.

1—The Specially liability, (none beyond the amount originally subscribed for stock.)
2—The large area of rich mineral lands owned by the Company.
3—The abnormal richness of the ores of the district (ours assays over $100.00 to the ton.)
4—The enormous amount of ore we can show on the properties, and which we are now working to get at by tunneling.
5—The comparative ease of working and good transportation facilities.
6—The great improvement as work progresses.
7—The safe conservative management and administration of investors' money.
8—The likelihood of an early advance in price of shares.

The above is a combination hard to beat! It eliminates all undue risk and renders an investment infinitely safer than mining share investments usually are, and makes the outlook for large profits soon, very encouraging. Not much more stock will be available at Fifteen cents per share. Send or call for particulars.

OUR COUNTY PARLIAMENT

THE REGULAR JUNE SESSION OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

The Warden's Address—Important Matters to Come Before the Council—The Death of Trooper Hampton.

The June session of the County Council opened at the Council Chamber in the Court House yesterday afternoon. Mr. J. Forster, Warden, presided, and present were Messrs. Crowe, Fitzgerald, Eastland, Shaw, Hawthorne, Anderson, Buck, Pearce and Peck.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

The Warden then read his annual address as follows—

To the Members of the County Council of the County of Peterborough—

Gentlemen,—It affords me great pleasure to again meet you in this assembly for the transaction of our county business.

It is a source of thankfulness that the prospects of a bountiful harvest are evident from the rapid growth and quantity of the crops sown which if as fortunately ripened and saved will realize our hopes in this respect.

This year should mark a special era in the history of our country from the efforts it has displayed to cement the bonds of united empire by the voluntary aid of its sons to Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen and the Mother Country in overcoming and surpassing her enemies and rebellious subjects in South Africa, and we cannot let the opportunity pass without alluding to the bravery, pluck, skillfulness and endurance displayed by our boys so handsomely mentioned in the despatches from the field by the Commander in Chief of the British forces General Lord Roberts. And we sincerely regret the loss of so many of our brave countrymen who have fought and died for their Queen and country, and more particularly for Mr. Wm. Hampton, of Norwood, whose death in South Africa has recently been reported.

The advisability of an arbitration between the Town and County for the purpose of adjusting the amounts of expenditure in connection with the Administration of Justice, etc., having been suggested by the late Warden, Mr. Hawthorne, the County Council appointed Mr. Casement as arbitrator on their behalf whilst the Town was represented by Mr. Carnegie, and Dr. T. W. Poole, of Lindsay, was appointed third arbitrator. It is now some thirteen years since the last arbitration was held for this purpose. I am happy to say that the result on this occasion has been most satisfactory to this Council.

I am pleased to say that the spring freshets and ice have quietly passed away without any damage of moment to our bridges, the expenditures on which are but of a slight nature and will be referred to in the County Engineer's report.

A few days since I had a communication from the Trent Valley Navigation Company with respect to the navigation through the swing of the Mud Lake bridge, which was out of repair and blocked by a floating island. This I have instructed the County Engineer to see and have put to rights.

Tenders for the erection of the new Mud Lake bridge have been fully advertised for, and it is satisfactory to know that with the liberal aid granted for this purpose by the two governments, and the town something definite may now be hoped for towards its construction. The tenders were due on yesterday's date and will be laid before you for consideration.

The agreement with the Peterborough Waterworks Company for the supply of water used in the County buildings and Court House grounds was submitted by the Company to the Committee appointed by your Council for its consideration,, when it was discovered that sufficient area was not provided therein for the requirements of the Court House and grounds. I have therefore declined perfecting the contract until the Company have made the necessary alterations in the aforesaid contract, and the Clerk has notified the Water Company to that effect.

In accordance with a resolution of the Council I have entered into a contract with P. Alexander for the electric wiring of the Court House and offices and dwellings therein. The matter was carefully gone into and considered by the committee and the work is now being proceeded with.

JOS. FORSTER,
Warden.

The Warden also read a letter from Mr. W. H. Casement, the county's representative on the arbitration re the funds for the administration of justice, reporting the result of that arbitration, the official report of which has been sent to the County Clerk.

On motion of Mr. Pearce, seconded by Mr. Buck, the address was received and the communication placed on fyle.

THE LATE W. J. HAMPTON.

The following resolution was adopted by the Council.—

That this Council regrets to learn from a telegram from the Adjutant-General, that a cable message on the 15th inst., from South Africa, regrets to report W. J. Hampton, 2rd Dragoons Canadian Mounted Rifles, died at Naawpoort on the 12th June inst., of enteric fever. The deceased was the eldest son of Mr. William Hampton, who but recently moved from the village of Norwood to Pachey, N.W.T., to whom we desire to extend our sincere sympathy at the great and irreparable loss that he and his family have sustained by the sudden cutting short of the life of his son just entering man's estate, esteemed and respected by all who knew him and intendering our expressions of sorrow and condolence we desire to assure them that the name and memory of one of the sons of this country, whose courage and loyalty in volunteering for active servish, and assisting to establish the rights and privileges of Her Majesty's subjects in South Africa, which was denied by the government of that country, will ever remain as a monument in the hearts of the people of this country, and that a copy of this resolution be signed by the Warden and Clerk and forwarded to the bereaved family.

Mr. Pearce, in moving the resolution and Mr. Peck as seconder both referred in eloquent and feeling terms to the sad death of the young soldier who had given up his life for the Queen and Empire.

A SCHOOL MATTER.

A communication was read from ratepayers of the townships of Galway and Cavendish asking that the County do not allow the Council of those townships to abolish the school by-law of school section No. 6.

This was referred to the Committee and the Council adjourned to go into committee.

PARALYSIS AND COFFEE.

Symptoms Disappear when Drug is Abandoned.

"Tea and coffee were forbidden by my physician, for I had symptoms of paralysis, and it was plain that the coffee was the cause of the trouble. I began using Postum Food Coffee and am now a steady advertisement for Postum. The old symptoms of paralysis disappeared in a very brief time after I began the use of Postum and quit the use of coffee. Do not use my name publicly, if you please." ———Morrow, O. The above name can be given by the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

Coffee is such a direct poison to the nerve centres of many highly organized nerve centres of many highly organized dare, from stomach and bowel troubles, palpitation of the heart, kidney troubles, etc., etc., up to more intricate nervous troubles, such as paralysis. The way to keep well is to leave off coffee or any nerve destroyer of that sort, and use Postum Food Coffee, which is a direct rebuilder of the nerve centres. Sure and well defined improvements in health will follow this course, as can be proven by any person who will make the test.

The barbers of the town are considering the advisability of closing their shops on Monday afternoon during the summer months.

Our esteemed contemporary says that everybody should boil their drinking water before using it. This great family journal was always of the opinion that most of the people of Belleville never used water in any form.

Each infant robin, it is estimated, requires for its proper maintenance about fourteen inches of tender angle worm every day. As a robin family averages four, the mother is obliged to provide fifty-six inches of worm daily. People who have doubts of the value of birds as grub destroyers will please make a note of this.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. John Robinson, Town Clerk of Niagara Falls, Ont., is in town.

We were pleased to have a call from our old friend, Mr. Thomas Eastland, of Apsley, yesterday, who is down attending the County Council.

The Blame Where it Belongs.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am pleased to see that the Times has placed the blame where it belongs in connection with the law-suit which the town has just lost with the Grand Trunk. The Solicitor is not the one to blame, it is the council. How many law-suits has the town had during Mr. Edwards' term? Has it ever won a single case?

I understand there are more than our gentleman at the Council Board who aspires to a seat at the head of the council. If so all I can say, is, that he will have to show himself a man in regard to this matter as well as in regard to the office of Town Egineer before he will get my vote. I believe I also voice the sentiments of three-fourths of the citizens.

A WORKINGMAN.

Vote for the By-Law

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The people of the village will have an opportunity of saying yea or nay as to whether or not they want a substantial industry in Lakefield, and I venture to say a few words.

Everybody in Lakefield reads the Times, and at the outset let me say that I am pleased to see the paper taking a stand in favor of the works. Mr. Kilbourn, the chief promoter, is a gentleman who has ample means to carry out all he undertakes. Our citizens have inspected the works in which Mr. Kilbourn is interested at Owen Sound and they are loud in their praise of the way they are conducted.

The advent of new taxpayers in the village in connection with the works will more than make at the taxes which the by-law will call for.

It is plainly the duty of every citizen of the village to do everything in his power to carry the by-law.

Thanking you Mr. Editor, I am. &c.

Early Submission of the Empress Dowager is Said to be Expected Soon—Report That New Government Will be Set Up With Li Hung Chang as Leader.

CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Tom Coursey Charged With Stealing a Horse and Buggy.

Yesterday morning at the Court House before Judge Weller, Tommy Coursey, who has been languishing in goal for a week was tried on the charge of stealing a horse and buggy, the property of Mr. R. Leary from the Oxford House, on Wednesday last.

The prisoner was defended by Mr. A. Stratton and Mr. R. E. Wood looked after the interests of the town.. The evidence of several witnesses went to show that Coursey had been pretty full when he took the horse.

His honor stated that he could not see from the evidence how the young man could be declared guilty of theft when there was no intention on his part to commit a theft. He was also at a loss to know what punishment to inflict upon a young man going about the town in a drunken condition, and taking conveyances belonging to others. He however, would consider if the evidence would justify him in convicting him.. He would look into the matter and satisfy himself, for it would not do to allow young men to labor under the impression that they could do such acts with impunity. He would adjourn court until June 30th when he would dispose of the matter from the evidence before him.

A MYSTERY SOLVED.

It Happened to the Woman's Foot Found in a Bone-Yard.

When the Times stated that the foot, which was found in Mr. Stevens' bone heap had probably come from some medical dissecting room, it made a good guess. The mystery was solved by Acting Chief Reeves, of Lindsay, who obtained the desired clue on Saturday last. It appears that one of Lindsay's young medical students brought the foot with him from his college dissecting room in Toronto, in order to complete his scientific anatomic researches, and when he had mastered his problem, he unfeelingly cast the foot into the family ash pit.

The only reason Mr. Stevens and his men had for believing the foot came from Lindsay was its enormous size, which is said to be characteristic of the Lindsay people. In this, it appears, they were not mistaken.

CAPT. M'DONALD WOUNDED.

The Gallant Officer Badly Wounded in South Africa.

A cable message from General Hutton yesterday morning conveyed the first news of the wounding in action of gallant Capt. McDonald, which is reported in later despatches. Capt. McDonald is the cousin of Mrs. L. M. Hayes, of Peterborough, and was a well-known citizen and popular officer of Toronto. The despatch says the wound is a dangerous one in the abdomen received in action near Pretoria on June 12th, and his friends will be terribly anxious while awaiting further news.

Since writing the above Mr. Hayes has informed the Times that a cable has been announcing the bullet has been located and extracted and that Capt. McDonald is considered to be out of danger.

HAS KRUGER ESCAPED, LEAVING A SUBSTITUTE?

A Telegram From Cape Town Says He Has Really Escaped and is Now on the Ocean.

ROBERTS AND BOTHA ARRANGE FIVE DAYS TRUCE

Hutton's Mounted Infantry Capture Two Boer Guns—Rundle Has Hard Work to Prevent the Enemy From Breaking Through His Lines at Ficksburg.

London, June 21, 4.20 a.m.

The British have penetrated Transvaal territory as far as Machadodorp. Passengers who arrived at Lorenzo Marquez from the Transvaal assert that heavy artillery was engaged and that the Boers abandoned Machadodorp, retiring northward. President Kruger is still in Alkamaur.

Boer bulletins regarding General Dewet's operations along road communication assert that two convoys were secured and three hundred workmen with fifty military escort taken prisoners.

It is reported from Lorenzo Marques that a resident of Komatipoort has been arrested and shot by the Boers for complicity in the breakdown of the Malana bridge.

President Kruger's unstamped sovereigns have been offered for sale in Lorenzo Marquez at twenty shillings.

A member of the British House of Commons who has had an important connection with South Africa is telling a story of a telegram alleged to have been received from Cape Town which says that Mr. Kruger has really escaped and is already on the seas bound for Europe and that the person occupying executive is not Kruger but is a substitute.

Advices from Pretoria, dated June 17 say that an official warning has been issued to the affect that any further wrecking of communications will be followed by the demolishing of the farms on both sides.

The Pretoria correspondent of the Daily telegraph in a despatch dated Sunday says,—An informal truce for five days is in operation between Lord Roberts and Commandant-General Botha.

London, June 20.—The capture of Krugersdorp by a portion of General Hunter's column ought to awaken almost as pleasant feelings in British hearts as the avenging of Majuba or the flanking of Laing's Nek and Majuba. This town which is only twenty miles from Johannesberg, is one of considerable importance to the Boers and its fall illustrates once again the irony of history. To this place the Boers have for twenty years been wont to hold a national pilgrimage once a year in order to celebrate the victories gained over the British in the neighborhood of Majuba Hill during the war of 1881. Moreover, it was at Krugersdorp that Dr.. Jamieson and illfated band of raiders laid down their arms in January 1896. So that the capture of the place is somewhat significant and should have a strong bearing upon the burghers, who must now feel somewhat as an Arab would feel upon hearing that Mecca was in infidel hands.; iThe war appears to be going on with unabated vigor in the Orange River Colony and is being characterized by hard fighting and hairbreadth escapes. General Methuen who is now marching northward, routed a Boer force which opposed his entry into Hailbron, once a capital of President Steyn and a town which has changed hands with bewildering frequency since Roberts crossed the Vaal. General Rundle who is still farther to the north, is hard beset, and is having all he can do to prevent the Boers from breaking through the line which he has drawn across the State from Winburg to Ficksburg, and again invading the district of Bloemfontein. A force detached from the north, probably by General Buller appears to have placed the Boers around Ficksburg in such a trap that they are taking desperate measures to escape, the result of which remains to be seen. A welcome piece of news is contained in Lord Roberts' despatch stating that General Hutton's mounted infantry, including the second Canadian contingent, has captured two Boers guns west of Pretoria again points out the value of mounted infantry. Lord Kitchener has been placed in the undignified position of riding for his life to escape a party of Boer raiders, and judging from the report his escape was exceedingly narrow.

GOOD REPORTS FROM ROBERTS.

London, June 20.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts;

Pretoria, June 20.—Hunter's advance column occupied Krugersdorp without opposition, June 18.

Methuen who was escorting a large convoy to Heilbron, yesterday routed a force under Christian De Wet, who endeavored to prevent him from entering the little town. Methuen had only three casualties.

Baden-Powell left this city to-day on his return to Rusternburg. The country is quieting down in that direction.. This satisfactory state of affairs will be materially assisted by the capture between here and Rustenburg, June 19, of two guns by Huttons mounted infantry which includes the Canadians, from a body of the enemy under Commandant Duplessis. Railway and telegraphic communication with Cape Town is now completely restored.

All is quiet here and at Johannesburg.. The shops are open, and the market is daily becoming more crowded and business-like."

BOERS IN A TIGHT BOX.

Hemmed in, and Fearing Attack From North, They try to Break Through.

London, June 20.—The Boers, alleged to be hemmed in by Gen. Rundle, began shelling Ficksburg on June 19. It is said they apprehend that a force is marching from the north upon them, hence they will endeavor to break through southward.

NEARLY CAUGHT KITCHENER.

Was Asleep in the Repair Train When Enemy Opened Fire.

London, June 20.—According to a Cape Town despatch, Gen. Kitchener himself had a narrow escape from capture in the engagement at Leeuw Spruit on June 14. He was sleeping in the repair train when the latter was attacked and many of the engineers captured.

Gen. Kitchener's sleeping car was at Kopjes station, when the Boers, under Gen. De Wet, suddenly opened a rifle fire at 3 a.m. Kitchener managed to reach his horse and galloped to Rhenster, two miles distant. The Boers numbered 900 men, with three guns. They burnt the culvert, which had just been rebuilt, and derailed the train.

MALANA BRIDGE DESTROYED.

Boers Said to be Cut off From Communication with the Sea.

London, June 20.—A despatch from Lorenzo aMrquez says that the Malana bridge, which crosses Hector spruit, west of Koomatipoort, has been destroyed, interrupting railway connection between the Transvaal and this place. According to one report, dynamite was exploded beneath the bridge as a train was crossing it, and the engine driver was killed and several other persons were injured. Another report states that the bridge was damaged before the arrival of the train, under the weight of which it collapsed.

The authorship of the destruction is mysterious, it being variously ascribed to persons who had been expelled and who had returned to the Transvall, to accident, and to a patrol from Swaziland.

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the Times says,—Three escaped British prisoners are believed to have tampered with Malana bridge. A freight train pitched into the stream and two men were killed."

SIXTY BRITISH CAPTURED.

List of Casualties Show That More Engagements Have Taken Place.

London, June 20, 3.25 a.m.,—The casualties made public by the War Office, including a long list of missing, show British losses in engagements hitherto not reported. In an attack on a reconstruction train at Loeuspruit, on June 14 three were killed, five wounded and 60 captured. Loeuwspruit is forty miles north of Kroonstad. This was the day of the Zand River attack, eighty miles distant. Another list shows nine wounded and eleven missing in an action at Vredefort on June 7, no previous mention of which has been made.

SAW THROUGH THE HAZE.

Colonies Were More Keensighted Than the English Liberals.

London, June 20.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, addressing a meeting of the Women's Liberal Unionist Association yesterday afternoon, said the colonies had seen through the haze of the South African ante-bellum negotiations when Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman (the Liberal leader in the House of Commons), and others were mystified. Now that the war was concluding, he added, all were unanimous that whatever the final settlement might be, it must be final, and should not leave behind it the seeds of further mischief, and make a repetition of the trouble possible.

Referring to continental criticism, Mr. Chamberlain, after remarking that England always accepted this, went on to say,—"But there are quarters whence even a note of disapproval would be a matter of serious concern. I refer to our colonies and to the United States. I think we are happy in that we have their good opinion and approval. It is true this good opinion of the United States is not unmixed with other sentiments.

STEALING KRUGER'S GOLD.

London, June 20.—The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the Daily Express says,—"A German-American, well-known to the New York police, is alleged to have planned a desperate attempt to steal some of the bar gold from the trucks attached to President Kruger's travelling capital. He is said to have carried off some bars before he was discovered.

CHINESE FOUGHT WITH ADMIRABLE COURAGE.

They Made Five Attacks Upon Seymour's Force, Losing About Five Hundred Men.

FOREIGN LEGATIONS ARE REPORTED TO BE SAFE

Early Submission of the Empress Dowager Is Said to be Expected Soon—Report That New Government Will be Set Up With Li Hung Chang as Leader.

London, June 20.

A news agency despatch from Shanghai dated June 20, says,—"After an arderous march and frequent fighting with the Chinese, Vice-Admiral Seymour arrived at Pekin Sunday afternoon. On five occasions the Chinese attacked the column in great force. There were many mounted men among the Chinese, but most of the natives were badly armed. At times they fought aith admirable courage and bravery. The losses of the Chinese during the march are estimated at five hundred killed. The losses of the foreigners were trifling. The exact state of affairs inside Pekin is impossible to describe in view of the many conflicting reports, nothing having been received from the legations or foreigners there. Surprise is expressed at the fact that a large force of Indian troops has not been ordered here.

London, June 21, 3.05 a.m.

The reports of Admiral Seymour's arrival at Pekin and of the safety of the foreign legations, or iginating from Chinese sources and cabled to this city from Shanghai are still unverified. However, the Italian Consul at Shanghai has wired to the Italian Foreigh Minister Marquis Viscount Venosta that the legations are safe. The rebellion is spreading far and wide. There is an impression in diplomatic circles here and on the continent that the allies have not yet grappled with the situation effectually and that even fifty thousand troops would be powerless to do much to control four million square miles.

LI HUNG CHANG'S VISIT.

The Face that He is going to Pekin Causes Satisfaction.

Washington, June 20.—Mr Wu, the Chinese Minister here, hails with general satisfaction the report that comes from Canton that Li Hung Chang has been ordered to Pekin. He thinks it augurs well for the future and that his presence will exert a beneficial effect in the treatment of the Boxer situation. Mr. Wu lays stress on the fact that Li Hung Chang is an honored and trusted servant of the Empress Dowager, and a man belonging to the progressive element in his country. It was for his valuable work in years past in dealing with organizations like the Boxers that Li received some of the honors conferred upon him.

Nothing official has been received by the Minister from his government, which is maintaining complete silence in the present agiotation, nor has Mr. Wu made an attempt to communicate with the authorities in Pekin .

OVERTAKEN AND MURDERED.

Native Christians fight with Boxers but are Overpowered .

San Francisco, June 20.—Mrs. A. P. Lowrie, a Presbyterian missionary, who has been stationed at Pao-Ting-Fu for the last six years arrived here on the Doris. She reports that on the night of May 26 many native Christians, principally women and children, were murdered by the Boxers while fleeing from Pao-Ting-Fu toward Tien Tsin. This was about ten miles from Mrs. Lowrie's station, which was not disturbed.

The native Christians had been attacked on May 15 and had successfully repulsed the horde of murderers, but in trying to reach Tien Tsin the following night they were overtaken and murdered, The Boxers then returned to Pao-Ting and burned all the houses of their victims.

FRANCE'S DELICATE POSITION.

She must not Interfere with the Designs of Russia.

New York, June 20.—Several deputies, in interviews last night with the Paris correspondent f The Times, admitted that France's position in China was a delicate one. There was a general shrewd suspicion that France's ally Russia desired to profit, by the present condition of disorder, and also desired such state to continue as long as possible.. If France should help to end it she would be playing Great Britain's and opposing Russia's game..

An attache of the Chinese Legation here named Owed-Chin has stated that the resistance to foreign troops would collapse and that affairs would be arranged by the guardian to the heir presumptive taking the Empress Dowager's present place .

A NEW GOVERNMENT.

Chinese Consul Predicts That Li Hung Chang will Form one.

New York, uJne 20.—The Chinese Consul at Havana, according to the Havana correspondent of the World, says that the Empress Dowager of China is responsible for the present trouble. He predicts that a new Government will be set up under thel eadership of Li Hung Chang and hints that he himself is under orders to await telegraphic notification of these changes. He says that everything will be arranged to the satisfaction of the powers.

RUSSIAN WAS IN COMMAND.

Captain Dobrowolski Directed the Bombardment of Taku Forts.

St. Petersburg, June 20.—Vice-Admiral Alexeieff, telegraphing from Port Arthur reporting the capture of the Taku forts, says the bombarding fleet was commanded by the Russian Capt. Dobrowolski as senior officer present. The Russian losses were two lieutenants killed, one severely and one slightly wounded, and 16 men killed and 67 wounded. The gunboat Giljak 7was seriously damaged by a shell below the waterl ine and must be docked for repairs. The gunboat Bobr was undamaged.. Besides the above Admiral Alexejeff says the French warship Lion, the British gunboat Algerine and the German gunboat Iltis participated in the engagement .

SITUATION IS BRIGHTER .

Early Submission of the Empress is Said to be Expected.

London, June 20.—The new sfrom Shanghai today is regarded in official circles as distinctly cheering. After the grim reports current early this morning the despatch announcing the arrival of the relief expedition commanded by Admiral Seymour at Pekin and the safety of the Legations, which later was confirmed bi a despatch from Shanghai, published in the second edition of the London Times, announcing that Seymour's force arrived at the Chinese capital June 17, presages, it is hoped, a general brightening of the situation. No details have yet been received of the casualties or of the condition of affairs at Pekin, but, well-informed people express the opinion that the summoning of Li Hung Chang to the capital foreshadows the early submission of the Dowager Empress to the dictates of the powers.

THREE THOUSAND RUSSIANS.

They are at Taku Under Command of a Major-General.

London, June 20.—The British Admiralty has received a telegram from Rear-Admiral Bruce, dated Taku, June 18, via Che Fu, June 20. He says,—

"The Chinese Admiral was present with the allied fleet, his flag flying from a cruiser. At a meeting June 17 he agreed to anchor with the fleet, putting out his fires.

"No news from the Commander-in-Chief and the advance guard. A heavy fire was heard at Tien Tsin the night of Jne 17.

"Three thousand Russian troops commanded by a major-general are here.

"My communications with the allied authorities are most harmonious.

IMMENSE DAMAGE TO WIRES.

Difficulties of Telegraphic Communication are Great in China.

London, June 19.—It was announced today that the Chinese Government had notified the cable companies that it was unable to provide any longer the daily boat service hitherto run between Taku and Che Fu, whereby despatches were filed after the destruction of the overland route. It was further learned that it was quite likely that even Che Fu, which is over 100 miles from Taku, will not long be available for sending cables. The nearest point of communication with the outer world will then become Shanghai, 600 miles from the seat of operations. The reason for the probable isolation of Che Fu consists in the fact that it is only connected with the main line by loops. The junction is inland at Chin Ing, and Boxers are believed to be in that neighborhood. If they are successful their first step is sure to be the destruction of the line. All despatches now coming from Taku are taken to Che Fu in vessels of the powers, which may shortly have to go to Shanghai. This tedious method of communication may exist for time after the united forces reach Pekin. The first opening of communications between Taku and Pekin will undoubtedly be by means of military wires, which will be taxed to the utmost by the demands of the commanders of the warships. So complete is the destruction of the company's wires between Tien Tsin and Pekin that it is estimated that it will take many days to restore them, even after the united forces control that portion of the country. Hence all signs point to long lapses between direct news and the little that leaks out, except such official reports as the Governments choose to give out.

WILL M'INNES RESIGN ?

British Columbia's Lieutenant Governor is Said to Have Refused.

Victoria, June 20.—The Government at Ottawa, it is understood, has asked for the resignation of Lieutenant-Governo rMcInnes who has been given a limited time in which to comply with the request. If he does not comply, the goverment will doubtless take further action. Sir Henri Joly will probably be McInnes successor, and the appointment would be a popular one.

After unanimously condemning the Lieut.-Governor for his unconstitutional conduct, the Opposition convention yesterday declared that the poll tax on Chinese should be increased to $500 and should include Japanese.

The convention endorsed Mr. Dunsmuir as Premier but not until after his action in accepting office before the convention had selected a leader, and in calling in as Ministers members of the old Turner Cabinet, was roundly denounced. Messrs Eberts and Turner promised to resign, however, as soon as the machinery of their department was in working order, after which the Cabinet is to be reconstructed. Mr. McBride is to go in at once as Provincial Secretary, and Mr. Wells as Chief Commissioner of Lands and works with a ballot made between Mr Green of Kaslo and Mr. Prentice of Lillooet for the Portfolio of Mines.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 21, 1900

ENGLAND'S ATTITUDE IN THE EAST.

In her attitude toward the serious troubles in China, England is playing the shrewdest as well as the safest possible game. Having Hong Kong, which is on a thoroughly defended island at the entrance to Canton harbor, as a base of supplies, she is in a position to strike effectively, whenever the necessity shall arise, at the only trade marts of the Empire that she can hope to be allowed to acquire.

Beyond the protection of British lives and property, she has nothing in common with Russia in Northern China. All the other powers, save Russia, are circumstanced at Pekin and Tien-Tsin just as she is. They act in concert with England in behalf of their citizens. Even the United States will be forced to make a demonstration in force, on land or sea, if the life of a single American be sacrificed to the fury of the revolutionists.

Lord Salisbury evidently thinks the present storm will blow over. In any event, he is inclined to temporize. Perhaps he is informed that Japan will strike at the foe from the north, and in that way relieve the other powers of immediate anxiety. The merest novice in statecraft must see that Japan will have to fight Russia sooner or later. The only anxiety is to know whether the fierce little nation will act or wait until her enemy is fully ready for the combat. Every indication is that she will not delay the issue.

The moment that war breaks out, the scramble between France, England and Germany for Chinese territory will begin. As we pointed out a few days ago, France can gain nothing by an alliance with England, because her territory, already acquired, is contiguous to what England wants. Russia will be the natural coadjutor of France and a readjustment of alliances must occur.

Germany cannot permit the present conditions to continue. Her war lord has planned great trade schemes in China and Russian dominance will mar, if not destroy, them.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is clearly known what the Boxers in China are working for, but they are likely to get all that is coming to them.

Oom Paul's adaptation of the proverb "Trust in God, but keep your powder dry," is apparently "Trust to your heels and hang on to your money."

* * *

The open door in China which England insists on may eventually be used through which to throw the Mongolians out.

That the Boers are moving about so freely in the less mountainous country would indicate the British can't arrest them since they got away from the kopjes.

A Letter Joke.

When the Orangemen were celebrating the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne in Peterborough some years ago an enterprising proprietor of a restaurant not many blocks from the Times office hung out a large blackboard sign with the following announcement: "You Can't Beat Our 15-Cent Dinner." This sign proved to be a good drawing card until a young man of humorous turn of mind came along. The latter, seeing the sign, stopped and, after scrutinizing it closely, smiled one of those smiles which boded no one any good. He waited until none of the employers were watching, and taking out his handkerchief he erased the letter "b" from the word 'beat.' The transformation was complete, and it was not until a crowd had collected that the proprietor of the restaurant discovered why there was a larger crowd outside than inside. Had that restaurant keeper been wise he would have got his sign printed at the Times job rooms, when no power on earth could have rubbed any part of it out.

The "Rebel Spy."

DEATH OF BELLE BOYD, NOTED CIVIL WAR CHARACTER.

Who Was Once Exiled by President Lincoln and Twice Sentenced to be Shot—Made One Man a Traitor to His Country.

The career of Belle Boyd, known as the "rebel spy" and who died in Wisconsin during the week was a thrilling one. She had just left school when the civil war began. She had a lover in the Confederate service without whom she thought she could not live, but she married another before the war was over and made him a traitor, was divorced from a second husband 20 years after her first marriage, and within a year after that married a third. She saw life in camps and military prisons, was a prisoner on shipboard, was banished from the country, and after returning to it lived in various States in the east, west and south; was in an insane asylum for a time, and afterwards lectured throughout the country, often under auspices of Grand Army posts. She was about five feet five inches tall, with bright eyes and aquiline nose, and when she was young her hair was described as of "a reddish golden hue."

Belle Boyd's Career.

Belle Boyd was born in Martinsburg, W. Va., in 1843. Not quite 18 years old at the opening of the war, she entered with all her heart and spirit into the service of the Confederate cause. She was a resident within the Federal lines and knew many of the officers, and she used her acquaintance and her blandishments to gain from them information which would be of service to her friends in the southern armies, to which she conveyed it at every opportunity. Many of her messages she sent to Gen. J. E. B. Stuart. At favorable opportunities she abstracted the side arms of her Federal acquaintances when they left them carelessly about, and these she forwarded to the enemy. She was suspected after a time, and then one of her notes fell into the Federal hands and she was arrested, reprimanded and threatened, but Gen. Shields set her at liberty. Gen. Shields, she said afterward, was completely off his guard and introduced her to officers of his staff.

Twice Sentenced to be Shot.

The night before Shields set out after Stonewall Jackson he announced that he was going to whip Jackson and a council of war was held in what had been the drawing-room of Belle's aunt's house. Through the floor of a closet off a bedroom above the drawing-room a hole had been bored. Belle crept up to the closet and applied her ear to it when the council assembled. She was able to be of such service to Jackson that he sent her a letter after his defeat of Gen. Banks, dated May 23, 1862, thanking her for her "immense services." On Jackson's advice she removed to Winchester, and Jackson made her an aide on his staff with the rank of captain, after which she rode a horse and associated with the staff officers when Lee and Longstreet inspected the forces and when the review of the troops took place before Lord Hartingdon and Col. Leslie. During her career as a spy she was twice sentenced to be shot and was for 11 months a prisoner in the Carroll and Capitol prisons at Washington.

Captured and Exiled.

Belle Boyd's career in the military service ended in 1864, when she was captured with despatches on a blockade runner, which was ordered to Boston. The lieutenant and Belle were thrown together a good deal and left largely to themselves. He quoted from Shakespeare and Bryon to her, she tells in her autobiography. When he began to talk to her of tender subjects she thought he might become useful to her cause, so when he asked her to become his wife she told him that it might involve serious consequences. He was ready to face them apparently, and renewed his proposal when the ship was in Lond Island sound on the way to Boston. So she told him she would be his wife.

When they were coming to anchor off the Boston navy yard Lieut. Harding went forward to give some orders and his fiance invited the two Yankee pilots who were aboard to come down to the cabin and have some wine, which they did. The captain of the blockade runner, whom she called in her book Capt. Henry, and another man were of the party. Harding had called a small boat alongside preparatory to going ashore and this boat had dropped under the quarter. At a moment she thought suitable the girl nodded to Capt. Henry, whom she had planned to escape. He left the wine party and stepping into the shore boat which was soon handy he was soon on his way to Boston. When later Harding came aft he asked Belle where his papers were and she told him that probably they were in the lower cabin, where he had been dressing, and he went after them, while the small boat got farther away.

Her After Career.

For allowing the escape of his prisoner Harding was arrested and tried, but he was not convicted. Bell Boyd was banished by Lincoln and went to England. Harding deserted shortly afterward and went to England, where he and the spy were married on August 25, 1864. Harding returned to the United States and became a Confederate spy. His wife became an actress in England and returned to America after the proclamation of general amnesty. She played under the name of Nina Benjamin in different cities and at one time lobbied successfully to get a bill through the "black and tan" Legislature of Texas.

In 1869 she married Col. John Swainston Hammond, quit the stage, went, in ill health, with her husband to California and was obliged to enter an insane asylum, where a son was born and where he died. In 1884 she obtained a divorce from Hammond and soon afterward married Nat R. High, an actor, with whom she went on the road giving dramatic recitations in costume.

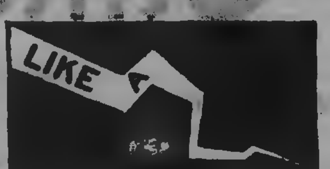
ON TRIAL FOR PERJURY.

New York, June 18—Barbara Aub was to-day placed on trial before Justice Fursman charged with perjury. In 1896 the woman charged Walter Langerman with criminal assault, and after his conviction after a very sensational she confessed to Recorder Goff that she had perjured herself. Langerman was discharged. For some time past Miss Aub has been released on bail.



Like a flash of lightning, sudden and startling, disease strikes down many a man. Yet there have been warnings upon warnings, unheeded. Food has lain like a heavy weight in the stomach after eating. There have been belchings, bitter risings in the mouth, nervousness, sleeplessness and growing irritability. Instead of listening to these warnings, recourse has been had to some of the nerve numbing palliatives that cover but never cure disease. Many serious diseases begin in a diseased condition of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. For such diseases there is one medicine which rarely fails to effect a complete cure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures ninety-eight per cent. of all who give it a fair and faithful trial. It is a temperance medicine and contains no alcohol.

"I was afflicted with what the doctors called nervous indigestion," writes Mr. Thos. G. Lever, of Lever, Richland Co., S. C. "I took medicine from my family physician to no avail. In looking over one of Dr. Pierce's Memorandum Books, I found my case described exactly. I wrote to you and made a statement. You sent me a descriptive list of questions, also some hygienic rules. I carried those out as best I could, but thought myself incurable as I suffered so much with pain under my ribs and an empty feeling in my stomach. At night would have cold or hot feet and hands, alternately. I was getting nervous and suffered a great deal mentally, thinking that death would soon claim me. Always expected something unusual to take place; was irritable and impatient, and greatly reduced in flesh. I could scarcely eat any thing that would not produce a bad feeling in my stomach. After some hesitation, owing to my prejudices against patent medicines, I decided to try a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pellets.' After taking several bottles of each, found I was improving. I continued for six months or more, off and on until I was cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a positive cure for constipation.

HIAWATHA.

Hiawatha has a school question which it has found difficult to dispose of. A certain portion of the residents have been agitating for the erection of a new school house, whilst many contend that the present building is sufficiently good and the site most desirable. As a result many people from at and around the lake have visited Hiawatha of late and viewed the present school building. They nearly all express themselves in favor of occupying the present structure, which commands an excellent view of Rice Lake.

Mr. Johnston Paudash has decided to go soldiering, and will be found pounding sod with the 40th Battalion in Kingston this week.

The fishing at Hiawatha is splendid and a number of excellent catches are reported.

There is a great quantity of small fish lying on the shores dead. The reason for this is not known.

The Endeavour Society is flourishing in excellent style under the guidance of the presidency of Mr. Johnston Paudash.

The Sunday school excursion will take place in August to Hastings.

Short Story of the Day

BILLY CRUDDEN'S OPPORTUNITY.

The quiet of the Autumn night was very agreeable to Billy Crudden. The black shadow that the white moon sent dancing along before him appeared almost friendly and companionable, as if it were a part of him. He stalked through the village street with a consciousness that in all the world there were but two souls—his own and that of one other. He expected to see the other very soon.

The Autumn evenings in Moultrie village were always quiet. In the winter there were the choir meetings on Saturday nights; and a donation party at the Baptist minister's occasionally; and in the early summer an ice cream party at Maw Gifford's house was as regular as the Fourth of July, which Moultie celebrated in a modest way. In the autumn the men folk were tired when night came, for during the working hours of the day there was the cider to make, and the apples to store away, and the corn to put in the bins, and the cistern to fix, and the wood to split, and the barns to roof, and the colts to be shod, and the loose bricks to be fastened on the chimneys, and there seemed to be no end of odd jobs; and during the long winter the days were short and the snow was deep. So the men went to bed soon after supper, and so did the women, for some of them had a good many cows to milk early in the morning, and some others were economical with the candles and the oil; for they were frugal folk and wasted nothing save the years as they slipped away.

There was a light in the red tavern as Billy Crudden passed, and through the open door he saw a couple of neighbors talking with the landlord over the bar, but he glanced at them in a disinterested way, and jogged on down the hill toward the tannery—with his shadow dancing merrily before him. He was tall, rugged youth, with the sharp features of the Pensylvania Dutch in his face. His hands were large, like his feet, and his fingers were blunt like his speech, and his clothes were badly cut like his hair. He was unpolished, and unfashioned, even course and rude at times, but through his gentle eyes—those little windows of the soul—one could see the pathetic sweetness of the real man almost the throbbing of his big heart.

There was a small white house, with green shutters, on the other side of the village, for Moultrie was built upon a hill, with a valley all around it; and when Billy Crudden left the white house, where he and his mother lived, he had to climb the hill to reach the red tavern, and then go down another hill toward the tannery, whither he was bound on this quiet autumn evening. He crossed the old wooden bridge, under which ran a gurgling creek on its way to the saw mill, and walked on with a livelier step. As he reached a point in the road opposite the tannery he gave a long whistle—a low crooning note followed by a sharp shrill one—not unlike the cry of Bob White.

"Whirst-whirst," came a faint whistling murmur from the meadow beyond the tannery, which caused the young the black shadow in front of him danced up and down and sideways; then it disappeared as he leaped the meadow fence with a bound, only to come back man's pulse to beat more rapidly, and again, like a long, thin skeleton, as he crossed the meadow.

Over in the field a red wagon box, rather the worse for the weather it had seen, lay bottom upward under an apple tree—a poor, infirm, old apple tree, a lonely remnant of other days, that gave forth no fruit and held on to life in its old age as it it were afraid to die.

On the wagon box a girl sat in the moonlight. She was not a pretty girl and she was barefooted and bareheaded. Her brown hair reached to her waist, and some of it hung over her forehead like a veil, and got in her eyes and annoyed her, and forced her to form a habit of tossing her head saucily, causing people to accuse her of turning up her nose at them, but people were mistaken and thus Jennie Moul a misjudged and a very much wronged young woman. She had a pug nose, and she found it quite impossible to turn it up even had she wanted to, and then she had no desires that way. Jennie was too sensible a girl, too matter of fact and commonplace to turn up her nose at anyone or anything.

Though Jennie Moul was not a pretty girl as one measures beauty, she was always charming to those who knew her intimately and even to some of those who knew her slightly. It all depended how well one knew her. Her eyes were remarkably large eyes, and they were brown, like her hands; and her cheeks were red like the gown she wore, and her nose was stubbed like the big toe of her right foot; for when Jennie came across the meadow from her pap's house above on the hillside she had stumbled on some roots and had stubbed her toe on a jagged stone that struck its ugly peak out of the short grass, like the mast of a sunken wreck.

When Billy Crudden approached the apple tree he saw Junnie holding her right foot across her knee, and saw also that she was tenderly nursing the injured toe in the palm of her hand.

"Oh, what's the matter with yer foot?" he cried, with much solicitude, and threw his hat at the base of the tree. Then he dropped his rugged frame on the wagon box by her side, and his broad brown hand, moving like a piece of mechanism, pushed away her hand from the injured toe, and he looked at the hurt with the dignity of surgeon.

"I've stubbed ut!" she replied, looking up into his strong face, and smiling rather foolishly. "I was 'fraid I'd be a liddle late, so I run frew the medda, and it was somethink I cuddent see thet I run against."

Billy patted her on the shoulder with the flat of his hand in a gentle soothing way.

"I'll fix ut in er minut," he whispered, softly, and jumping up from the box, ran a few steps away and plucked a handful of peppermint from the long grass by the fence, and come running back again with some of the mint in his mouth, chewing away unnaturally as a cow chews her cud in the early morning. Then he tenderly applied the poultice he had made to the injured toe, and taking his red cotton handkerchief he bound the foot carefully, ad Jennie Moul looked very happy, still more happy after Billy Crudden had kissed her cheek, and taking her hand in his sat down on the ole wagon box by her side.

They sat there in the moonlight whispering words of tenderness, while up from the willows along the creek came the soft cooing of a pair of turtle doves, teaching this boy and girl their first lessons in the universal language of love. As Billy Crudden talked and whispered he wanted very much to tell her how he loved her. Mentally he was fighting a wondrous battle. He wanted to say to her "I love ye, Jennie Moul. Oh, I do love ye, jest a pile—I do!" and he waited and waited and waited for a chance to speak these simple words to her. He could talk of the cows in the pasture, the fishes in the brook, the dove in the willows, the bats in the tannery, the sheep in the meadow, the twinkling lights in the Red Tavern, all that came within the range of their vision as their eyes swept the moonlit horizon, all that fell upon their ears in the deep quiet of the autumn night, and when all was said, words failed him, and he still waited—in silence, holding her little hands in his, and unconsciously pressing his lips to her red brown cheek.

The long, shrill cry of a woman's voice startled them, and Jennie arose in a tremble. It was 10 o'clock, and her mother was calling. He made a final effort to speak and failed, and then he kissed her good-night, and watched her sturdy little form limping up the hill to her pap's house.

Billy sat there on the wagon box a long time, a strange weird figure in the moonlight, and then with a heavy sigh he started homeward, past the tannery and over the wooden bridge, up the hill by the Red Tavern, and through the deserted village street to the small white house with green shutters.

Before he could see the brown haired girl again she was gone away, over to the Cross Roads, to take care of her aunt's baby that was very sick. Then early in the winter Billy's mother died suddenly, and after that he was sent for by his uncle who lived many miles to the west of Moultrie village, at the county seat, a new and larger world for Billy Crudden, for they had a real bank there, and a newspaper and a grist mill.

The next summer he returned to the little village on the hill, but Jennie Moul had married and gone far away, never to come back again, and for many long years Billy Crudden lived on the sweet memory of that autumn night, and its lost opportunity.

A COMING ROYAL WEDDING.

Princess Victoria of Wales and Prince George of Greece Are Engaged.

Princess Victoria of Wales and Prince George of Greece, who recently became engaged, have been sweethearts for a long time. They are cousins, Prince George's father, King George I of the Hellenes, being a brother of the Princess of Wales.

Prince George was born June 24, 1869, two years after the marriage of his father with Queen Olga, eldest daughter of the Grand Duke Constantine of Russia. In all respects he is a most admirable young man. Almost a giant in stature—he is four inches above six feet—he is strong in proportion to his size and is a tremendous athelete. Always the most popular prince among the Greeks, George was almost a public idol during the late war with Turkey, when he was given command of the Grecian fleet.

Few royal soldiers in Europe are more devoted to their profession than is Prince George. He is never so well satisfied as when he can feel the deck of his vessel under his foot and watch the blue waves dancing around him. His personal courage is a proverb in Athens. It was he who saved the life of the present Czar—his cousin—when the heir to the Russian throne was traveling through Japan. The Greek athelete, at risk of serious injury, thrust aside the knife of the assassin who sought the life of the future Russian ruler. Prince George is a handsome, dashing fellow of pure blonde type.

Princess Victoria is one year older than her affianced. She is the third child of the Prince of Wales and was born July 6, 1868. She is perhaps the prettiest of the young women of England's royal family, and certainly one of the best tempered. She has been singularly free from gossip associating her name in a matrimonial way with those of European princes.

This singularity is explained, in a way, by the pretty story of love and romance in the life of the beautiful princess. It is said that John Baring, the present Lord Ravelstoke, a childhood friend of Victoria, loved the pretty girl and was loved again. But in this case love could not laugh to scorn the high rank of royalty, and poor John Baring "hung his harp on a willow tree" and was off to America to hunt bears in the Rockies. In spite of the fact that the gazettes several times asserted the probability of a union between Ravelstoke and Victoria there has never been any hope for the lowlyborn suitor of royalty.

WAR FUNDS OF NATIONS.

Immense Sums Kept in Secret Places and Strongly Guarded.

While we in this country are so placed as to know where every penny voted for war purposes comes from, says an English writer, we stand almost alone amongst the great nations of the world in this particular, for some of the mightiest people have to keep not only hidden funds already for a possible war, but a considerable portion of this is laid in hard cash.

It is estimated by the cooler-headed section of financiers that in Europe alone, and chiefly distributed between Germany, Austria, Russia and France, a sum of quite $2,000,000,000 is always lying to hand in reserve in this way, most of it being actually contained in "war chests."

Spandau, a small place within easy reach of Berlin, is where Germany keeps her war chest, and it is pretty openly declared in regard to it that it is in amount kept about to the level of the "compensation" that Germany obtained from France in cash, $1,000,000,000. A species of fort, hedged round with complicated fortifications in its turn, built since the war of 1870 with steel, stone and cement, forms Spandau's strong room, and every man of the extensive guard holding it is an ex-non-commissioned officer of the army, who is sworn a solemn ceremony to secrecy as to even the nature of his duties, never to speak of the arrangements of the fort.

The governor of the fort is always a general officer and is appointed for life, but even he according to German officers, has never seen the treasure.

The Emperor and the imperial chancellor alone hold the full secret. It is impossible without instant arrest for any man, by day or night, to even approach within a considerable distance of the fort at Spandau.

Much more is known of the actual Russian strong box itself, though it is kept in the mystery and gloom of the fortress of Kronstadt. This vault is one of the largest in the world; it does not rest on solid rock, but on piers of steel, and sentries command every part of it's exterior, sides, bottom and top.

All the custodians are sworn to remain at their posts during the term of their lives, and they neither know or are known by, even by sight, the other inhabitants of the huge fortress.

Only three men in the world know how to move the doors, one being the American designer and the other the Czar, while the third is the life treasurer, especially appointed, and who has never left the confines of Kronstadt since his appointment.

Some Reasons Why...

Scottish-Canadian Stock (Rob Roy Mines) is a good investment.

1—The Specially liability, (none beyond the amount originally subscribed for stock.)
2—The large area of rich mineral lands owned by the Company.
3—The abnormal richness of the ores of the district (ours assays over $100.00 to the ton.)
4—The enormous amount of ore we can show on the properties, and which we are now working to get at by tunneling.
5—The comparative ease of working and good transportation facilities.
6—The great improvement as work progresses.
7—The safe conservative management and administration of investors' money.
8—The likelihood of an early advance in price of shares.

The above is a combination hard to beat! It eliminates all undue risk and renders an investment infinitely safer than mining share investments usually are, and makes the outlook for large profits soon, very encouraging. Not much more stock will be available at Fifteen cents per share. Send or call for particulars.

Mr. Craig has leased commodious sample rooms for travellers who patronize his house, in the centre of the village.

Their Hands Crushed

Two C.P.R. railway employees named John Foster and Henry Boice, had their hands badly crushed Tuesday morning, when handling rails near Havelock. The C.P.R., with its usual promptness, had a special made up and sent the men on to Peterborough immediately, in order that their wounds might be dressed by Dr. Grey, C.P.R. surgeon.

The Canoe Parade.

The first illuminated canoe parade that has taken place in years, came off last night on the Little Lake. There were quite a number of canoes decorated with Chinese lanterns. A procession was formed, which presented a very pretty spectacle. Commodore R. M. Ray was in command of the fleet. A good many citizens watched the parade from points around the lake.

THE ONTAIRO BANK.

Annual Meeting of the Shareholders—A Very Successful Year

We congratulate the management of the Ontario Bank on the result of the year's operations, as shown by the annual statement which appears elsewhere. The profits for the year just closed amounted to $125,876, which, with the amount brought forward from the profit and loss account last year, made the total profits on hand at the close of the year $166,237. Two half-yearly 2 1-2 per cent. dividends were paid. These amounting to $50,000, the sum of $90,000 was added to the rest fund, $5,000 was granted to the officers' guarantee fund of the bank, $2,550 was paid in taxes, $1,000 contributed to the Patriotic Fund and the balance of profits, amounting to $17,687, was carried forward. The bank has notes in circulation to the amount of $805,101, deposits to the amount of $1,336,603 not bearing interest and deposits to the amount of $5,717,527 bearing interest. As compared with last year, these figures are very gratifying, the deposits being about a million in excess of one year ago.

The by-law increasing the capital from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, was adopted by unanimous vote at the meeting of shareholders.

Since Mr. McGill became General Manager the bank has progressed; it has added largely to its rest account; it earns good dividends; it increases its business by leaps and bounds. The Ontario Bank stands for progress and strength.

The local branch, under the management of Mr. W. D. Parker, has had a splendid record. It is eminently the people's bank, for it has the patronage of the people of town and country alike, who have long come to regard it as a most worthy institution.

Told by Justice Brewer.

Justice Brewer the other day told a story of an Indian Justice of the Peace who owned a farm. One line of his fence formed the boundary of the States of Indiana and Ohio. Like others in rural districts who hold that office, he had an abnormal appreciation of the responsibility of the office, and never lost an opportunity to exercise his prerogative of demanding that the peace be preserved.

One day his son and his hired man got to fighting on a stretch of the farm near the boundary of the fence, and the Justice of the Peace rushed out and mounted the fence. Then, with head cocked high and the air of one who has but to command, he shouted,—"In the name of the State of Indiana I demand the preservation of the peace! Just then the fence gave way under his weight, and as he went down with the fence toppling over to the Ohio side, he shouted to his son,—"Give him the mischief, Jim, I've lost my jurisdiction."—Lewiston Evening Journal.

Hit the Nail on the Head.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Times hit the nail square on the head yesterday morning when it referred to the crookedness which the political parties are guilty off. It all comes of imbibing Uncle Sam's methods. Let there be a new party organized with principles of purity and whose leaders are men above reproach.

The Half-Holiday Question.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—In a late issue I notice a communication advocating a half holiday weekly during July and August. I am glad to know, sir, that some of the merchants are seeking the welfare of their employers, and I feel sure that the buying public would appreciate such an action of the employers on behalf of their salespeople. No one need be inconvenienced by this arrangemennt If the merchants act in unity, the public will know of the closing, and do their shopping before or after. I sincerely hope that none of the merchants will hamper the proposal by refusing to agree.

PROVINCIAL INSPECTOR.

Mr. Michael O'Brien of Town Appointed Inspector of Separate Schools.

Mr. Michael O'Brien, commercial master in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, has been appointed by the Ontario Government Inspector of Separate Schools for the Province of Ontario. The appointment is regarded as an excellent one, and a subject of two-fold congratulation—to the very important educational interests concerned, that an inspector so well fitted to promote them has been chosen, and to Mr. O'Brien, that his special qualifications for the position have been practically recognized. He is well qualified for that position for several reasons. His most prominent qualification lies in the fact that he has had twenty-four years of successful experience in the practical work of teaching, and in all grades. He has taught ing, and in all grades. He has taguht five years in the Public schools, for eleven years he was principal of the Separate schools of Lindsay and Peterborough, and the last eight years of his work have been most acceptable and efficient as commercial master in Peterborough Collegiate Institute. His teaching experience has been sufficiently varied and extended to admirably fit him in this respect for appraising the value of another's teaching, and where necessary, to give it proper direction. His literary qualifications are ample; he has held all grades of public school teachers' certificates, and is an undergraduate of Queen's University. His range of reading has been by no means confined to the technical requirements of his profession. He is a diligent student and has made a life study of English and history. Mr. O'Brien is of robust constitution and physique, and in the prime of life.

An Exciting Runaway.

An exciting runaway occurred about six o'clock yesterday evening. Through carelessness of the owner, a horse, which was attached to a top buggy, got loose from the yard of O'Shea's hotel and raced madly along Hunter street toward George street. A lady with a baby carriage, and a number of children who were crossing the road, narrowly escaped the frightened animal. It attempted to turn up George street but owing to its great rapidity it was unable to keep the road and ran on to the sidewalk. The moment it got on the pavement it lost its feet, and following on its side slid about twenty feet and but for a post which caught the wheel of the buggy and checked its speed, it might have gone through the plate glass of the adjacent store The horse was apparently none the worse for its little spurt, but the buggy was minus the top, and the wheel, which came in contact with the telegraph pole was shattered.

Lindsay Street Lighting.

At a meeting of the Town Council of Lindsay, held on Wednesday, it was decided to let the contract for lighting the streets of the town to the Lindsay company if Mr. Culverwell's pany is not prepared to give some satisfactory undertaking as to going on with work at once. A public meeting is to be held in Lindsay to discuss the matter, the object evidently be being to let the Council out of the deal with Mr. Culverwell.

GEN. BULLER CONTINUES ADVANCING NORTHWARD

Roberts Adopts the Transvaal Mining Laws for Military Administration.

BRITISH HORSE ARTILLERY NEARLY CAPTURED.

They Were Only Rescued by a Bold Charge of the Lancers in Which the Earl of Airlie Lost His Life—How Prisoners Spend the Time at St. Helena.

London, June 22, 4 a.m. General Buller is pressing his advance On Wednesday he followed the Johannesburg railway to Paardee Kop, 31 miles from Standerton, about 200 Boers, singly or in small parties, have surrendered.

Lord Roberts has adopted the Transvaal mining regulations for military administration.

The Colonial Office publishes a notification by the military Government at Johannesburg of the stoppage of a check for forty thousand pounds, drawn for the French bank in South Africa, upon the National Bank of the South African Republic and warning all persons against dealing in the check, as the funds of the National Bank are the property of Her Majesty's Government.

London, June 21.—The report that the British have reached Machadodorp, 120 miles east of Pretoria, and about 60 southwest of Lydenburg, is clearly an erroneous one. According to his own despatch Lord Roberts was at Pretoria yesterday, and it would be rediculous to suppose that the Commander-in-Chief would be 120 miles in the rear of his force while it was engaged in what was reported to be a serious engagement.

General Buller appears to have almost come to a standstill in the neighborhood of Volksrust. His only change of position since the occupation of that place has been to march ten miles to the north and slightly west and take up ground near the Sand Spruit Station. It is exceedingly likely that his movement is directed against the raiders south of the Vaal, under Dewet, who have been creating such havoc upon Lord Roberts' line of communications. The position now occupied by General Buller commands the road leading from Vrede, one of the Boer centres, and not long ago the residence of President Steyn, to Standerton, in the Transvaal, and other northern points still occupied by the Boers. So that one of the principal Boer lines of retreat and communication has been occupied. Moreover, it is certain that Heidelberg, which commands another of the main roads from the Orange River Colony to the Transvaal has been taken possession of by a force sent from Pretoria and is connected with General Buller by a chain of patrols. The Boers south of the Vaal are, therefore, cut off from their brethren in the Transvaal, and when the former are gradually driven north, as they undoubtedly will be by the operations of Methuen, Rundle, Brabant and others, there is bound to come a time when they will either have to fight their way through the cordon formed by the two first-mentioned forces or be captured.

PRISONERS AT ST. HELENA.

How Boers Pass Their Time at Their Island Prison.—A Motley Crowd.

Deadwood Camp, St. Helena, May 11.—This camp is on a plateau, from which the sea is visible on each side of the island, and is one of the healthiest places imaginable, though during the approaching winter there will be plenty of rain. On their way to the island the Boers talked of the sea as "the great plain," and pointed out to one another the "road" they should ride to America or England. Now they spend most of the day smoking, cooking their food, attending to the fires and washing their clothes, which they hang on the barbed wire. Only half of the camp is occupied by tents, the rest is used for cricket, football, and general recreation. The prisoners include men of all nations, and form a curious study. There are some Kaffir boys among them, who were taken with the wagons, and these are utilized for doing the rougher work of the camp.

BULLER AT SAND SPRUIT.

Many Boers Meet Him and Surrender Their Arms.

Volksrust, June 21.—Gen. Buller has arrived at Sand Spruit Station, and camped two miles further on western side of the railway. Many Boers met Gen. Buller on the road, and surrendered their arms and horses.

EFFECT OF BULLER'S MOVEMENT.

It May Cut off the Boers North and South of the Vaal.

London, June 21, 2.10 p.m.—It is hoped in London that General Buller's advance westward will hasten the conclusion of hostilities by cutting off all communications between President Steyn's and General Dewet's forces in the Orange River Colony and General Botha's burghers in the Transvaal, and completing the combined movement to surround Steyn and Dewet, at which Lord Roberts hinted in a recent despatch.

Despatches from Lorenzo Marquez reiterate the statements that Secretary of State Reitz sailed for Europe recently on a Dutch warship.

ARTILLERY NEARLY CAPTURED.

British Guns Had a Narrow Escape in the Fight Near Pretoria.

London, June 21.—Correspondents' reports of the fighting on June 11, 12 and 13, east of Pretoria, are now arriving. They show that the Boers fought with great vigor and pertinacity. The British horse artillery were at one time in considerable danger of capture. They were rescued by a charge of the Lancers, in which the Earl of Airlie was killed. The Lancers, on this occasion, killed 22 of the burghers. The immense area covered by the operations, and General Botha's handling of his force which is said to consist mainly of foreigners and Cape rebels, prevented a junction of the British on the left with the mounted infantry on the right, and this allowed the Boers to retreat. The correspondents claim that at least 200 Boers were killed. Forty bodies were counted at Pienaar's Poort, the result of the shelling of the naval contingent.

Gen. Botha's escape, according to the Standard's correspondent, is a great disappointment. It had been hoped to end the war by one staggering blow.

According to a despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Lorenzo Marquez, dated June 17, an informal five days' armistice was then in operation, but at the expiration of the current week, Gen. Roberts is going to take vigorous action.

The same despatch says that the historic ground at Bronkhorst spruit was the scene of a gallant feat by the West Australians, who, pursuing the retreating Boers, stampeded them and killed several by their rifle fire.

CAPE PARLIAMENT CONVENES.

London, June 22.—Parliament was opened to-day in Cape Colony.

DECORATED THE GRAVES.

The Local Oddfellows Place Flowers on the Resting Places of Departed Brethren—Large Number of Townspeople Witness the Pretty Ceremony in the Little Lake Cemetery Yesterday.

Hundreds of citizens took advantage of the beautiful weather yesterday afternoon and the half-holiday proclamation, and turned out to witness the beautiful and impressive ceremony of decorating the graves of Oddfellows by their surviving members of the order. A large number of citizens also took advantage of the occasion to lay floral tributes on graves of loved ones who have passed before them into the great unknown.

The members of Peterboro and Otonabee Lodges assembled at two o'clock at Central Park, and marshalled by J. W. Miller, N. G., marched to the cemetery, headed by the 57th band. All members marching carried bouquets and on reaching the cemetery they were divided into four parties, each of which visited an alloted number of graves, and after placing flowers thereon performed the short but impressive ceremony used on such occasions by the Oddfellows.

THEY WOULD ANNEX US.

The Philanthrophic Aims of the National Continental Union League of New York—Want Extension of United States from Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic.

New York, June 20.—The National Continental Union League, whose object is the peaceful annexation of Canada to the United States, will have an election of officers at the Astor House on Thursday. More than seven years ago the league formulated this declaration of principles, which were signed by many prominent Americans—

"We, the undersigned, desire that all peaceful and honorable means should be used to consummate the political union of the United States and Canada.

"In our opinion, the time has come when it is desirable that Europe should cease to direct or control the political or domestic affairs of any portion of this continent; and we believe that such cessation will tend to unite all English-speaking communities throughout the world in one common effect to develop, promote, extend, and defend constitutional government, and will be for the best interests of humanity.

"We earnestly desire to see the two great English-speaking families who now occupy this continent united under one flag upon terms generous, just and honorable to both of the contracting parties.

"We firmly believe that the extension of the boundaries of the United States from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic sea, and from Newfoundland to Vancouver, will not only secure the rapid development of the practically unlimited natural resources of the whole continent, but likewise promote the happiness and best interests of all the people, materially lessen the per capita cost of government and defence, and be preservative of the peace of both North and South America, and of the world.

"We therefore unite in organizing 'The National Continental Union League,' having for its object the promotion of continental union by all lawful, peaceful and honorable means.

It is proposed to have a branch of the league organized in each State of the United States and in every province of the Dominion of Canada. It is also proposed to select on Thursday an advisory committee, consisting of five members for each State in the Union.

SOUTH AFRICA'S FUTURE.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain Say Whatever the Settlement May be the Government Are Unanimous That it Must be a Final and Thorough one.

and poky, and Charley does liven us

London, June 20.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, addressing the Women's Liberal Unionist Association yesterday afternoon, said that now that the war was concluding, all were unanimous that, that ever the final settlement might be, it must be final, and should not leave behind it the seeds of further mischief, and make a repetition of the trouble possible. Whether an election took place tomorrow or was postponed indefinitely, it would be one of the most momentous presented to the people of the United Kingdom during a century, involving the question of the future of South Africa and the future of the Empire.

Referring to continental criticism, Mr. Chamberlain went on to say—"But there are quarters whence even a not of disapproval would be a matter of serious concern. I refer to our colonies and to the United States. I think we are happy in that we have their good opinion and approval. It is true this good opinion of the United States is not unmixed with other sentiments.

"I will not now enter upon the causes, partly political and partly sentimental, which have led certain Americans to sympathize with what they claim is a rebublic, although the whole existence and whole practice has been one perpetual denial of the principles upon which their great republic is founded. I believe the great majority of the Americans recognize that our aims in this war are as high and unselfish as those which animated themselves in the Spanish-American struggle.

"They fought then for justice and liberty, not for their own subjects, indeed, but for those whom they believed to be the victims of oppression; and we did not enter into quizzical disquisitions or technical discussions, but recognized that they were carrying out, as Anglo-Saxons, a great work of civilization and humanity. Now we are asking their sympathy, and we believe that in the long run we shall gain the final seal of their approval."

Gravest Fears Exist as to the Safety of Europeans at Pekin—An American Gunboat Got Into a Hot Corner and Was Shot Through the Bows in Bombardment.

Shanghai, June 21. Bluejackets have been landed at Woo Sung, ten miles north, to protect the telegraph station.

Washington, D.C., June 21. Acting Secretary of the Navy Mr. Hackett received a cablegram this evening from Admiral Kempff, dated Cho Foo, June 21 saying Tien Tsin is being bombarded and that much of American Consulate, as well as much of the foreign concessions are being destroyed. A relief party is en route to Tien Tsin, including 130 American marines under Major Waller.

London, June 22, 3.30 a.m. The United States gunboad Monicracy was two miles up the Pei Ho River when the International fleet began the bombardment of the Taku forts. According to the Shanghai corresbondent of the Daily Express she was shot through the bows. The correspondent says that Chinese riflemen on both banks of the river attacked her but unsuccessfully.

The scantiness of news with reference to the situation continues. Admiral Kempff's despatch to the Navy department at Washington announcing that Tien Tsin is being bombarded was prominently used by the London papers and commented on as indicating a change for the worse.

The British Admiralty does not believe the report of the death of Admiral Seymour, commander of the international relief column, and semi-official assurances are given that there seems not to be the slightest evidence to back such a report.

A despatch to the Associated Press from Shanghai dated yesterday says—"The Consuls met to-day to consider the situation, which in the absence of news from Pekin is looked upon as particularly threatening. Grave fears still exist as to the safety of the Europeans at Pekin. It was agreed to wire the senior Consul at Che Foo to communicate with the senior officers at Taku, asking for immediate assistance in communicating direct with Pekin, which they believe can be brought about through Sheng, director of telegraphs. They advise that Sheng be asked to explain the interruption of communications. All the English ladies at Tien Tsin left there Saturday by train for Taku. Shanghai wires that they had some exciting experiences, and would not have gotten through except for the assistance of Chinese troops. The Boxers made several desperate attempts to attack the train.

The explanation given at Hong Kong of the failure of Li Hung Chang to go to Pekin is that there is a rising on the border of the Kow-Loon hinterland. The Singapore correspondent of the Daily Express says,—Kang You Wei, the reformer, asserts that Russian agents precipitated, if they did not entirely organize, the present disturbances, for purely Russia's purposes.

A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Shanghai says that the missionaries from Tsang Chou have safely arrived at Wei Hai Wei.

REPORTS ARE CONFIRMED.

Japanese Consul says that Seymour Has Reached Pekin.

Berlin, June 21.—A semi-official despatch from Tokio, dated June 21 says the Japanese Consul at Shanghai confirms the reports that Vice-Admiral Seymour has arrived at Pekin, and that the members of the diplomatic corps are safe.

According to an official Japanese report from Che Fu the foreign settlement at Tien Tsin was reduced to ashes June 15.

BRITISH MISSION LOOTED.

Missionaries Carried off to an Unknown Place by Chinese.

Shaghai, June 21.—The British destroyer Whiting at Chefu reports that nothing has been heard from Admiral Seymour's force for six days.

The French Consul wires that the British mission at Tsin Chow has been looted, and the missionaries conveyed to an unknown place by a Chinese general.

TO SEND REINFORCEMENTS.

Warning to Chinese—Still no News from Admiral Seymour.

London, June 21.—The Admiralty has received the following despatch from Rear-Admiral Bruce;

"Taku, via Che Fu, June 21.—No communication from the Commander-in-chief in seven days and from Tien Tien Tsin five days. The allies hold the Taku forts and Tong Ku securely and they will advance to the relief of Tien Tsin when in sufficient strength. Troops are expected from Hong Kong to-morrow, and 300 from Wei Hai Wei the folllowing day. It is believed that fighting is constantly proceeding around Tien Tsin. Our garrison there should be about 3,000 men.

"The following proclamation was agreed to this morning, to be issued forthwith;

"'The admirals and senior naval officers of the allied powers in China desire to make known to all Viceroys and authorities along the coasts and rivers, and in the cities and provinces of China, that they intend to use armed force only against the Boxers and people that oppose them on their march to Pekin, for the rescue of their fellow countrymen.'"

The date that the above despatch was sent off from Taku is not given, but it is probably June 19.

"RIVERS OF BLOOD."

Shanghai Correspondents Describe the Bombardment at Taku.

London, June 21.—The latest story sent out by the Shanghai gossips is that Prince Tuan, president of the Tsung Li Yamen, has burned the Imperial palace at Pekin and murdered the Emperor and that the Empress dowager has committed suicide. The effect of the bombardment of the Taku forts as described by the Shanghai correspondents, was gory in the extreme, Nothing less than "rivers of blood" and "mutilated corpses piled up inside the forts."

HE CAN MAINTAIN ORDER.

Viceroy of Three Chinese Provinces Sends Reassuring Words.

Washington, June 21.—Mr. Wu the Chinese Minister, called upon Secretary Hay at the State Department to day and informed him that he had received a despatch from the Viceroy of the three great Provices of the Yang tse Kiang, saying that he felt himself perfectly able to keep the peace in his Provinces, and insure the safety of the foreign missionaries, and that in conjunction with his colleague, Viceroy Hunan, he was able to answer for the preservation of peace and order in all the great Southern Provinces of China.

AWAKENED A GIANT.

Powers May have stirred up Trouble a Grievous Kind.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 21.—In the opinion of Senator Davis, of Minnesota chairman of the Senator Committee on Foreign Affairs, the situation in China is even more grave than published, and may develop into an international problem such as the powers have not had to deal with in many years.

"No man can tell what will come out of the present situation in China," said Senator Davis. "Generations to come may find that in awakening China the western world has brought into existence, a giant which will insist on taking part in affairs of inopportune moments. It seems inevitable that China will be partitioned. Certainly the acting Empress will be dethroned. This cannot be done without a war which will probably repeat itself many times."

RUMOR OF SEYMOUR'S DEATH.

Mobs said to be Struggling for the Dowager's Treasure.

London, June 21.—There is little additional news from the far east and what is coming is obviously not based on substantial ground, but is merely the outcome of the prevailing state of uncertainty and lack of information of a definite and trustworthy kind. The most startling item is the rumored death of Vice-Admiral Seymour, but no credence whatever is attached to it here.

The statement that Li Hung Chang has cancelled his passage to Pekin is interesting. How he manages to disobey the Dowager Empress urgent command is not clear. Evidently fear of a revolution at Canton in the event of his departure induced the Consuls to bring strong pressure to bear.

Special despatches from Shanghai continue to recount wholesale slaughter at Pekin. The soldiers and Boxers are said to be massacring each other, and the Chinese and Manchurians are also reported to be engaged in mutual slaughter. Prince Tuan is alleged to have sacked and burned the palace, the Empress is reported to have been killed. the Dowager Empress is represented as missing and in some quarters it is believed she has committed suicide. All this purports to have been contained in a letter from Pekin received by a high Chinese official at Shanghai, where it is hoped the desperate struggle between the leaders of the different mobs, allegedly for possession of the vast treasures of the Dowager Empress will continue and prevent the sects combining against the Europeans.

FRENCH CONSUL ATTACKED.

He is Like a Prisoner and Cannot Escape to Safety.

Paris, June 20.—The French Consul at Mong Tse cables that he has received from M. Francois, French Consul at Yun Nan Fu, the following telegraph dated June 15;

"We were attacked June 10 on leaving Yun Nan Fu, and were forced to return to the town. All our baggage we rifled, and the missions and rail road buildings were burned, except my residence, where I had gathered our countrymen, and which we defended with our rifles. After 24 hours, the Mandarins having at last taken measures, I called upon them to conduct us to the frontier and I expect them to answer for the safety of the roads. It is urgent that the Government should demand peremptorily that we be permitted to leave, as we are like prisoners, but the French troops in Indo-China must not cross the frontier. All the Frenchmen are safe at the present moment." The Consul at Mong Tse adds that the situation there is still critical. Alarms are frequent, but thus far there have been no serious disorders.

SECRET COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

The Times has been at variance with some members of Peterborough council for months past owing to their peculiar predilection for secret committee meetings. Our opposition has been prompted by the firm conviction that the people are being robbed of their birthright as free citizens when men who have voluntarily accepted public office undertake to discuss public business behind closed doors. We feel that the interests of the small and large taxpayer are identical, inasmuch as the realization of the hopes for the future entertained by both depends to a great extent upon the careful administration of town affairs.

We quite agree with our esteemed contemporary the Lindsay Post, that the tendency of secret meetings is to create a cleavage between the council and the small taxpayers. The latter are kept in ignorance of nearly all matters talked over by their representatives, and do not even see the bare reports of business transacted at the committee meetings, because the local press cannot spare space for eight or ten reports when presented in a bunch. Leading citizens are repeatedly consulted by members of council as to the wisdom of taking action along a certain line, and thus become cognizant of what is under consideration. The opinions and advice of the mass of the ratepayers are not sought and cannot find expression; their money is being handled, their interests are involved, but their only privilege seems to be, as Kipling puts it, to "Pay! pay! pay!" The result is a growing distrust and indifference, easily perceptible when the council has approached the people to support some measure requiring the popular endorsation.

The charge has frequently been made in open council that members have not been consistent in their course upon some particular question—that they have "woddled" and turned a complete somersault between the time of the last committee meeting and the calling of the council together. Nor alone that, but they have been known to tell their supporters that they were taking a certain course, when they were actually doing all in their power, in committee, to defeat the object they claimed they were striving to accomplish. Such men need watching.

We do not mean to imply that the council stick to secret sessions with evil intent. We freely acknowledge that some of the members are serving the town without thought of personal gain in any form. We know, however, that municipal trickery is born of secret methods and hole-and-corner work. Our councillors should avoid even the semblance of sly methods in transacting the people's business.

The following extracts from an editorial in Toronto News applies to the above remarks with considerable force.

> Seldom has an important truth been put more pointedly than by Supreme Court Justice Gaynor the other day in deciding that Mayor Van Wyck, of New York, must answer questions in the suit against the Ice Trust, or take refuge in the criminal's excuse and refuse to reply on the ground that he might incriminate himself Justice Gaynor said.
> "Purity and integrity in our government can be obtained and preserved only by the wholesome vigilance and meddlesomeness of the citizens."
>
> The tendency of all kinds of government, national or municipal, is to transact business AS SECRETLY AS POSSIBLE, and it is only by exercising a constant vigilance that the people can know how their affairs are being conducted. In our parliaments the opposition parties are a check on the governments, but in municipal affairs the duty of detecting and bringing to the light underhand and crooked methods is left pretty much to the press, and we are not overstepping the mark when we say that the interests of the public in this respect have, on the whole, been well served by the Toronto press. There have been complaints that the city has at times been a loser by UNTIMELY PUBLICITY being given to certain matters, and probably this is so, but the net gain in having a constant watch kept on the actions of our representatives is BEYOND ESTIMATE.
> As Justice Gaynor says, it is the only pledge for purity and integrity in government. We have in Toronto probably the most upright municipal government on the continent, and that it is so is due altogether to the fact that every representative knows that HIS ACTIONS ARE UNDER CONTINUAL SCRUTINY. We do not mean to say that deals and jobs do not take place, but they take place far less frequently than would be the case if our council could conduct the business in secret.

THE CHINESE SITUATION.

The hurrying of troops to China is no more a sign of peace than the storming of the Taku forts. That the situation can be straightened out without "military operation," is now too much to hope for; and military operations conducted by an international force against so tempting a prize as a distraught and prostrate China may lead to more than peace. But at the present moment something very like a state of war exists between the Celestial Empire and the rest of the world. The action before the Taku forts itself was enough to institute such a state; and no one yet knows what has happened behind the veil that enshrouds Pekin.

It is hard for observers to believe that China, which found herself unable to cope with Japan some years ago, has deliberately challenged the civilized and armed world to mortal combat without expecting outside support from some quarter. The Russians accuse the British of fomenting these disturbances—a very likely thing when Britain was at the time of the outbreak pouring all available troops into South Africa in a life and death struggle for her South African empire; and there are Britons who suspect Russia of encouraging the uprising. This might give her an opportunity to occupy some Chinese territory as Britain occupies Egypt; and she might be as slow in withdrawing again. But the prompt manner in which the other powers co-operate in every effort to restore order, will tend to make it difficult for any one power to take isolated action. Britain was left to go alone into Egypt; no one has been sent alone into China. So long as it is always an international column which moves toward Pekin and an international fleet which bombards the Taku forts, we are no nearer the danger line than at any time when the various diplomats are manoeuring before the Chinese Foreign Office.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

That the Town Engineer and Town Solicitor must be going to begin work in earnest, is evident, if having a number of their tools in the Council is proof.

A Progressive Paper

The Toronto Daily Star has introduced into Canada a feature which is as novel as it is conspicuous in connection with newspaper advertising. It prints a line in red ink every day across the top of the page advertisement of one of their large advertisers. The marvel of its readers is as to how the thing is done. At the same time it prints special announcements of its own upon the front page of its paper from time to time also in colored ink, sometimes printing a paragraph at the bottom of one of the columns of the front page, and occasionally strengthening its front page cartoon with some colored ink. As an illustration of this latter, upon the day that it was announced that Pretoria had been taken by General Roberts, The Star printed a cartoon showing "Bobs" with a brush in his hand "painting the map of South Africa a British red," painting it from ocean to ocean, as in geographies, hereafter, that part of the world will be colored. It was one of the most striking bits of newspaper work ever produced in Canada or elsewhere. More recently, an adaptation by Sam Hunter, the cartoonist, of the celebrated picture, "What we have we hold," represented General Roberts as a British bulldog standing upon the Map of South Africa shown in the form of a British flag, which was brightened and strengthened by a red cross worked into the folds of the flag by this wonderful Star color process. As an up-to-date newspaper, The Toronto Daily Star eclipses all its rivals. It is dignified without being heavy; bright without being flippant; aggressive without being ill-natured.

If I Should Die Tonight

If I should die tonight
My friends would look upon my quiet face
Before they laid it in its resting place,
And deem that death had left it almost fair,
And laying snow-white flowers against my hair
Would smooth it down with tearful tenderness,
And fold my hands with lingering caress;
Poor hands, so empty and so cold tonight.

If I should die tonight
My friends would call to mind with loving thought
Some kindly deed the icy hand had wrought;
Some gentle word the frozen lips had said,
Errands on which the willing feet had sped,
The memory of my selfishness and pride,
My hasty words would all be put aside,
And so I should be loved and mourned tonight.

If I should die tonight
Even hearts estranged would turn once more to me,
Recalling other days remorsefully;
The eyes that chill me with averted glance
Would look upon me as of yore perchance,
And soften in the old familiar way,
For who could war with dumb unconscious clay;
So I rest forgiven of all tonight.
[illegible]
Oh friends I pray tonight,
Keep not your kisses for my dead, cold brow.

In Grandma's Day.

Women were straight and strong. They could walk or work side by side with the men of the family. They lived under healthier conditions; there was more simplicity and less strain. To-day it's different. The woman has all the care of the house and the wear of motherhood with duties superadded which were never dreamed of in Grandma's day. As a natural result she's worn out when she ought to be in the full beauty of mature womanhood. Women who would preserve their health and strength should guard the delicate womanly organs. When these are diseased the whole body suffers loss of strength and beauty. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the diseases that weaken women. Inflammation, ulceration and female weakness promptly yield to the power of this great remedy.

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness for about two years," writes Mrs. Emma Richardson, of Goss, Wayne Co., Ky., "Could not do my work part of the time. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and felt as well as I ever did."

FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

The way is lonely let me feel them now,
Think gently of me, I am travel worn,
My faltering feet are pierced with many a thorn;
Forgive, oh, hearts estranged, forgive, I plead.
When dreamless rest is mine I shall not need
The tenderness for which I long tonight.

HON. G. W. ROSS AT SANDHILL.

Can Governments be Better Than the People They Represent?

Sandhill, June 20.—Hon. G. W. Ross yesterday afternoon laid the foundation stone of the new Methodist church here In the course of his remarks he said that Governments could not do better than the people; he did not know if they always tried to be, but when they legislated for the people at that stage of advancement which the people had reached they had gone as far as could be expected or demanded under Canada's constitutional government. What, he asked, was the propelling force of that great public opinion which made government, national sentiment, and that curious compound, modern civilization? It was the elevation of the people, the elvation of the individual citizen. For this reason he hailed with delight the establishment of churches, the work of the Sunday schools, and the advantages of religious and high-class literature among the people of the country. Any man who overlooked in the government of the country the work of its churches and Sunday schools omitted the most potent factor in the civiliation of this age. What had made England the power she was to-day, not only in regard to her navy, her army, and her overwhelming wealth, was the passion of Englishmen for justice and fair play. The high ideals of the English nation were founded upon those fundamental principles of religious liberty which alone exalted a nation.

The Man Who Told the Truth.

There was a man who said one day
Unto himself. "Hereafter I Shall not be base enough to say
A single word that is a lie.
The truth I'll tell to each and all,
To high and low, to great and small."

And so he bravely started out.
His heart was strong, his spirit bold.
Of all the things he talked about
The truth, and nothing else was told.
He scorned the tricks of speech through which Men make themselves adored and rich.

He told the whole truth, nothing more,
And when they bore him home that night
His face was battered up and sore,
And he was what is called a sight.
He lost his job, his friends are few,
But he has learned a thing or two.

Short Story of the Day

The Backsliding of Mr. Jack Sayre.

"So you've found me!"

The noon sun poured down a flood of golden light. It touched the [illegible] of the trees in the wide, sweet orchard with loving fingers. It glanced along the row of shining pails and pans on the kitchen stood, where they glistened like burnished silver. It shone full on the startled face of a young man, who stood under an apple tree afoam with pink and white bloom. He started straight at the man before him—a strong-limbed fellow, with cold eyes and keen, resolute face. The newcomer regarded him in turn with a steady, calculating glance. His right hand touched his hip pocket.

"So you've found me!"

"Yes," said the other, very quickly.

"Yes, and, Charley, I advise you not to make any row. You'd better come along without any fuss. It will be better for you in the long run."

Charley took a step forward, lurched heavily like a drunken man, staggered back, leaned against the tree and put his hands to his face. The other watched him as a tiger might his prey.

Suddenly Charley withdrew his hands and asked almost in a whisper. 'Did you see anyone at the house?"

Said the other. "Yes, there's a fine old man on the side porch, reading a paper, and a dear old lady shelling peas. I suppose, now Charley, they're your father and mother."

"Yes," said Charley with a groan.

"You didn't—you couldn't have told them?" he questioned, fiercely.

"No," replied the stranger. 'I simply asked for you, and they told me I would find you here in the orchard. I'd hate like a dog to tell 'em," he added, after a pause.

"In the name of God," cried the young man, desperately, "don't tell them—don't!" breaking off, he choked back a sob and struck the trunk of the apple tree with his clenched fist.

"But they've got to know it sometime," returned the other; " you'd better tell them yourself."

"I tell them!" cried Charley. 'I tell—why, man, I might as well kill them at once."

"I know—I know," replied the other; "it's a bad deal all around. Let's see. I'll tell you what to do. We can't leave here before 6 o'clock. Now, introduce me as your friend, come out to call on you in your home, and to tell you of a good thing for you, and say you've got to go back with me on account of this opening. Oh, any rot like that, and I'll stand for it. See?"

Charley held out his hand. Sayre," he said, huskily, "you're a good fel—" he could not finish the sentence.

"Brace up, brace up," replied Sayre, slapping him on the shoulder. "You'll need all your nerve now to get through the afternoon."

"Mother and father," said Charley, 10 minutes later, "I want to introduce a friend of mine, Mr. Jack Sayre. He has heard of a good job for me and has taken a lot of trouble to come out here to let me know."

"Want to know!" ejaculated Deacon Hobart, as he extended his hand in greeting. "Waal, sir, now, I am pleased to see ye. Ma, here, shake hands with Charley's friend."

"Ma" came through the kitchen door—a sweet little old lady, with snowy hair, pink cheeks and mild blue eyes. She was quite flustered at the sudden advent of so smartly dressed a visitor, but, giving him a timid bow, asked, as any good country housewife would if Mr. Sayre had been to dinner.

No, Mr. Sayre had not dined.

"Waal, now," said the good deacon, "how fortunate this is. We was jest on the p'int of settin' down. Come right in, Mr. Sayre, and make yourself to home. Any friend of our Charley's is welcome to our home."

The deacon bowed his head and his gentle voice rose in the blessing.. He blessed the food and the drink and prayed earnestly for the stranger who sat with them to meat. "And grant, Oh, most merciful Father, that we show to each other the mercy and long suffering that Thou hast show to us. Amen."

Then came the smoke on the piazza and the deacon's kindly and interested questions, many of which were very hard to parry. But the climax of the wretched afternoon was reached when Mrs. Hobart, having finished tidying up, brought out her knitting and sat down to visit with Mr. Jack Sayre.

"I reckon you and Charley have known each other quite some time," she said, gently, as she clicked her shining needles and beamed over her spectacles at the guest.

"Er—well—yes, ma'am," returned the unhappy man, trying to avoid those mild, unworldly eyes.

"Well, then, you've known one real good boy, Mr. Sayre, "pursued the little old lady. "Our Charley han't never given us one mite of trouble. When he went away to that air wicked Babylon, New York, I feared for him. I was afraid he might get tempted and led off into sin. But a mother's prayers go a long way, Mr. Sayre."

"Yes, ma'am, that's so, that's so,' said Sayre, stealing a look at Charley out of the tail of his eye. The young man sat on the steps, rigid as a statue, his pale face resolutely turned towards the orchard.

"Is your mother living, Mr. Sayre?" pursued the gentle old lady as she deftly caught up a dropped stitch.

"No, ma'am," said Sayre, stopping to pick up a match that had fallen from his shaking fingers. "No, ma'am she died when I was quite a little fellow."

"Poor boy!" said the dear, motherly old soul, as she gently patted his arm with one thin hand. "Wal, now, as you're such a friend o' my boy's and an orphan, I want you to always make this your home when you feel so disposed."

"Thank you, ma'am," said Mr. Jack Sayre, almost humbly.

"And you can't possibly stay with us now for a day or so?"

"Oh, no, ma'am; it's absolutely necessary that we should go to night."

"Wal, I hate ter hev ye take our boy away. It's awful lonesome here without him. Pa and I are kind of old and poky, and Charley does liven us up so when he comes home. I dunno how I could live if' twant for Charley." She glanced at the boyish figure affectionately. "He's the last one, Mr. Sayre, of a big family, and the baby, too. Well, God has been kind to spare me one for my old age."

A silence fell. The afternoon Shadows grew longer. The sweet breath of the apple blossoms was blown across the field. The birds chirped and chattered in the maples as they built their nests. It was a scene of rest and peace, but the cyclone that was ravaging the mind of Mr. Jack Sayre prevented him from enjoying himself to any great degree.

. . . .

He looked at his watch. "We'd better be going, Charley," he said, "It won't do to miss our train."

The boy rose and gave his hand unsteadily to his father. "Good-bye, father," he murmured, mechanically.

"When'll you be back, Charley?" questioned the old man.

"I can't say, father," was the low reply.

Charley tured to his mother. He could not speak. He did not lift his eyes to her face. She threw her arms about him and kissed him tenderly.

"Hurry back to your old ma," she said cheerfully.

The boy staggered and caught at the honeysuckle trellis for support. Fortunately his parents were so busy bidding Mr. Sayre farewell they did not notice the agitation of their son.

"Good-bye, ma'am," faltered Mr. Jack Sayre, hat in hand, he stood on the step before his hostess.' 'I've enjoyed the day. I—er—thank you—for your great kindness."

With a sweet maternal smile the ole lady looked straight into the cold, keen, steely eyes. "Don't mention it,' she said, and then, to the unutterable amazement and consternation of her visitor, she laid her hands on his shoulders and kissed him. "Poor boy," she said, with divine sympathy; "poor, motherless boy."

Mr. Jack Sayre went red, then white, stammered, choked, turned on his heel and took his companion by the arm.

They stood at the end of the lane and looked back. The old people were smiling and bowing and waving. 'Come again!" shouted the deacon genially. "Both my boys," echoes a fine, quavering voice.

"Oh, God, oh, God" groaned Charley as the maples dropped their leafy curtain and shut out the beautiful, kindly scene.

. . . .

"Wake up!"

It was midnight. The lights were dim in the car. Their fellow passengers were in oblivion. Charley roused from a troubled sleep. Mr. Jack Sayre bent over him, his steel gray eyes shining like dagger points. "We are on the border," he whispered. "Get off at the next station and hump yourself. Here's money enough to take yourself to Montreal. Ship to the other side from here. I'll look after the old folks and tell them your job took you to the Klondike, Siberia or hell! Mind you, I'm doing this for you, but for her!" Again he stammered and choked. "And, for God's sake pull yourself together and lead an honest life. If I ever hear of your doing a dirty deed again, so help me God, I'll follow you to the ends of the earth and shoot you as I would a dog. Here we are. Git!"

. . . . .

I tracked the fellow to his old home in Vermont," ran the report of Mr. Jack Sayre, detective, to his chief in the case of Charley Hobart, wanted burglary, "but he had given me the slip. You see, the place was not far from the Canadian border. And he is a slick one!"

Delays Are Dangerous.

A small pimple on your face may seem of little consequence, but it shows your blood is impure, and impure blood is what causes most of the diseases from which people suffer. Better heed the warning given by the pimple and purify your blood at once by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine cures all diseases due to bad blood, including scrofula and salt rheum.

Let every ritch man who Sets with his feat up on the portch railen and smokes while sumbuddy Else cuts the grass be a Horrabul example."

THE SALVATION ARMY.

An Effort Being Made to Raise a Fund for Retired Officers.

It may be a matter of surprise to many to discover that the balance sheets of the Salvation Army in the various countries in which it operates shows that the total savings effected by means of self-denial which is the same effort as it is now locally engaged in) last year amounted to the startling sum of $400,000. This is all the more astonishing when it is taken into consideration that the great majority of the army's followers are poor people.

In this territory this year the army is endeavoring to raise the total sum of $20,000, with one half of which amount it purposes establishing the nucleus of a pension fund for the relief of its invalided officers, worn out by years of faithful service. The novel and practical features which the Salvation Army in the scheme of self-denial adopts is about as commendable as are the objects of the enterprise.

Some Reasons Why...

Scottish-Canadian Stock (Rob Roy Mines) is a good investment.

1—The Specially liability, (none beyond the amount originally subscribed for stock.)
2—The large area of rich mineral lands owned by the Company.
3—The abnormal richness of the ores of the district (ours assays over $100.00 to the ton.)
4—The enormous amount of ore we can show on the properties, and which we are now working to get at by tunneling.
5—The comparative ease of working and good transportation facilities.
6—The great improvement as work progresses.
7—The safe conservative management and administration of investors' money.
8—The likelihood of an early advance in price of shares.

The above is a combination hard to beat! It eliminates all undue risk and renders an investment infinitely safer than mining share investments usually are, and makes the outlook for large profits soon, very encouraging. Not much more stock will be available at Fifteen cents per share. Send or call for particulars.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DIED.

CAMPBELL—At Peterborough on the 20th instant, James Campbell, Esq., aged 60 years.

The funeral will leave the family residence, 264 Water street, to-morrow June 22, at 2.30 p.m., and proceed to St. John's church thence to the Little Lake Cemetery. Friends and acquaintances will kindly accept this intimation.

The Belmont Mines.

Last evening the County Council, accompanied by representatives from each of the local papers, visited the Belmont mines.

May Terminate Fatally.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pethick, who on Wednesday evening sustained a fracture of the skull through falling down the cellar stairs, at the residence of her nephew, Mr. Wm. Kempt, with whom she resided, will, owing to her advanced age (75 years) probably succumb to her injuries. There was no change in her condition yesterday.

A Unique Flag.

The Times was shown a very pretty and unique flag by Mr. Charles Stanley of the Stanley Piano Company. The flag was sent to him by a friend in London, England, and shows Her Majesty the Queen in the centre, surrounded by the names of the colonies, New Zealand, Cape Colony, Canada, Australia, Natal and India. Below the centre are the words "for Queen and Empire," and "Britain," 'Colonies,' with clasped hands shown near the centre. Mr. Stanley naturally feels very proud of the unique piece of bunting.

A PROGRESSIVE INSTITUTION.

Report of the Annual General Meeting of the Traders Bank of Canada.

We congratulate the management of the Traders Bank of Canada on the result of the year's operations, as shown by the financial statement presented at the annual meeting of the shareholders of that institution, held at the head office Toronto, on the 19th instant.

During the year just closed the bank has experienced a steady and substantial growth in all its branches. In 1897 the profits of the bank were $41,790, while this year they are placed at $123,770. This is an increase of practically 300 per cent. in the earnings of the bank. The deposits have increased from $4,235,330 in 1897 to $6,538,074 in 1900, the increase for the three years being $2,302,744. The loans have also grown by half. In 1897 the loans reported amounted to $4,545,008, while now they are $7,421,073, or $2,876,065 more than was represented in loans in 1897. Further evidence of the extension of business is found in the fact that the Traders Bank has now 22 branches within the Province.

The people of Peterborough and Midland district will hereafter take greater interest in the affairs of the bank on account of the fact that Hon. Mr. Stratton is a member of the board of directors; the others being Messrs. C. D. Warren, John Drynan, W. J. Thomas, C. Kloepfer, M.P. (Guelph), and J. H. Beatty, (Thorold.) Mr. C. D. Warren was re-elected President, and Mr. John Drynan, Vice-President.

THE TRADERS BANK OF CANADA.

Proceedings of the Fifteenth Annual General Meeting of Shareholders.

Held at its Banking House in Toronto on Tuesday, the 19th June, 1900.

The chair was taken by the President, Mr. C. D. Warren, and the General Manager was requested to act as Secretary, when the following statement was read—

The net profits for the year after making full provision for all bad and doubtful debts and reserving accrued interest amounted to		$123,770 97
Premium on new stock issued		30,048 00
Balance at credit of profit and loss last year		7,480 89
		$161,299 86
Appropriated as follows, viz—
Dividend No. 28, 3 per cent. payable December 1, 1899		$24,829 62
Dividend No. 29, 3 per cent. payable June 1, 1900		29,138 15

Transferred to rest account		50,000 00
Balance at credit of profit and loss new account		14,511 67
		$161,299 86

The firm rates which have ruled for money during the greater part of the past year have enabled the bank to employ its funds profitably. The net profits (exclusive of premiums received on new stock) on an average paid-up capital for the year of $870,833, were 14.21 per cent. Deposits during the year under review show an increase for $867,000.

The lamented death in February last of Mr. George E. Tuckett left a vacancy on the board, which was filled by the appointment of the Hon. J. R. Stratton to the vacant seat.

A by-law will be submitted for your approval, increasing the capital stock by 50,000 shares, representing $500,000, which will be allotted to the shareholders, when in the opinion of your directors the business of the bank may make such allotment necessary.

The head office and all the branches have received their usual careful inspections.

The officers of the bank have performed their respective duties to the satisfaction of your directors.

C. D. WARREN, President.

Olympic Views.

Mr. R. M. Roy, the taker of phizes in connection with the Olympic excursion, sent the Times a bunch of pictures taken on the recent trip to Burleigh. In these views the boys are "tooken" without warning, even when some of their number were enjoying the luxury of a bath this kodak fiend was on deck with his camera. The views constitute a story without words of the day's proceedings. Mr. Roy succeeded in getting about fifty views, all told, and would have had many more but for an unforeseen accident. He turned his instrument on the railroad contingent, consisting of Mr. A. H. Notman, Geo. A. McDonald, Billy Buntin, Billy Askin, Geo. Bennett, Geo. McCamley, Louis Drago, Billy Dedrill, Frank Miller and Billy Duggan. This touched the camera out completely, and rendered further picture taking an impossibility

IMPERIAL BANK OF CANADA

PROCEEDINGS OF THE TWENTY-FIFTH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF THE SHAREHOLDERS.

Held in the Banking House of the Institution in Toronto, on Wednesday, 20th of June, 1900.

The 25th annual general meeting of the Imperial Bank of Canada was held in pursuance of the terms of the charter at the banking house of the institution, June 20th, 1900, a large number of shareholders being present.

The chair was taken by the President, Mr. H. S. Howland, and the General Manager, Mr. D. R. Wilkie, was requested to act as Secretary.

On motion of Messrs. Lyndhurst Ogden, W. Gibson Cassels and R. H. Temple were appointed scrutineers.

The General Manager, at the request of the Chairman, read the report of the directors and the statement of affairs.

The Report.

The directors have much pleasure in meeting the shareholders at this the 25th annual meeting, and in presenting a statement of affairs which they believe to be a subject for congratulation.

The net profits for the year, after making full provision for bad and doubtful debts and for rebate of interest on unmatured bills under discount, have enabled your directors to pay dividends equivalent to 9 1-2 per cent. per annum, to add $101,901.65 to rest account, to contribute the sum of $20,000 to the credit of the Employees' Pension Fund of the bank (authorized at last annual meeting), and to appropriate a further sum of $20,000 in reduction of bank premises account.

Contributions amounting to $2,500 have also been made out of the year's profits to the Red Cross Fund and to the Patriotic Fund. We have confidence that this action on our part merely anticipated your wishes and that it meets with your approval.

The rest account has also been added to by $298,098.35, being premium received to date upon the additional capital authorized at the last annual meeting. The capital has been fully subscribed, and the amount paid thereon has found active and profitable employment.

Branches of the bank have been opened in Golden, B.C., at the corner of King and York streets, Toronto, and in the end of St. Thomas, Ont.

Recognizing Ottawa as not only the political metropolis of Canada, but of growing importance as a financial centre, arrangements have been made for the establishment of a branch in that city at an early date.

The charter of this bank, in common with those of other chartered banks, has been extended at the present session of Parliament for a further period of ten years from July, 1901, subject to certain amendments which had been suggested or have been approved of by the banks and which it is believed will add to the security of the public and will facilitate the carrying on of the legitimate business of the country.

The officers of the bank continue to perform their respective duties to the satisfaction of the directors.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
H. S. HOWLAND.
President.

THE SILENCE OF PEKIN CONTINUES UNBROKEN.

Four Thousand Men of Allied Forces Had Sharp Defensive Fighting at Tien Tsin.

SEYMOUR MISLED BY INFORMATION FROM PEKIN

He Consequently Under-Estimated the Difficulties in His Way, and the Chinese Power of Resistence With Maxim Guns and Modern Mauser Rifles.

London, June 23,

The silence of Pekin continues unbroken. Four thousand men of the allied forces were having sharp defencive fighting at Tien Tsin, today and Wednesday with a prospect of being reinforced Thursday. This is the situation in China as set forth in the British Government despatches "Eight hundred Americans are taking part in the fighting at Tien Tsin" says the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, cabling last evening; "and they apparently form part of a supplementary force, arriving with Germans and British after the conflict started. It is impossible to to estimate the number of the Chinese there, but they had a surprising number of guns. The English consulate at Shanghai is said to have received from influential natives, reports of a tragedy in the palace at Pekin, through precisely what, is notu defined. The Consulate thinks that Admiral Seymour, commander of the international relief column, was misled by information from Pekin, and consequently under estimated the difficulties in his way and the Chinese power of resistence with maxim guns and mauser rifles. The Consuls at Shanghai still believe the missionaries at Pekin are safe although Japanese reports received at Shanghai allege that up to June 15 one hundred foreigners had been killed in Pekin. A special despatch from Vienna says Li Hung Chang has wired the various Chinese Legations in Europe directing them to inform the Governments to which they are accredited that he is called to Pekin by the Empress Dowager to act as intermediary between China and the powers, and to negotiate a settlement of the points at issue, and asks the powers to facilitate his mission by ceasing to send troops to China. Sheng, director general of telegraphs wires, from Shanghai, to the Chinese Legations in Europe that the foreign legations at Pekin are safe.

It is expected the Government will send at once 11,000 men to China and possibly 10,000 of the regulars now with Lord Roberts.

Berlin, June 22

The commander of the German squadron at Taku has wired as follows to the Government—"A French officer who has arrived here from Tien Tsin, which he left June 20, reports that for three days the city had been bombarded and that the troops of the foreign attachment were short of ammunition. The German cruiser Irene has arrived here with 240 marines, with 380 English and 1,500 Russians, proceeded to Tien Tsin. The railway is working from Taku to within five kilometres of Tien Tsin.

London, June 22.—A veritable Chinese puzzle exists in the far east. It scarcely seems possible to obtain an accurate and reliable statement of the conditions which exist between the sea coast and the capital. From the meagre intelligence that has been vouchsafed in official despatches—and all other news is almost worthless—it would appear that there are now two bodies of European troops between the sea and Pekin, for it is not yet absolutely certain that Admiral Seymour's column has entered that place. The second force was evidently despatched after the bombardment of the Taku forts to the relief of Seymour, and has reached Tien Tsin, where it is in turn awaiting relief and sustaining a heavy bombardment from either Boxers or Imperial troops. With Seymour's body of over 2,000 men lost, the force of 3000 which started to relieve him hard pressed at Tien Tsin, and the European refugees still in dire distress, the Chinese problem grows more complicated than ever. It now seems that a third expedition is being got ready at Taku to relieve the expedition which tried to relieve Seymour, who tried to relieve the Legations at Pekin. A veritable house that Jack built exists, and in all likelihood the tale of one may become as long as that of the other before the crisis is ended. The situation at Tien Tsin is indeed critical, for official despatches intimate clearly that desperate fighting is going on there, coupled with devastation to property.

It is now a serious question whether succor can be carried to Pekin and Tien Tsin in time to avoid great and unparalleled loss of life.

FOREIGNERS MASSACRED.

Shanghai Despatch, Says 1,500 Have been Killed at Tien Tsin.

London, June 22.—A special from Shanghai says that it is reported from Japanese sources that 1,500 foreigners have been massacred at Tien Tsin.

BRITISH CABINET MEETS.

Important steps are About to be Taken in China.

London, June 22—Lord Salisbury presided this morning at a meeting of the Cabinet specially summoned to consider the far Eastern crisis. Prior to the meeting the French Ambassador, M. Paul Cambon and the Chinese Minister, Sir Chih Chen Lo Fang Luh, paid a long visit to the officials of the Foreign Office, and it is expected that important developments will be the outcome of the Cabinet conference, as Lord Salisbury proceeded to Windsor after the meeting.

The apprehensions as to the fate of the Europeans cut off at Tien Tsin have been sharpened by Admiral Kempff's message, which was the first definite announcement of the bombardment and destruction of the foreign concessions. But in spite of Shanghai's grim statement that the Chinese used forty-pounders and that 1,500 foreigners were massacred ther is no reason to conclude that the foreign colony has been unable to protect itself.

Shanghai also reports that Tien Tsin was bombarded for two days, and adds that the casualties were one hundred; estimates that 5,000 international troops are there, and says that now that the allied commanders at Taku are hastily pushing forward a relief, it is hoped the worst apprehensions will soon be dispelled.

Another Shanghai despatch announces that all members of the foreign community of Pei Ta Hi have arrived at CheFu on board the Nashville, but that they left all their possessions behind them.

A despatch to the Associated Press from Shanghai under this afternoon's date says five Chinese warships passed Woo Sung to-day, and that officers of the British armored cruiser Undaunted visited the Chinese commanding officer and received an assurance that the ships were under orders to act against any Boxers rising.

The superintendent of foreign telegraphs has started for Che Fu to organize a service thence to Shanghai.

MARINES READY TO START.

Detachments Held in Readiness to Start for Pekin.

London, June 22.—It is understood the Admiralty has received a despatch from the British naval commander in Chinese waters on the subject of heavy damage done to the foreign concessions at Tien Tsin, and the casualties of the international forces. This has not yet been published.

The Admiralty sent orders to Portsmouth and Plymouth this morning to hold detachments of marine artillery nd infantry in instant readiness for service in China.

It is thought in some quarters that Li Hung Chang's failure to go to Pekin indicates he is aware the situation is so bad that it is impossible for him to overcome the difficulties.

ENTERED PEKIN TOGETHER.

Seymour and the Russians Reached Chinese Capital Simultaneously.

Brussels, June 22.—The Petit Blue states that a telegram was received yesterday by an important Brussels firm from China saying that Admiral Seymour's relief force and the Russian Column entered Pekin simultaneously. The Legations were reported intact and all the Belgians residents are said to be safe.

FOURTEEN SHIPLOADS OF TROOPS.

Indian Soldiers will Sail in them for China.

Calcutta, June 22.—Fourteen transports will convey troops from India to China. All except six are already in port. The Nerbudda and Palmacotta will probably sail Sunday with the 7th Bengal Infantry.

BOMBARDING CONTINUES.

Tien Tsin Incessantly Bombarded with Large guns of the Powers.

Che Fu, June 22.—It is officially reported that the bombardment of Tien Tsin with large guns continues incessantly. The foreign concessions have nearly all been ruined and the American Consulate has been razed to the ground. The Russians are occupying the railroad station, but are hard pressed. Reinforcements are urgently needed. The casualties are heavy. The railroad is open from Tong Tau to Chin Liang Chung, half way to Tien Tsin.

DR. CLARK IS SAFE.

President of the Christian Endeavorers Escaped from Tien Tsin.

Boston, Mass., June 22.—Some anxiety has been expressed by the friends for the safety of Rev. Francis E. Clark, president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, who, with Mrs. Clark and their son, were in Tien Tsin during the massacres by the Boxers. A message just received here from Dr Clark stated that the family had arrived safely at Fusan, Corea, where they were to take the steamer for Vladivostock.

BOXERS WORKED HAVOC.

But They were Prevented from Damaging Foreign Settlements.

London, June 22.—A despatch to The Times from Shanghai says that steamers which left Taku after the bombardment of the forts there by the foreign fleet have arrived at Shanghai. Their officers report that the Boxers caused great destruction on the night of June 15 in the native city of Tien-Tsin in the presence of the foreign troops, who, however, were sufficiently strong to protect the foreign settlement.

The torpedo boat destroyer Whiting has arrived at Chefoo from Taku. She has an unexploded Chinese shell in one of her boilers. She is going to Nagasaki to repair.

The British cruiser Isis and Dido have been detached from the Mediterranean squadron and ordered to China. They have sailed for Malta.

Three more Italian cruisers are preparing to go to China. The Government is considering the adivisability of despatching 1000 troops, part of whom will possibly be Ascaris from Erythrea officered by Italians.

Germany's decision to send out two naval battaries with a total of about 2,200 men, involves the greatest undertaking of the kind that she has yet attempted, but all the departments are working together with characteristic exactness and the men will be ready in a few days.

MURAVIEFF ACTED AS A CHECK.

His Death will have an Influence upon Chinese Affairs.

New York, June 22—The sudden death of Count Muravieff is a startling incident which has an important bearing upon the China question and Russian policy says the London correspondent of The Tribune. He was the most pacific Minister of Foreign Affairs Russia had known during recent years, and exercised restraining influences over the ambitious generals.

TO TREAT THE WOUNDED.

Yokohama, June 22—The Rurik sailed for Taku yesterday. The Government has arranged to receive and treat the wounded of other poweed. The Russian wounded have already arrivad. Ships belonging to the standing squadron are are assembling at Sasebo.

RESCUED AMERICANS.

Shanghai, June 23.—The American Consul at Che Foo writes that the Nashville from Taku is bringiong 33 Americans from Pie Tai Ho.

ORDERED TO CHINA.

Col. Collard, of Halifax will Leave for Tien Tsin.

Halifax, N. S., Jue 21—Col. W. A. Collard, of the Army Service Corps, deputy assistant adjutant-general at Halifax, received orders to-day from the War Office to proceed immediately to Tien Tsin. Colonel Collard will leave Halifax on July 2nd, and Vancouver a week later. Gen Gascoigne, formerly commanding the Canadian militia, is in command of the British troops at Hong Kong.; Col. Collard has been in Halifax for four years.

UNITED WITH RUSSIA.

French Foreigners Ministers Says the Two will act Together.

Paris, June 21—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Delcasse in the Chamber of Deputies today, said he had received a despatch dated June 20th, saying that Legations and foreigners at Pekin were safe and sound June 16th.

M. Delcasse added; At the present moment we have in China 2,500 men and before long shall have 4,000 and eight cruisers, four gunboats and a des patch boat. France united with Russia will be able to work in concert with the other powers to restore orde and secure the institution of a Government capable of guaranteeing all foreigners that safety which the Chinese enjoy in France.

THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH.

ORANGEMEN ARE TO HAVE A BIG DAY IN PETERBOROUGH.

Low Fares on the Railways—From Fifteen to Twenty Thousand Strangers Expected in Town—The Town to be Beautifully Decorated.

That the Orangemen of Eastern Ontario will have a mammoth twelfth of July celebration in Peterborough is now an assured fact. Arrangements have been concluded with the different railways and steamers and these have agreed to give low rates for the various excursions to be held from outside points on that day. That Peterborough is to have such a celebration will be advertised far and wide, as posters will be sent to every part of Eastern Ontario.

The program for the affair is already prepared. At 2 p.m. the line of procession will be formed at Central Park and the principal streets of the town will be paraded. The Orangemen will return to the park, where speeches will be delivered. Mr. Joseph Jones, county master will be the chairman. Leading Orangemen and prominent clergymen will deliver addresses.

Judging from present appearances the celebration will assume gigantic proportions as it is estimated by a leading Orangemen of the town, who has been energetic in making preparations for the event, that between 8,000 and 10,000 Orangemen will participate in the parade. This means that at least 20,000 visitors will be in Peterborough on the historic 12th. The committees that have charge of the affair are making extensive preparations.

The hotels have agreed to charge reduced rates. The contract for decorating the town, has been let to Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son, who will cover all the centre of the city.

There will probably be 15 or 20 bands of music in town with the visiting Orangemen, in addition to our local bands.

BOERS ARE ENCIRCLED BY BIG BRITISH FORCE

Lord Roberts' Extensive Operations to Crush the Enemy South of the Vaal.

DUNDONALD OCCUPIED STANDERTON YESTERDAY.

General Buller Issued a Special Order Eulogizing Services of the Strathcona Horse—General DeWet's Farmhouses by British—Roberts and Powell

Kaatsbosch, June 22.

General Dundonald, with the Third Cavalry Brigade, occupied Standerton today without opposition. The burghers left yesterday after having blown up the railroad bridge and doing other damage. The infantry marched 22 miles to-day and camped at Kaatsbosch Spruit to-night.

London, June 23, 3.45 a.m.

General Steyn's force in the Orange River Colony are for the time drawing most of the attention of Lord Roberts, rather to the neglect of Commandant General Louis Botha and President Kruger. The severance between th Transvaal and the Orange River Colony was completed yesterday as Lord Roberts said it would be, by the arrival of General Buller's advance under Lord Dundonald, at Standerton. The wide net around the 8,000 men under Steyn will now contract and adroit manoeuvring and brisk fighting are likely to take place. Until all resistance south of the Vaal is at an end the British line of communications will not be safe. President Kruger's sons who surrendered to General Baden-Powell are back on their farms working peacefully. General Baden-Powell rode with only 200 men from Mafeking, and he made the last section of the ride to Pretoria with only 35. Lord Roberts met him in the outskirts of the town and escorted him to the presidency. General Dewet's farm houses have been burned by the British. General Buller has issued a special order eulogizing the services of Strathcona's Horse.

Lorenzo Marquez, June 22

President Kruger's principal condition for immediate peace is that he be allowed to stay in the country. There are 5,000 British sick and wounded at Pretoria. Mrs. Reitz wife of the Transvaal State Secretary and her family, who arrived here en route for Europe, had so little money that the Duties Consul purchased second-class steamship tickets for them.

London, June 22.—Interesting light upon the most recent phase of the South African war is given in the most recent despatch of Lord Roberts. It is evident that the Commander-in-Chief intends to remain in Pretoria until the large force of Boers in the neighborhood of Ficksburg has been cleared from his rear and line of communications. In order to effect this purpose a great movement extending over several hundred square miles of territory is in progress. The first part of this movement is in the hands of Generals Buller and Ian Hamilton. The former is moving north along the railway leading from Natal to Pretoria, while the latter is moving south to meet him. When the two generals have effected their contemplated junction at Heidelberg, fifty miles south of Johannesberg, a line of troops 300 miles in length will be drawn up on the north side of the Vaal, guarding almost the full extent of the border between the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony. This line being made secure, it is probable that Kitchener, Methuen, Rundle and Brabant who are operating south of Kroonstad with a force which must now approximate 50,000 men, will begin a concentric movement taking them towards the north. The enemy under Dewet must perforce fall back to the north, that being the only direction in which they will have room to march. This pressure will be continued until the Boers are forced across the Vaal, when it will be easy for Generals Hamilton and Buller by strategic movements to fill up the gap in the circle of troops surrounding the burghers, who, with close upon 80,000 men around them, must succumb as Cronje did at Paardeberg. There is no doubt that this is the scheme which Lord Roberts has inaugurated. To-morrow Hamilton's troops will reach Heidelberg, where on Sunday or Monday they will be joined by a portion of Buller's force, now only about 40 miles away, thus completing the cordon above referred to. It must be borne in mind also that the occupation of the railway from Klerksdorp to Johannesberg by General Hunter has already stretched a line between those two places. The junction of Buller with Hamilton will therefore complete the formation of a line of men in the shape of an irregular semi-circle, one end of which will be at Klerksdorp and the other at Volksrust, while Johannesberg occupies the centre of the arc and the Orange River Colony is towards the concave side of it. By the early part of next week the effects of these extended operations will begin to show themselves, and if a large body of Boers are not enmeshed it will be due to another exhibition of that marvelous mobility the Boers have so often shown.

ROBERTS' SWEEPING MOVEMENTS.

Extensive operations to Crush Enemy South of the Vaal.

London, June 22.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts—

"Pretoria, June 22.—Ian Hamilton's column reached the Springs yesterday en route to Heidelberg, where they will join hands with Buller's troops, who reached Paardekop yesterday, and will be at Standerton to-morrow, thus opening up communication between Pretoria and Natal and preventing any joint action between the Transvaalers and the people of the Orange River Colony.

"Baden-Powell reports from Rustenburg that he found the leading Boers very pacific and cordial on his return home journey. Commandant Steyn and two actively hostile field cornets had been captured during his absence.

"Lord Edward Cecil, the administrator of the Rustenburg district, has to date collected 3,000 rifles.

"The commissioner at Kronstad reports that 341 rifles have been handed in at Wolmaranstad."

FRANCE DECLARES WAR.

Silly Yarns Circulated by Officials to Raise the Boers' Spirits.

London, June 22.—A despatch from Lorenzo Marquez says—"The Boers have printed and posted at every corner the following—'Machadodorp, Monday — The Paris Exhibition has closed, and France has declared war against England. Fifty miles of railway had been destroyed in the Free State and 3,000 British have surrendered.

"Five miles of telegraph from Komatipoort and Koopmaiden are down and native runners traverse the distance. The Boers continue to assert that they had successes east of Pretoria.

A despatch to the Times from Lorenzo Marquez says that the Transvaal Government is in financial straits., and that President Kruger is trying to meet the emergency by issuing treasury notes, which, however, the people are refusing to accept. A proclamation has been issued making their acceptance obligatory, and declaring that those burghers who refuse to accept them will be treated as enemies of the State, and their property will be liable to confiscation.

FRENCH NEARLY SURROUNDED.

He Had Hard Work to Prevent His Cavalry Being Captured.

Pretoria, June 18, via Kroonstad, June 20, 9.50 p.m.—On Tuesday last there was hard fighting on both flanks of the Boer position, and their centre was almost impregnable, General French went to the left and entered a section of the country that was unsuitable for cavalry manoeuvres. His force was surrounded, and sustained a heavy cross-fire. They made a splendid fight, however, and the Boers retreated just as the artillery ammunition was exhausted.

[illegible] Division, advanced on the right, and General Broadwood's brigade became involved rather seriously. While advancing between high kopjes against the Boers in their front they were surprised by a close cross-fire from Boers in a mealie field and on surrounding kopjes. The number of Boers increased rapidly, and their rifle fire caused much damage among the artillery horses.

The Boers advanced over a rise in the ground for 500 or 600 yards, but were checked by artillery fire. Then the 12th Lancers on the right made a frontal charge, while the Household Cavalry went to the right and cleared the mealie field.

It was in this fight that the Earl of Airlie was killed. After it was over he was found with a bullet through his heart. Colonel Egerton Green was wounded in the thigh and taken prisoner. He has been heard of since as doing well. There were very few casualties among the British, considering the short range at which the fighting took place.

No Transvaalers took part in the engagement. The entire force that opposed the British was made up of Hollanders who have settled in the Transvaal, colonial rebels and foreign mercenaries. During the engagemnt two of the British guns were firing towards the front and two others towards the rear.

110 YEARS OLD.

Death of an Aged Indian at Chemong Lake on Monday Last,

The death took place on Monday last at the Indian village of Chemong of Mr. George Taylor, a member of the ancient tribe of Mississauga Indians, a remnant of which occupies the reserve on the banks of Chemong Lake.

The late Mr. Taylor was probably the oldest Indian in the province and was known all over the province as an expert canoeist and hunter. His family still reside on the reserve.

The deceased was a man of wonderful vitality and of a very robust constitution. He leaves behind him a large number of descendants—children, grand-children, and great grand children.

THAT FLAG AGAIN.

One of the Buffalo papers publishes a letter from a woman in St. Catherines declaring that she intends to hoist on her house all the Stars and Stripes she can find on the 4th of July.

There is no reason why a lady who is a native of the United States should be denied the right to celebrate her national holiday in any way that recommends itself to her ladylike mind. But this woman should understand that the privilege of decorating her house with United States flags without attracting hoodlums to tear down those banners and to smash her windows is not guaranteed her by the Buffalo newspapers, or by international law, but is a purely voluntary exhibition of tolerance and good sense which she might well report to her countrymen at home with the recommendation that they follow the example when our flag is thrown to the breeze in the United States.

If an American woman in St. Catherines nurses the ambition to be the heroine of some kind of a Barbara Frietchie incident, she should be taken aside by some male relative and informed that she is away from home and should put on all her company manners, and at least pretend that she appreciates the courtesies extended to her.

If she hangs out flags in a holiday spirit and because she is happy and glad she is alive, perish the hand that would molest her decorations; but if she flaunts her foreign flags in a spirit of impertinence with the object of offending if possible the good-natured people among whom she lives, she will probably not have reason to gloat over the success of her long-premeditated impudence.

There is too much namby-pamby talk in the Canadian papers about allowing the people of the United States to show all the foolishness on the flag question. "Let them show how narrow they are by tearing down our flag over there, but let us float theirs with ours on all public occasions to show that there is nothing mean about us." So they talk, these editors with passionless and patent insides. We are just about as tired of that as possible. We have been showing that there is "nothing mean about us" until along the St. Lawrence and Detroit Rivers where the two countries may be said to tongue and groove into each other, there appears to be nothing at all of us, mean or otherwise. Without the least delicacy or desire to please, people of the same class as the St. Catherines woman shove the American flag everywhere and are encouraged to do it, yet they belong to the very class that refuses to tolerate our flag in Detroit, or in any of the cities across the border.

However, we would advise nobody to interfere with the United States flag if it is hung out on a national holiday by a citizen of that country. Extend to them that courtesy. But Canadians should stop it. Even if they do have to pay a little more for them, they should exclusively use their own flags.

Eating and Sleeping

Food supplies the substance for repairing the wastes of the body, and gives strength. Sleep affords the opportunity for these repairs to be made. Both are necessary to health. If you can't eat and sleep, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It creates a good appetite and tones the digestive organs, and it gives the sweet, restful sleep of childhood. Be sure to get Hood's.

Billiousness is cured by Hood's Pills, 25 cents.

A Maid and Two Swords.

Mademoiselle de Lalanne was in a gay mood that night. She was very happy and might therefore have been expected to be kind. On the contrary, with a woman's title to the unexpected, she was filled for a moment with a kind of radiant malice; an impulse to be delicately cruel lurked behind the tender scarlet curve of her lips, and the wide innocence of her bewildering eyes hid very successfully a merciless desire to wound the two men who hung upon her words. From time to time, after a coquetry more audacious than usual, she would glance half-repentantly at the closed door, as if looking for yet another visitor. Her mother, Madame de Lalanne, an elderly gentlewoman of Quebec, who had declined into a rustic dullness after years of life among the good country-folk of Acadia, dozed over her knitting beside the ample hearth.

Mademoiselle was dressed in a short-ish skirt of the pattern worn by the country girls. The material, however, was not of the course wool of the district, but a heavy homespun linen bleached to the tint of cream; the bodice was of the same stuff, with sleeves turned back at the elbows to show arms that were slim almost to thinness, but milk-white and bewitchingly molded. Over her shoulders was thrown carelessly a shawl of fine silk, but no blacker than the silken hair above it. On her small, slim feet, one of which kept restlessly tapping the floor, she wore shoes of fine scarlet leather. These little shoes every girl in Acadia had heard of and discussed with jealous admiration; but few indeed, even of the Grand Premaids, had seen them, for the De Lalannes, mindful of their past seigneurial pride, maintained much of their aloofness amid their changed fortunes.

Beautiful was her face, broad-browed finely chiseled, white with the warm whiteness of ivory, it was above all her eyes that made Maria de Lalanne the wonder of all Acadia. When she turned their dark radiance from time to time full upon her two cavaliers, both felt their heart jump painfully, and each burned with a fierce impulse to pitch the other from the nearest window.

This tempting window, low and broad, looked out across a snowy slope that sparkled under the full moon. At the foot of the slope, visable from mademoiselle's chair, a close hedge of young fir trees hid the channel of the Gaspereau river. A sullen grinding roar from the flood-tide achafe among the ice-cakes was heard in the quiet room whenever the light talk flagged. It flagged often, as moments of absent-mindedness crossed mademoisell's whimsical mood; but it never flagged for long, seeing that it was her pleasure to be gay that night. The white moonlight, too, came in through the window and mixed curiously with the leaping red firelight and the pale yellow of the two candles that stood on the brick chimneypiece, and added inextricable complications to the enigmatic lights that flamed softly from mademoiselle's eyes.

The two young men upon whose passions she was playing so recklessly had come to Frand Pre village that same evening from opposite directions. Both had made all haste out over the hill to the old farmhouse by the Gaspereau. Captain Barras, journeying on snow-shoes from the French post at Chignecto, had arrived first, flushed with elation at finding mademoiselle alone—for Madame de Lalanne was ever too sunk in old dreams to count as a personality. Scarcely had he bowed his devoirs over the little, restless white hand which mademoiselle was wont to use as mercilessly as her eyes, when there came from the hunting fields behind La Heve the spare, sombre-suited, silent figure of Jean Michel Landry de Latour, the proud and impoverished descendant of the De Latours of Port Royal and St John.

Now, on the coming of Captain Barras mademoiselle had not been overgracious. She had been merely ennuyee. It was when De Latour arrived that the caprice of gaiety had seized upon her. What were these unencouraged suitors for, indeed, if not to furnish amusement through the hour of waiting before her? On the instant she was all gracious.

"I trust your absence from Grand Pre has not seemed as long to you as it has for us, monsieur!" she murmured, as De Latour kissed her finger-tips and shot a glance of dark disdain at Barras.

The Captain's mouth grew dry suddenly, as he perceived inu this changed demeanor of his hostess an explanation of the chill civility which had greeted his own arrival. But in the next moment these resistless eyes flashed upon him something that thrilled like a caress; and straightway, remembering all that he was and his rival was not—rich, handsome, and in high favor with the Governor at Quebec—he returned the newcomer's glance with interest.

When mademoiselle presented the two, De Latour's curt formality was a veiled declaration of war, while the elaborate courtesy of Barras was an exquisite insolence. And mademoiselle was sinfully delighted.

The demeanor of the two men contracted sharply. Barras, not long from the revels and lightness of Quebec, hung boldly on mademoiselle's glance, and his vanity was facile game to her. He could not take his eyes from her face, except to dart an occasional look of supercilious impatience at the intruder, who, as he now felt convinced, alone stood in the way of his congest. De Latour, on the other hand, while ever seeking the glances which enthralled him, seemed ever unable to endure their light. Whenever he encountered them he would drop his now eyes—and quietly fearless eyes they were in the customary matters of battle and peril—from the too dazzling brillancy of her fact to the daintiness of her scarlet shoes. He seldom troubled to look at his rival; but his reserve managed somehow to express quite unmeasured depths of contempt. He spoke little, even to mademoiselle, but that little always had point. The burden of the conversation was borne by Barras, who had a flow of glittering compliment at command. Mademoiselle de Lalanne had but to direct the game, now with deft turn of phrase, now with a smile, now with a swift look; and with such wicked nicety of skill did she direct it that within the half-hour the air of that peaceful chamber seemed full of swords. At this point, however, she kept things under curb, so that neither man dared in the least degree ruffle the shining surface of civility she had spread between them. Madame de Lalanne sank so deep into her dreams that her knitting fell unheeded to the floor and was seized upon by a gratified black kitten. One of the candles on the chimney-piece guttered spitefully and went out. The ghostly patch of moonlight moved across the floor till it touched and paled the scarlet of mademoiselle's shoes. Then, on a sudden, just as she opened her lips for some cally more sweetly envenomed than any that had gone before, the faint sound of a footstep in another part of the house caught her ear. No one else heard it; but it was what she was waiting for. Her face softened and she sprang up.

"Excuse me, messieurs," she said hastily; "I have forgotten something." And in a breath she was gone, closing the door behind her and leaving the two men to stand with blank faces staring after her.

So they stood for a moment, then turned to each other. De Latour spoke first.

"Your society is distasteful to me, Captain Barras!" said he coldly.

"I can quite imagine it, monsieur!" murmured Barras, with the most courteous intonion. "Different, I suppose from that to which you are accustomed!"

De Latour smiled grimly. Mere verbal repartee seemed to him little worth while when the report of the sword was in question.

"Nevertheless," said he, "I could tolerate it for a short time under other conditions. Behind yonder fir trees there is a level space by the side of the water, where the moon shines clearly. I could meet you there with pleasure, so it be at once monsieur!"

Barras' bold eyes flashed. This was just what he wanted. Yet, for the mere insolence of it, he affected to hesitate.

"Your appearance is against you, monsieur," he drawled; "but—yes, you are received by Mademoiselle de Lalanne, and therefore I may without dishonor cross swords with you. His Excellency would understand, I am sure." Suddenly dropping his fine manners, he went out brusquely, leaving De Latour to follow. But the iron

Walking to Work

Is the only way in which the business woman, employed in store or office, can get open air exercise. Is it any wonder that she often grows pale and thin and develops a tendency to "weak lungs." Whenever there is pain in breathing, soreness of the chest, obstinate cough, bleeding from the lungs or any other symptoms of disease of the respiratory organs, begin the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and continue the use until cured. Ninety-eight in every hundred who have used "Golden Medical Discovery" for "lung trouble," have been perfectly and permanently cured.

"I was very sick indeed," writes Mrs. Mollie Jacobs, of Felton, Kent Co., Delaware, "and our family doctor said I had consumption. I thought I must die soon for I felt so awful bad. Had a bad cough, spit blood, and was very short of breath. I had pains in my chest and right lung, also had dyspepsia. Before I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' I was so weak I could not sweep a room, now I can do a small washing. I feel like a new person."

TORONTO

A Maid and Two Swords.

face of the woodranger (for such he was) was introubled by the insult. He felt only compassion for the ignorance of a Canadian who knew not the precedence of the De Latours.

The two strode in silence, side by side, down the crisply glittering slope, their distorted black shadows dancing grotesquely behind them. When they were within about a hundred paces of the fir grove Mademoiselle de Lalanne returned to her room they had so hastily forsaken. Her face was now more softly radiant, and the laughing malice had died out of her eyes. Close at her skirts came a tall, fair-haired, ruddy-featured man, with 'English" written large all over him. His eyes rested for a moment on madame's slumbering form in her big chair, and then swept the empty spaces quizzically..

"Your fine birds have flown, sweetheart?" he exclaimed, with a boyish laugh..

Mademoiselle was at the window in time to note the direction of their flight. At a glance she understood the imminent results of her conquetry. Pale with sudden fear, she turned and clutched her companion's arm..

"Oh, Jack!" she cried, 'they have gone away to fight. Quick! quick! stop them!"

The Englishman laughed again—but very softly, so as not to waken madame—and looked down into her face. He was thinking of her eyes, of her lips, and he only half-heard her words.

"Stop what?" he asked, stooping with a swift moment to kiss her. But she sprang back, angry and frightened.

"Stop them, I say Jack.. They are going to fight, and perhaps they'll kill each other; and it's all my fault. I've been very wicked. Oh! I'll go myself"; and she darted out of the room.

At this he awoke. He caught her before she was out of the house and clutched her firmly.

"It's an awful thing, sweet," said he, "to interfere between two indignant gentlemen who have a right to disagree in their own way. But if you say so, I'll do it. What shall I say to them? How is it your fault?"

"Oh, stupid! Can't you see how wicked I've been? I've made them both think I cared for them; I've made them furiously jealous! I was so tired waiting for you to come! And now if they're killed I'll never speak to you again."

Jack Moleby's face broke into a grin of delighted comprehension.

"Wretch!" he retorted, 'I go!" and made off down the snow with long strides. Throwing a hooded cloak about her and thrusting her feet, red shoes and all, into white, fur-lined moccasins, mademoiselle sped after him.

The wintery air was crisp and clear, and with a fine frosty sting in it. There was no wind whatever. There was not a sound but the grinding of the tide among the ice cakes. The light was almost like full day in the little white glade were the two Frenchmen faced each other with swords at the salute. The next moment the sibilant whisper of the steel began, deadly in its soft reserve; and the easy superciliousness of the smile on Barra's face changed to a look as stern as his adversary's as he felt the dangerous competence of the wrist opposed to him.

The two fought in their vests, their coats lying upon the snow near by. In skill they appeared to be well matched, and De Latour, who had never before met any one at all his equal in fence, began to conceive an unwilling respect for the coxcomb captain. In fact, he had just, by the merest hairbreath, escaped a scratch, when, from the edge of the grove, a voice of sharp authority rang out 'Halt!' and Captain Jack's tall figure appeared suddenly beside them.

With instant and instinctive obedience both men sprang back and dropped their points; then, in the next second, both turned indignantly upon the intruder.

"Who are you?" demanded De Latour curtly.

"And by what right, if I may ask, you interfere in our pastime?" inquired Barras.

Captain Jack, who was more embarrassed than he would have cared to show, chose to answer the latter question.

"By no right, gentlemen," he replied heartily; "and I beg to apologize in the fullest manner I know, too. I owe you satisfaction for my abruptness, and of course I am quite ready to afford it to you both if you demand it. I beg you rather to accept my apology."

"We can discuss that later on," said De Latour in tones of ice; "and meanwhile, Captain Barras, with your consent, we will resume."

But before the blades could cross again the Englishman stepped forward sharply, his own sword half drawn.

"Realy, gentlemen," he began, in a voice of mastery, "I must insist that you stop fighting. No more of it, I say!" and his blood began to get hot. Then he remembered that he would certainly not be fulfilling Marie's wishes if he should himself kill one, or perhaps both, of these impetuous and infuriated Frenchmen; and the thought gave him pause. He considered the situation very awkward altogether.

Both men faced him. "This is astonishing, truely," exclaimed Barras, with a biting sneer. "I think we had better have an explanation before we go on with our own affair."

But now Jack Moleby had an inspiration. He would try diplomacy. Replacing his sword, and relapsing into his customary large good humor, he smiled genially upon the scowling faces.

"You see, gentlemen, I hated to disturb you, but I had to do as I was commanded. Mademoiselle de Lalanne sent me with positive orders to stop the fight at any cost. In my stupidity I thought I might have to fight you both in order to obey her. of any concern to you, that you will do each other no injury. She beseeches you to promise that you will put, your quarrel, whatever it may be, for ever by; without which promise she declares that she will live in ceaseless anxiety. I think, gentlemen, from my observation of her solicitude in this matter, But I should have known, as soon as I saw the courtly gentlemen you were, that my one effective weapon would be words, conceived himself to be the one in her regard."

Each, on hearing these sagacious that one or the other of you must be honored by a very distinguished place the expression of her wishes. She simply implores you, if her happiness is so honored. Into De Latour's cold eyes came a gleam of elation.

"Mademoiselle de Lalanne's wishes are a command, monsieur," said he, sheating his sword. "I need no apology from you for having obeyed them. Rather should I wish to hold you to account had you failed to fulfill them to the letter."

"I thank you, monsieur, with all my heart," replied Captain Jack, bowing and biting back a smile. "And you, monsieur," he went on, turning to Barras, "have I grace from you also for my somewhat blundering zeal?"

Barras' face, no longer that of the fearless and inexorable swordsman, wore now a simper of pleased vanity. The coxcomb was back.

"Mademoiselle's wishes are my law," said he, bowing elaborately; "and he who carries them out is my ensample."

With another ceremony to De Latour he slipped his sword back into its place, as he to say. "Let there be peace between us."

At this moment mademoiselle came tripping from the grove, the hood of her cloak half-fallen back from her hair. She came up to the Englishman's side and laid her hand lightly on his arm. Upon the two swordsmen she turned a smile of subjugating sweetness.

"With all my heart I thank you, gentlemen," she said, "for your gracious courtesy in yielding to my wishes. Let us go back to the house, and I will ask you to take a glass of wine with me to the long continuance of friendship between two such gallant gentlemen as I well know you to be."

Both men stood bowing, each with his hand on his heart, and each boiling inwardly at sight of those small fingers on the Englishman's sleeve. There was a brief pause, during mademoiselle flushed faintly and her eyelids fluttered down. Then she went on steadily.

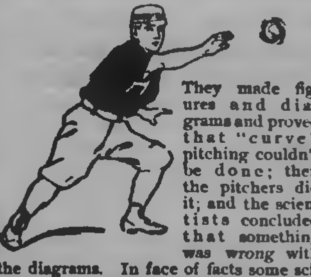
"And let me present you, Captain Barras, and to you, Monsieur de Latour, my dear friend Captain Moleby of the English garrison at Halifax. It is my prayer, gentlemen, that when your flag and his are again at war, as is like to be soon, he may not find such swords as yours opposed to him, for he is my betrothed. I commend him to your kind good-will."

The two Frenchmen met each other's eyes with a glance of mutual compression, murmured some inarticulate compliments and hid their discomfiture in the final-bitterness of permitting Captain Jack to help them on with their coats.

It was one of the triumphs of Captain Jack Moleby's career that he did not smile.

THE BASE-BALL CRANK.

It ought to interest a great many people besides base-ball cranks to know that when a ball "curves" through the air first one way and then another after leaving the pitcher's hand, it does what scientific men once declared was imposible.



They made figures and diagrams and proved that "curve" pitching couldn't be done; then the pitchers did it; and the scientists concluded that something was wrong with the diagrams. In face of facts some scientific "certainties" become mighty uncertain.

Consumption, scientists once declared, was incurable; now they see it cured every day by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It purifies and vitalizes the blood; drives out the poisonous elements; supplies the life-giving red corpuscles; stops the accumulation of morbid deposits; heals and builds up the lung tissues; puts good solid muscular flesh on to the frame; and imparts fresh nerve-force and vital energy. It is the most perfect cure ever discovered for throat and bronchial affections, wasted, run-down conditions; and all diseases due to impoverished blood.

It is the invention of an educated and experienced physician. Dr. Pierce has been for nearly thirty years chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and his medicines are recognized standard remedies.

"Some five or six years ago I had a bad cough and got so low with it that I could not sit up long at a time," writes Mrs. Mittie Gray, of New London, Union Co., Ark. "We called our family physician, and he told my husband that I had consumption. All of our neighbors thought so too. I had pains through my chest and spit up blood. I commenced with your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and had only taken it two or three days when I felt like a different person. I took four bottles of the medicine and it cured my cough. I have not been bothered since, until a short time ago I took cold and commenced to cough again; I got a bottle of the 'Discovery' and it relieved me at once. I think it is the best medicine in the world. It saved my life. I don't think any one would die of consumption if they would take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I recommend it to all my friends, and tell them what it did for me."

"About six years ago my health began to fail," writes Miss Mollie Buttry, of Sneedville, Hancock Co., Tenn. "I was weak and nervous, had catarrh in the head, and indigestion—everything I ate hurt me and caused me to have palpitation of the heart. My lungs were weak, was troubled with asthma a great deal, and was so despondent I did not take any interest in anything. I tried several doctors, and every kind of medicine I could hear of, but nothing seemed to do me any good only for a little while at a time. About one year ago I was almost a skeleton and had almost given up ever being well again. A friend advised me to write to Dr. Pierce about my case, and I did so, and followed the advice he gave me. I began at once to use the medicines that he prescribed—'Golden Medical Discovery,' three bottles, and the 'Favorite Prescription,' one bottle, and the little 'Pleasant Pellets.' I can truly say they did me great good. I can now eat anything I want, work all day, sleep well, and I weigh one hundred and twenty-three pounds—nearly as much as I ever weighed in my life."

It would save doctor bills for any family to have a copy of Dr. Pierce's splendid thousand-page free book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," explaining the laws of life and health in clear and interesting language, with many valuable suggestions and receipts for curing common ailments by simple home-treatment. It has over three hundred illustrations and colored plates. A strong paper-bound copy will be sent absolutely free, on receipt of 31 cents in one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N.Y. A handsome cloth-bound, beautifully stamped copy will be sent for 50 stamps. This popular work contains important information for the young and old, both male and female, single and married, not heretofore published in this country, for the non-professional reader.

Henry Perdue, of Grafton, an old pensioner who served at Inkerman and Alma, died in the indigent department of the county jail at Cobourg, last week, aged 68 years.

The season has arrived when the average man is beginning to wonder where he will spend his vacation. Most of us will have so little else to spend that it won't worry us much.

Some Reasons Why...

Scottish-Canadian Stock (Rob Roy Mines) is a good investment.

1—The Specially liability, (none beyond the amount originally subscribed for stock.)
2—The large area of rich mineral lands owned by the Company.
3—The abnormal richness of the ores of the district (ours assays over $100.00 to the ton.)
4—The enormous amount of ore we can show on the properties, and which we are now working to get at by tunneling.
5—The comparative ease of working and good transportation facilities.
6—The great improvement as work progresses.
7—The safe conservative management and administration of investors' money.
8—The likelihood of an early advance in price of shares.

The above is a combination hard to beat! It eliminates all undue risk and renders an investment infinitely safer than mining share investments usually are, and makes the outlook for large profits soon, very encouraging. Not much more stock will be available at Fifteen cents per share. Send or call for particulars.

The Circus Went By.

Lemon Bros.' circus skipped Peterborough but took in places east and west. This city has the reputation of being a good "show town," and why wasn't. This town has the reputation of or stated last evening that the license fee is the cause, and that show men will not pay the exorbitant fee demanded.

"Bob's" Kindly Act.

Lord Roberts besides beings great General, is also thoughtful in little matters. When it was learned that Capt Macdonald was wounded, he wired as follows to the Governor-General:

Pretoria residence, June 20.—Please inform Mrs. Macdonell, Gilmour St. Peterborough, husband's bullet extracted. Doing well, practically out of danger. (Signed) ROBERTS.

The Two Routes.

The Port Hope Canal Association has issued a map showing the two proposed routes for the Trent Valley Canal from Rice Lake to Lake Ontario. One has its outlet at Port Hope and the other at Trenton. The distance via Port Hope is 19 1-2 miles and via Trenton 58 1-2 miles, a difference of 39 miles. The cost via Trenton is estimated at $5,000,000 and via Port Hope $1,500,000. The Port Hope route is represented as perfectly feasible. It is said there would be almost no rock-cutting and added to this is the fact that the latter place has an excellent harbor, with 14 feet of water.

A New Potato Bug.

A new potato bug has made its appearance in city gardens—a more voracious insect than the Colorado importation. Up to date, opportunity has not been afforded for identifying the pest, but growers may readily recognize it by its ash-gray color, and its long thin body. Unlike the fellow so generally known, the new arrival in its adult form, does the mischief, instead of delegating the duty of devouring foliage to its offspring. A few days' neglect of its depredation will suffice to ensure naked stalks, and therefore the wise growers will, on its discovery, promptly administer a dose of paris green.

A PROSPEROUS INSTITUTION.

Twenty-Fifth Annual General Meeting of the Imperial Bank Shareholders.

The 25th annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Imperial Bank of Canada took place at the head office of the institution, Toronto, on the 20th instant. The result of the year's operations must be gratifying to the shareholders.

Mr. D. R. Wilkie, General Manager, gave an interesting review of the history of the bank, which enjoys the unique distinction of having had the same President, the same Vice-President and the same General Manager for over 25 years. According to the first annual balance sheet, issued in 1876, the note circulation amounted to $310,902, the deposits to $1,576,000 the capital stock $804,883, the rest account $25,000 and the total assets $3,129,735. In 1886 the circulation had grown to $896,000, the deposits were $4,427,000 capital stock $1,500,000, rest account $500,000 and the total assets $7,650,394. In 1896 the circulation was $1,202,000, deposits $9,208,000. capital account $1,964,000, rest account $1,157,000, and the total assets $13,736,134. This rapid growth is eclipsed by the figures for the past year. The total assets have increased to $20,308,000, circulation to $1,710,477, deposits to $14,137,778, capital to $2,458 603 and rest account to $1,700,000. The current loans and discounts, like the note circulation, indicate the demands of the business community. They have increased from $2,131,000 in 1870 to $4,506,000 in 1886, to $7,428,000 in 1896. and to $11,289,000 in the year just closed.

We congratulate the management on this splendid showing which will afford pleasant reading to the bank's many friends in Eastern Ontario.

He says, "Some time ago a sister who had been ill, wrote to me of the good she had obtained from the use of Grape-Nuts food two meals a day and that all the family made great use of the food. She recommended it very strongly to me.

"I had to take time supposed this was a luxury and had not tried it, but I sent for some and for quite a little time, depended largely on Grape-Nuts, with a surprising result. I have largely lost my taste for meat and am unusually strong, walking a long distance daily, which for some years has been almost impossible.

"I live in a studio and have neither time nor room to cook, therefore the Grape-Nuts being ready cooked, come in as an especial boon and I felt I must thank you.

"The Postum Cereal Coffee I have used a long time, and if that comes from you, it must make me feel a share of thanks also." [illegible], [illegible] St., New York City.

R. D. WILKIE, General Manager.

The General Manager said--

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—

This bank was incorporated under 36 Vic., Cap. 74, on the 23rd of May, 1873. Out of the eleven prominent citizens who applied for the charter only four are alive to-day; none of the four were, however, ever intimately connected with the bank.

On the 28th May, 1874, the name of the bank was changed from that of the Imperial Bank to that of the Imperial Bank of Canada, but all efforts to obtain subscriptions to the stock sufficient to establish the bank were ineffectual until some time in December, 1874, when this task was successfully undertaken by Mr. H. S. Howland, who was elected President at the first meeting of shareholders, held on February 25, 1875. Mr. T. R. Merritt, then President of the Niagara District Bank, was elected Vice-President My own appointment was made by the directors on the same day, so that the institution occupies the rather unique position of having had the same President, the same Vice-President and the same General Manager for over twenty-five years.

The bank opened its doors for business on the 18th of March, 1875, in the Masonic Hall, Toronto street. A portion of our present premises were purchased and occupied in 1876.

On the 8th of April, 1875, an act was passed providing for the amalgamation of the Niagara District Bank with the Imperial Bank of Canada. The amalgamation was consummated on the 1st of July, 1875.

Although we are fortunate in having with us three of those who were directors of the bank in 1875, viz., Messrs. Howland, Merritt and Ramsay, we have since our organization to regret the loss by death of no less than eight of those who have had seats on the board from time to time, viz., Messrs. J. R. Benson, Hon. Alexander Morris, John Smith, John Fisken, Hugh Ryan, P. Hughes, T. R. Wadsworth and Hon. John Ferguson. Turning to the staff we have still in our service six of those who were with us on the first of July, 1875. Besides myself there are Mr. C. M. Arnold, who was then and still is the Manager of the branch in St. Catharines; Mr. Jennings, at present Manager of the Toronto branch; Mr. Hay, at present Chief Inspector of the bank; Mr. O. F. Rice, at present manager of the Yonge street branch, and Mr. W. H. Henderson, who has been the faithful head messenger of the bank since its organization.

I am mentioning these early incidents in our career, believing that they will be of interest to many of you who have subsequently become shareholders in the institution.

I have had prepared a comparative statement of the liabilities and assets of the bank for the past twenty-five years which it is proposed to publish and distribute amongst the shareholders. I may be permitted in the meantime to furnish you with some of the more important features therein detailed—

The first annual balance sheet was dated 22nd of June, 1876, and was presented to the shareholders on the 5th of July, 1876. The notes of the bank in circulation then amounted to $310,902, the deposits to $1,576,000, the capital stock $804,883, the rest account $25,000; the total assets amounted to $3,129,735.

In 1886 the circulation had grown to $896,000, the deposits to $4,427,000, capital stock to $1,500,000, rest account to $500,000; the total assets amounted to $7,650,394.

In 1896 the circulation stood at $1,202,000, deposits $9,208,000, capital account $1,964,000, rest account $1,157,000, and total assets $13,736,134.

This, I suppose, you will say, was a marvellous growth, but the increase in the amount of these items during the four years which ended 31st of May, 1900, is still more striking. You will note by the statement in your hands that there has been an increase of over $500,000 in circulation, of nearly $5,000,000 in deposits; capital has increased $500,000; rest account has increased $550,000; the total assets have grown from $13,736,000 in 1896 to $20,308,000 in 1900, as compared with $3,130,000 on 1st of May, 1875.

What are known as current loans, which comprise the ordinary mercantile loans, and are irrespective of loans on bonds and stocks, increased from $2,131,000 in 1876 to $4,506,000 in 1886, to $7,428,000 in 1896, and to $11,289,000 in 1900.

The profits of the bank for the past year amounted to nearly 16 per cent. upon the paid-up capital of the bank, in addition to which the shareholders through the allotment of new stock have or can realize a further profit of nearly 6 1-2 per cent. upon their investment as it stood on this day last year. It is a matter of great satisfaction to me, as it must be to the directors, to know that this gratifying result has been realized during what may be appropriately called the "Silver Wedding Year" of the two institutions which came together twenty-five years ago.

It may interest you to know that the number of the shareholders of the bank was on the 31st of May, 1900, 715, as compared with 657 in 1899, indicating a widening interest in the affairs of the bank by investors generally.

I am happy to say that our share list is not confined to the Province of Ontario. We have a considerable number of shareholders in the Maritime Provinces, and in the Province of Quebec, besides others in Manitoba and British Columbia.

We are now almost on the fringe of a new century, and have already started upon what would be known in sporting parlance as our "second quarter"; let us hope that when the golden wedding day arrives it will find many of us present at its celebration, enjoying continued prosperity.

Before sitting down I wish to say that although I have not on this occasion gone into any explanation of the balance sheet—not thinking such explanation necessary—I shall, with the permission of the chair, be most pleased to answer any inquiries regarding the items therein contained.

The customary resolutions were moved and adopted.

The scrutineers appointed at the meeting reported the following gentlemen duly elected directors for the ensuing year, viz.,—H. S. Howland, T. R. Merritt, Wm. Ramsay, Robert Jaffray, T. Sutherland Stayner, Elias Rogers, William Hendrie.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Mr. H. S. Howland was re-elected President and Mr. T. R. Merritt Vice-President for the ensuing year.

By order of the Board.
D. R. WILKIE,
General Manager.

THE SITUATION IN CHINA IS WORSE THAN EVER!

Three Thousand Internationals at Tien Tsin Hard Pressed, Fighting for Life.

SEYMOUR AND HIS 2,000 MEN NOT HEARD FROM

Observers on the Spot Think That 100,000 Men to Grasp the Situation in China—British Admiralty Order Five More Cruisers to Proceed to China.

London, June 25, 3 a.m. The position of the International forces in the section of Northern China, where 10,000 men are trying to keep a footing and to succor the Legation in Pekin appears to increase in peril with every fresh despatch. Pekin has not been heard from direct for fourteen days. The last despatch was one imploring aid. Admiral Seymour's column of 2,000 men was last heard from twelve days ago. At that time it was surrounded midway between Pekin and Tien Tsin. Possibly now it has reached Pekin. The 3,000 Internationals at Tien Tsin were hard pressed and fighting for their lives on Thursday, and a relieving force of less than a thousand had been beaten back to Taku Friday. Observers on the spot think that 100,000 men would not be too many to grasp China from them. The admiralty has received the following from the British Rear Admiral at Taku Che Foo, June 23.—Only one runner has got through from Tien Tsin for five days. No information could be obtained except that the foreign settlement had been almost totally destroyed and that our people were fighting hard. News is received as this telegram is despatched that an attempt to relieve Tien Tsin on June 22 was repulsed with some loss. The telegram also said—The allied admirals are working in perfect accord, with the Russian Vice-Admiral as senior officer. A press message from Shanghai dated yesterday at 4 p.m. embodies some later information. It says official telegrams confirm the reports of a defeat of the allied forces at Tien Tsin. The foreigners there are now placed in a most desperate situation. The Russian admiral, Hiolledrat, yesterday sent a mixed force of 4,000 from Taku to attempt the relief of Tien Tsin. Nearly half of the force consisted of Japanese. The remainder was made up of contingents representing the other nations. The guns of the Chinese around Tien Tsin are superior to any that the defending European force has or is likely to have for some time. The bombardment of Tien Tsin continued Friday. Bomb shelters were hastily erected by the foreign troops, largely constructed of wetted piece goods. The food supplies are insufficient and the continued shelling is reported to be telling terribly. Among those killed of the relief force Friday was the commander of H.M.S. Barfleur. The foreign casualties were 300.

Japan is making every effort. Her troops are now arriving at Taku in large numbers. The Chinese troops in the province of Chi Li include fifty thousand auxiliaries who have been drilled by Russian and German officers. It was reported from Shanghai had blown up the Taku forts and that every available man had been sent to the relief of Tien Tsin. Two thousand three hundred Chinese bodies are alleged to have been cremated at Taku, and more than 4,000 are said to have been killed at Tien Tsin. A Che Foo despatch to the Daily Mail says—Practically the whole of Northern China is in rising. Hostilities are now conducted on an extended scale, due to direct orders from Pekin. General Yann Shoi Kai Governor of Shan Tung, commands 11,000 foreign drilled troops, organized to a high pitch of excellence, and equipped with Mausers.

It was in the plans that these troops should go to Taku, but the seizure of the pile was effected before they could get there. The powers are said to have fatally underestimated the numbers disposition and arms of the Chinese, who for three years have been accumulating rifles at the rate of 30,000 a month.

Washington, June 25. The Navy Department this afternoon issued the following bulletin— 'A telegram from Admiral Kempff, dated at Che Foo, June 24, says—"In ambuscade near Tien Tsin, on the 21st, four of Waller's command killed and seven wounded. Force of 2,000 going to relieve Tien Tsin to-day.

London, June 25. The Shanghai correspondent of the Times says—Sheng, director of telegraphs, declares that information was received today, Friday, June 22, to the effect that the foreigners in Pekin were safe on Wednesday.

London, June 25. At Canton the Boxers are posting inflammatory placards, of which the following is a sample—"Kill all Germans, French, Americans and English. To have peace prevail in the hearts of Chinamen; Europeans should be driven out. This end can be attained in a few days if we unite our strength." The British Admiralty has ordered five more cruisers to go to China. This represents an additional force of 3,000 men.

London, June 25. A despatch from Shanghai, dated yesterday, says—Sheng says he has news from Pekin, by courier to Shan Tung, that the foreign ministers are demanding their passports, and that the Tsang Li Yamen is disposed to comply with their requests. If this news be true, it would imply the correctness of the reports of the arrival of Admiral Seymour at Pekin June 20, but that all the Legations had been burned, except the British, Austrian and Belgian.

TRYING TO BREAK THE LINE.

Americans and Russians Fight with Chinese Near Tien-Tsin.

Washington, June 23.—Acting Secretary Hackett this morning received a despatch from Admiral Kempff, dated Chee Foo, June 23, to the effect that our marines, under Major Waller, together with four hundred Russians, have had an engagement with the Chinese army near Tien Tsin. They could not break through the line. A force numbering 2,000, the admiral reports, is now ready to make another attempt.

The main importance of this despatch is Admiral Kempff's disclosure that it is the Chinese army, and not the Boxers, who are fighting the allied troops.

HEAVY LOSSES in TIEN TSIN.

Forty-five Guns Pour Shot and Shell Upon the Isolated Garrison.

London, June 23.—Special despatches from Shanghai, dates yesterday at 4.20 in the evening, state that Tien Tsin has been incessantly bombarded for the last three days. The entire British and French settlements have been destroyed. Heavy casualties are reported.

The Chinese number at least fifteen thousand inside the city. Their emissaries crowd the foreign quarters and set fire to the buildings. The Chinese guns are being worked steadily from the walls of the native city. The consulates all being destroyed, the foreigners flock to the town hall. The assistance of reinforcements is implored. The Russians are now entrenched in the depot. They are resisting the advance which the enemy is making in overwhelming numbers.

No word has been received from Admiral Seymour, and it is feared that the relief column fared badly. There is an exodus of foreigners from the Yang Tse Kiang forts to Shanghai and Japan. Many consider Shanghai unsafe owing to the absence of foreign troops.

THE LEGATIONS HOLD OUT.

Chinese Have Not Yet Overcome the Foreigners in Pekin.

Shanghai, June 23.—Prince Tuan has taken charge as General-in-Chief, after dismissing Young Li, a nephew of the Empress, the former Commander-in-Chief. Prince Tuan gave notice that he would march to Tien Tsin and sweep out the handful of foreigners there. At daylight on the morning of June 21 he attacked the settlements at Tien Tsin with artillery and the best foreign drilled troops. The Chinese army has about 46 Krupps. They managed to burn the United States Consulate. The warehouse and the Standard Oil Company's premises are believed to have escaped. Though the situation is grave, the Chinese have not occupied Tien Tsin. The latest news from Pekin, emanating from authentic sources, is to the effect that there is no change in the situation. This is understood to mean that the Legations still hold out. The Chinese have surrounded them, but do not care to make another attack. Apparently they hope to starve out those who have taken refuge there.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN.

Chinese Crisis May Resolve Itself Into a Struggle Between Them.

London, June 23.—From every capital in Europe and from every news centre in the world over there is pouring into London an amazingly interesting stream of stories purporting to foretell the action the powers intend to take in regard to China. According to usually well-informed correspondents at Rome, Vienna, Yokohama, Paris, and Berlin, the powers are now deliberating as to the advisability of imprisoning the Dowager Empress of China, and are busy arranging the details of the longed-looked-for partition of the Celestial Empire. These forecasts bear many evidences of authoritative inspiration. Yet the Associated Press is in a position to say they have not a fragment of basis. Upon the authority of the British Government it can be declared that no communications have passed between the powers regarding any action in China excepting the relief and release of the diplomats shut up in Pekin. When that shall have been accomplished, to use the words of a Foreign Office official, "it will be time enough for the nations to deliberate on their further course of action.

NO PLAN DISCUSSED.

This official added—

No plan for the eventual settlement of the Chinese problem has been so far presented to Great Britain nor even suggested to her.

While Lord Salisbury is too cautious to commit himself to prophesy regarding the outcome of one of the most remarkable crises in the world's history, the Associated Press learn that he is not inclined to believe the Boxer outbreak will immediately bring up that most vital of all points—that is, the paramount necessity for European suzerainty over the entire Chinese Empire.

To quote further the Foreign Office official—

"In discussing the utterances of statesmen and the writing of correspondents one must remember they are to be guaged by standards of comparative ignorance rather than by comparative knowledge. No European really knows anything about China. Some know less than others, but that is about all it amounts to. We are not parleying with the other powers, and the other powers are not parleying with us, for the simple reason that we are all ignorant of the conditions we are facing. Unanimously we are trusting to the naval officers on the spot. When they are in a position to report to us the extent of the uprising they may be able to tell us whether we are facing a rebellion chiefly confined to the north or whether we are opposed to the whole Chinese people and Government. Then it will be feasible, but not till then, for the powers to get together in an attempt to agree on some method of settling forever the Chinese problem."

JAPAN AND RUSSIA.

The general trend of the best informed opinion in London seems to be that the opposing interests of Japan and Russia may in themselves precipitate a crisis before the Boxer outbreak shall be stamped out, though neither of them is believed to be willing to go to the extremity of a resort to arms at the present moment. Upon this latter phase of the situation, the all-absorbing topic of the day, one can hear many opinions from men about equally well posted and scarcely any of them agree.

A well-known American diplomat, though frankly confessing he is bewildered by the countless possibilities involved, says he believes it quite probable the crisis will resolve itself into a struggle between Russia and Japan, and that perhaps the true way of sizing it up is to look at it in that light without paying much attention to the developments of the immediate future in the contest between the Boxers and the united forces. That estimate, of course, is made on the supposition that the Boxers constitute no representative part of China.

DEEP ANXIETY PREVAILS.

An Army of Fully 50,000 Men Is Needed in China.

London, June 23.—There is deep anxiety in official circles over the situation in China, and the feeling is shared by diplomatic circles. Nothing is known respecting the Legations, and anything may have happened at Pekin. Vice-Admiral Seymour's force of marines was not supplied for a march of twelve days, and it has been cut off from communications with Tien Tsin. There will be an intense feeling of relief when authentic information comes from the column. Meanwhile a thick fog has settled over China. The most experienced men in public life do not pretend to understand what is going on. The best informed diplomatists frankly admit that they do not know what Lord Salisbury is trying to accomplish or what he has in mind.

MEN FROM AFRICA.

There is a general feeling in Government circles that a large military force is needed for service in China, and the question is under discussion whether 20,000 men cannot be shifted without delay from South Africa. The situation in Tien Tsin, which is a city with a population of a million, seems to require the presence of a much larger force than is now available, and that is only one of the great centres were foreign interests are menaced. The latest authentic news from Tien Tsin was sent by runner on Wednesday, when fighting was still in progress, and the allied forces there, which had been defending the foreign settlement and attacking the Chinese naval college, needed reinforcements. Addition relays of marines have been landed and the Tien Tsin naval forces will probably be relieved to-day. The foreign warships seem incapable of meeting adequately the present emergency. An army of not less than 50,000 men is needed.

FRENCH CONSUL SAFE.

Quietness is Being Restored to the District in Which he is.

Paris, June 23.—Noon.—The French Consul-General in China telegraphs under date of Friday, June 22, as follows—"The Chinese have bombarded the Tien Tsin concessions and have destroyed the American Consulate."

A despatch received here from the French Consul, M. Francois, sent from Yunnan Fu, under date of Sunday, June 17, expresses fear of an insurrection against the mandarins in Yunnan Sen owing to apprehensions of a war. He explains that this is the reason why he is detained.

Another telegram, dated Wednesday, June 20, announced that the mandarins had re-established tranquility in Mong Tse and that the situation in YunnanSen was unchanged. It was added that two Europeans from the latter place had succeeded in reaching Mong Tse without having encountered great obstacles, and that four Chinese convicted of participating in the burning of a church, and five European houses on June 16, had been executed.

BELMONT GOLD MINES.

A Trip With the County Council to See Them—A Complete Surprise to Our County Rulers—The Importance of Looking After the Development Recognized—New Road to be Laid Out.

As was intimated in the columns to the Times a few days ago, the County Council were invited to a trip of inspection over the road from Havelock to the gold mines of Belmont township for the purpose of seeing where improvements could be made, and incidentally to look over the plant connected with the mining operations of the Cordova Exploration Company.

The party, consisting of Warden Foster, Councillors Fitzgerald, Hawthorne, Shaw, White, Gallon, Pearce, Crowe, Anderson and Peck, accompanied by Messrs. J. E. Belcher, County Engineer; W. A. Stratton, County Solicitor; Councillor Hill, of Havelock; Reeve Sexsmith, of Belmont; Councillor Brown, of Belmont; Councillor Brick, of Norwood; and Mr. W. J. English, representing the Times, left Peterborough via C.P.R. on Thursday evening, and journeyed to Havelock. Bright and early the next morning the party started out over the road to Belmont, a trip of some 15 miles. It was a most delightful trip through the heavy rocky country, where the advance of civilization was evident in parts, while in others the settlers were just clearing away the forest growth preparatory to laying out their farms. The farther away from Havelock, the necessity of making great improvements to the roads and bridges became evident. Some places the road will have to be changed, in order to shorten the distance, and at other places a hill will have to be cut down, while generally it will be necessary to thoroughly gravel the road in order to put it in such shape that travel will be allowed to proceed with heavy loads, without encountering the heavy sandy roads as were generally ran across by the Council.

The question that seemed to be foremost in the minds of the Warden and Councillors on the way out was, will the expenditure of so much money in a comparatively unknown district be countenanced by the County generally? It was stated that this would hardly be likely, owing to the small interest that the farmers had in the township.

The spirit of money-spending completely changed when the operations of the Cordova Exploration Co. were reached. There is a large hill overlooking their plant, and as far as the eye could reach everything had the appearance of business and bustle. New residences for the men employed and gardens for their families are all being laid out, possibly to the number of forty, while on the works proper, taking twenty or more points to the compass, on every one there were to be seen the huge towers pointing out where the Company had sunk a shaft, and were bringing to the light of day the treasures to be found in the bowels of mother earth. After viewing the works from a distance, the party proceeded to the office of the Company, where they were welcomed by the genial manager, Mr. D. G. Kerr.

After resting themselves for a few minutes the party proceeded, under the guidance of Mr. Kerr, to the immense power house, where the compressed air is developed for use in the different shafts. Here was to be found huge boilers and engines, capable of developing a power equal to 250 h.p. From the power house was pointed out the great lines of trestel works, holding the pipes which distribute the air to the numerous shafts. After expressing remarks of astonishment at the magnitude of the plant, the stamp mill was proceeded to. Here could be seen the huge railway carriers coming in from all directions with tons of ore. After arriving at the stamp mill the rock is run through a crusher, and then the small rocks drop into the stamp mill, where the ten pounders are continually powdering the rock and the gold. Then from that stage the powdered substance is run over copper plates, where the gold is gathered by mercurial process and the refuse is carried away by hydraulic means to a valley below the mill. This department was of more than usual interest to the party, who had never had a chance to view the modern system of milling gold.

The next point of interest visited was to Number 1 shaft. Here the dark depths of mother earth could be gazed into, and not a light was to be seen, except the occasional flicker of the candle on a miner's head as he passed the mouth of the shafe. A few of the party were invited to go down by Mr. Kerr, and a few volunteered to go down the bucket. The party were in charge of Warden Foster and a miner. As they descended down to the dark hole they were fondly bid good-bye by those remaining on top. It got very interesting for the party below, and it was not until the anxiety of the party on top had reached a climax, that the manager sent down a man to bring them to the top.

While this trip was going on, our genial County Clerk, Mr. Stewart, made up his mind to explain the depths of the earth on his own account, and he started down the ladder which went to the bottom. No attention was paid to him until his presence was missed. Then someone remarked seeing him go below the surface. Mr. Kerr started after him, and very soon the minds of the party were relieved by seeing him appear on top. The cool air of the shaft was, according to Mr. Stewart, very soothing.

Other points of interest were shown to the party, and then it was learned that the people of Marmora are doing everything in their power to bring the trade of the mines to their town, and the road to Marmora is being thoroughly macadamized by the Hastings Council, and made very convenient for travel. To counteract this and to keep the trade from going to Hastings county, it will be necessary for the County Council of Peterborough to proceed without delay and have the road between the mines and Havelock looked after. It means money to the farmers of the county. Wood has to be drawn to supply power; supplies have to be got, and the mail must come from some place. Now it comes from Marmore, just because the roads are good, while the road to Havelock is three miles shorter, yet the men would sooner go to Marmora on account of the better travel.

The Belmont mines deserve everything it is possible to give them. Last year the Company's wage list ran up to $150,000, to say nothing of money spent for supplies and wood.

It was exceedingly interesting also to note that in a modern mining plant, like is found in the Cordova, that nearly all the machinery was furnished by the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. here, and Mr. Kerr informed the Times that they were increasing their plant by five times, and except for some small appliances, the Wm. Hamilton Co. had the contract for the balance.

The party returned from the mines to Havelock in a most drenching rain, but everyone of the Councillors were of the opinion that everything necessary to make a good road to Belmont should be accomplished with as little delay as possible.

The Times desires to thank the Warden and Councillors for their kindness on the trip, and also to Mr. Kerr, the genial manager of the Company, for information regarding the plant.

British Prisoners Captured Since Roberts Occupied Pretoria Have Been Taken to Machadsdorp—Boers Attacked the British Post at Honings Spruit.

London, June 25. The Transvaal military incidents are summed up officially by Lord Roberts in the following message to the War Office—Pretoria, Sunday, 11.30. "Buller reached Standerton June 22. He found a good deal of rolling stock. All the Dutch residents had left the town. The British prisoners captured since our occupation of Pretoria, have been taken to Machadsdorp. Ian Hamilton occupied Heidelberg Saturday. The enemy fled, pursued by our mounted men, six or seven miles. The previous day Broadwood's Cavalry had skirmished with the enemy, dispersing them completely, and capturing six. Hunter's advance brigade reached Johannesburg, toward Heidelberg, June 22. The enemy attacked our post at Honing Spruit, and before reinforcements arrived from Kroonstad, they had burned three culverts. We had these all repaired by this afternoon.

ARMISTICE OF FOUR DAYS.

But Roberts Refused to Make it a General One.

London, June 23.—The Standard's Pretoria correspondent states that Gen. Louis Botha, after his retreat from Diamond Hill, requested an armistice. Gen. Roberts agreed to suspend hostilities north and west of Pretoria, but Gen. Botha demanded a cessation of all military movements. Gen. Roberts replied that it was impossible to stop the machinery of his army; several columns that were moving about the country with only limited supplied could not be halted. Gen. Botha then withdrew his request. Nevertheless, a practical armistice north and west of Pretoria was observed for four days.

Town in the Northern Transvaal Expresses its Willingness.

London, June 23.—According to a Pretoria despatch General Botha possesses full powers to conclude peace, and it is reiterated that he is willing to surrender, but President Kruger remains obdurate.

The fact that a deputation from Pietersburg in Northern Transvaal has approached Lord Roberts with an invitation to send a force to receive the submission of the town is regarded as important, for Pietersburg is far removed from the scene of warfare.

HIS FAREWELL SERMON.

Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph.B., of Mark Street Methodist Church, Preaches His Farewell Sermon and Bids Good-bye, After Three Years of Successful Work.

A large congregation assembled last evening to hear the parting words of their beloved pastor in the Mark Street church. Rev. Mr. Moore selected as his text, Philippians 4, 1, "Therefore my brethren, dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved."

Following is a synopsis of Mr. Moore's able and appropriate discourse—Philippi was the chief city of Western Macedonia, and it took its name from Philip, the famous king of Macedonia, who repaired and beautified it. The place became remarkable and famous because of the battles fought between Julius Caesar and Pompey the Great. The most remarkable man among the Christians was St. Paul, who wrote this Epistle, while a prisoner in Rome A.D. 62. He was instrumental in planting the Church at Philipi, and though he had the care of all the churches, he had a particular and fatherly care for this church, its members were his spiritual children, having begotten them in the Gospel, he was anxious to nourish and nurse them with the same Gospel food. Paul's conversion and his call to preach the Gospel at Philippi bear the marks of extraordinary manifestations of divine power, God, especially fitting him for the great work before him, when Paul cured that man of Systra, who had been crippled from his birth, and the people saw that he possessed miraculous power, they cried out, "The Gods have come down to us in the likeness of men." He saw in a vision a man from Macedonia, who stood and prayed, saying, come over into Macedonia, and help us. He saw God going before him and was encouraged to build on the foundation already laid. At Philippi that old Roman town—Paul suffered much. He was scourged, and his feet fastended in the stocks, but the ill-treatment he received did not diminish his love for either the people or place. The church had a small beginning, Lydia, the seller of purple, who opened her home and heart, and that young damsel, and that old heathen jailer were among the first fruits of his labors. A flourishing church grew up here, and it became very fond of Paul, who reciprocated their esteem and affection. He had reaped them temporal things, and now he makes a return in spiritual things. He acknowledges the receipt of a present, and gives in return the apostle's reward, which was of more value than gold.

1.—His exhortation to Divers Christian Duties,—stability and steadfastness in the Christian profession, seeing that your conversion is in heaven, keep looking for the son of God, from thence to fetch us thither. Instability was the bane of that age, and it is the same to-day. Double-mindedness merits heaven's frown. Let not the vacelating or wavering think that he shall receive anything of the Lord. Hearken to the endearing appelations. He calls them brethren, dearly-beloved and longed for, thus expressing the interest he took in them, and the kindness he cherished for them. Though he was the great apostle, and had been the proud scholar of Gamaliel, now we are brethren, having the same Heavenly Father, though of different ages, statures, complexions, yet they were brethren. He loved them dearly; warm affection is becoming in ministers, and all Christians towards each other, brotherly love should always go with the brotherly relation. He loved them, this is the surest evidence of a changed heart and life, and he rejoiced in them, for them he made sacrifices, bore fatigue, faced danger and endured persecution.

2.—Ministerial Solicitude, longed for. Oh! the soul longing and spiritual solicitude of the true man of God. What is the meaning of all the revival services we have held? We have preached faithfully and fearlessly, and by the glories of heaven, and the terrors of hell. The splendors of the great white throne, and the groans of the dammed. We have urged you to be reconciled to God. We have sung, wept, prayed, exhorted and visited, in labors abundant. So now you cannot truthfully say "No man cares for my soul." Yes-Yes—"The spirit of the Lord is upon me, because the Lord has anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he has sent me to build up the broken hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound; to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all that mourn; to appoint unto them that mourn in Him, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness, that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that He might be glorified." We have agonized in prayer, with one face up to God, we have pleadingly said, "I will not let thee go, except thou bless me." We have an experimental idea of the soul longing of John Knox, when he said, "Give me Scotland or I die," and of whom Queen Mary said she feared his prayers more than all the armies of Europe. Longed for, to see them, to hear from them, and to hear of their prosperity in the work and ways of the Lord. "My Joy and Crown," the souls won from darkness to light—from sin to holiness, are the greatest joy a minister has, to see the desert bloom—blossom, and bring forth fruit. Never was a proud ambitious warrior, flushed with the pride and glory of conquest more pleased with the ensigns of honor, than was Paul with the evidences of the sincerity, faith, and obedience, of the Philippian church. This was preparing him for the greater reward, "He that winneth souls is wise, and they that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars for ever and ever." In conclusion, let me urge you to stand fast. "Steadfast is the liberty wherewith Christ hath made you free, and be not entangled in the yoke of bondage." I desire to thank the official board, the Trustees, the Epworth League, the W.M.S., the Ladies' Aid, and especially the Choir and Sunday School for their co-operation in the work of the Lord during my pastorate at Mark street. I want you to give your new minister a right royal welcome, and co-operate with him and his family in building up the cause of God, again on behalf of Mrs. Moore and our boys, I thank you for your many acts of kindness and consideration. Finally; farewell. The choir sang splendidly.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 25, 1900.

MUNICIPAL BUSINESS.

The city of Boston has been experimenting with "municipal ownership," the beauties and economies of which are so often expounded by theorists. The results are summed up in Harper's Weekly by Mr. Guild A. Copeland, in an article headed "An Insolvent Utopia." Among those things which it was determined that Boston should provide for herself, instead of permitting selfish and greedy private per[illegible] and printing, its actual [illegible] to provide it for them, were its stationery and printing, its actual carpentery, including both construction and repairs, its electrical installations and its ice plant. Carpenters, wheelwrights, blacksmiths, painters, electricians, veterinaries, were "civil servants." To escape the terrors and the tests of competitive examinations they were asked for and placed on the municipal pay-rolls as "ship calkers," "rubber gasket makers," "beam tenders," and even "an expert swimmer." What was the practical output of all this apparatus had not readily been investigated until the accession of the present Mayor, a level-headed business man. He was struck, on being called upon to sign some vouchers related to the matter which he knew something about, by the excess over the market price of material and labor. From this proceeded an investigation which has resulted in the turning over to private enterprise of a number of "public utilities," upon the ground that it cost far too much for the city to provide them for itself. Mr. Copeland gives the instances. A job of electrical equipment on the ferryboats, which should have cost $6,000, cost $10,200. A job of electricity in a building for hospital nurses should have cost $1,628, and did cost $4,754. Work on an armory, which could have been done for $2,800, was done for $6,700. And so forth. The city's ice from its own philanthropic plant cost about $60 a ton. And so forth. In all this there is no charge of direct dishonesty or speculation. It was simply the extravagance engendered, as a limited experience of human nature would have shown that it was sure to be engendered, by withdrawing the incentive to diligence and frugality furnished by private interest, and putting nothing equivalent in its place. There was an element of conscious humbug in the evasion of the rules of the civil service. These were "beaten" in many ways, so as to make "patronage" out of the enormous multiplication of places caused by municipal ownership.

UNCONSCIOUSNESS.

The Causes That Induce This Condition and Its Various Phases.

It is often difficult when a person is found unconscious to determine the cause of the condition. Yet this determination is of the greatest importance, since upon it must depend the treatment and perhaps the life of the sufferer.

Of course this is a task for the physician, and it is often one that taxes his acumen to the utmost. But there are certain signs which every one may learn to know and so be prepared to prevent maltreatment before the physician arrives.

The chief causes of a sudden loss of consciousness are apoplexy, Bright's disease, diabetes, drunkenness, opium poisoning, injury to the head, epilepsy and fainting.

A person found unconscious should be placed on his back, the clothes, especially those about the neck, should be loosened, and he should have plenty of air, curious spectators being kept at a distance.

If the breath smells of alcohol, the first thought is that the man is drunk, but it is most unsafe to assume this to be the case without corroborative evidence. The man may have taken a drink just before the accident befell him, or he may have been slightly drunk, and in that condition he may have had a stroke of apoplexy or have fallen or been struck a blow on the head, or some bystander may have poured whisky down his throat with the mistaken idea of helping him.

The head should first be examined to see if the skull is broken, if there is a wound of the scalp or if blood is coming from one of the ears, which is a sign of a fracture of the base of the skull.

Note should be taken of the breathing. If it is very slow, six or eight times or less a minute, the probability is that the case is one of opium poisoning. If the respiration is rather slow and snoring, with blowing out of the lips and of one cheek, apoplexy or concussion of the brain may be suspected.

In unconsciousness resulting from Bright's disease the breathing is usually more rapid and not noisy, and in that resulting from diabetes the inspiration is slow and prolonged, while expiration is short and quick.

A drunken man can usually be aroused temporarily if spoken to in a loud voice or pricked with a pin, and the same is true of one suffering from Bright's disease, but in apoplexy and opium poisoning the unconsciousness is usually complete.

Unconsciousness may be hysterical in its nature and may simulate any of the types mentioned above. A dash of cold water in the face will often restore consciousness with great rapidity in such a case.—Youth's Companion.

Shoes In Olden Days.

Early Britons wore shoes of raw cowhide, with the hairy surface outward. The Anglo-Saxons showed an advance, for they were black and laced by a leather thong. Then came what might almost be termed the bag shoe of the Merovingian period, tied round the ankle, a similar easy sort of covering obtaining in Germany, and so by gradual stages from the mediæval shoes to the poulaine shoes, a queer early German specimen, the band round the ankle being of engraved brass. The Irish shoe of early date is worthy of note, as for many years the Irish went not only barefooted, but barelegged, while their bodies were most gorgeously arrayed.

It Has Happened

More than once that a child has been carried off by an eagle. When such a thing does happen the press rings with the story. There's not a line given by the press to the babies carried off daily by disease. It isn't the fact of the child being taken away that is startling or interesting, it's only when the method of taking off is novel that it excites interest. How many children die who might have been saved if the mother who bore them had been able to give them strength and vitality. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes healthy mothers and healthy mothers have healthy children, strong enough to resist disease if they are attacked.

Mrs. Axel Kjer, of Gordonville, Cape Girardeau Co., Mo., writes: "When I look at my little boy I feel it my duty to write to you. This is my fifth child and the only one who came to maturity; the others having died from lack of nourishment—so the doctor said. This time I just thought I would try your 'Prescription.' I took nine bottles and to my surprise it carried me through and gave us as fine a little boy as ever was. Weighed ten and one-half pounds. He is now five months old, has never been sick a day, and is so strong that everybody who sees him wonders at him."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets keep the bowels healthy and regular.

"Bairnies, Cuddle Doon."

(A poem that was asked for.)

The bairnies cuddle doon at nicht,
  Wi' muckle faucht an' din;
O, try an' sleep, ye wankrife rogues
  Your father's comin' in;
They never heed a word I speak;
  I try to gie a froon,
But aye I hap them up, an' cry,
  "O, bairnies, cuddle doon."

Wee Jamie wi' the curly heid,
  He aye sleeps next the wa',
Bangs up an' cries, "I wan't a piece"—
  The rascal starts them a'.
I rin an' fetch them pieces, drinks,
  They stop a wee the soun',
Then draw the blankets up, an' cry,
  "Noo, weanies, cuddle doon."

But ere five minutes gang, wee Rab
  Cries oot, fra' neath the claes,
"Mither, mak' Tam gie owre at once,
  He's kittlin' w' his taes."
The mischief's in that Tam for tricks,
  He'd bother half the toon;
But aye I hap them up, an' cry,
  "O, bairnies, cuddle doon."

At length they hear their father's fit,
  And, as he stecks the door,
They turn their faces to the wa',
  While Tam pretends to snore.
"Hae a' the weans been guide?" he asks,
  As he pits off his shoon,
"The bairnies, John, are in their beds,
  An' lang since cuddled doon."

An' juist before we bed oorsel's,
  We look at our wee lambs;
Tam has his arm roun' wee Rab's neck,
  An' Rab his airm roun' Tam's.
I lift wee Jamie up the bed.
  An' as I straik each croon,
I whispered, till my heart fills up.
  "O, bairnies, cuddle doon."

The bairnies cuddle doon at nicht
  Wi mirth that's dear in me;
But soon the big warl's cark an' care
  Will quaten doon their glee.
Yet, come what may to ilka ane,
  May He who rules aboon
Aye whisper, though their pows be bald,
  "O, bairnies, cuddle doon."

—Alexander Anderson.

A True Story.

A duck which had laid several dozens of eggs during the season, complained that while her working record was better than the hen's the latter had books and poems written in her honor while no one had a word of praise for the duck. A wise old rooster standing by said.—"You lay an egg and then waddle off without saying a word, while that sister of mine never lays one without letting everyone in the neighborhood know about it. If you want to cut any ice around here, you must advertise."

MIGHTY LONDON.

NO OTHER CITY IN THE WORLD COMPARES WITH IT.

How the Great Metropolis went Mad Over the Good News From Africa—A Marvellous Spectacle—Friendship of England for the United States.

London, June 21.—This is my third visit here. Successive visits serve to make the colossal city look bigger, livelier and more dangerous than before. When you have walked and been driven through its principal streets, some wide, some narrow and some occasionally tortuous for days, the magnitude of the greatest collection of human beings on the face of the earth, begins slowly to unfold itself. In her palmiest days imperial Rome had 2,000,000 dwellers; here is London with three times as many and 35,000,000 more people within a few hours' ride by rapid transit. After you have seen the principal arteries of the throbbing life of Briton's metropolis you are ready to accept any statement as to its population be it six, eight, ten twelve or twenty million. From early morning till far into the night the endless procession fills the streets—takes possession of roadway and sidewalk till there is no room for the idler, be he dressed in broadcloth or rags—and affords a panorama of life and color nowhere else to be witnessed on this planet. The human streams moving along the sidewalks and filling it to the curb, the strange cries of the huckster to attract attention to his wares, the chimney sweep, whose paradise is London, the omnibusses in all the colors of the rainbow, the carriages and the carts, so closely following each other that life is imperilled in passing between them—these combine to make animacted scenes that are a never-ending source of interest to the visitor, especially if he be concerned in the massing of millions.

Americans naturally turn to New York when a comparison is made with London. The cities are so dissimilar that indifferent results attend the comparison. There is no Broadway here, but, instead, dozens of streets where the turmoil is just as great as on our celebrated highway. Take the Strand, Regent street, Oxford street, the Picadilly, High Holborn, Fleet street, Edgeware Road and the avenues centering around the Bank of England, to say nothing of those running across to the Surrey side of the Thames where 2,000,000 Londoners make their home, and it is hard to conceive how the roar of traffic and the movement of pedestrians could be any greater if London were a hundred times larger than it is. Any more crowding in the princpal streets would bring everything to a standstill. These great highways have demonstrated the possibilities of moving the greatest body in the most compact space. New Yorkers cling to the belief that, in the near future, that city will become the financial center of the world; this aspiration may be realized. But she never can become the numerical metropolis if that interpretation turns upon crowded streets and getting the use of every available inch of space in so doing. London's pre-eminence in this respect is secure for the centuries.

WHEN LONDON HURRAHS!

It was my good fortune to witness the millions of this town glorify Baden-Powell and his gallant compatriots on the news of the relief of Mafeking. This tiding came as a rumor from Boer sources at 9.30 on Friday evening, May 18. Within an hour the report had overspread the city and from the narrow streets and lanes the crowds swarmed into the principal thoroughfares until they were fairly choking with human beings, nearly every one of whom was shouting, or singing, or cheering as they passed slowly along. Women and girls were just as much in evidence as men and boys and equally as enthusiastic. They formed themselves into companies four abreast and marched in the roadway, alternately cheering for Baden-Powell and Queen Victoria, and singing Rule Brittannia, God Save the Queen, The Soldiers of the Queen, the British Grenadier and other melodies dear to the Briton's heart. The scenes that were enacted before the celebration tunes died out, 36 hours afterward, baffle description. The populace simply went crazy with delight on this unconfirmed rumor which was not authenticated until two days afterward. It was liked to the stirring specacles of the French revolution with the bloodthirstiness omitted. Down the street a hundred men marched hatless with another hundred women linked arm in arm. When an omnibus came along filled with cheering compatriots the strange detachment would stop and from 200 lusty throats cheers would ascend that were almost deafening. And all over London these weird and patriotic ebullitions were going on until the people seemed to have.

PARTED WITH THEIR REASON.

A sailor headed another crowd with his arm around two buxom women whom he alternately kissed to the delight of the onlookers. Long peacock feathers played a prominent part in the fun. They were wielded usually by women who tormented everyone in reach. Those who did not have this implement of annoyance carried flags and flaunted them in every conceivable way. Now the staffs on which they were hung would be employed to knock silk hats from the wearers' heads; again to tickle the bystander's ear, and then the helmets of the policemen would come in for attention. All this was by-play and received with the utmost good nature. For once the admirable police force was at the mercy of the crowd and had to make the best of the situation without any redress. At 1 o'clock in the morning I was driven in a carriage through the Strand, Piccadilly, Regent and other avenues through dense masses of men and women giving vent to their patriotic exuberance in songs and cheers until it seemed as if Bedlam was let loose. The crush of carriages became so great finally that I had to abandon my conveyance to get back to the hotel, and this was accomplished only after I had pushed through a crowd that jammed the sidewalk until it seemed as if every particle of my clothing must go before I succeeded in making my destination. London did not sleep that night or the next day, and it was well into Sunday morning before the voices of the millions were stilled. How men and women could dance, sing and cheer for 36 hours was as much of a marvel as how Baden-Power could stick out for seven months in Mafeking after locusts, mule steak, and horse flesh became choice tid bits in the bill of fare! The London papers admitted that the rejoicing over Mafeking's release was unparalleled and are still at a loss to know how it could have been kept up so long and so noisily.

THE OMNIBUS

is the most popular mode of travel, though the licensed cabs exceed 30,000 and are found everywhere. The top contains seats and is a fine place from which to study London at moderate cost. There are always a number of persons to give you information should you find the driver sullen, which is rarely the case. The man who collects fare usually exclaims "Thank you!" while passing you a ticket which he punches and hands back. In 19 cases out of 20 you are not disturbed in its possession and you wonder why it is given. But an inspector drops in unexpectedly and if you are minus the pasteboard you must pay a second time. The interior of the stage has panels around the top containing a variety of announcements, such as "Dutar's Whiskey Beats All Others;" "Wet Mackintoshes Must Be Removed Before Entering the Bus!" "Prepare to Meet Thy God, for To-morrow You Die!" The latter is adjourned to the unworldly admonition, "Beware of Pickpockets, Male and Female!" It is a queer jumble but every way characteristic of London.

London is cold even if on the threshold of summer. The heavy clothing demanded by the severe winters of central New York is none too warm for this climate at this season, and Americans are obliged to have fires in their rooms if health and comfort are to be conserved. The natives are hardy and are the better because they do not have to have their living apartments heated in springtime, but existence here for an American without a blazing hearthstone would be torture indeed.

ENGLAND'S FRIENDSHIP FOR US.

England has a kindly heart for the people of the United States whether this spirit is returned or not. There is much in common between the races seperated by the Atlantic and our English cousins are anxious that the drawing together of these two mighty agencies shall go on until the possibility of armed conflict between them shall have passed away forever. When you tell an Englishman that, as far as estimates are of value, nine-tenths of the Americans sympathize with the Boers in the present conflict, he is amazed and sorrowfully attributes it to a misunderstanding of the situation. You, however, raise his hopes when you assure him that there is no ill-will against Great Britain because of such attitude, and that war is never contemplated to discussing its pheases.

The Queen's recent visit to Ireland has had a most beneficial effect upon Englishmen of all classes and there is a spirit awakened of doing justice, tardy though it be, to the brave little island where centuries of oppression have failed to obliterate the national aspiration. One result is seen in the co-operation of the Irish members of the House of Commons on matters pertaining to the well-being of Ireland. The Tories of Ulster are standing by Healy and Redmond as loyally as the members from Munster, Leinster and Connaught, and this is most hopeful, for the Emerald Isle is striving for the equality, prosperity and contentment that distinguishes the other states of the United Kingdom.

TRIAL OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS.

STUDENTS GOING TO PARIS.

Chicago, Ill., June 22.—A number of the University of Chicago are about ready to start on a trip to the Paris Exposition. As some of them can ill-afford to pay the usual expenses incident to such a trip they propose to work their way across the Atlantic and back in cattle ships. All of those who have wheels will take them along, and do their land journeying upon them.

DIET KITCHEN FOR POOR BABIES.

Chicago, Ill., June 22.—A diet kitchen for babies is an innovation in social settlement work that has been undertaken here. It will be carried out at the Rouse Mission, 32nd and Wallace Street. Throughout the summer it is expected that from 300 to 500 babies will be supplied with proper food and medical care. To each of these mission babies will be given daily a quart of sterilized water, a quart of carefully prepared milk, and, when they are sick, cereal and beef broth and orange juice.

In cases where the family is able to pay for this attention 70 cents a week will be charged. In other cases charge will be made according to means of the family, although no service will be given free. When they are sick they will be under the care of two trained nurses provided by St. Barnabas Guild of Nurses. The hours of inspection are to be from 6.30 o'clock to 9.30 each morning, and the babies must have been cleanly washed and dressed for the day.

PUZZLED HIS PAP.

Questions That Made the Boy's Father Take a Day Off.

"Going to take the day off, eh?" said the chief of division to the clerk when the latter reported at the office at 9 o'clock and put in a slip for a day's leave. "Nothing the matter, I hope? No sickness at home, is there?"

"No," replied the clerk drearily, leaning heavily on the chief's desk. "No sickness or anything like that. But I've got to put in a day of research. It's this way: That 10-year-old boy of mine sprung a lot of 'em on me when he was going over his lessons after dinner last night that stumped me and put me temporarily out of business. This was one of them:

" 'Three-eighths of a pole stands in the mud, one-fifth in the water, and the remainder of the pole, 21 feet, is above the water. What is the total length of the pole?'

"Sounds dead easy, doesn't it?" went on the clerk. "Well, it just stood me on my head, that's what it did. Y'see, I took my civil service examination over ten years ago, and I've tried earnestly and prayerfully to forget all the digging I had to do to squeeze through that. Then he asked me how old George Washington was when he died, how old the Polack Kosciusko was when he offered his sword to the Revolutionary commanders, the date of the battle of Bunker Hill, the nature of the Missouri compromise and 10 or 15 little ones like that. I had to extinguish him by telling him that I was reading my paper, but I promised him that I'd give him all the answers tomorrow, Sunday, in time for him to be right on them at school on Monday. Now, that kid thinks I'm 'It.' He thinks I know it all. He brags to all the other kids in the neighborhood that his dad can give their dads cards and spades and big cassine and beat them to death when it comes to Brains with an upper case B.

"Well, I want to have him go right on thinking that. I wouldn't lose that young one's exalted opinion of me for a house and lot. It 'ud be a solar plexus finish for me to have him direct the blighting gaze of suspicion at me. So I'm going up to the library, yank out a bundle o' books of reference, get the answers to that list of questions, and tonight I'll spring 'em on the kid in an offhand sort of way, as if I knew 'em all the time, but just didn't have time to give 'em to him. I couldn't stand it to have that kid get on to me; not just yet anyhow. He'll have time to do that when he grows up."—Washington Post.

Slow Suicide.

A source of great evil among all workers is the widespread habit of eating a hearty meal hurriedly when the body is in a state of exhaustion. Too often, alas, the evil is enhanced by the fact that the food is innutritious, badly cooked and clogging in itself. This is one species of slow suicide, causing a long train of evils which are usually attributed to overwork. Now, it were better to go without food than to take it under these conditions. Your dog knows better than to eat when he is tired, and if you will watch him you will notice that he is always reluctant to be enticed into play after eating. Left to himself he will take a nap, or at least drop care for awhile and rest. Humanity might raise its standard of health by following the example set by the instincts of the brute creatures.—Health Culture.

Some Reasons Why...

Scottish-Canadian Stock (Rob Roy Mines) is a good investment.

1—The Specially liability, (none beyond the amount originally subscribed for stock.)
2—The large area of rich mineral lands owned by the Company.
3—The abnormal richness of the ores of the district (ours assays over $100.00 to the ton.)
4—The enormous amount of ore we can show on the properties, and which we are now working to get at by tunneling.
5—The comparative ease of working and good transportation facilities.
6—The great improvement as work progresses.
7—The safe conservative management and administration of investors' money.
8—The likelihood of an early advance in price of shares.

The above is a combination hard to beat! It eliminates all undue risk and renders an investment infinitely safer than mining share investments usually are, and makes the outlook for large profits soon, very encouraging. Not much more stock will be available at Fifteen cents per share. Send or call for particulars.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Transfer of License.

The License Commissioners of West Peterborough met to consider the application for the transfer of the license of the National Hotel to Mr. D. A. Moon & Son. The application was granted.

Sent Up for Trial

At the police court Saturday morning Police Magistrate Dumble rendered judgment in the case of John McFarlane, who is charged by John Montgomery with having committed perjury in connection with the disturbance at the firehall on June 9th. The Magistrate sent the case up for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

The Costs Were Heavy.

County Police Magistrate Edmison was in Norwood yesterday where court was held. A resident of the vicinity was charged with using profane language, of raising a disturbance in a public place, and another offence of a similar nature. A compromise was effected between the parties concerned and the accused agreed to pay the costs, which amounted to $22, besides paying the expenses of his own lawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Shorey Remembered

Rev. Mr. Shorey and Mrs. Shorey were entertained by the congregation of the George street Methodist church, of which Mr. Shorey is the esteemed pastor, and presented with addresses. Mrs. Shorey was also handed a handsome silver fern dish, a present from the choir. Rev. Mr. Shorey replied in feeling terms. In Mr. Shorey's departure the congregation loses a pastor who has won the esteem and affection of every member of this congregation, and is also held in high regard by the citizens generally.

DROPSY FROM COFFEE.

People Beginning to Learn About the Drug.

"Coffee treated me so badly that I want to tell people about it, and if you can use my letter, I will be glad. I am not a very good scholar, but want to write a few lines, and if I don't write a good letter, I am at least honest in my statements.

"I am 45 years old and drank coffee all my life, up until New Years. I have felt bad for years, and did not know what ailed me. I thought I had the dropsy and heart disease. Sometimes I would have to press my hand against my heart, I would be in such pain, and I got so I could hardly do my work. My head would feel heavy and dizzy, and many a time I have got so blind I would just have to drop down or else I would have fallen.

"I felt bad all over. My feet would swell and hurt me and I am confident if I had continued drinking coffee I wouldn't have been able by this time to do anything. A friend of mine asked me to try Postum Food Coffee and stop drinking regular coffee. I tried the Postum, but it was some days before I got hold of the right way to make it. My heart disease and dropsy disappeared and I got entirely well.

"There is much in making it. That is, it has to be boiled longer than ordinary coffee, but when I get it made good, it was fine, and now I wouldn't have coffee in my house at all. I am sure the Postum Food Coffee saved my life, and I am perfectly well. Oh, how much I would like to see Postum in every home. I can't praise it enough. I send you here the names of about twenty people that have been helped by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee. (Then follows a list of names and addresses). Hoping this will be of benefit to someone, I remain, yours Truly." Mrs. Ocie Sigmit, [illegible] [illegible] St., E. Des Moines, Ia.

TRENT BRIDGE DROWNING.

Finding the Body of a Well Known Asphodel Farmer in the Trent.

The Havelock Standard gives the following additional particulars of the drowning of Joseph Harrison and his son, Garnet, mentioned in Saturday's Times—

A sad accident occurred at Trent Bridge on Thursday, when Mr. Jos. Harrison and his young son, Garnet, were drowned.

It seems that Mr. Harrison procured a skiff at Trent Bridge about 11 o'clock a.m., and went down the river trolling. Nothing further was heard of the couple until about five p.m., when Messrs. John Carey, Rich Phillips, of Havelock, and Mr. H. Pollock, of Trent Bridge, were going down the river fishing when they espied a boat overturned in the water just opposite Shag point, and about fifty feet from the end of Brown's island. On righting the boat they found two coats, a lunch basket and a troll fastened to the boat. On Mr. Pollock pulling in the line the body of the late Mr. Harrison was brought to the surface, the troll having caught in the right trowser leg. Search was made for the boy, but up to the present his body has not been recovered. Mr. Harrison was about 45 years of age and lived about three miles south-west of Norwood in the township of Asphodel. He leaves an invalid wife and two small girls. The son, Garnet, was 11 years old. The couple had evidently been drowned about 12 o'clock, as Mr. Harrison's watch had stopped at 12.30.

Dr. McGowan, coroner, of Campbellford, was telegraphed to and he said an inquest was unnecessary.

The body was brought to Trent Bridge, and taken from there to the deceased's home.

The Lakefield Bonus

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—As the 28th day of June is drawing near, the day upon which the freeholders of our village will by their votes for the by-law secure the Cement Works, with all the benefits and advantages accompaning them or by their votes against it reject the by-law, lose the works to the village and do all in their power to raise up a rival village either at Sawer's Creek or out at the lake side, and as I have heard some wild stories about the increased cost to the village ratepayers provided the by-law carried, I have thought it my duty as Chairman of the Financial Committee of the Council, to place the financial side of the question plainly before the people. At the present assessment of $320,000 for the village, to provide for the wiping out of the sum of $11,000, the amount of proposed bonus and cost of site, it would require about $750.00 a year for 20 years $385.00 for interest and $364.56 for sinking fund, which would mean a rate of about 2 1-3 mills on the dollar, or a little less than 24c. and a little more than 23c. on each $100.00 assessment. Now the man whose property is assessed at $300.00 would pay 70c. of extra taxation, a $400.00 assessment would pay 94c. extra, a $500.00 assessment would pay $1.17 extra, and a $1000.00 assessment would pay $2.34 extra etc. That is provided our village remained in its present condition, and did not grow. But the Works when completed, will pay a school tax which is at present 5 mills on the dollar, or one-third of our total tax, and the new houses, which must of necessity be built in the next year or two will pay the whole rate levied, so that the increased assessment upon the village and the school rate levied upon $40,000 or $50,000 of an assessment upon the works will materially reduce the extra taxes caused by the paying of the bonus. The works at $50,000 assessment at a 5 mill rate will pay $250.00 school tax every year, and new houses assessed at say $20,000, at a 15 mill rate will pay $300 taxes each year, or a total of $550.00 each year, so that the balance to be raised by the present ratepayers would amount to the very small sum of $200, or about two-thirds of a mill, so that the increase of taxes will be very small indeed. Again, the exemption upon the Cement works will run out in ten years so that after that time they will pay the full rate of taxation, while the bonus still will have ten years to run, or in other words will help to pay the last half of the bonus. Now figured out, as I or as any one one may do, it should be evident to all that this bonus will not burden or injure us much if at all, while the benefits and advantages to be derived from the works are very great indeed. Wherever their cement is shipped to over the whole of Canada our village will be advertised. It is sure to encourage other industries to locate here. It will largely increase the value of property. It will make unsaleable property saleable. It will circulate money freely because wages are largely paid out to the laboring class who in turn pay it out again, and I am convinced that our village will soon grow into a town. If the ratepayers reject the by-law by voting it down the Cement works will certainly be located out of our village to build up a rival village one or two miles away, just as happened to Norwood who refused small aid to the C. P. Railway and now they have thriving Havelock rivalling and injuring them, Belleville refused an island in the bay to the Rathburn Co. and now they have Deseronto, a thorn in their flesh. I am against the principle of bonusing as strongly as anybody could be, but the magnitude and staple character of the Cement works visited at Owen Sound convinced the deputation at once, that the bonus asked for was a very small sum indeed to secure such an extensive, expensive, permanent and large, labor-employing industry as is intended to be erected by the Cement Company here. It is quite safe, Mr. Editor, to pay a small sum for a big and lasting industry, such as the freeholders of this village are now asked to do, and I hope, when the votes are counted, we will not only have carried the by-law but carried it unanimously. I am sure we will not regret it if we do. Thanking you for valuable space.

Yours Truly,
J. R. FRASER, M.D.

POWERS MAKING GREAT PREPARATION FOR WAR.

Ten Thousand British Embark at Calcutta, and 52,000 Russians Under Orders.

THE ALLIES ASSAULTED CHINESE AT TIEN TSIN

Operations of the Allies Are Suffering From the Want of a Recognized Head, Defective Organization and Lack of Transport—Armament of Chinese.

London, June 26, 3.35 a.m. The British cruiser Terrible has arrived at Che Foo from Taku, with the latest news, which is as follows — "Eight hundred Sikhs, and two hundred Welsh Fusiliers have affected a junction with the American, German and Russian forces, which had been cut off by the Chinese about nine miles from Tien Tsin."

It was proposed to deliver an assault upon the Chinese forces at Tien Tsin last night (Sunday). It is not clear what forces united. It would seem that one relieving force cut off had been relieved by another. At any rate it is apparently certain that the allies arrived in sufficient force at Tien Tsin Sunday to attack the beseiging Chinese. A careful estimate of numbers and armament of the Chinese troops around Pekin puts the total 30,000, and it is calculated that these troops possess 220 71-0 Cruesot guns, 18 Krupps and 15 Maxims. Their supply of ammunition is practically inexhaustable. Fully three-fourths of the Chinese forces are badly drilled, wholly undiscipined and quite unfamiliar with modern weapons. Extensive preparations by the allies are going forward. The first division of British from India, 10,000 in number, embarked at Calcutta yesterday and 833 more marines received orders to go out from English ports. The Amur army corps ordered out by Russia numbers 52,100 men, with 84 guns. Japan purposes to land 15,000 men on Chinese territory within a fortnight.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times sends the following of yesterday's date—A military correspondent at Taku says that the operations of the allies are suffering from the want of a recognized head, defective organization, and the lack of transport.

London, June 26.

The Governor of Bombay wires that there were 10,277 deaths from cholera, out of 16,472 cases during the week ending June 16.

WHAT SALISBURY THINKS.

British Premier is Hopeful as to the Outcome of the Crisis.

London, June 25.—The Associated Press learn that Lord Salisbury is still hopeful that the Chinese crisis will be settled without war against that country as a whole. In spite of the alarming reports he inclines to the belief that the Government of China in some satisfactory form will shortly be able to re-assert itself. He does not mean that he belittles the professions of curious viceroys who have given notice of their willingness to co-operate with the united forces. Without committing himself to a definite view of the future, he appears averse to any scheme of territorial indemnity which, when order should be restored, might be suffered during the uprising.

In an interview with Ambassador Choate he maintained the belief that the diplomats at Pekin had not been massacred, and did not believe they were likely to be. He was eminently satisfied with the action already taken by the United States.

In short the conference may be said not to have elicited a single point on which Lord Salisbury differed from the American attitude, and while he expressed his determination to use every endeavor to restore order in Pei Ho valley and extricate the diplomats, his estimate of the situation was tinged with the general tone of the British press.

The Ambassador did not discuss the eventual settlement, and the likelihood of a partition of China, and it may be reiterated that this phase of the situation has not yet been made the subject of an exchange of views between any of the nations. Judging from the account of what passed between Mr. Choate and Lord Salisbury, and the statement recently made by the Associated Press by the Foreign Office, that Great Britain and the other nations, so far as the Foreign Office knew, were confinign all their energies and deliberations solely to the present predicament, is a sincere statement of fact. If Russia, Japan, or any other power shall have an ulterior object in making capital out of the trouble in China Lord Salisbury does not appear to be aware of it.

FOREIGNERS ARE SAFE.

Chinese Minister Reports that They are Preparing to Leave.

London, June 25.—The French Consul-General at Shanghai, telegraphing yesterday, reported that the Chinese Minister of Railroads and Telegraphs had informed him that all foreign Ministers and foreigners at Pekin were safe last Tuesday, and preparing to leave with the authority of the Chinese Government.

ABOUT ADMIRAL SEYMOUR.

Despatch from Admiral Bruce Throws no Light on Situation.

London, June 25.—The Admiralty has received the following despatch from Rear Admiral Bruce, dated Taku, via Chefoo, June 24—

"The total force which left Tian Tsin with the Commander-in-Chief for Pekin was about [illegible], composed of detachments from the allied ships. No action could possibly be taken to relieve Admiral Seymour, because it was only known that he was cut off by Tien Tsin being invested."

Tien Tsin has been fighting for its life ever since. It was on receipt of information that the Chinese army had ordered trains for attacking Tien Tsin, that they were ravaging Tong Ku and reinforcing Taku, as well as mining the mouth of the Pei Ho that it was promptly determined to seize Taku. Since then every effort has been made to relieve Tien Tsin. I have commandeered a small coasting steamer for taking troops and sick and wounded across the bay to Wei-Hai-Wei, where I intend making a temporary base hospital and asylum for refugees.

RUSSIA RAISING TROOPS.

Indication That She will Plunge Into the Chinese Embrollo.

London, June 25.—Although the powers at last seem conscious of the magnitude of the Chinese peril and are concertedly hurrying forces to Taku, the international troops available to overcome the immediate perils of the situation are apparently totally inadequate. The alarm not only for the safety of Vice-Admiral Seymour and his party, who are not mentioned in any of the despatches purporting to come from Pekin, but for his base at Tien Tsin remains unrelieved. Almost the only ray of light is the report of Shen, the director of railroads and telegrams, forwarded by the French Consul General at Shanghai, to the effect that the Legationers were safe on June 19 and preparing to leave the capital with the consent of the Chinese Government, but the motives of the Chinese officials in keeping the powers appeased by reassuring messages is too obvious to allow the unreserved acceptance of the statements.

Tien Tsin is so hard pressed that it must be relieved before assistance can be sent to Seymour's force. The absence of the exact date of the last despatch from Taku and other messages make it difficult to connect the various stories, but some of the despatches might be read as indicating that even the large force mentioned by Rear Admiral Kempff as about to start towards Tien Tsin met the same fate as the combined American and Russian column, which was repulsed on June 21st. India is sending eight battalions of infantry, a cavalry regiment, artillery and engineers as a fighting force, besides two battalions to guard communications.

ORDER OF THE CZAR.

The Official Gazette of St. Petersburg, to-day contains an order of the Czar, as follows—

'As we consider it necessary to raise the troops in the Amur military district to a war footing, we direct the War Minister to take the requisite measures. At the same time we direct that the necessary number of reservists belonging to the Siberian Amur military district shall be called on for active service."

GERMANY IS ANNOYED.

She Wishes It to be Kknown That She is in Accord with Russia.

Berlin, June 25.—An unfavorable impression is caused here by the attempts of the Russian press to create distrust of Germany in connection with the Chinese question. The inspired German organs insist that Berlin does not oppose the plans of St. Petersburg in the Chinese Empire, and that the future will clearly demonstrate Germany's perfect accord with Russia in Asia.

NORTH CHINA ABLAZE.

ZNumbers of the Boxers Said to be Fat-
Z ally Under-Estimated.

Z London, June 25.—The whole of North China is declared to be ablaze. The Chinese General Mei, who, it is stated kindly saved the missionaries at Hang-Chow, estimates the number of Boxers in the northern provinces at three millions. When recent occurrences are more widely known in Europe the full force of the insurrection may be expected to be felt everywhere.

CAVALRY FOR CHINA.

San Francisco, June 26.—An order from Adjutant-General Corbin has been received at the Presido directing that the troops of the Sixth Cavalry shall be recruited to their full war strength presumably to be sent to China.

SITAUTION HOPELESS.

St. Petersburg, June 24.—Trustworthy information has been received here to the effect that the situation at Tien Tsin is now almost hopeless.

A DIVISION FROM INDIA.

Simla, June 24.—An order has been issued ncreasing the force commanded by General Gaslee, which is going to China, to divisional strength. The following will be added to the force already selected—A regiment of native cavalry, a field battery, three companies of sappers, a batalion of pioneers, and two native infantry regiments for the lines of communication.

Chemong Bridge Contract.

Mr. D. McDiarmid, of Toronto, whose tender for the construction of the Chemong Lake bridge was the lowest, has has been in town for several days. His price for the work was $27,437, ad it was thought that a change in the plans would bring down the cost of the work. The plans called for three piers, and it is thought by the County Council that two of them could be done away with, which would not in any way injure the structure, but would make a difference of several thousand dollars in the cost. Mr. McDiarmid, it is said, would not close the matter until he had considered it carefully. The matter of the construction of the bridge is left with a committee, consisting of the Warden, and Messrs. Pearce, Anderson, Hawthorne and Fitzgerald, who have the power invested in them to close with the contractor, or call for and award new tenders.

TO ENTRAP GEN. DEWET.

Movements of the Different Generals Under Lord Roberts to Enmesh His Commandos—The Free State Boers Displaying Great Activity in Carrying on Guerilla Warfare.

London, June 25.—General Ian Hamilton, in whose force is the first Canadian contingent under Colonel Otter, has now reached Heidelberg, a town of 2,500 inhabitants, about eighty miles south of Pretoria, commanding the most direct highway from the Orange River Colony to the Transvaal. General Buller, under whom are the Strathcona Horse, is at Standerton, seventy-two miles further south, commanding another important highway over the Vaal. It is the intention as soon as the bridges over the Vaal, at Standerton, and the railway beyond, have been repaired, that the commanders shall connect the towns they now hold by a line of posts separating the two belligerent countries and hemming in the Boers to the south. In the meantime General Rundle has closed up the only avenue by which the Boers might escape to the south, by his occupation of Hammonia, on the road between Ficksburg and Winburg, also commanding one of the main routes in the Orange River Colony. This move is necessary in order to prevent the Boers from repeating the raid on Wepener, and thus throwing out of joint all the plans which have been carefully conceived to surround them. Until this movement has borne fruit it is likely that Lord Roberts will suspend operations against General Botha to the east of Pretoria, directing all his attention towards crushing out the last vestige of resistance south of the Vaal. The full effect of this attempt on the part of 80,000 men to enmesh Dewet and his commandos will be felt within a week or two and will be watched foir with interest.

In the late Free State the Boers are displaying great activity in carrying on that guerilla warfare which has already proved so damaging to the line north of Kroonstad, and Lord Kitchener is spending a busy time in pursuing raiding bands, which when he arrives are gone. In some quarters fear is pressed that the Boers, being driven towards the Drakensberg mountains, may dash through the mountains and cut Buller's communuications in Natal. It is certain, however, that Roberts has guarded against any such possibility by strongly guarding the exits from all the passes.

General Sir Charles Warren has succeeded better in Griqualand West than in Natal. After his failure at the Tugela it is comforting to those who have a respect for Sir Charles to hear that he has stamped out the rebellion in the northern part of Cape Colony—the district to the west of Belmont, in which the first Canadian contingent first taught the Boers what colonnial fighting men were made of.

OUR COUNTY PARL'AMENT.

CONCLUSION OF THE JUNE SESSION OF THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

Reports of the Finance and Schools Committees—A Short Session.

The County Council had a short session Friday evening, when Warden Forster presided.

Mr. Pearce moved, seconded by Mr. Peck, that the cordial thanks of this Council are hereby tendered to Mr. Superintendent Keer, of the Cordova Exploration and Mining Company, for the courtesies and hospitality extended to the members of this Council and the gentlemen accompanying them to the Belmont Gold Minnes. The extent and development as seen by us was a most pleasing suprise to every person present, who, previous to visiting the mines on their inspection of the roads leading through the township of Belmont to-day, had not the slightest idea of the importance of the mine to the County of Peterborough, and trust the Company's most sanguine expectations as to the mine may be more than realized.—Carried.

BURLEIGH ROAD.

Mr. Eastland moved, seconded by Mr. Peck, that this Council forward a memorial to the provincial Government at Toronto praying that they take into consideration the permanent repairing of the Burleigh road by the use of crushed stone.—Carried.

THE SITUATION IN CHINA.

'Tien Tsin Fighting for Its Life,' is the Startling Phrase Contained in Latest Official Despatch from China—Seymour or His Men Not Heard of.

London, June 25—"Tien Tsin is fighting for its life," is the startling phrase of the latest official despatch from China, and it indicates that a most desperate crisis exisists at the half-way house between Pekin and the coast. But affairs at Tien Tsin cannot equal the straits in which Admiral Seymour, with his 2,000 men, must now be. His column has been lost for over a week, and its location beyond Tien Tsin is not known. The fact that it was furnished only with supplies entirely inadequate to last through the time which has elapsed, makes one fear the worst, and it is significant that the assurances of the Chinese Government respecting the safety of the legations in Pekin make no mention of Seymour, whose mission and location, if indeed he be alive, is known to the imperial officials perfectly well. Complications are increasing. The strip of land which lies between the sea coast and Pekin seems to have a remarkable faculty in swallowing up expeditions. Seymour has disappeared. Three thousand men at Tien Tsin are fighting for their lives. A mixed force of Russians and Americans numbering a thousand has been driven back with loss in attempthing to reach Tien Tsin and now a fourth body of men has been landed for the same object and will in all liklihood succeed to the same extent. There is no longer any doubt that the powers are fighting both the Boxers and the government troops. The despatch from Rear Admiral Bruce from Taku makes this apparent and in addition throws much needed light on the causes for the bombardment of Taku. The powers will need all their men to cope with the emergency and as Russia and Japan are the only powers that can at once pour a stream of soldiers into China, these two are masters of the situation, for it will be months before their rivals can mobilize and transport adequate forces to the China Sea. It will not be surprising, therefore, as previously hinted, that Russia and Japan may figure most prominently in connection with the Chinese troubles before the end of them is in sight. Russia, by means of her trans-Siberian railway and Japan, by means of her trans-Siberian railway and Japan, by reason of her close proximity, hold the trump cards in the game so long as England is busy in Africa.

CANADIAN OUTPOST CUT OFF BY DEWET'S BOERS.

Canadian Mounted Rifles Lost Two Killed, Five Wounded and Three Captured.

ENGAGED IN HONING SPRUIT FIGHT LAST FRIDAY.

Free Staters Also Attacked Camp of Fifty Canadians and Two Companies of Shropshires Without Much Effect, the Men Being Well Entrenched.

London, June 26, 4.22 a.m. Lord Roberts' six columns are converging, apparently so as to close in upon the Free Staters, although decisive results cannot be expected for several days. A number of Boers, who were supposed to be within the wide flung net, have broken, or rather stolen through General Rundle's Ficksburg signal lines. The Canadians were engaged in the Honing Spruit fight last Friday. Gen. Dewet's men first cut off a Canadian outpost of Mounted Rifles at dawn, two being killed. Lieut. Triglis and four others being wounded, and three being captured. The Free Staters then attacked the camp, where there were fifty Canadians and two companies of Shropshires, though without much effect as the men were well entrenched.

United States Consul Hay, of Pretoria, is going to Machadodrop in the interests of the British prisoners and to see President Kruger. Eighty Hollanders have been lodged in jail at Standerton for destroying property, prior to the British occupation. The Boers derailed a construction train near Standerton on June 2. Two trainmen were killed, and four badly wounded. A party of Brabant's Horse, near Ficksburg, near Ficksburg, saw a camp of khaki-clad men, and walked in, only to find themselves among the Boers. The visitors surrendered.

REBELLION EXTINGUISHED.

General Warren has Done his Work Well in Northern Cape Colony.

London, June 25.—General Warren wires that the rbellion has been extinguished in the north of Cape Colony, but he does not mention the capture or disperaal of the considerable Boer force which has been occupying that part of the country.

ACCIDENT TO HAMILTON.

British General Breaks His Collarbone by a Fall.

London, June 25.—The infdormation frmo South Africa continues so uunimportant that the afternoon newspapers here are trying to make a sensation out of Gen. Ian Hamilton breaking his collar bone by a fall from his horse.

BOERS HAVE 2,150 PRISONERS.

Over Four Hundred Passed Through Standerton Before Buller's Arrival.

London, June 25.—The War Office gave out before midnight a bulletin from General Buller stating that 450 prisoners, captured at Lindley, had passed through Standerton several days before the entry of the British troops. The Boers consequently have about 1,350 prisoners on the Delagoa Bay line and probably about 800 in the Orange River Colony which were taken t Rhenoster River.

A telegram from Cape Town states that De Villier's commando, numbering 220 men, with 280 horses, 18 wagons, 260 rifles and 10,000 rounds of ammunition, has surrendered to General Warren at Blikfontein. Commandant De Villier himself did not surrender.

CAPTURED 2,000 MAIL BAGS.

Boers Cut off Much Desired Correspondence for Roberts' Troops.

London, June 25.—According to a special despatch from Cape Town, it seems that at the recent fight at Zand River the Boers captured 2,00 0mail bags containing a three weeks' accumulation of letters for Lord Roberts' army, and 4,000 pounds worth of stamps intwdned for the use of the troops.

At Kimberley, Friday evening, Dr. Jameson addressed his electors. He sketched the position of the Rand at the time of the raid, emphasising the discontent of the working classes, who were groaning under grievances and were ripe for revolt. He denied that the raid caused racial troubles or induced the Boers to arm or hamper the Imperial Government. Race feeling, he continued, always existed, and armament already had been commenced, while the Imperial Government did not intend to take effective steps to redress the grievances. This is the first time that Dr. Jameson has broken silence on the subject of the raid.

HOW YEOMANRY WERE TRAPPED.

Details of Major Dallrae's Rash and Fatal Charge.

Senekal, May 27.—Shortly after leaving Kopieskraal on Friday morning, where the army had bivouacked over night, a body of about fifty Yeomanry, under Major Ashton, with a small picquet, occupied a house just outside the town, the rest of the Yeomanry going round to guard variouus points. All seemed quiet, and the enemy were evidently retiring to the hills. Major Ashton sent for the Landrost, who failed to appear, but a Boer, who stated that he held no official position, handed over the keys of the public buildings. Major Ashton proceeded to receive the surrender of the Dutchmen and collected a large number of arms. All was proceeding smoothly.

No. 34 Company of the Middlesex manry, under Major Dalbiac, rode right into the town and dismounted at the hotel. Suddenly rifle fire was heard. It was evident that the enemy were observing the movements of the Yeomanry from a oinpt of vantage, and seeing only a few British in the town had plucked up couage and began to creep along dongas on three sides of the town. Firing became rapid, and the small Yeomanry picquets were compelled to fall back.

The Boers, observing Major Ashton with a pile of surrendered army lying on the ground, crept stealthily along a nullah. Seeing the enemy approaching, Major Ashton, and four or five men proceeded to destroy rifles in feverish haste, until the ground became untenable, the enemy being within 20 yoards. Our men, though practically enclosed, held their ground until artillery arrived. Major Ashton and his men eston and his men escaped unhurt.

The Yeomen, however, who had entered the town, found themselves in a perfect trap, the Boers being in force on a hill right above the town, and occupying the dongas around the outskirts. Moreover, some of the inhabitants commenced firing in the streets. Luckily, only one or two stray Yeomanry were about, and they got away without fatal results.

On this Major Dalbiac, with his party of Middlesex Yeomen, rushed out of the hotel, mounted, and without a moment's premeditation galloped towards the hill on which the enemy were posted. Their action meant certain death and annihilatino.

Ere a hoof had touched the first turf on the hillside they were met with a staggering volley, and a third of the small force rolled from their saddles. Undaunted, the remainder went forward, but immediately the brave Dalbiac, with four of his men, had heard the last bullets whizz. A moment afterwards the remainder of the detachment were hors de combat.

After General Rundle entered the town the Boers retired.—Reuter's Special.

THE EMERGENCY FOOD CASE.

As the result of a discussion in Parliament a formal charge has been made against the Militia Department by Mr. Monk, M.P. He asked first for a committee of enquiry, this being refused, he brought down a specific indictment. The affair relates to a supply of an "emergency food" for the Canadian contingent. This food is a condensed form of nutriment on which health and vigour may be maintained for several weeks, until regular food supplies can be served. It is charged, that a food of this nature, made in this city, which contains 60 to 70 per cent. of nutriment, was arranged to be supplied to the Militia Department after being satisfactorily tested and approved, but that, instead of this food being bought, a quantity was purchased which is a mere imitation of the genuine, containing only 17 per cent of nutriment. The substituted food was ostensibly made by a company in this city which is stated to have "no legal existence," but that, it was really imported from the United States, in rough bags and put into tins on this side with labels indicating that it was the same food as had successfully undergone a scientific test. The indictment sets forth the evidence to be adduced in support of the above very grave charge, with a copy of a letter warning against the substitute, and the last clause reads. "That under all the circumstances above set forth the Minister of Militia and Defence, the said Hon. Frederick William Borden, was guilty of gross and culpable negligence (a) in making with undue haste the agreement hereinabove referred to on the 4th of January, 1900, for the supply of emergency rations to the Canadian troops in South Africa, with irresponsible parties; (b) in not having the preparation of said rations controlled by competent men and the supply furnished to the troops carefully and rigidly inspected and tested; (c) in neglecting, after he had received said letter of the 25th of January last, to take the steps commanded by the ordinary rules of prudence to assure the protection of the troops; and (d) in paying the amount of the said contract, $4,800, in a case where he must have known that any recovery of the same was impossible, and without any investigation."

For the honour of the government and the country we trust the above indictment will not be sustained. To dispatch troops with a supply of "emergency food" which is of such a nature as to be incapable of furnishing the necessary nutriment to sustain life and strength, is certainly too inhuman a crime to have been knowingly committed by the Minister of Militia.

As a Matter of Course.

"Now, boys, when I ask you a question you mustn't be afraid to speak right out and answer me," said a Sunday school superintendent, according to a writer in the Scottish American. "When you look around and see all these fine houses, farms and cattle, do you ever think who owns them all now? Your fathers own them, do they not?" "Yes, sir," shouted a hundred voices. "Well, where will your fathers be 20 years from now?" "Dead!" shouted the boys. "That's right. And who will own all the property?" "Us boys!" shouted the urchins. "Right. Now, tell me—Did you ever, in going along the street, notice the drunkards lounging around the saloon door waiting for some one to treat them?" "Yes, sir; lots of them." 'Well, where will they be 20 years from now." 'Dead!' exclaimed the boys. "And who will be the drunkards then?" "Us boys!" shouted the unabashed youngsters.

Her Electric Spark.

"Millie!"

The young lineman twirled his hat in his hand in an agitated manner and spoke in a voice that seemed to have a tendency to get away from him:

"Millie, the fact is, I—I—there's something I've been wanting to tell you a long time, but I can't seem to fetch it. When you look at me like that, you know, it breaks me all up. I've been coming here so long that I oughtn't to be afraid, I reckon, but —but you know how it is—or maybe you don't either. I thought I would do it all right when I came in, but ever—I didn't think it would be so hard when I—"

Here he came to a dead stop.

"Millie!" he exclaimed, in desperation, "I'm short circuited! I've burned out a fuse!"

"Jerry, are you trying to ask me to marry you?"

"Y-yes!"

"Why, of course I will, you foolish boy!"

And love's current flowed unobstructedly again, lighting up with its pure radiance the rose-embowered pathway that, etc., etc.

THE LIAR OF THE LINKS.

(A Poem asked for)

I have been from Maine to Denver and from Denver to "the coast,"
And I've met with many liars great and small;
I've listened to New England brag and
Minnesota boast,
And the wildest western whopper of them all.
But I want to go on record that it is my firm belief.
That for quality never fades nor shrinks,
The uncrowned King of Liars, the General-in-Chief—
Is the glib and gifted Liar of the Links.

The old familiar lies of mighty deeds with rod and gun,
The trick that caught the trout or killed the mouse,
Are simply brainless bubbles when this most accomplished son
Of Ananias once gets fairly loose.
He will tell you how in driving from the sixth or seventh tee,
Some thirty minutes after set of sun
His ball slipped thro' the bark upon a slippery elm tree,
Then caromed from a branch and holed in one.

He will tell you how in lofting once his ball went up so high,
It took at least three minutes to come down;
And how he won by twenty holes, and didn't have to try
Against the celebrated slasher
Brown.
He will also tell of bunkers high as any mountain peak
Over which he sent his ball with deadly aim,
Did with manner bold and "brassy"
he will lie about the cleek
With which he won the championship game.

He will tell about the blindfold game he played a year ago,
When he made his famous round in fifty-three;
He will tell how he's defeated all the best this land can show,
And many famous chaps across the sea,
In short, with all respect to other liars here and there.
For versatile mendacity, methinks
He stands alone, unparalleled, and quite beyond compare,
This monumental Liar of the Links.

THE DYING NUN.

(A poem often asked for.)

Let the air blow in upon me,
Let me see the midnight sky,
Stand back, sisters, from around me
God! it is so hard to die!
Raise the pillow up, oh, Martha,
Sister Martha, you were kind;
Come and stand alone beside me,
Ere I leave you all behind.

Hold my hand, so cold and frozen;
Once it was so soft and white,
And this ring that falls down from it,
Clasped my finger round so tight;
Little ring they thought so worthless,
That they let me keep it there,
Only a plain golden circlet,
With a band of Douglas' hair.

Sister Martha, are you near me?
You were kinder than the rest,
Lift my head and let me lean it,
While I live, upon your breast,
I was thinking of some music
That I heard long, long ago;
Ah! how sweet the nuns are singing
In the chapel, soft and low.

Oh! my father; oh! my mother!
Will you not forgive the past,
When you hear a stranger tell you
How your stray lamb died at last?
Out of all they used to love me,
Who will weep when I am dead?
Only you, oh Sister Martha!
Keep the last watch by my bed.

But a strain of heavenly music
Drowns the holy midnight dream,
Still I hear the wild waltz pealing,
And I float away with him.
I am coming, Douglas, Douglas.
Where you are I, too, am there,
Freed at last, I come, my dearest,
Death gives back your little Clare.

Sister Martha, Sister Martha,
Has the moon gone down so soon?
Ah! the cell seems cold as winter,
Though I know that it is June.
Sisters in your white beds lying,
Sleeping in the June moonlight.
Thro' your dreams comes there no message,
Clare dies alone tonight.
